- (a) the transferor was the transition entity and Common rule 1 applied to your acquisition of the plant;
- (b) the transferor was not the transition entity and Common rule 1 applied to your acquisition of the plant and all earlier successive acquisitions of the plant by entities that acquired it from, or became the owners or quasi-owners of it after it was acquired from, the transition entity;

the cost of the plant is taken to be its *notional written down value at the transition time plus the amounts of any capital expenditure on improving it incurred after that time.

Guide to Division 58

58-1 What this Division is about

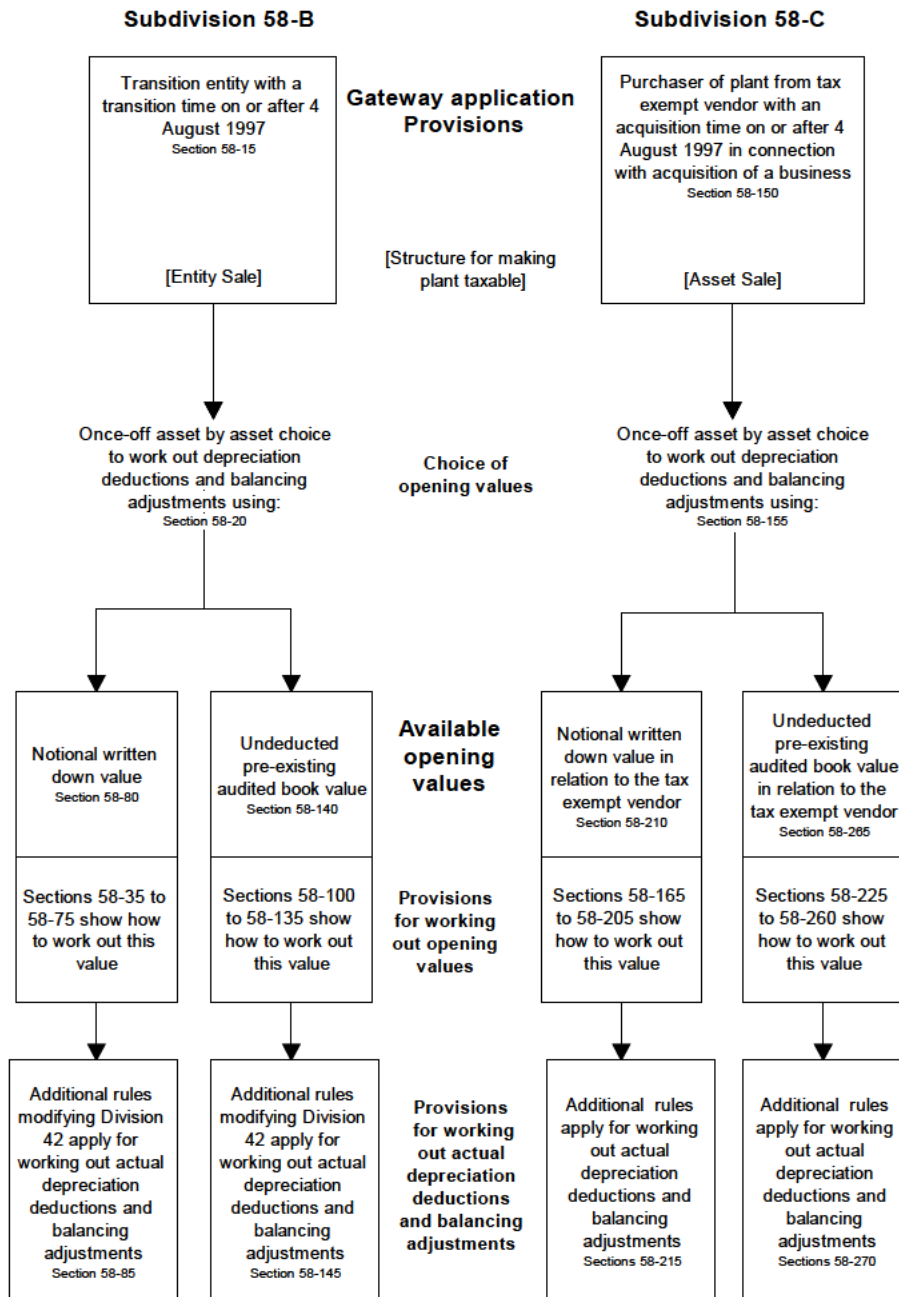

This Division sets out special rules that apply in calculating depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments in respect of plant previously owned by an exempt entity if the plant:

- continues to be owned by that entity after the entity becomes taxable; or
- is acquired from that entity, in connection with the acquisition of a business, by a purchaser that is a taxable entity.

The following diagram shows the operation of this Division.

Table of sections

58-5	Application of Division to quasi-owners of plant
58-10	Pre-existing audited book value of unit of plant

58-5 Application of Division to quasi-owners of plant

This Division applies in relation to a unit of *plant of which an entity has been or is, or becomes, a *quasi-owner in the same way as it applies in relation to a unit of plant that has been or is owned by, or is acquired by, an entity.

58-10 Pre-existing audited book value of unit of plant

- (1) If:
- (a) a balance sheet, as at the end of an annual accounting period (the balance date), that was prepared as part of an *exempt entity's final accounts for that period showed a unit of *plant (the unit) as an asset of the exempt entity and specified a value for the unit; and
 - (b) a qualified independent auditor who was engaged, or was required by law, to undertake an audit of those accounts had prepared and signed, before 4 August 1997, a final audit report on those accounts; and
 - (c) the report did not state that the auditor was not satisfied that the specified value fairly represented the value of the unit;
- the unit is taken to have had a pre-existing audited book value at the balance date of an amount equal to the specified value.
- (2) If a balance sheet did not specify a value for the unit but specified a total value for 2 or more units of plant including the unit, the balance sheet is taken to have specified as the value of the unit so much of that total value as is reasonably attributable to the unit.
- (3) The latest time at which a unit of *plant is taken to have had a *pre-existing audited book value is the test time in relation to the unit.

58-15 Transition entities etc.

If:

- (a) at a particular time on or after 4 August 1997, an entity is an *exempt entity; and
- (b) immediately after that time, the entity's *ordinary income or *statutory income becomes to any extent assessable income;

then:

- (c) the entity is a transition entity; and
- (d) the time when the entity's ordinary income or statutory income becomes to that extent assessable is the transition time; and
- (e) the income year in which the *transition time occurs is the transition year for the entity.

58-20 Choice by entity

- (1) A *transition entity must, in relation to every unit of *plant (the unit) that was owned by it at the *transition time, do either of the following:
 - (a) choose that depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments for periods after the transition time are to be calculated by reference to the *notional written down value of the unit;
 - (b) choose that depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments for periods after the transition time are to be calculated by reference to the *undeducted pre-existing audited book value (if any) of the unit.
 - (2) A choice under subsection (1) must be made:
 - (a) by the day on which the *transition entity lodges its *income tax return for the *transition year; or
 - (b) within a further period allowed by the Commissioner.
 - (3) A choice, once made, applies to *the transition year and all later income years.
 - (4) If the *transition entity makes a choice under paragraph (1)(a), sections 58-25 to 58-85 have effect in relation to the unit.

- (5) If the *transition entity makes a choice under paragraph (1)(b), sections 58-90 to 58-145 have effect in relation to the unit.

Provisions applying where depreciation of the unit is calculated by reference to notional written down value

58-25 Exclusion of certain provisions

The following provisions do not apply in respect of the unit in relation to the *transition entity:

- (a) Subdivision 57-I of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;
- (b) Subdivision 57-K of that Act in so far as that Subdivision deals with depreciation balancing adjustments.

58-30 Undeducted cost of unit

- (1) Section 42-175 has effect in relation to the unit as if that section provided that the *undeducted cost of the unit were the *notional written down value of the unit.
- (2) Sections 58-35 to 58-75 have effect for the purpose of the calculation of that value under section 58-80.

58-35 Ownership of unit

- (1) If the *transition entity was an *exempt Australian government agency immediately before the *transition time and had acquired the unit from another exempt Australian government agency:
 - (a) assume that the transition entity acquired it at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the other exempt Australian government agency; or
 - (b) if it had, before its acquisition by the transition entity, been successively owned by 2 or more exempt Australian government agencies—assume that the transition entity acquired it at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the first of those exempt Australian government agencies that owned it.

- (2) To avoid doubt, if subsection (1) does not apply, the *transition entity is taken to have acquired the unit at the time when the transition entity acquired or constructed it.

58-40 Cost of unit to transition entity

- (1) To avoid doubt, Subdivision 42-B applies for the purpose of determining the cost of the unit to the *transition entity.
- (2) However, if the *transition entity was an *exempt Australian government agency immediately before the *transition time and had acquired the unit from another exempt Australian government agency:
- (a) assume that its cost to the transition entity is the amount that was its cost to the other exempt Australian government agency; or
 - (b) if it had, before its acquisition by the transition entity, been successively owned by 2 or more exempt Australian government agencies, assume that its cost to the transition entity is the amount that was its cost to the first of those exempt Australian government agencies that owned it.

58-45 Effective life of unit

Assume that the *effective life of the unit is the period that would have been calculated to be its effective life:

- (a) if subsection 58-35(1) applies—at the time when it is assumed under that subsection to have been acquired by the *transition entity; or
- (b) if subsection 58-35(2) applies—at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the transition entity.

58-50 Choice or election to calculate assumed effective life

For the purpose of calculating the assumed *effective life of the unit under section 58-45:

- (a) if the *transition entity would have been required to make a choice under subsection 42-100(1) at a particular time during the period for which the transition entity owned, or is assumed to have owned, it—assume that the transition entity made a choice at that time under paragraph 42-100(1)(b) to adopt the effective life specified by the Commissioner; or

- (b) if the transition entity could have made an election under subsection 54A(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 at a particular time during the period for which the transition entity owned, or is assumed to have owned, it—assume that the transition entity made the election at that time.

58-55 Use of unit for producing assessable income

Assume that the unit had, at all times during the period beginning when it was acquired or constructed, or is assumed to have been acquired, by the *transition entity and ending immediately before the *transition time, been used wholly for the purpose of producing assessable income by the transition entity, and assume that deductions for depreciation in respect of it had been allowed to the transition entity during that period.

58-60 Method of depreciation

Assume that the *method of depreciation selected by the *transition entity in relation to the unit for:

- (a) the *transition year; or
(b) if the transition entity does not claim depreciation for the transition year—the first income year after the transition year in which the transition entity claims depreciation;

was also used by the transition entity in each income year before the transition year.

58-65 Application of certain provisions in calculating depreciation rates

In calculating the rate of depreciation in relation to the unit in each income year before the *transition year:

- (a) if section 57AG of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at any time before its repeal had applied in respect of that income year—that section is to be taken into account; and

- (b) if subsection 55(6) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force immediately before the commencement of section 7 of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act (No. 2) 1992 had applied in respect of that income year—that subsection is to be taken into account; and
- (c) if section 57AL of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at any time before its repeal had applied in respect of that income year—that section is to be disregarded.

58-70 Choice of rate

- (1) If the *transition entity could have made a choice under subsection 42-120(1) at a particular time (the relevant time) during the period for which the transition entity owned, or is assumed to have owned, the unit, the transition entity may make the choice and, if the choice is made, it is taken to have been made at the relevant time.
- (2) A *diminishing value rate chosen must not be less than the percentage worked out by using the formula:

$$\frac{1.5}{\text{Number of years in effective life}} \times 100$$

where:

number of years in effective life means the number of years in the assumed *effective life of the unit under section 58-45.

- (3) A *prime cost rate chosen must not be less than two-thirds of the percentage that would be worked out under subsection (2) if a *diminishing value rate had been chosen.

58-75 Nomination or election of depreciation percentage

- (1) If the *transition entity could have made a nomination or election under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at a particular time (the relevant time) during the period for which the transition entity owned, or is assumed to have owned, the unit, the transition entity may make the nomination or election, as the case may be, and, if the nomination or election is made, it is taken to have been made at the relevant time.

(2) If the *transition entity makes a nomination under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force immediately before the commencement of section 23 of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act 1993, the following paragraphs apply:

- (a) the nomination applies to the income year for which it is taken to have been made and all later income years;
- (b) a *diminishing value rate nominated must not be less than the percentage worked out by using the formula:

$$\frac{1.5}{\text{Number of years in effective life}} \times 100$$

where:

number of years in effective life means the number of years in the assumed *effective life of the unit under section 58-45;

- (c) a *prime cost rate nominated must not be less than two-thirds of the percentage that would be worked out under paragraph (b) if a diminishing value rate had been nominated.
- (3) If the *transition entity makes an election under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force immediately before the commencement of section 7 of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act (No. 2) 1992, the election applies to the income year in which it is taken to have been made and all later income years.

58-80 Notional written down value

The notional written down value of the unit in relation to the *transition entity is the amount of its cost or assumed cost to the transition entity under section 58-40 less the sum of:

- (a) the amounts in respect of which deductions for depreciation are assumed under section 58-55 to have been allowed to the transition entity in respect of it; and

Note: Sections 58-35 to 58-50, and sections 58-60 to 58-75, have effect for the purpose of determining the amounts referred to in paragraph (a).

