

 Print whole section

Home office expenses calculator

Work out your claim for work-related expenses you incur as a result of work you do from home as an employee.

Last updated 1 July 2025

Go to the calculator

Home office expenses calculator

Our calculator takes between 5 and 20 minutes to use.

What you can do with this calculator

This calculator covers the 2013–14 to 2024–25 income years.

Use either the fixed rate method or actual cost method to work out your deduction for work from home expenses.

Your results are based on the information you provide and the rates available at the time of calculation. Use these results as an estimate and for guidance purposes only.

Expenses you can't claim

Employees generally can't claim occupancy expenses such as rent, mortgage interest, house insurance premiums, council and water rates and land taxes.

Employees who work at home can't claim costs:

- for coffee, tea, milk and other general household items, even if your employer may provide these at work

- related to your children's education, such as equipment you buy – for example iPads and desks, subscriptions for online learning
- for items your employer provides – for example a laptop or a mobile phone
- that your employer reimburses you for.

What else you can do

Find out more about when you can and can't claim working from home expenses.

Temporary shortcut method calculator

The shortcut method ended on 30 June 2022. To continue to claim deductions for working from home expenses after 30 June 2022 you will need to use either the fixed rate method or actual cost method.

Our calculator takes between 1 and 5 minutes to use.

Home office shortcut method calculator

QC 17079

Our commitment to you

We are committed to providing you with accurate, consistent and clear information to help you understand your rights and entitlements and meet your obligations.

If you follow our information and it turns out to be incorrect, or it is misleading and you make a mistake as a result, we will take that into account when determining what action, if any, we should take.

Some of the information on this website applies to a specific financial year. This is clearly marked. Make sure you have the information for the right year before making decisions based on that information.

If you feel that our information does not fully cover your circumstances, or you are unsure how it applies to you, contact us or seek professional advice.

Copyright notice

© Australian Taxation Office for the Commonwealth of Australia

You are free to copy, adapt, modify, transmit and distribute this material as you wish (but not in any way that suggests the ATO or the Commonwealth endorses you or any of your services or products).