

Calculate days calculator

Use this calculator to help you to work out (count) the number of calendar days from one date to another date.

Last updated 11 May 2026

Go to the calculator

Calculate days calculator

Our calculator takes between 1 and 2 minutes to use.

What you can do with this calculator

You may need to use this calculator for several reasons, including calculating the number of days you:

- don't have to pay the Medicare levy surcharge in an income year
- were in Australia or overseas when working out your residency
- had a spouse in an income year
- were living in a remote area or served in forces overseas
- owned a CGT asset, to work out a capital gain or loss.

If you use this tool to work out if you owned a CGT asset for at least 12 months before a CGT event happens, you should exclude both:

- the day of acquisition
- the day the CGT event happens.

You can also use the calculator to work out the number of days since you lodged a tax obligation, such as your tax return.

Limitations

This calculator will only calculate calendar days, some service standards refer to business or working days. Business or working days are Monday to Friday, in these circumstances we don't count Saturday and Sunday.

QC 17964

Our commitment to you

We are committed to providing you with accurate, consistent and clear information to help you understand your rights and entitlements and meet your obligations.

If you follow our information and it turns out to be incorrect, or it is misleading and you make a mistake as a result, we will take that into account when determining what action, if any, we should take.

Some of the information on this website applies to a specific financial year. This is clearly marked. Make sure you have the information for the right year before making decisions based on that information.

If you feel that our information does not fully cover your circumstances, or you are unsure how it applies to you, contact us or seek professional advice.

Copyright notice

© Australian Taxation Office for the Commonwealth of Australia

You are free to copy, adapt, modify, transmit and distribute this material as you wish (but not in any way that suggests the ATO or the Commonwealth endorses you or any of your services or products).