- (b) the amounts the transition entity has deducted or can deduct for depreciation of it; and

- (c) any further amounts the transition entity could have deducted for depreciation of it for any period after the *transition time during which the transition entity was its owner and used it, or had it *installed ready for use, assuming that:
- (i) the transition entity used it wholly for the purpose of producing assessable income during that period; and
 - (ii) the transition entity used the same rate of depreciation and the same method of depreciation during that period as the transition entity used for the income year in which a depreciation deduction was first allowable to the transition entity for it.

58-85 Calculation of depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments

- (1) The rules otherwise applying in calculating depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments in respect of the unit have effect in relation to the *transition entity subject to this section and section 58-30.
- (2) Sections 58-35 to 58-50 and sections 58-65 to 58-75 apply in the same way as they apply in calculating the deductions for depreciation assumed under section 58-55 to have been allowed to the *transition entity.
- (3) The rate of depreciation is to be the same as the rate that was used in calculating the deduction for depreciation assumed under section 58-55 to have been allowed to the *transition entity in respect of the latest income year in the period referred to in that section.
- (4) Subdivision 42-L, and sections 62AAB to 62AAV of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, do not apply in respect of the unit.
- (5) Subsection 42-195(3) does not apply to any period in which the unit was used, or *installed ready for use, before the *transition time.
- (6) For the purposes of section 42-200, the cost of the unit is taken to be its *notional written down value at the *transition time plus the amounts of any capital expenditure on improving it incurred after that time.

- (7) If a *balancing adjustment event occurred before the 1998-99 income year, subsection 42-190(2) has effect in relation to the unit as if paragraph (a) of that subsection were omitted and replaced by the following paragraph:
- (a) the amount by which the higher of:
 - (i) the cost base of the *plant for the purposes of Part IIIA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, less any amounts included in that cost base as a result of expenditure incurred after the *transition time that were not, immediately before the balancing adjustment event occurred, included in the cost of the plant to you for the purposes of Division 42; or
 - (ii) the *notional written down value of the plant at the transition time plus the amounts of any capital expenditure on improving it incurred after that time; exceeds its *written down value; and
- (8) If a *balancing adjustment event occurred in a later income year, subsection 42-190(2) has effect in relation to the unit as if paragraph (a) of that subsection were omitted and replaced by the following paragraph:
- (a) the amount by which the higher of:
 - (i) the cost base (without indexation) of the *plant for the purposes of Parts 3-1 and 3-3, less any amounts included in that cost base as a result of expenditure incurred after the *transition time that were not, immediately before the balancing adjustment event occurred, included in the cost of the plant to you for the purposes of Division 42; or
 - (ii) the *notional written down value of the plant at the transition time plus the amounts of any capital expenditure on improving it incurred after that time; exceeds its *written down value; and

Provisions applying where depreciation of the unit is calculated by reference to undeducted pre-existing audited book value

58-90 Exclusion of certain provisions

The following provisions do not apply in respect of the unit in relation to the *transition entity:

- (a) Subdivision 57-I of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;
- (b) Subdivision 57-K of that Act in so far as that Subdivision deals with depreciation balancing adjustments.

58-95 Cost of unit to transition entity

- (1) The cost of the unit to the *transition entity is taken to be the *undeducted pre-existing audited book value of the unit.
- (2) Sections 58-100 to 58-135 have effect for the purpose of the calculation of that value under section 58-140.

58-100 Ownership of unit

- (1) If the *transition entity was an *exempt Australian government agency immediately before the *transition time and had acquired the unit from another exempt Australian government agency:
 - (a) assume that the transition entity acquired it at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the other exempt Australian government agency; or
 - (b) if it had, before its acquisition by the transition entity, been successively owned by 2 or more exempt Australian government agencies—assume that the transition entity acquired it at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the first of those exempt Australian government agencies that owned it.
- (2) To avoid doubt, if subsection (1) does not apply, the *transition entity is taken to have acquired the unit at the time when the transition entity acquired or constructed it.

58-105 Assumed cost of unit to transition entity for purpose of calculating undeducted pre-existing audited book value

Assume that the cost of the unit to the *transition entity is the sum of:

- (a) its *pre-existing audited book value at the test time; and
- (b) the amounts of any capital expenditure on improving it incurred by the transition entity, or by an earlier owner that was an *exempt Australian government agency, during the period beginning immediately after the test time and ending immediately before the *transition time.

58-110 Effective life of unit

Assume that the *effective life of the unit is the period that would have been calculated to be its effective life:

- (a) if subsection 58-100(1) applies—at the time when it is assumed under that subsection to have been acquired by the *transition entity; or
- (b) if subsection 58-100(2) applies—at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the transition entity.

58-115 Election to calculate assumed effective life

For the purpose of calculating the assumed *effective life of the unit under section 58-110, if the *transition entity could have made an election under subsection 54A(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 at a particular time during the period for which the transition entity owned, or is assumed to have owned, it, assume that the transition entity made the election at that time.

58-120 Use of unit for producing assessable income

Assume that the unit had, at all times during the period beginning at the test time and ending immediately before the *transition time, been used wholly for the purpose of producing assessable income by the *transition entity, and assume that deductions for depreciation in respect of it had been allowed to the transition entity during that period.

58-125 Method of depreciation

Assume that the *method of depreciation selected by the *transition entity in relation to the unit for:

- (a) the *transition year; or
- (b) if the transition entity does not claim depreciation for the transition year—the first income year after the transition year in which the transition entity claims depreciation;

was also used by the transition entity for each income year in the period referred to in section 58-120.

58-130 Application of certain provisions in calculating depreciation rates

In calculating the rate of depreciation in relation to the unit in each income year in the period referred to in section 58-120:

- (a) if section 57AG of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at any time before its repeal had applied in respect of that income year—that section is to be taken into account; and
- (b) if subsection 55(6) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force immediately before the commencement of section 7 of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act (No. 2) 1992 had applied in respect of that income year—that subsection is to be taken into account; and
- (c) if section 57AL of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at any time before its repeal had applied in respect of that income year—that section is to be disregarded.

58-135 Nomination or election of depreciation percentage

- (1) If the *transition entity could have made a nomination or election under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at a particular time (the relevant time) during the period referred to in section 58-120, the transition entity may make the nomination or election, as the case may be, and, if the nomination or election is made, it is taken to have been made at the relevant time.

(2) If the *transition entity makes a nomination under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force immediately before the commencement of section 23 of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act 1993, the following paragraphs apply:

- (a) the nomination applies to the income year in which it is taken to have been made and all later income years;
- (b) a *diminishing value rate nominated must not be less than the percentage worked out by using the formula:

$$\frac{1.5}{\text{Number of years in effective life}} \times 100$$

where:

number of years in effective life means the number of years in the assumed *effective life of the unit under section 58-110;

- (c) a *prime cost rate nominated must not be less than two-thirds of the percentage that would be worked out under paragraph (b) if a diminishing value rate had been nominated.

(3) If the *transition entity makes an election under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force immediately before the commencement of section 7 of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act (No. 2) 1992, the election applies to the income year in which it is taken to have been made and all later income years.

58-140 Undeducted pre-existing audited book value

The undeducted pre-existing audited book value of the unit in relation to the *transition entity is:

- (a) if the test time in relation to the unit is less than one year before the *transition time—the amount of its assumed cost under section 58-105; or
- (b) if the test time in relation to the unit is one year or more before the transition time—the amount of its assumed cost under section 58-105 less any amounts in respect of which deductions for depreciation are assumed under section 58-120 to have been allowed to the transition entity in respect of it.

Note: Sections 58-100 to 58-135 have effect for the purpose of determining the amounts referred to in paragraph (b).

58-145 Calculation of depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments

- (1) The rules otherwise applying in calculating depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments in respect of the unit have effect in relation to the *transition entity subject to this section and section 58-95.
- (2) Sections 58-100, 58-110 and 58-115 apply in the same way as they apply in calculating the *undeducted pre-existing audited book value of the unit.
- (3) Subdivision 42-L, and sections 62AAB to 62AAV of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, do not apply in respect of the unit.
- (4) Subsection 42-195(3) does not apply to any period in which the unit was used, or *installed ready for use, before the *transition time.
- (5) Section 42-175 has effect in relation to the unit as if that section provided that the *undeducted cost of the unit were the *undeducted pre-existing audited book value of the unit less the sum of:
 - (a) the amounts the *transition entity has deducted or can deduct for depreciation of it; and
 - (b) any further amounts the transition entity could have deducted for depreciation of it for any period after the *transition time during which the transition entity was its owner and used it, or had it *installed ready for use, assuming that:
 - (i) the transition entity used it wholly for the purpose of producing assessable income during that period; and
 - (ii) the transition entity used the same rate of depreciation and method of depreciation during that period as the transition entity used for the income year in which a depreciation deduction was first allowable to the transition entity for it.

- (6) If the test time in relation to the unit is one year or more before the *transition time, the rate of depreciation is to be the same as the rate that was used in calculating the deduction for depreciation assumed under section 58-120 to have been allowed to the *transition entity in respect of the latest income year in the period referred to in that section.
- (7) If a *balancing adjustment event occurred before the 1998-99 income year, subsection 42-190(2) has effect in relation to the unit as if paragraph (a) of that subsection were omitted and replaced by the following paragraph:
- (a) the amount by which the higher of:
 - (i) the cost base of the *plant for the purposes of Part IIIA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, less any amounts included in that cost base as a result of expenditure incurred after the *transition time that were not, immediately before the balancing adjustment event occurred, included in the cost of the plant to you for the purposes of Division 42; or
 - (ii) the cost of the plant to you; exceeds its *written down value; and
- (8) If a *balancing adjustment event occurred in a later income year, subsection 42-190(2) has effect in relation to the unit as if paragraph (a) of that subsection were omitted and replaced by the following paragraph:
- (a) the amount by which the higher of:
 - (i) the cost base (without indexation) of the *plant for the purposes of Parts 3-1 and 3-3, less any amounts included in that cost base as a result of expenditure incurred after the *transition time that were not, immediately before the balancing adjustment event occurred, included in the cost of the plant to you for the purposes of Division 42; or
 - (ii) the cost of the plant to you; exceeds its *written down value; and

58-150 Purchase of unit of plant from tax exempt vendor in connection with acquisition of business

- (1) If:
- (a) at a particular time on or after 4 August 1997, an entity whose *ordinary income or *statutory income is to any extent assessable acquires a unit of *plant from an *exempt entity; and
 - (b) the unit of plant is acquired in connection with the acquisition of a *business from the exempt entity;

 - (ii) the unit is used by the purchaser or another person in performing those functions or engaging in those activities as part of carrying on a business; or
 - (c) all of the following subparagraphs apply:
 - (i) the acquisition by the purchaser of the unit was connected with the acquisition of another asset by the purchaser or another person from the exempt entity or from an *associate of the exempt entity;

- (ii) ownership of the other asset gives the purchaser or other person a right, or imposes on the purchaser or other person an obligation, to perform functions or engage in activities as part of the carrying on of a business or confers on the purchaser or other person a commercial advantage or opportunity in connection with performing functions or engaging in activities as part of the carrying on of a business;
 - (iii) the unit is used by the purchaser or other person in performing those functions or engaging in those activities pursuant to the right or obligation or in taking the benefit of the advantage or opportunity, as the case may be; or

- (3) Paragraphs (2)(b), (c) and (d) do not apply if the unit is used by the purchaser solely to derive assessable income from the provision of office or residential accommodation.

58-155 Choice by purchaser

- (1) The purchaser must, in relation to the unit, do either of the following:
 - (a) choose that depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments are to be calculated by reference to the *notional written down value of the unit;
 - (b) choose that depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments are to be calculated by reference to the *undeducted pre-existing audited book value (if any) of the unit.

- (2) A choice under subsection (1) must be made:
 - (a) by the day on which the purchaser lodges the purchaser's *income tax return for the *acquisition year; or
 - (b) within a further period allowed by the Commissioner.
- (3) A choice, once made, applies to the *acquisition year and all later income years.
- (4) If the purchaser makes a choice under paragraph (1)(a), sections 58-160 to 58-215 have effect in relation to the unit.
- (5) If the purchaser makes a choice under paragraph (1)(b), sections 58-220 to 58-270 have effect in relation to the unit.

Provisions applying where depreciation of the unit is calculated by reference to notional written down value

58-160 Cost of unit to purchaser

- (1) The cost of the unit to the purchaser is taken to be the amount that is the sum of:
 - (a) the *notional written down value of the unit in relation to the *tax exempt vendor; and
 - (b) the amount of any incidental costs to the purchaser in respect of the acquisition of the unit.
- (2) Sections 58-165 to 58-205 have effect for the purpose of the calculation under section 58-210 of the *notional written down value referred to in paragraph (1)(a).

