Goods and Services Tax Ruling

Goods and services tax: GST treatment of financial supplies and related supplies and acquisitions

This Addendum is a public ruling for the purposes of the Taxation Administration Act 1953. It amends Goods and Services Tax Ruling GSTR 2002/2 to:

- make minor consequential updates to the definition of ‘ATM’ as part of the updates to Goods and Services Tax Ruling GSTR 2014/2 Goods and services tax: treatment of ATM service fees, credit card surcharges and debit card surcharges, to reflect the decision in Banktech Group Pty Ltd v Commissioner of Taxation [2023] AATA 3850
- ensure currency of legislative and other citations
- make editorial changes where required to meet accessibility requirements.

GSTR 2002/2 is amended as follows:

1. Paragraph 1

In footnote A1, after the first sentence, insert ‘The’.

2. Paragraph 22

Omit ‘provision and/or disposal’; substitute ‘provision or disposal’.

3. Paragraph 26

In footnote 22A, omit ‘subsection 40-5.09(4A)’; substitute ‘subsection 40-5.09(5)’.

4. Paragraph 80A

(a) In footnote 38B, omit ‘(2010) 187 FCR 398; ’.

(b) Omit the wording of the quote; substitute:

145. Although the subject matter in Yanner is very different indeed from that in these appeals, the discussion about the concept of “property” is helpful in the present context. First, Yanner shows that the meaning of the word “property” can be fixed by relevant context, and the rather narrow meanings given in the authorities cited by the respondents will not apply in all contexts. Secondly, the word “property” can be applied to different kinds of relationships between a person and a subject matter, and can be understood as referring to the degree of power that is recognised in law as power permissibly exercised over the thing.

146. Considering the text of the GST Act (especially ss 9-10 and 11-10) and the Regulations, it is apparent that the term “interest” is referable to a very broad conception of property. The words “anything” and “in any form” in regulation in 40-5.02 highlight this extensive scope. Further, as the Commissioner submitted, the examples of financial supplies in the table in regulation 40-5.09(3) include a range of items that would not fit the narrower definition of property urged by the respondents. The same can be said of the “examples of interest” attached to regulation 40-5.02. These examples are illustrative of the proposition in the joint judgment in Yanner mentioned above.

5. Paragraph 81

- (a) Omit the wording of the quote; substitute:

It may be said categorically that alienability is not an indispensable attribute of a right of property according to the general sense which the word “property” bears in the law. Rights may be incapable of assignment, either because assignment is considered incompatible with their nature, as was the case originally with debts (subject to an exception in favour of the King) or because a statute so provides or considerations of public policy so require, as is the case with some salaries and pensions; yet they are all within the conception of “property” as the word is normally understood...

- (b) After ‘the purposes of Part IIIA of the ITAA’, insert ‘1936’.

6. Paragraph 84

Omit dot points 4 to 10; substitute:

For the purposes of table item 1 of subsection 40-5.09(3) and subsection 40-5.09(4), account means an account made available by an Australian ADI within the meaning of section 9 of the Corporations Act. For these purposes, it includes the following accounts:

For the purposes of section 70-5.02, the meaning of account is not limited to Australian ADIs but extends to accounts provided by non-ADIs, as explained at paragraphs 202 to 206 of this Ruling.

It includes an account in relation to which the account holder (the customer) has the right to:

- have the account maintained by the account provider (the provider);
- repayment of the amount credited to the account by the provider; and
- require the provider to act on directions by the customer that are in accordance with the arrangements, or any agreement, between the provider and the customer in relation to operation of the account.

(b) Omit the wording from the Notes text box; substitute:

Notes

1. Fees, charges and payments received or charged for a supply are generally regarded as consideration (or part of the consideration) for a financial supply rather than a financial supply themselves. For example, interest payable on money loaned or deposited is generally regarded as part of the consideration for the use of money (a debt).

In this table the listed fees, charges and payments are given a GST status which technically corresponds to the supply for which they are given as consideration. For example, fees paid as part of the consideration for a loan are categorised as "input taxed'. Where consideration is listed in the second column, the item (or legislative provision) that relates to it is listed in the third column.

2. Some supplies (fees, charges, etcetera) may be covered by more than one item. The fact a supply appears under a particular heading in this Schedule does not mean that it cannot also be covered by another item, however that does not make it more than one supply. The fact something is not mentioned as being covered by an item does not mean that it is not or cannot be covered by that item.
3. The supply of something is not a financial supply if it does not satisfy the requirements of section 40-5.09 or if it is mentioned within an item in section 40-5.12. Where this is the case, the table contains a reference to the relevant item in the GST regulations as well as the provision in the GST Act (if any) that determines its GST status. Items of this kind in the table are identified by the symbol “†”.
4. If something is said to be taxable, GST-free or input taxed, within column 4 of the table, it is assumed that the other conditions for a supply of that type are also met (for example, for a taxable supply, that the requirements of section 9-5 are able to be satisfied.) These items in the table are identified by the symbol “‡”. The actual status will depend on all the facts and circumstances of the supply. Each transaction will need to be judged and its GST status determined by having regard to all the facts and circumstances particular to that case.
- 4A. The fact that something is not specifically mentioned in Schedule 2 as being GST-free wholly or in part under subsection 38-190(1) does not mean it is not, or cannot be covered by that provision. Reference should be made to paragraph 288A of this Ruling.
5. Any references to table item 1 of subsection 40-5.09(3) in column 3 of the table are only relevant to ADIs however most things covered by item 1 should apply (where relevant) to non-ADIs.
6. Line numbers in column 1 are used for ease of reference to a particular item and have no legislative basis. The symbol “§” indicates that the term is defined in Schedule 1, which does not form part of the binding section of this Ruling.

26. Table A. Summary of fees and services - Transaction banking and cash management

(a) Omit the table, including the heading and footnote 114; substitute:

ACCOUNTS§

The following fees and charges listed in Tables A.1: ACCOUNTS, by Australian ADIs§ as account provider to account holders, or by an ADI to a non-account holder for a fee of $1,000 or less.

Note: Where supplied to a non-account holder, the following conditions must also be met:

1. item 1 in subsection 40-5.09(3) would have applied to that supply in relation to an account with the ADI; or
2. the fee relates to an application to the ADI that, if accepted, would result in the creation of an account by the ADI.<sup>113C</sup>

If the fee or charge is greater than $1,000, the supply is taxable unless listed elsewhere.

The extent to which the supply of a transaction account is GST-free under table item 3 or table item 4(a) of subsection 38-190(1) is explained in GSTD 2020/1.
