

TD 95/49 - Fringe benefits tax: is accommodation in a ship, vessel or floating structure accepted as 'residential accommodation' for the purposes of the 'fly-in fly-out' transport exemption in subsection 47(7) of the Fringe Benefits Tax Assessment Act 1986?

 This cover sheet is provided for information only. It does not form part of TD 95/49 - Fringe benefits tax: is accommodation in a ship, vessel or floating structure accepted as 'residential accommodation' for the purposes of the 'fly-in fly-out' transport exemption in subsection 47(7) of the Fringe Benefits Tax Assessment Act 1986?

This Determination, to the extent that it is capable of being a 'public ruling' in terms of Part IVAAA of the Taxation Administration Act 1953, is a public ruling for the purposes of that Part. Taxation Ruling TR 92/1 explains when a Determination is a public ruling and how it is binding on the Commissioner. Unless otherwise stated, this Determination applies to years commencing both before and after its date of issue. However, this Determination does not apply to taxpayers to the extent that it conflicts with the terms of a settlement of a dispute agreed to before the date of issue of the Determination (see paragraphs 21 and 22 of Taxation Ruling TR 92/20).

Taxation Determination

Fringe benefits tax: is accommodation in a ship, vessel or floating structure accepted as 'residential accommodation' for the purposes of the 'fly-in fly-out' transport exemption in subsection 47(7) of the Fringe Benefits Tax Assessment Act 1986?

Yes. Where the other conditions of subsection 47(7) are met, and the residential accommodation is at or near the employee's usual place of employment, the 'fly-in fly-out' transport is an exempt benefit.

Example

Mr C Marine works at a construction site on one of the Torres Strait Islands and is accommodated on his employer's ship moored offshore. He works six weeks on, and then for his two weeks off is flown by his employer to and from his home in Cairns. Mr Marine's employer will not be subject to fringe benefits tax on the flights.