58-165 Ownership of unit

- (1) If the *tax exempt vendor was an *exempt Australian government agency immediately before the *acquisition time and had acquired the unit from another exempt Australian government agency:
 - (a) assume that the tax exempt vendor acquired it at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the other exempt Australian government agency; or
 - (b) if it had, before its acquisition by the tax exempt vendor, been successively owned by 2 or more exempt Australian government agencies—assume that the tax exempt vendor acquired it at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the first of those exempt Australian government agencies that owned it.

- (2) To avoid doubt, if subsection (1) does not apply, the *tax exempt vendor is taken to have acquired the unit at the time when the tax exempt vendor acquired or constructed it.

58-170 Cost of unit to tax exempt vendor

- (1) To avoid doubt, Subdivision 42-B applies for the purpose of determining the cost of the unit to the *tax exempt vendor.
- (2) However, if the *tax exempt vendor was an *exempt Australian government agency immediately before the *acquisition time and had acquired the unit from another exempt Australian government agency:
- (a) assume that its cost to the tax exempt vendor is the amount that was its cost to the other exempt Australian government agency; or
 - (b) if the unit had, before its acquisition by the tax exempt vendor, been successively owned by 2 or more exempt Australian government agencies, assume that its cost to the tax exempt vendor is the amount that was its cost to the first of those exempt Australian government agencies that owned it.

58-175 Effective life of unit

Assume that the *effective life of the unit is the period that would have been calculated to be its *effective life:

- (a) if subsection 58-165(1) applies—at the time when it is assumed under that subsection to have been acquired by the *tax exempt vendor; or
- (b) if subsection 58-165(2) applies—at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the tax exempt vendor.

58-180 Choice or election to calculate assumed effective life

For the purpose of calculating the assumed *effective life of the unit under section 58-175:

- (a) if the *tax exempt vendor would have been required to make a choice under subsection 42-100(1) at a particular time during the period for which the tax exempt vendor owned, or is assumed to have owned, it—assume that the tax exempt vendor made a choice at that time under paragraph 42-100(1)(b) to adopt the effective life specified by the Commissioner; or
- (b) if the tax exempt vendor could have made an election under subsection 54A(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 at a particular time during the period for which the tax exempt vendor owned, or is assumed to have owned, it—assume that the tax exempt vendor made the election at that time.

58-185 Use of unit for producing assessable income

Assume that the unit had, at all times during the period beginning when it was acquired or constructed, or is assumed to have been acquired, by the *tax exempt vendor and ending immediately before the *acquisition time, been used wholly for the purpose of producing assessable income by the tax exempt vendor, and assume that deductions for depreciation in respect of it had been allowed to the tax exempt vendor during that period.

58-190 Method of depreciation

- (1) Assume that the *tax exempt vendor could have selected a *method of depreciation to use in relation to the unit for the income years included in the period referred to in section 58-185.
- (2) The purchaser must make the selection that the *tax exempt vendor could have made.
- (3) Assume that the *method of depreciation selected was used by the *tax exempt vendor for each of the income years referred to in subsection (1).

58-195 Application of certain provisions in calculating depreciation rates

In calculating the rate of depreciation in relation to the unit in each income year included in the period referred to in section 58-185:

- (a) if section 57AG of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at any time before its repeal had applied in respect of that income year—that section is to be taken into account; and
- (b) if subsection 55(6) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force immediately before the commencement of section 7 of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act (No. 2) 1992 had applied in respect of that income year—that subsection is to be taken into account; and
- (c) if section 57AL of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at any time before its repeal had applied in respect of that income year—that section is to be disregarded.

58-200 Choice of rate

- (1) If the *tax exempt vendor could have made a choice under subsection 42-120(1) at a particular time (the relevant time) during the period referred to in section 58-185, the purchaser may make the choice and, if the choice is made, it is taken to have been made by the tax exempt vendor at the relevant time.
- (2) A *diminishing value rate chosen must not be less than the percentage worked out by using the formula:

$$\frac{1.5}{\text{Number of years in effective life}} \times 100$$

where:

number of years in effective life means the number of years in the assumed *effective life of the unit under section 58-175.

- (3) A *prime cost rate chosen must not be less than two-thirds of the percentage that would be worked out under subsection (2) if a *diminishing value rate had been chosen.

58-205 Nomination or election of depreciation percentage

- (1) If the *tax exempt vendor could have made a nomination or election under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at a particular time (the relevant time) during the period referred to in section 58-185, the purchaser may make the nomination or election, as the case may be, and, if the nomination or election is made, it is taken to have been made by the tax exempt vendor at the relevant time.
- (2) If the purchaser makes a nomination under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force immediately before the commencement of section 23 of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act 1993, the following paragraphs apply:
- (a) the nomination applies to the income year in which it is taken to have been made and all later income years in the period referred to in section 58-185;
- (b) a *diminishing value rate nominated must not be less than the percentage worked out by using the formula:
- $$\frac{1.5}{\text{Number of years in effective life}} \times 100$$
- where:
- number of years in effective life means the number of years in the assumed *effective life of the unit under section 58-175;
- (c) a *prime cost rate nominated must not be less than two-thirds of the percentage that would be worked out under paragraph (b) if a diminishing value rate had been nominated.
- (3) If the purchaser makes an election under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force immediately before the commencement of section 7 of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act (No. 2) 1992, the election applies to the income year in which it is taken to have been made and all later income years in the period referred to in section 58-185.

58-210 Notional written down value

The notional written down value of the unit in relation to the *tax exempt vendor is the amount of its cost or assumed cost to the tax exempt vendor under section 58-170 less the sum of the amounts in respect of which deductions for depreciation are assumed under section 58-185 to have been allowed to the tax exempt vendor in respect of it.

Note: Sections 58-165 to 58-180, and sections 58-190 to 58-205, have effect for the purpose of determining the amounts referred to in this section.

58-215 Calculation of depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments

- (1) The rules otherwise applying to the purchaser in the calculation of depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments in respect of the unit have effect in relation to the purchaser subject to this section and section 58-160.
- (2) If a *balancing adjustment event occurred before the 1998-99 income year, subsection 42-190(2) has effect in relation to the unit as if paragraph (a) of that subsection were omitted and replaced by the following paragraph:
 - (a) the amount by which the higher of:
 - (i) the cost base of the *plant for the purposes of Part IIIA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, less any amounts included in that cost base as a result of expenditure incurred after the *acquisition time that were not, immediately before the balancing adjustment event occurred, included in the cost of the plant to you for the purposes of Division 42; or
 - (ii) the cost of the plant to you; exceeds its *written down value; and
- (3) If a *balancing adjustment event occurred in a later income year, subsection 42-190(2) has effect in relation to the unit as if paragraph (a) of that subsection were omitted and replaced by the following paragraph:
 - (a) the amount by which the higher of:

- (i) the cost base (without indexation) of the *plant for the purposes of Parts 3-1 and 3-3, less any amounts included in that cost base as a result of expenditure incurred after the *acquisition time that were not, immediately before the balancing adjustment event occurred, included in the cost of the plant to you for the purposes of Division 42; or
- (ii) the cost of the plant to you; exceeds its *written down value; and

Provisions applying where depreciation of the unit is calculated by reference to undeducted pre-existing audited book value

58-220 Cost of unit to purchaser

- (1) The cost of the unit to the purchaser is taken to be the amount that is the sum of:
 - (a) the *undeducted pre-existing audited book value of the unit in relation to the *tax exempt vendor; and
 - (b) the amount of any incidental costs to the purchaser in respect of the acquisition of the unit.
- (2) Sections 58-225 to 58-260 have effect for the purpose of the calculation under section 58-265 of the *undeducted pre-existing audited book value referred to in paragraph (1)(a).

58-225 Ownership of unit

- (1) If the *tax exempt vendor was an *exempt Australian government agency immediately before the *acquisition time and had acquired the unit from another exempt Australian government agency:
 - (a) assume that the tax exempt vendor acquired it at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the other exempt Australian government agency; or
 - (b) if it had, before its acquisition by the tax exempt vendor, been successively owned by 2 or more exempt Australian government agencies—assume that the tax exempt vendor acquired it at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the first of those exempt Australian government agencies that owned it.

- (2) To avoid doubt, if subsection (1) does not apply, the *tax exempt vendor is taken to have acquired the unit at the time when the tax exempt vendor acquired or constructed it.

58-230 Assumed cost of unit to tax exempt vendor for purpose of calculating undeducted pre-existing audited book value

Assume that the cost of the unit to the *tax exempt vendor is the sum of:

- (a) its *pre-existing audited book value at the test time; and
- (b) the amounts of any capital expenditure on improving it incurred by the tax exempt vendor, or by an earlier owner that was an *exempt Australian government agency, during the period beginning immediately after the test time and ending immediately before the *acquisition time.

58-235 Effective life of unit

Assume that the *effective life of the unit is the period that would have been calculated to be its effective life:

- (a) if subsection 58-225(1) applies—at the time when it is assumed under that subsection to have been acquired by the *tax exempt vendor; or
- (b) if subsection 58-225(2) applies—at the time when it was acquired or constructed by the tax exempt vendor.

58-240 Election to calculate assumed effective life

For the purpose of calculating the assumed *effective life of the unit under section 58-235, if the *tax exempt vendor could have made an election under subsection 54A(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 at a particular time during the period for which the tax exempt vendor owned, or is assumed to have owned, it, assume that the tax exempt vendor made the election at that time.

58-245 Use of unit for producing assessable income

Assume that the unit had, at all times during the period beginning at the test time and ending immediately before the *acquisition time, been used wholly for the purpose of producing assessable income by the *tax exempt vendor, and assume that deductions for depreciation in respect of it had been allowed to the tax exempt vendor during that period.

58-250 Method of depreciation

- (1) Assume that the *tax exempt vendor could have selected a *method of depreciation to use in relation to the unit for the income years included in the period referred to in section 58-245.
- (2) The purchaser must make the selection that the *tax exempt vendor could have made.
- (3) Assume that the *method of depreciation selected was used by the *tax exempt vendor for each of the income years referred to in subsection (1).

58-255 Application of certain provisions in calculating depreciation rates

In calculating the rate of depreciation in relation to the unit in each income year included in the period referred to in section 58-245:

- (a) if section 57AG of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at any time before its repeal had applied in respect of that income year—that section is to be taken into account; and

- (c) if section 57AL of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at any time before its repeal had applied in respect of that income year—that section is to be disregarded.

58-260 Nomination or election of depreciation percentage

- (1) If the *tax exempt vendor could have made a nomination or election under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force at a particular time (the relevant time) during the period referred to in section 58-245, the purchaser may make the nomination or election, as the case may be, and, if the nomination or election is made, it is taken to have been made by the tax exempt vendor at the relevant time.
- (2) If the purchaser makes a nomination under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force immediately before the commencement of section 23 of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act 1993, the following paragraphs apply:
- (a) the nomination applies to the income year in which it is taken to have been made and all later income years in the period referred to in section 58-245;
- (b) a *diminishing value rate nominated must not be less than the percentage worked out by using the formula:
- $$\frac{1.5}{\text{Number of years in effective life}} \times 100$$
- where:
- number of years in effective life means the number of years in the assumed *effective life of the unit under section 58-235;
- (c) a *prime cost rate nominated must not be less than two-thirds of the percentage that would be worked out under paragraph (b) if a diminishing value rate had been nominated.
- (3) If the purchaser makes an election under subsection 55(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as in force immediately before the commencement of section 7 of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act (No. 2) 1992, the election applies to the income year in which it is taken to have been made and all later income years in the period referred to in section 58-245.

58-265 Undeducted pre-existing audited book value

The undeducted pre-existing audited book value of the unit in relation to the *tax exempt vendor is:

- (a) if the test time in relation to the unit is less than one year before the *acquisition time—the amount of its assumed cost to the tax exempt vendor under section 58-230; or
- (b) if the test time in relation to the unit is one year or more before the acquisition time—the amount of its assumed cost to the tax exempt vendor under section 58-230 less any amounts in respect of which deductions for depreciation are assumed under section 58-245 to have been allowed to the tax exempt vendor in respect of it.

Note: Sections 58-225 to 58-260 have effect for the purpose of determining the amounts referred to in paragraph (b).

58-270 Calculation of depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments

- (1) The rules otherwise applying to the purchaser in the calculation of depreciation deductions and balancing adjustments in respect of the unit have effect in relation to the purchaser subject to this section and section 58-220.

- (a) the connected persons may agree as to the parcel of related securities that is to be taken to be disposed of; or
 - (b) if they are unable to agree, the Commissioner may determine the parcel of related securities that is taken to be disposed of.

Where 2 or more disposals are taken to be disposals of the same securities

- (11) If, as a result of the application of subsection (4), the disposals of 2 or more parcels of related securities would be taken to constitute a disposal of the same securities because those 2 parcels of related securities were disposed of at the same time:
- (a) the connected persons may agree as to the related securities that are to be taken to be respectively disposed of by the disposals of the parcels of related securities; or
 - (b) if they are unable to agree, the Commissioner may determine the related securities that are to be taken to be respectively disposed of by the disposals of the parcels of related securities.

