

Use our calculator to help claim the right fuel tax credits

Fuel tax credit rates have changed. To help you claim fuel tax credits on your BAS we've updated our calculator.

Published 2 June 2026

From 1 April to 30 June 2026, the government has reduced excise and excise-equivalent customs duty rates on petrol and diesel by 60.9% in total – first by 50%, then by a further 10.9%. This means fuel tax credit rates have also been reduced.

To help your business get it right and claim correctly, you can use our fuel tax credit calculator which we've updated with the new rates for this period.

If your business uses petrol and diesel for any business activities other than for travelling on public roads, you'll receive a lower fuel tax credit because the fuel excise duty has been reduced. You'll claim 20.6 cents per litre.

If your business operates heavy vehicles (with a GVM greater than 4.5 tonnes) for travelling on public roads, you'll see a small increase in the fuel tax credit rate for 3 months. This is because the road user charge, which normally reduces your credit, has been temporarily set to zero during this period. This means you'll claim 20.6 cents per litre for petrol and diesel, instead of 20.2 cents per litre.

Fuel tax credit rates are based on the date you acquired the fuel. Different rates apply before 1 April 2026 and from 1 April to 30 June 2026.

Your registered tax or BAS agent can help you with your BAS.

Keep up to date

We have tailored communication channels just for small businesses – so you'll always be up to date with the latest information and changes relevant to you.

Explore more articles in our Small business newsroom.

Subscribe to our free:

- monthly Small business email newsletter
- email notifications about new and updated information on our website – just select the Business and organisations category to get updates relevant to you, including more articles like this one.

QC 107419

Our commitment to you

We are committed to providing you with accurate, consistent and clear information to help you understand your rights and entitlements and meet your obligations.

If you follow our information and it turns out to be incorrect, or it is misleading and you make a mistake as a result, we will take that into account when determining what action, if any, we should take.

Some of the information on this website applies to a specific financial year. This is clearly marked. Make sure you have the information for the right year before making decisions based on that information.

If you feel that our information does not fully cover your circumstances, or you are unsure how it applies to you, contact us or seek professional advice.

Copyright notice

© Australian Taxation Office for the Commonwealth of Australia

You are free to copy, adapt, modify, transmit and distribute this material as you wish (but not in any way that suggests the ATO or the Commonwealth endorses you or any of your services or products).