Notional re-acquisition of securities that are taken to constitute a disposal of other securities

- (12) If, as a result of this section, the primary securities are taken to have been disposed of by the taxpayer but are actually still held by the taxpayer, they are taken to have been re-acquired by the taxpayer immediately after the time when they are taken to be disposed of.

Effect of agreement or determination

- (13) An agreement or determination made under subsection (10) or (11) has effect according to its terms.

160APHJ Position in relation to shares or interests etc.

Regulations may prescribe what constitutes a position

- (1) The regulations may, either generally, or as otherwise provided in the regulations, prescribe:
- (a) what is a position, a short position, a long position or a net position in relation to shares or an interest in shares; and
 - (b) when a position relates to particular shares or a particular interest in shares; and
 - (c) how the delta of a position is to be calculated;
- and the following provisions of this section have effect subject to any such regulations.

Meaning of position

- (2) A position, in relation to shares or an interest in shares, is anything that has a delta in relation to the shares or interest, and includes, without limiting the generality of the above:
- (a) a short sale, or a future sale, of:
 - (i) the shares or interest; or
 - (ii) property that is substantially similar to, or related to, the shares or interest; and
 - (b) a purchase, or a future purchase, of property that is substantially similar to, or related to, the shares or interest; and
 - (c) an option to buy or sell the shares or interest; and
 - (d) an option to buy or sell:

- (i) property that is substantially similar to, or related to, the shares or interest; or
- (ii) an interest in such property; and
- (e) an option in relation to the shares or interest that is embedded in other property; and
- (f) a non-recourse loan made to acquire the shares or interest; and
- (g) an indemnity or guarantee in respect of the shares or interest.

However, if a share, or an interest in a share, is an employee share scheme security, a condition attached to the share or interest, or a term of the document that created the interest, that prevents the holder of the share or interest from disposing of it or could result in the share or interest being forfeited is not a position in relation to the share or interest.

Meaning of short position

- (3) A short position, in relation to shares or an interest in shares, is a position that has a negative delta in relation to the shares or interest. For example, a short sale, a sold future, a sold call option, a bought put option, and a sold share index future, are short positions.

Meaning of long position

- (4) A long position, in relation to shares or an interest in shares, is a position that has a positive delta in relation to the shares or interest. For example, a share purchase, a bought future, a bought call option, a sold put option, and a bought share index future, are long positions. To avoid doubt, shares or interests in shares are to be treated as a long position (with a delta of +1) in relation to themselves.

Meaning of net position

- (5) The net position of a taxpayer or fund in relation to shares, or in relation to an interest in shares, is calculated by adding the taxpayer's or fund's:

- (a) long positions in the shares or interest (calculated on the basis of their deltas); and
- (b) short positions in the shares or interest (calculated on the basis of their deltas).

For example, if a taxpayer sells 2 call options (each of which has a delta of -0.5) in respect of shares in a company and buys one share in the company (which has a delta of +1) in respect of those call options, the taxpayer has a net position of nil as a result of those transactions. In such a case, the taxpayer has materially diminished risks of loss and opportunities for gain in relation to the share.

Certain short positions in companies that deal in commodities to be disregarded

- (6) If:
 - (a) a taxpayer holds shares, or an interest in shares, in a company; and
 - (b) the sole or dominant business of the company is producing, purchasing, consuming, trading in, or otherwise dealing in, any of the commodities mentioned in subsection (7); and
 - (c) the taxpayer is a controller of the company for the purposes of section 140-20 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997;then, any of the taxpayer's short positions in the shares or interest that:
 - (d) relate to any of those commodities; and
 - (e) are taken in the ordinary course of the taxpayer's business;are to be disregarded for the purposes of subsection (5).

Commodities to which subsection (6) applies

- (7) The commodities referred to in subsection (6) are as follows:
 - (a) minerals;
 - (b) gold;
 - (c) ores of a metal included in the table of metals in subsection 330-60(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

Certain short positions of life assurance companies or trustees of eligible entities to be disregarded

(8) If:

- (a) a taxpayer that is a life assurance company or a trustee of an eligible entity (within the meaning of Part IX) holds shares or an interest in shares; and
- (b) the company, or the relevant fund or unit trust, has a short position arising from the obligations of the company or trustee to pass on to holders of policies issued by the company or to beneficiaries in the fund or trust the risks of loss and opportunities for gain in relation to the shares or interest; and
- (c) the full value of any franking rebate in respect of the shares or interest is passed on to the holders of those policies or to those beneficiaries; and
- (d) the obligations referred to in paragraph (b) do not directly or indirectly reduce the taxable income of the company, or of the fund or trust, or increase any loss (for the purposes of this Act) incurred by the company, or by the fund or trust;

the short position referred to in paragraph (b) is to be disregarded for the purposes of subsection (5) only in so far as the net position of the company, or of the fund or trust, is relevant to section 160AQT, 160AQYA or 160AQZA.

Short position of associate of taxpayer in shares or interest to be attributable to taxpayer

- (9) If, under an arrangement to which a taxpayer and an associate of the taxpayer are parties, the associate has a short position in shares, or in an interest in shares, held by the taxpayer, the associate's position is taken, for the purposes of subsection (5), to be a position that the taxpayer has.

Deltas of positions to be taken not to have changed in certain circumstances

(10) If:

- (a) a taxpayer acquires shares or interests in shares; and

- (b) on the day of the acquisition, or on a later day, the taxpayer enters into or has positions in relation to any of the shares or interests;

then, so long as the taxpayer continues to hold the shares or interests, continues to have those positions and does not enter into any further positions in relation to the shares or interests:

- (c) in calculating the delta of a position held by the taxpayer in relation to the shares or interests:

- (i) for the purposes of this Division other than paragraphs 106APHO(1)(b) and 160APHP(1)(b); or

- (ii) for the purposes of either of those paragraphs in its application to a related payment under an arrangement entered into before the commencement of this subsection, other than an arrangement that has been varied, renewed or replaced after that commencement;

those positions are taken to continue to have the deltas that they had on the later of the following days:

- (iii) the day on which the shares or interests were acquired;

- (iv) a day on which any of the positions was entered into; or

- (d) in calculating the delta of a position held by the taxpayer in relation to the shares or interests for the purposes of paragraph 160APHO(1)(b) or 160APHP(1)(b) in its application to a related payment under an arrangement:

- (i) entered into after the commencement of this subsection (including an arrangement that renewed or replaced an arrangement entered into before that commencement); or

- (ii) entered into before that commencement that was varied after that commencement;

those positions are taken to continue to have the deltas that they had on the latest of the following days:

- (iii) the day on which the shares or interests were acquired by the taxpayer;

- (iv) a day on which any of the positions that the taxpayer has in relation to the shares or interests was entered into;

- (v) if the secondary qualification period in relation to the taxpayer in relation to the shares or interests is the second, or a subsequent, qualification period since the shares or interests were acquired by the taxpayer—the first day of the secondary qualification period.

- (11) This section has effect subject to sections 160APHK and 160APHL.

160APHK Assets of partnership include shares or interest in shares:
how to determine a partner's interest in the shares

Application

- (1) If:
- (a) the assets of a partnership include, or include an interest in, a share (the relevant share); and
 - (b) an amount is included in the partnership's assessable income because of the partnership holding and the whole or a part of that amount (the dividend income) is:
 - (i) a dividend; or
 - (ii) attributable, through one or more interposed trusts or partnerships, to a dividend; and
 - (c) there is a partnership amount in respect of the partnership in relation to a taxpayer who is a partner in the partnership, being a partnership amount that is wholly or partly attributable to the dividend income;

this section sets out how the taxpayer's interest in the relevant share is to be calculated in determining whether the taxpayer is a qualified person for the purposes of Subdivision B or BA in relation to a dividend paid on the share.

Note: The calculation is not required unless the partnership is a qualified person in relation to the dividend. If the partnership is not a qualified person, no partner in the partnership can receive a franking rebate or franking credit through the partnership.

Partnership holding

- (2) For the purposes of this section, the partnership holding is the share, or the interest in the share, that is included in the assets of the partnership as mentioned in subsection (1).

Calculation of interest

- (3) For the purposes of subsections 160APHG(1) and (2), the taxpayer's interest in the relevant share is the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\text{Partnership holding} \times \frac{\text{Partner's share of the dividend income}}{\text{The dividend income}}$$

where:

partner's share of the dividend income means the partnership amount in relation to the partner to the extent to which that amount is attributable to the dividend income.

A position held by partnership is to be attributed to a partner to whom the position relates

- (4) A position, or an appropriate part of a position, of the partnership in relation to the partnership holding is taken to be a position of a partner in a partnership if the position relates to the partner's interest in the relevant share.

When a position of partnership relates to a partner

- (5) Without limiting by implication the circumstances in which a position of the partnership can be regarded as relating to the partner's interest in the relevant share, a position of the partnership relates to that interest if:
- (a) the whole or a part of the profit or loss from the position will be distributed to, or deducted from an amount that would otherwise be distributed to, the partner; or
 - (b) the benefit or detriment of the position will otherwise be wholly or partly passed to the partner.

160APHL Trustee holding shares or interest in shares: how to determine a beneficiary's interest in the shares

Application in respect of a trust other than a widely held trust

- (1) If:

- (a) the trustee of a trust other than a widely held trust holds, or holds an interest in, a share (the relevant share); and
- (b) an amount is included in the assessable income of the trust estate because of the trust holding and the whole or a part of that amount (the dividend income) is:
 - (i) a dividend; or
 - (ii) attributable, through one or more interposed trusts or partnerships, to a dividend; and
- (c) there is a trust amount in respect of the trust estate in relation to a taxpayer who is a beneficiary of the trust estate, being a trust amount that is wholly or partly attributable to the dividend income;

this section sets out how the taxpayer's interest in the relevant share is to be calculated in determining whether the taxpayer is a qualified person for the purposes of Subdivision B or BA in relation to a dividend paid on the share.

Note: The calculation is not required unless the trustee is a qualified person in relation to the dividend. If the trustee is not a qualified person, no beneficiary of the trust can receive a franking rebate or franking credit through the trust.

Application in respect of widely held trust

- (2) If:
 - (a) the trustee of a trust that is a widely held trust has held or holds, or has held or holds interests in, shares (the relevant shares); and
 - (b) an amount is included in the assessable income of the trust estate because of the trust holding and the whole or a part of that amount (the dividend income) is:
 - (i) a dividend; or
 - (ii) attributable, through one or more interposed trusts or partnerships, to a dividend; and
 - (c) there is a trust amount in respect of the trust estate in relation to a taxpayer who is a beneficiary of the trust estate, being a trust amount that is wholly or partly attributable to the dividend income;

this section sets out how the taxpayer's interest in the relevant shares is to be calculated in determining whether the taxpayer is a qualified person for the purposes of Subdivision B or BA in relation to a dividend paid on the shares.

Note: The calculation is not required unless the trustee is a qualified person in relation to the dividend. If the trustee is not a qualified person, no beneficiary of the trust can receive a franking rebate or franking credit through the trust.

Trust holding in relation to trust other than a widely held trust

- (3) For the purposes of the application of this section in respect of a trust other than a widely held trust, the trust holding is the share, or the interest in a share, that is held by the trustee as mentioned in subsection (1).

Trust holding in relation to a widely held trust

- (4) For the purposes of the application of this section in respect of a widely held trust, the trust holding is all the shares and interests in shares that the trustee has held or holds as mentioned in subsection (2).

Calculation of interest under a trust other than a widely held trust

- (5) For the purposes of subsections 160APHG(3) and (4) in relation to a taxpayer referred to in subsection (1), the taxpayer's interest in the relevant share is the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\text{Trust holding} \times \frac{\text{Beneficiary's share of the dividend income}}{\text{The dividend income}}$$

where:

beneficiary's share of dividend income means the trust amount in relation to the taxpayer to the extent to which that amount is attributable to the dividend income.

Calculation of interest under a widely held trust

- (6) For the purposes of subsections 160APHG(5) to (8) in relation to a taxpayer referred to in subsection (2), the taxpayer's interest in the relevant shares is the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\text{Trust holding} \times \frac{\text{Beneficiary's share of the dividend income}}{\text{The dividend income}}$$

where:

beneficiary's share of dividend income means the trust amount in relation to the taxpayer to the extent to which that amount is attributable to the dividend income.

Taxpayer's interest to be a long position

- (7) The taxpayer's interest in the relevant share worked out under subsection (5), or the taxpayer's interest in the relevant shares worked out under subsection (6), is a long position with a delta of + 1 in relation to itself.

Trust other than widely held trusts: when trustee's position attributed to taxpayer

- (8) If the trust is not a widely held trust, a position, or an appropriate part of a position, of the trustee in relation to the trust holding is taken to be a position of the taxpayer to the extent to which the position relates to the taxpayer's interest in the relevant share. However, if the trustee has a position in relation to 2 or more shares or interests in shares, the trustee's position is taken to constitute separate positions in relation to each of the shares or interests in accordance with an allocation made in a reasonable way.

When a position of the trustee of a trust other than a widely held trust relates to the taxpayer's interest

- (9) Without limiting by implication the circumstances in which a position of the trustee of a trust other than a widely held trust will be taken to relate to the taxpayer's interest in a share or shares, a position of the trustee relates to that interest if:
- (a) the position relates wholly or partly to shares in which the taxpayer has a vested and indefeasible interest; or
 - (b) the whole or a part of the profits or losses from the position will be distributed to, or deducted from an amount that would otherwise be distributed to, the taxpayer; or

- (c) the benefit or detriment of the position will be wholly or partly passed to the taxpayer.

Additional positions of the taxpayer

- (10) If:
 - (a) the trust is not a family trust within the meaning of Schedule 2F; and
 - (b) the trust is not a trust for the purposes of this Act merely because of the reference to executors and administrators in paragraph (a) of the definition of trustee in subsection 6(1); and
 - (c) the taxpayer's interest in the relevant share or the relevant shares is not an employee share scheme security;the taxpayer has, in addition to any other long and short positions (including the positions that the taxpayer is taken to have under subsection (8)) in relation to the taxpayer's interest in the relevant share or relevant shares, a short position equal to the taxpayer's long position under subsection (7) and a long position equal to so much of the taxpayer's interest in the trust holding as is a fixed interest.

A vested and indefeasible interest constitutes a fixed interest

- (11) For the purposes of subsection (10), the taxpayer's interest in the trust holding is a fixed interest to the extent that the interest is constituted by a vested and indefeasible interest in so much of the corpus of the trust as is comprised by the trust holding.

Certain interests in trust holding taken to be defeasible

- (12) Subject to subsection (13), if the taxpayer has an interest in the trust holding and either:
 - (a) the interest may be redeemed under the terms of the trust for less than its value; or
 - (b) the value of the interest may be materially reduced by:
 - (i) if the trust is a unit trust—the issue of further units; or
 - (ii) otherwise—the creation of other interests under the trust;

the interest is taken to be defeasible.

Case where interest not defeasible

(13) If:

- (a) the trust is a unit trust and the taxpayer holds units in the unit trust; and
- (b) the units are redeemable or further units are able to be issued; and
- (c) where units in the unit trust are listed for quotation in the official list of an approved stock exchange (within the meaning of section 470)—the units held by the taxpayer will be redeemed, or any further units will be issued, for the price at which other units of the same kind in the unit trust are offered for sale on the approved stock exchange at the time of the redemption or issue; and
- (d) where the units are not listed as mentioned in paragraph (c)—the units held by the taxpayer will be redeemed, or any further units will be issued, for a price determined on the basis of the unit trust's net asset value, according to Australian accounting principles, at the time of the redemption or issue;

then the mere fact that the units are redeemable, or that the further units are able to be issued, does not mean that the taxpayer's interest, as a unit holder, in so much of the corpus of the trust as is comprised by the trust holding is defeasible.

Commissioner may determine an interest to be vested and indefeasible

(14) If:

- (a) the taxpayer has an interest in so much of the corpus of the trust as is comprised by the trust holding; and
 - (b) apart from this subsection, the interest would not be a vested or indefeasible interest; and
 - (c) the Commissioner considers that the interest should be treated as being vested and indefeasible, having regard to:
 - (i) the circumstances in which the interest is capable of not vesting or the defeasance can happen; and

- (ii) the likelihood of the interest not vesting or the defeasance happening; and
 - (iii) the nature of the trust; and
 - (iv) any other matter the Commissioner thinks relevant;
- the Commissioner may determine that the interest is to be taken to be vested and indefeasible.

Effect of determination

- (15) A determination made under subsection (14) has effect according to its terms.

160APHM Material diminution of risks of loss or opportunities for gain in respect of shares or interests in shares

Regulations may prescribe what constitutes material diminution

- (1) The regulations may prescribe the circumstances in which a taxpayer is taken to have materially diminished risks of loss or opportunities for gain in respect of shares or interests in shares, and the following provisions of this section have effect subject to any such regulations.

Material diminution if net position has less than 30% of risks and opportunities

- (2) A taxpayer is taken to have materially diminished risks of loss or opportunities for gain on a particular day in respect of shares held by the taxpayer, or in respect of an interest held by the taxpayer in shares, if the taxpayer's net position on that day in relation to the shares or interest has less than 30% of those risks and opportunities.

Net position worked out by reference to deltas

- (3) A taxpayer's net position is worked out using the financial concept known as delta (see section 160APHJ). For example, an option to sell a share with a delta of minus 0.5 in relation to the share reduces the risks of loss and opportunities for gain by 50%.

160APHN Related payments

- (1) This section gives examples of, but does not limit, what constitutes, for the purposes of this Division, the making of a related payment by a taxpayer or an associate of a taxpayer in respect of a dividend paid in respect of shares, or in respect of a distribution made in respect of interests in shares, held by the taxpayer.
 - (2) The taxpayer or associate is taken, for the purposes of this Division, to have made, to be under an obligation to make, or to be likely to make, a related payment in respect of the dividend or distribution if, under an arrangement, the taxpayer or associate has done, is under an obligation to do, or may reasonably be expected to do, as the case may be, anything having the effect of passing the benefit of the dividend or distribution to one or more other persons.
 - (3) Without limiting subsection (2), the doing of any of the following by the taxpayer or an associate of the taxpayer in the circumstances mentioned in subsection (4) may have the effect of passing the benefit of the dividend or distribution to one or more other persons:
 - (a) causing a payment or payments to be made to, or in accordance with the directions of, the other person or other persons; or
 - (b) causing an amount or amounts to be credited to, or applied for the benefit of, the other person or other persons; or
 - (c) causing services to be provided to, or in accordance with the directions of, the other person or other persons; or
 - (d) causing property to be transferred to, or in accordance with the directions of, the other person or other persons; or
 - (e) allowing any property or money to be used by the other person or other persons or by someone nominated by the other person or other persons; or
 - (f) causing an amount or amounts to be set off against, or to be otherwise applied in reduction of, a debt or debts owed by the other person or other persons to the taxpayer or associate; or
 - (g) agreeing to treat an amount or amounts owed to the other person or other persons by the taxpayer or associate as having been increased.

- (4) The circumstances referred to in subsection (3), are where:
- (a) the amount or the sum of the amounts paid, credited or applied; or
 - (b) the value or the sum of the values of the services provided, of the property transferred or of the use of the property or money; or
 - (c) the amount or the sum of the amounts of the set-offs, reductions or increases;
- as the case may be:
- (d) is, or may reasonably be expected to be, equal to; or
 - (e) approximates or may reasonably be expected to approximate; or
 - (f) is calculated by reference to;
- the amount of the dividend or distribution.
- (5) The distribution by a trustee of a dividend to a beneficiary or beneficiaries of the trust who are presently entitled to it does not constitute the making of a related payment in respect of the dividend.
- (6) If an amount is taken into account in any way in favour of, or is notionally accredited to, a person in fixing a price or value, or in determining another amount, the first-mentioned amount is taken, for the purposes of this section, to be credited to the other person.
- (7) This section has effect subject to section 160APHNA.

160APHNA Certain payments not to be regarded as related payments

If:

- (a) a company (the relevant company) is a member of a wholly-owned group; and
- (b) all the shares in the relevant company are held by one or more other companies that are members of the group; and
- (c) the company or companies holding those shares (each a seller) enter into a contract or contracts to sell the shares to one or more persons (each a buyer) who are not members of the group; and

- (d) within 6 months after a contract is entered into as mentioned in paragraph (c) by a seller to a buyer to sell any of those shares, the relevant company pays a dividend in respect of the shares to the seller; and
- (e) it is reasonable to assume that no substantial part of the dividend is attributable to profits of the relevant company before it became, or after it ceased to be, a member of the group; and
- (f) the price paid for the sale of the shares was reduced by an amount representing the dividend;

the reduction in price is taken not to be the making of a related payment in respect of the dividend.

Subdivision B—Qualification for franking benefits and intercorporate dividend rebate

160APHO Persons qualified by holding shares or interests in shares for a prescribed number of days during a qualification period

- (1) A taxpayer who has held shares or an interest in shares on which a dividend has been paid is a qualified person in relation to the dividend if:
 - (a) where neither the taxpayer nor an associate of the taxpayer has made, is under an obligation to make, or is likely to make, a related payment in respect of the dividend—the taxpayer has satisfied subsection (2) in relation to the primary qualification period in relation to the dividend; or
 - (b) where the taxpayer or an associate of a taxpayer has made, is under an obligation to make, or is likely to make, a related payment in respect of the dividend—the taxpayer has satisfied subsection (2) in relation to the secondary qualification period in relation to the dividend.
- (2) A taxpayer who has held shares or an interest in shares on which a dividend has been paid satisfies this subsection in relation to a qualification period in relation to the shares or interest if, during the period:

- (a) where the taxpayer held the shares—the taxpayer held the shares for a continuous period (not counting the day on which the taxpayer acquired the shares or, if the taxpayer has disposed of the shares, the day on which the disposal occurred) of not less than:
 - (i) if the shares are not preference shares—45 days; or
 - (ii) if the shares are preference shares—90 days; or
 - (b) where the taxpayer held the interest in the shares—the taxpayer held the interest for a continuous period (not counting the day on which the taxpayer acquired the interest or, if the taxpayer has disposed of the interest, the day on which the disposal occurred) of not less than:
 - (i) if the shares are not preference shares—45 days; or
 - (ii) if the shares are preference shares—90 days.
- (3) In calculating the number of days for which the taxpayer continuously held the shares or interest, any days on which the taxpayer has materially diminished risks of loss or opportunities for gain in respect of the shares or interest are to be excluded, but the exclusion of those days is not taken to break the continuity of the period for which the taxpayer held the shares or interest.
- (4) This section does not apply to a taxpayer in respect of an interest in shares held by the taxpayer as a beneficiary of a widely held trust.

160APHP Persons qualified by holding interests in shares as beneficiaries of a widely held trust for a prescribed number of days during a qualifying period

- (1) A taxpayer who as a beneficiary of a widely held trust has held an interest in shares contained in the trust holding (within the meaning of subsection 160APHL(4)) of the widely held trust is a qualified person in relation to a dividend paid on any of the shares to which a distribution from the trust to the taxpayer is attributable if:
- (a) where neither the taxpayer nor an associate of the taxpayer has made, is under an obligation to make, or is likely to make, a related payment in respect of the distribution—

during the primary qualification period in relation to the taxpayer in relation to the interest; or

- (b) where the taxpayer or an associate of the taxpayer has made, is under an obligation to make, or is likely to make, a related payment in respect of the distribution—during the secondary qualification period in relation to the taxpayer in relation to the interest;

the taxpayer has held an interest in the shares contained in the trust holding as a beneficiary of the trust for a continuous period (not counting the day on which the taxpayer acquired the interest or, if the taxpayer has disposed of the interest, the day on which the disposal occurred) of not less than 45 days.

- (2) In calculating the number of days for which the taxpayer continuously held the interest, any days on which the taxpayer has materially diminished risks of loss or opportunities for gain in respect of the interest are to be excluded, but the exclusion of those days is not taken to break the continuity of the period for which the taxpayer held the interest.

160APHQ Persons qualified by holding shares or interests in shares where the shares were issued in connection with a winding up

A taxpayer who has held shares, or an interest in shares, in a company on which a dividend is paid is a qualified person in relation to the dividend if:

- (a) the shares were issued in connection with a proposed winding up of the company; and
- (b) the shares or interest was not disposed of by the taxpayer before the commencement of the winding up; and
- (c) neither the taxpayer nor an associate of the taxpayer has made, is under an obligation to make, or is likely to make, a related payment in respect of the dividend.

Subdivision BA—Maximum franking credits, maximum franking rebates, and maximum potential rebate amounts (and allowable deductions), for taxpayers who elect under section 160APHR

160AQZD Application of Subdivision

This Subdivision applies in relation to a year of income to a taxpayer (the electing taxpayer) who makes an election under section 160APHR in relation to the year of income.

160AQZE Maximum franking credits

- (1) If:
- (a) any dividends are paid on shares during the year of income; and
 - (b) the electing taxpayer is a company that held the shares or had interests in the shares; and
 - (c) the shares or interests are managed by or on behalf of the electing taxpayer as or in a discrete fund; and
 - (d) the election under section 160APHR related to the shares or interests; and
 - (e) the sum of the franking credits to which the electing taxpayer is entitled under this Part in respect of all those dividends exceeds the ceiling amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income;
- there arises, at the end of the year of income, a franking debit of the company equal to the excess.
- (2) If the electing taxpayer is entitled to both class A franking credits and class C franking credits under this Part in respect of any of the dividends referred to in subsection (1), the sum of the franking credits to which the taxpayer is entitled under this Part in respect of all the dividends referred to in that subsection is the sum of:
- (a) the class C franking credits in respect of any of those dividends; and

(b) the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{The class A franking credits in respect of any of those dividends}}{\text{any of those dividends}} \times \frac{39}{61} \times \frac{64}{36}$$

- (3) The ceiling amount, in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income, is the notional total credit amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income increased by:
- (a) if paragraph (b) does not apply—20%; or
 - (b) if a different percentage is prescribed by the regulations in relation to the index by reference to which the relevant benchmark portfolio of shares that applies in respect of the fund is determined—that percentage.
- (4) The notional total credit amount, in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income, is:
- (a) subject to paragraph (b), an amount equal to the sum of the franking credits to which a taxpayer (the notional taxpayer) of the same class or kind as the electing taxpayer would be entitled under this Part in respect of dividends on shares in the benchmark portfolio of shares that applies in respect of the fund (being shares that become ex dividend during the year of income) if:
 - (i) those dividends were paid to the notional taxpayer in the year of income; and
 - (ii) the notional taxpayer were a qualified person under section 160APHO in relation to those dividends; or
 - (b) if the regulations provide another method of calculating notional total credit amounts in relation to funds managed in the year of income by or on behalf of a class of taxpayers in which the electing taxpayer is included—the amount calculated in relation to the fund in accordance with that method.
- (5) If the first acquisition of shares or interests in shares that are managed by or on behalf of the electing taxpayer as or in a particular discrete fund occurred during the year of income, the notional total credit amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income is to be worked out as if the year of income did not include the part of the year of income before the acquisition occurred.

- (6) If all the shares and interests in shares that were managed by or on behalf of the electing taxpayer as or in a particular discrete fund are disposed of during the year of income, the notional total credit amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income is to be worked out as if the year of income did not include the part of the year of income after the last disposal of any of the shares or interests occurred.
- (7) The regulations may determine what constitutes a kind of taxpayer or class of taxpayers for the purposes of this section.

160AQZF Maximum franking rebates or intercorporate dividend rebates

- (1) If:
 - (a) any dividends are paid on shares during the year of income; and
 - (b) the electing taxpayer held the shares or had interests in the shares; and
 - (c) the shares or interests are managed by or on behalf of the electing taxpayer as or in a discrete fund; and
 - (d) the election under section 160APHR related to the shares or interests;

the sum of the rebates of tax to which the electing taxpayer is entitled under this Part or Subdivision D of Division 2 of Part III in respect of all those dividends is not to exceed the ceiling amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income.

- (2) The ceiling amount, in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income, is the notional total rebate amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income increased by:
 - (a) if paragraph (b) does not apply—20%; or
 - (b) if a different percentage is prescribed by the regulations in relation to the index by reference to which the relevant benchmark portfolio of shares that applies in respect of the fund is determined—that percentage.

- (3) The notional total rebate amount, in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income, is:
- (a) subject to paragraph (b), an amount equal to the sum of the rebates of tax to which a taxpayer (the notional taxpayer) of the same class or kind as the electing taxpayer would be entitled under this Part in respect of dividends on shares in the benchmark portfolio of shares that applies in respect of the fund (being shares that become ex dividend during the year of income) if:
 - (i) those dividends were paid to the notional taxpayer in the year of income; and
 - (ii) the notional taxpayer were a qualified person under section 160APHO in relation to those dividends; or
 - (b) if the regulations provide another method of calculating notional total rebate amounts in relation to funds managed in the year of income by or on behalf of a class of taxpayers in which the electing taxpayer is included—the amount calculated in relation to the fund in accordance with that method.
- (4) If the first acquisition of shares or interests in shares that are managed by or on behalf of the electing taxpayer as or in a particular discrete fund occurred during the year of income, the notional total rebate amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income is to be worked out as if the year of income did not include the part of the year of income before the acquisition occurred.
- (5) If all the shares and interests in shares that were managed by or on behalf of the electing taxpayer as or in a particular discrete fund are disposed of during the year of income, the notional total rebate amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income is to be worked out as if the year of income did not include the part of the year of income after the last disposal of any of the shares or interests occurred.
- (6) The regulations may determine what constitutes a kind of taxpayer or class of taxpayers for the purposes of this section.

160AQZG Maximum potential rebate amount and allowable deduction

(1) If:

- (a) any dividends are paid on shares during the year of income; and
- (b) the electing taxpayer is a taxpayer mentioned in paragraph 160APHR(1)(a), (b), (j) or (k) who held the shares or had interests in the shares; and
- (c) the shares or interests are managed by or on behalf of the electing taxpayer as or in a discrete fund; and
- (d) the election under section 160APHR related to the shares or interests;

the sum of the amounts represented by the letters PR and EPR in the formulas in the definition of potential rebate amount in section 160APA in relation to the electing taxpayer in respect of all those dividends is not to exceed the ceiling amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income.

(2) The ceiling amount, in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income, is the notional total rebate amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income increased by:

- (a) if paragraph (b) does not apply—20%; or
- (b) if a different percentage is prescribed by the regulations in relation to the index by reference to which the relevant benchmark portfolio of shares that applies in respect of the fund is determined—that percentage.

(3) The notional total rebate amount, in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income, is:

- (a) subject to paragraph (b), an amount equal to the sum of the rebates of tax to which a taxpayer (the notional taxpayer) who is a natural person and a resident of Australia would be entitled under this Part in respect of dividends on shares in the benchmark portfolio of shares that applies in respect of the fund (being shares that become ex dividend during the year of income) if:
 - (i) those dividends were paid to the notional taxpayer in the year of income; and

- (ii) the notional taxpayer were a qualified person under section 160APHO in relation to those dividends; or
 - (b) if the regulations provide another method of calculating notional total rebate amounts in relation to funds managed in the year of income by or on behalf of a class of taxpayers in which the electing taxpayer is included—the amount calculated in relation to the fund in accordance with that method.
- (4) If the first acquisition of shares or interests in shares that are managed by or on behalf of the electing taxpayer as or in a particular discrete fund occurred during the year of income, the notional total rebate amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income is to be worked out as if the year of income did not include the part of the year of income before the acquisition occurred.
- (5) If all the shares and interests in shares that were managed by or on behalf of the electing taxpayer as or in a particular discrete fund are disposed of during the year of income, the notional total rebate amount in relation to the fund in relation to the year of income is to be worked out as if the year of income did not include the part of the year of income after the last disposal of any of the shares or interests occurred.
- (6) If the sum of the amounts referred to in subsection (1) in relation to the electing taxpayer in respect of dividends paid during the year of income exceeds the ceiling amount referred to in that subsection in relation to the year of income, the excess is allowable as a deduction from the electing taxpayer's assessable income of the year of income.

160AQZH Benchmark portfolio of shares

- (1) The benchmark portfolio of shares that is applicable in respect of a fund managed by or on behalf of a taxpayer is the portfolio of the shares and other securities used to calculate:
- (a) the All Ordinaries Index published by the Australian Stock Exchange Limited; or

- (b) if the regulations prescribe another index in relation to a class of taxpayers in which the taxpayer is included—the other index;
being a portfolio whose value is equal to the net equity exposure of the fund for the year of income.
- (2) The net equity exposure of a fund for the year of income is the average of the values calculated for each relevant week during the year of income of the long and short positions that the fund has in such of the shares, or in interests in such of the shares, included in the fund as:
- (a) are shares:
 - (i) in companies that are residents of Australia; and

- (3) The value of a position in a share, or a position in an interest in a share, is calculated by multiplying the value of the share or interest by the delta of the position in the share or interest.
- (4) The values calculated for each relevant week as mentioned in subsection (2) are to be calculated on the same day each week (being the day chosen for the first calculation) or, if another basis for calculating those values is prescribed by the regulations, are to be calculated on that other basis.
- (5) A relevant week referred to in subsection (2) is each week during the year of income other than:
- (a) if the first acquisition of shares or interests in shares that are managed by or on behalf of the electing taxpayer as or in a particular discrete fund occurred during the year of income—a week occurring before the week in which the acquisition occurred; and
 - (b) if all the shares or interests in shares that are managed by or on behalf of the electing taxpayer as or in a particular discrete fund were disposed of during the year of income—a week occurring after the week in which the last disposal of shares or interests occurred.

Division 1AA—Interpretative provisions relating to exempting companies and former exempting companies

160APHBA Exempting companies

A company is taken to be, or to have been, an exempting company at a particular time if:

- (a) that time is, or was, as the case may be, a time later than 7.30 pm by legal time in the Australian Capital Territory on 13 May 1997; and
- (b) at that time the company is or was, as the case may be, effectively owned by prescribed persons.

160APHBB Effective ownership of company by prescribed persons

(1) A company is taken to be, or to have been, effectively owned by prescribed persons at a particular time if:

- (a) at that time:
 - (i) not less than 95% of the accountable shares in the company; or
 - (ii) not less than 95% of the accountable interests in shares in the company;are or were held by, or held indirectly for the benefit of, prescribed persons; or
- (b) paragraph (a) does not apply but it would nevertheless be reasonable to conclude that, at that time, the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding accountable shares, or accountable interests in shares, in the company that are not, or were not, held by, or directly or indirectly for the benefit of, prescribed persons are or were substantially borne by, or substantially accrue or accrued to, prescribed persons.

(2) In deciding whether it would be reasonable to conclude as mentioned in paragraph (1)(b):

- (a) regard is to be had to any arrangement in respect of shares (including unissued shares), or in respect of interests in shares, in the company (including any derivatives held or issued in connection with those shares or interests) of which the company is aware; but

- (b) no regard is to be had to risks involved in the ownership of shares, or interests in shares, in the company that are substantially borne by any person in the person's capacity as a secured creditor.

160APHBC Accountable shares

- (1) The purpose of this section is to identify which shares in a company are relevant in determining whether the company is effectively owned by prescribed persons.
- (2) A share in a company is an accountable share if it is not an excluded share.
- (3) A share in a company is an excluded share if, having regard to:
 - (a) the purposes for which the share was issued; and
 - (b) any special or limited rights connected with, arising from, or attached to:
 - (i) the share; or
 - (ii) other shares in the company held by the holder of the share; or
 - (iii) shares in the company held by persons other than the holder of the share; or
 - (iv) interests in any of the above;including rights that are conferred or exercisable only if the holder of the shares or interests concerned is, or is not, a prescribed person; and
 - (c) the extent to which any such special or limited rights are similar to or differ from the rights that are normally attached to the ownership of ordinary shares in companies; and
 - (d) the relationship between the value of the share and the value of the company; and
 - (e) any relationship or connection (whether of a personal or business nature) between holders of shares in the company of which the company is aware; and

- (f) any arrangement in respect of shares (including unissued shares) in the company, or interests in shares in the company, of which the company is aware;
- it would be reasonable to conclude that the share is not relevant in determining whether the company is effectively owned by prescribed persons because holding the share does not involve the holder bearing the risks, or result in the accrual to the holder of the opportunities, of ownership of the company that ordinarily arise from, or are ordinarily attached to, the holding of ordinary shares in a company.
- (4) In applying subsection (3), the fact that a person is a trustee is to be disregarded.
- (5) Without limiting subsection (3), a share in a company held by a person who is not a prescribed person is an excluded share if:
- (a) it is a finance share; or
 - (b) it is a dividend access share; or
 - (c) it does not carry the right to receive dividends; or
 - (d) it was issued, transferred or acquired for a purpose (other than an incidental purpose) of ensuring that the company is not effectively owned by prescribed persons.
- (6) A share is a finance share if, having regard to the rights attached to the share and to any arrangement with respect to the share of which the company is aware, the share is equivalent to a debt owed by the company to the holder of the share.
- (7) A share to which subsection (6) does not apply is a finance share if:
- (a) the manner in which the dividends payable in respect of the share are calculated, and the conditions applying to the payment of such dividends, indicate that the dividends paid are equivalent to the receipt by the person to whom they are paid of interest or an amount in the nature of or similar to interest; or
 - (b) the capital invested by the holder of the share will be redeemed, or, because of an arrangement between the holder and the company or an associate of the company, it is reasonable for the holder to expect that the capital will be redeemed, for an amount that is not less than, or for property (including other shares in the company) the value of which is not less than, the amount paid for the share; or

- (c) the share is redeemable by the company by payment of a lump sum or by the transfer of property, or the share has a preferred right to a repayment of capital on a winding up, where the amount of the lump sum or the value of the property, or the amount of the capital to be repaid, as the case may be, is to be calculated by reference to an implicit interest rate.

- (8) A share in a company is a dividend access share if, having regard to:

- (a) the terms of the issue of the share, including any guarantee of payment of dividends; and
(b) the amounts of the dividends paid on the share relative to the issue price of the share; and
(c) whether there is any guaranteed rate at which franked dividends are to be paid on the share; and
(d) the duration of the period within which the share was issued; and
(e) the rights attached to other shares in the company; and
(f) any other relevant matters;

it could be concluded that the share was issued only for the purpose of paying dividends to the holder of the share.

160APHBD Accountable interests

- (1) The purpose of this section is to identify which interests in shares in a company are relevant in determining whether the company is effectively owned by prescribed persons.
- (2) An interest in a share in a company is an accountable interest if it is not an excluded interest.
- (3) An interest in a share in a company is an excluded interest if, having regard to:
- (a) the purposes for which the interest was granted; and

- (b) the nature of the interest; and
- (c) any special or limited rights connected with or arising from:
 - (i) the interest; or
 - (ii) other shares, or interests in other shares, in the company held by the holder of the interest; or
 - (iii) shares, or interests in shares, in the company held by persons other than the holder of the interest; including rights that are conferred or exercisable only if the holder of the interests or shares concerned is, or is not, a prescribed person; and
- (d) the extent to which the interest is similar to or differs from beneficial ownership; and
- (e) the relationship between the value of the interest and the value of the company; and
- (f) any relationship or connection (whether of a personal or business nature) between holders of interests in shares in the company, and the holders of shares in the company, of which the company is aware; and
- (g) any arrangement in respect of shares (including unissued shares) in the company, or interests in shares in the company, of which the company is aware;

it would be reasonable to conclude that the interest is not relevant in determining whether the company is effectively owned by prescribed persons because holding the share to which the interest relates does not involve the holder bearing the risks, or result in the accrual to the holder of the opportunities, of ownership of the company that ordinarily arise from, or are ordinarily attached to, the holding of ordinary shares in a company.

- (4) In applying subsection (3), the fact that a person is a trustee is to be disregarded.
- (5) Without limiting subsection (3), an interest in an accountable share in a company is also an excluded interest if it was granted or otherwise created, or was transferred or acquired, for a purpose (other than an incidental purpose) of ensuring that the company is not effectively owned by prescribed persons.

160APHBE Former exempting companies

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), a company is a former exempting company if it has at any time ceased to be an exempting company and is not again an exempting company.
- (2) If a company that, at any time whether before or after the commencement of this section, became or becomes effectively owned by prescribed persons ceased or ceases to be so effectively owned within 12 months after that time, the company is not taken, by so ceasing, to have become, or to become, a former exempting company.

160APHBF Prescribed persons

- (1) A company is a prescribed person in relation to another company if:
 - (a) the first company is a non-resident; or
 - (b) were the first company to receive a dividend paid by the other company, the dividend would be exempt income of the company for the purposes of this Part.
- (2) A trustee is a prescribed person in relation to a company if:
 - (a) all the beneficiaries in the trust are prescribed persons under other provisions of this section; or
 - (b) were the trustee to receive a dividend paid by the company, the dividend would be exempt income of the trust estate for the purposes of this Part.
- (3) A partnership is a prescribed person in relation to a company if:
 - (a) all the partners are prescribed persons under other provisions of this section; or
 - (b) were the partnership to receive a dividend paid by the company, the dividend would be exempt income of the partnership for the purposes of this Part.
- (4) An individual (other than a trustee) is a prescribed person in relation to a company if:
 - (a) he or she is a non-resident; or

- (b) were he or she to receive a dividend paid by the company, the dividend would be exempt income of the individual for the purposes of this Part.
- (5) The Commonwealth, each of the States, the Australian Capital Territory, the Northern Territory and Norfolk Island are prescribed persons in relation to any company.

160APHBG Persons who are taken to be prescribed persons

- (1) This section applies to a person that:

 - (b) is not a prescribed person under section 160APBFB.
- (2) A company (the shareholding company) that holds shares, or interests in shares, in the relevant company is taken to be a prescribed person in relation to the relevant company if the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding the shares or interests are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, as the case may be, one or more prescribed persons.
- (3) A trustee of a trust who holds shares, or interests in shares, in the relevant company is taken to be a prescribed person in relation to the relevant company if the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding the shares or interests are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, as the case may be, one or more prescribed persons.
- (4) A trustee of a trust who holds shares, or interests in shares, in the relevant company is taken to be a prescribed person in relation to the relevant company if:
 - (a) unless subsection (7) applies, the trust is controlled by one or more persons who are prescribed persons; or
 - (b) all the beneficiaries who are presently entitled to, or during the relevant year of income become presently entitled to, income from the trust are prescribed persons.

- (5) In determining whether subsection (3) or (4) applies in respect of a trust that is controlled by a person, regard is to be had to the way in which the person, or any associate of the person, exercises powers in relation to the trust.
- (6) A person controls a trust if:
- (a) the person has the power, either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities, to control the application of the income, or the distribution of the property, of the trust; or
 - (b) the person has the power, either directly, or indirectly through one or more entities, to appoint or remove the trustee of the trust; or

 - (d) the trustee of the trust is accustomed or under an obligation, whether formal or informal, to act according to the directions, instructions or wishes of the person or of an associate of the person.
- (7) Paragraph (4)(a) does not apply in relation to a trust if some of the beneficiaries receiving income from the trust are not prescribed persons and the Commissioner considers that it is reasonable to conclude that the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding the shares and interests in the relevant company are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, as the case may be, one or more persons who are not prescribed persons.
- (8) A partnership that holds shares, or interests in shares, in the relevant company is taken to be a prescribed person in relation to the relevant company if the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding the shares or interests are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, as the case may be, one or more prescribed persons.
- (9) If any of the prescribed persons referred to in subsection (2), (3), (4) or (6) is a company, that subsection applies even if the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding any of the shares, or interests in shares, in that company are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, as the case may be, one or more persons who are not prescribed persons.

160APHBH Eligible employee share schemes

- (1) A share in a company is taken to be acquired by a person under an eligible employee share scheme if:

- (2) The question whether a company is a subsidiary of another company is to be determined in the same way as the question whether a corporation is a subsidiary of another corporation is determined under the Corporations Law.

160APHBI Membership of same effectively wholly-owned group of companies

- (1) 2 companies are members of the same effectively wholly-owned group of companies on a particular day if:
 - (a) throughout that day, not less than 95% of the accountable shares in each of the companies, and not less than 95% of the accountable interests in shares in each of the companies, are held by, or are held indirectly for the benefit of, the same persons; or

- (b) paragraph (a) does not apply but it would nevertheless be reasonable to conclude, having regard to the matters mentioned in subsection (2), that, throughout that day, the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding accountable shares, or accountable interests in shares, in each of the companies are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, the same persons.
- (2) The matters to which regard is to be had as mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) are:
- (a) any special or limited rights attaching to accountable shares, or accountable interests in shares, in each of the companies held by persons other than the persons mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) or their associates; and

- would (if a non-resident) be exempt from dividend withholding tax on the dividend or (if a resident) be entitled to a franking credit or a franking rebate in respect of the dividend.
- (4) The assumptions referred to in subsection (3) are that:
- (a) the relevant former exempting company was an exempting company at the time it paid the dividend; and receive dividends) and it would be reasonable to conclude that the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding those shares are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, the second company;

there arises on that day a class A franking credit of the second company equal to the class A franked amount of the dividend.

(2) Subject to this section, if, on a particular day, a class C franked dividend is paid by an exempting company (the first company) to a shareholder being another exempting company (the second company) and:

(a) the second company is a resident at the time the dividend is paid; and

(b) either of the following subparagraphs applies:

(i) the first company and the second company are members of the same effectively wholly-owned group of companies;

(ii) the second company holds more than 5% of the shares in the first company (other than finance shares or dividend access shares within the meaning of section 160APHBC or shares that do not carry the right to receive dividends) and it would be reasonable to conclude that the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding those shares are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, the second company;

there arises on that day a class C franking credit of the second company equal to the class C franked amount of the dividend.

(3) In deciding whether it would be reasonable to conclude as mentioned in subparagraph (1)(b)(ii) or (2)(b)(ii):

(a) regard is to be had to any arrangement in respect of shares (including unissued shares) in the first company (including any derivatives held or issued in connection with those shares); but

(b) no regard is to be had to risks involved in the ownership of shares in the first company that are substantially borne by any person in the person's capacity as a secured creditor.

- (4) No franking credit arises if the dividend is wholly exempt income of the second company.
- (5) If a determination is made under paragraph 160AQCBA(3)(b) or 177EA(5)(b) in respect of the whole of the dividend, no franking credit arises in respect of the dividend.
- (6) If a determination is made under paragraph 177EA(5)(b) in respect of a part of the dividend, the franking credit that would otherwise arise in respect of the dividend is reduced by the same proportion as that part of the dividend bears to the whole of the dividend.
- (7) If the dividend is partly exempt income of the second company, the franking credit arising under subsection (1) or (2) is reduced by the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\text{Franking credit} \times \frac{\text{Exempt part of dividend}}{\text{Dividend}}$$

where:

dividend means the number of dollars in the total amount of the dividend.

exempt part of dividend means the number of dollars in the part of the dividend that is exempt income.

franking credit means the franking credit determined under whichever of subsections (1) and (2) is applicable.

- (8) In determining for the purposes of subsection (3) or (7) whether the dividend is wholly or partly exempt income of the second company, section 124ZM (which exempts dividends paid by PDFs) is to be disregarded.
- (9) The franking credit arising under subsection (1) or (2) is to be reduced by 80% if:
- (a) the second company is a life assurance company; and
 - (b) the assets of the second company from which the dividend was derived were included in insurance funds of the second company at any time during the period beginning at the start of the year of income of the second company in which the dividend was paid and ending at the time the dividend was paid.

- (10) No franking credit arises if the dividend was paid as part of a dividend stripping operation.

 - (b) the amount of the franking debit or exempting debit is worked out in accordance with subsections (9) to (13).

Franking debit or exempting debit in respect of partly franked dividend

- (9) In the case of a franking debit or exempting debit in respect of a partly franked or partly exempted dividend, the amount of the franking debit or exempting debit is the difference between the franked amount or the exempted amount and the amount that would have been the franked amount or exempted amount if the dividend had been franked to the maximum extent to which the dividends paid to the advantaged shareholders were franked.

Franking debit in respect of unfranked dividend

- (10) In the case of a franking debit in respect of an unfranked dividend, the amount of the franking debit is the amount that would have been the franked amount if the dividend had been franked to the

Exempting debit in respect of dividend that has not been franked in accordance with section 160AQFA

- (10A) In the case of an exempting debit in respect of a dividend that has not been franked in accordance with section 160AQFA, the amount of the exempting debit is the amount that would have been the franked amount if the dividend had been franked to the maximum extent to which the dividends paid to the advantaged shareholders were franked.

Franking debit or exempting debit in respect of bonus shares from share premium account

- (11) In the case of a franking debit or exempting debit in respect of a benefit by way of the issue of bonus shares from a share premium account, the amount of the franking debit or exempting debit is the amount that, if the company had paid a dividend of an amount equal to the amount debited to the share premium account in respect of the bonus shares and had franked the dividend to the maximum extent to which the dividends paid to the advantaged shareholders were franked, would have been the franked amount of the dividend.

Franking debit or exempting debit in respect of any other benefit

- (12) In the case of a franking debit or exempting debit in respect of any other benefit, the amount of the franking debit or exempting debit is the amount that, if the company had paid a dividend of an amount equal to the value of the benefit at the time when it was paid and had franked the dividend to the maximum extent to which the dividends paid to the advantaged shareholders were franked, would have been the franked amount of the dividend.

160AQCND Calculation of surplus or deficit

- (1) The class A exempting surplus of a former exempting company at a particular time in a franking year is the amount by which the total of the class A exempting credits of the company arising in the franking year and before that time exceeds the total of the class A exempting debits of the company arising in the franking year and before that time.
- (2) The class C exempting surplus of a former exempting company at a particular time in a franking year is the amount by which the total of the class C exempting credits of the company arising in the franking year and before that time exceeds the total of the class C exempting debits of the company arising in the franking year and before that time.
- (3) The class A exempting deficit of a former exempting company at a particular time in a franking year is the amount by which the total of the class A exempting debits of the company arising in the franking year and before that time exceeds the total of the class A exempting credits of the company arising in the franking year and before that time.
- (4) The class C exempting deficit of a former exempting company at a particular time in a franking year is the amount by which the total of the class C exempting debits of the company arising in the franking year and before that time exceeds the total of the class C exempting credits of the company arising in the franking year and before that time.

160AQCNE Payment of exempted dividends by former exempting companies

- (1) If, on a particular day, a former exempting company pays a class A exempted dividend, there arises on that day a class A exempting debit of the company equal to the amount that, except for subsection 160AQFA(4), would be the class A exempted amount of the dividend.
- (2) If, on a particular day, a former exempting company pays a class C exempted dividend, there arises on that day a class C exempting debit of the company equal to the amount that, except for subsection 160AQFA(4), would be the class C exempted amount of the dividend.

160AQCNEF Receipt of exempted dividends by former exempting companies or by exempting companies

- (1) Subject to this section, if, on a particular day, a class A exempted dividend is paid to a former exempting company, or to an exempting company, that is a resident at the time the dividend is paid, there arises on that day a class A exempting credit of the former exempting company or a class A franking credit of the exempting company, as the case may be, equal to the class A exempted amount of the dividend.
- (2) Subject to this section, if, on a particular day, a class C exempted dividend is paid to a former exempting company, or to an exempting company, that is a resident at the time the dividend is paid, there arises on that day a class C exempting credit of the former exempting company or a class C franking credit of the exempting company, as the case may be, equal to the class C exempted amount of the dividend.
- (3) No exempting credit or franking credit arises if the dividend is wholly exempt income of the company.
- (4) If a determination is made under paragraph 160AQCBA(3)(b) or 177EA(5)(b) in respect of the dividend, no exempting credit or franking credit arises in respect of the dividend.

(5) If a determination is made under paragraph 177EA(5)(b) in respect of a part of the dividend, the exempting credit or franking credit that would otherwise arise in respect of the dividend is reduced by the same proportion as that part of the dividend bears to the whole of the dividend.

(6) If the dividend is partly exempt income of the company, the exempting credit or franking credit arising under subsection (1) or (2) is reduced by the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\text{Credit} \times \frac{\text{Exempt part of dividend}}{\text{Dividend}}$$

where:

credit means the exempting credit or franking credit, as the case may be, determined under whichever of subsections (1) and (2) is applicable.

dividend means the number of dollars in the total amount of the dividend.

exempt part of dividend means the number of dollars in the part of the dividend that is exempt income.

(7) In determining for the purposes of subsection (3) or (6) whether the dividend is wholly or partly exempt income of the former exempting company or of the exempting company, section 124ZM (which exempts dividends paid by PDFs) is to be disregarded.

(8) The exempting credit or franking credit arising under subsection (1) or (2) is to be reduced by 80% if:

- (a) the former exempting company, or the exempting company, is a life assurance company; and
- (b) the assets of the former exempting company, or of the exempting company, from which the dividend was derived were included in insurance funds of the company at any time during the period beginning at the start of the year of income of the company in which the dividend was paid and ending at the time the dividend was paid.

- (9) No exempting credit or franking credit arises if the dividend was paid as part of a dividend stripping operation.

160AQCNG Conversion of franking surplus to exempting credit when an exempting company becomes a former exempting company

- (1) If:
- (a) an exempting company becomes a former exempting company; and
 - (b) at the time when it becomes a former exempting company it has a class A franking surplus;
- then, subject to section 160AQCNI, immediately after it became a former exempting company:
- (c) there arises a class A franking debit of the company equal to the surplus; and
 - (d) there arises a class A exempting credit of the company equal to the surplus.
- (2) If:
- (a) an exempting company becomes a former exempting company; and
 - (b) at the time when it becomes a former exempting company it has a class C franking surplus;

- (c) there arises a class C franking debit of the company equal to the surplus; and
 - (d) there arises a class C exempting credit of the company equal to the surplus.
- (3) For the purpose of calculating the franking debit referred to in paragraph (1)(c) or (2)(c) and the exempting credit referred to in paragraph (1)(d) or (2)(d), in relation to the company, the franking surplus referred to in paragraph (1)(b) or (2)(b) is taken:
- (a) to be increased by so much of any franking credit of the company; and

- (b) to be reduced by so much of any franking debit of the company;
that arose during the year of income in which the company became a former exempting company as is not attributable to a period in which, or to an event taking place at a time when, the company was an exempting company or would have been an exempting company if paragraph 160APHBA(a) had not been enacted.
- (4) For the purposes of subsection (3), a class C franking credit that arose under section 160ASI is taken to be attributable to a period or time to the extent to which the class A franking credit or class B franking credit because of which the class C franking credit arose was attributable to that period or time.

160AQCNI Conversion of franking deficit to exempting debit when an exempting company becomes a former exempting company

- (1) If:
- (a) an exempting company becomes a former exempting company; and
 - (b) at the time when it becomes a former exempting company it has a class A franking deficit;
- then, subject to section 160AQCNI, immediately after it became a former exempting company:

- (3) For the purpose of calculating the franking credit referred to in paragraph (1)(c) or (2)(c) and the exempting debit referred to in paragraph (1)(d) or (2)(d), in relation to the company, the franking deficit referred to in paragraph (1)(b) or (2)(b) is taken:
- (a) to be reduced by so much of any franking credit of the company; and
 - (b) to be increased by so much of any franking debit of the company;
- that arose during the year of income in which the company became a former exempting company as is not attributable to a period in which, or to an event taking place at a time when, the company was an exempting company or would have been an exempting company if paragraph 160APHBA(a) had not been enacted.
- (4) For the purposes of subsection (3), a class C franking credit that arose under section 160ASI is taken to be attributable to a period or time to the extent to which the class A franking credit or class B franking credit because of which the class C franking credit arose was attributable to that period or time.

160AQCNI Transitional provisions for certain exempting companies that become former exempting companies

Conversion of franking surplus or deficit not to apply if change in company's status resulted from contract made before particular time

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), sections 160AQCNG, 160AQCNI, 160AQCNIH, 160AQCNIJ and 160AQCNIK do not apply to an exempting company that became a former exempting company as mentioned in the section concerned as a result of an acquisition of shares in the company under a contract that was entered into before 7.30 pm by legal time in the Australian Capital Territory on 13 May 1997.

Exception where contract made for purpose of obtaining franking credits

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply if the contract was entered into for a purpose (whether or not the purpose was the dominant purpose but not including an incidental purpose) of obtaining a franking credit benefit within the meaning of subsection 177EA(18).

Former exempting company reverts to that status within 12 months after becoming an exempting company

- (3) If:
- (a) a former exempting company becomes an exempting company; and
 - (b) within a period of less than 12 months afterwards it again becomes a former exempting company;
- whichever of the following subsections is applicable has effect.

Exempting company has franking surplus

- (4) If, at the time when the company again became a former exempting company, it had a class A franking surplus or a class C franking surplus, the references in paragraphs 160AQCNG(1)(c) or (d) or (2)(c) or (d), as the case may be, to the surplus are taken to be references to only so much of the surplus as would have been the company's class A exempting surplus or class C exempting surplus, as the case may be, if the company had remained a former exempting company throughout that period.

Exempting company has franking deficit

- (5) If, at the time when the company again became a former exempting company, it had a class A franking deficit or a class C franking deficit, the references in paragraphs 160AQCNG(1)(c) or (d) or (2)(c) or (d), as the case may be, to the deficit are taken to be references to only so much of the deficit as would have been the company's class A exempting deficit or class C exempting deficit, as the case may be, if the company had remained a former exempting company throughout that period.

160AQCNI Exempting debits may arise when certain former exempting companies pay frankable dividends

- (1) If a former exempting company pays a frankable dividend in respect of which there is a class A required franking amount and:
- (a) the reckoning day of the dividend is before the day on which the company became a former exempting company; or
 - (b) subsection 160AQE(3) or (4) applies in relation to the dividend;

then, subject to subsection (3), there arises a class A exempting debit of the company equal to the amount (if any) by which the class A required franking amount of the dividend exceeds the actual franked amount of the dividend.

- (2) If a former exempting company pays a frankable dividend in respect of which there is a class C required franking amount and:
- (a) the reckoning day of the dividend is before the day on which the company became a former exempting company; or
 - (b) subsection 160AQE(3) or (4) applies in relation to the dividend;

then, subject to subsection (3), there arises a class C exempting debit of the company equal to the amount (if any) by which the class C required franking amount of the dividend exceeds the actual franked amount of the dividend.

- (3) If:

- (a) a class A exempting debit, or a class C exempting debit, of a company arises under subsection (1) or (2) in respect of a dividend paid by the company; and
- (b) a class A exempting debit, or a class C exempting debit, of the company arises under subsection 160AQCNE(1) or (2) in respect of the dividend;

the amount of the debit that, apart from this subsection, would arise under subsection (1) or (2) is reduced by the amount of the debit that arises under subsection 160AQCNE(1) or (2).

- (4) When a class A exempting debit of a company arises, or, apart from subsection (3), would arise, under subsection (1), or a class C exempting debit of a company arises, or, apart from subsection (3), would arise, under subsection (2), in respect of the payment of a dividend, the dividend is taken for the purposes of section 160APX to have been class A franked or class C franked, as the case may be, to the extent of the amount worked out by using the formula:

Dividend \times Notional percentage

- (5) For the purposes of subsection (4), the notional percentage is the percentage worked out by using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Franking debit} + \text{Exempting debit}}{\text{Dividend}} \times 100$$

- (6) In the formulas in subsections (4) and (5):

dividend means the amount of the dividend.

exempting debit means the amount of the class A exempting debit or class C exempting debit that, apart from subsection (3), would arise in respect of the dividend under subsection (1) or (2).

franking debit means the amount (if any) of the class A franking debit or class C franking debit arising in respect of the dividend under section 160AQB.

- (a) a former exempting company becomes an exempting company; and

 - (b) an exempting credit of the company equal to the amount of the franking credit is taken to arise.
- (3) If the franking credit is partly attributable to a period during which, or to an event taking place at a time when, the company was an exempting company:

 - (b) an exempting credit of the company equal to the amount of the franking credit, to the extent to which it is so attributable, is taken to arise.
- (4) A reference in subsection (2) or (3) to a period during which, or to a time when, a company was an exempting company includes a reference to a period during which, or to a time when, a company would have been an exempting company if paragraph 160APHBA(1)(a) had not been enacted.
- (5) For the purposes of subsection (2) or (3), a class C franking credit that arises under section 160ASI is taken to be attributable to a period or time to the extent to which the class A franking credit or class B franking credit because of which the class C franking credit arose was attributable to that period or time.

160AQCNN Conversion of certain franking debits of former exempting company to exempting debits

- (a) whether the making of the declaration or declarations is necessary to enable the company to pay fully franked dividends after the sale; and
 - (b) the extent to which the success of the sale or proposed sale depended or will depend upon the ability of the company to pay franked dividends; and
 - (c) the extent to which the reduction in receipts of income tax resulting from the making of the declaration or declarations would be offset by the receipt of increased proceeds from the sale; and
 - (d) any other matters that the Treasurer thinks relevant.

When declarations may be made

- (3) The following provisions of this section apply after the company became or becomes a former exempting company.

Conversion of class A exempting surplus

- (4) If the former exempting company would, apart from this section, have a class A exempting surplus at the end of a franking year, the Treasurer may, in writing, declare that:

160AQFA What constitutes franking with an exempted amount

Franking with class A exempted amount

(1) If:

- (a) a frankable dividend (the current dividend) is paid by a former exempting company to a shareholder in that company; and
- (b) the company is a resident at the time of payment; and
- (c) where the current dividend is paid under a resolution:
 - (i) the company makes a declaration, before the reckoning day for the current dividend, that each dividend to which the resolution relates is a class A exempted dividend to the extent of a percentage (not exceeding 100%) specified in the declaration in relation to the dividend; and
 - (ii) the percentage so specified is the same for each of the dividends to which the resolution relates; and
- (d) where the current dividend is not paid under a resolution—the company makes a declaration before the reckoning day for the current dividend that the current dividend is a class A exempted dividend to the extent of a percentage (not exceeding 100%) specified in the declaration;

the current dividend is taken to have been class A exempted to the extent of the amount calculated in accordance with the formula:

Current dividend × Specified percentage

where:

current dividend is the amount of the current dividend.

specified percentage is the percentage specified in the declaration in relation to the dividend.

Note: Because of subsection 46M(3) and paragraph 46M(4)(a), paragraph (c) of this subsection does not apply to dividends that are taken by subsection 46M(3) or paragraph 46M(4)(a) not to be frankable dividends.

Franking with class C exempted amount

(2) If:

- (a) a frankable dividend (the current dividend) is paid by a former exempting company to a shareholder in that company; and
- (b) the company is a resident at the time of payment; and
- (c) if the current dividend is paid under a resolution:
 - (i) before the reckoning day for the current dividend, the company makes a declaration that each dividend to which the resolution relates is a class C exempted dividend to the extent of a percentage (not exceeding 100%) specified in the declaration in relation to the dividend; and
 - (ii) the percentage so specified is the same for each of the dividends to which the resolution relates; and
- (d) if the current dividend is not paid under a resolution—the company makes a declaration before the reckoning day for the current dividend that the current dividend is a class C exempted dividend to the extent of a percentage (not exceeding 100%) specified in the declaration;

the current dividend is taken to have been class C exempted to the extent of the amount worked out using the formula:

where:

current dividend means the amount of the current dividend.

specified percentage means the percentage specified in the declaration in relation to the dividend.

Schedule 5 Franking of dividends by exempting companies and former exempting companies

Note: Because of subsection 46M(3) and paragraph 46M(4)(a), paragraph (c) of this subsection does not apply to dividends that are taken by subsection 46M(3) or paragraph 46M(4)(a) not to be frankable dividends.

Limits on exempted amounts

- (3) Despite subsections (1) and (2), a dividend is taken not to have been class A exempted or class C exempted if the sum of:

 - (b) the class C exempted amount of the dividend; and
 - (c) any class A franked amount of the dividend; and
 - (d) any class C franked amount of the dividend;
- exceeds the amount of the dividend.

- (4) A dividend is taken by subsection (1) or (2) to be class A exempted or class C exempted only to the extent (if any) to which it is paid to:
- (a) an eligible continuing substantial shareholder; or
 - (b) an employee who acquired the share in respect of which the dividend is paid under an eligible employee share scheme.

All dividends paid under resolution to be franked to same extent

- (5) A former exempting company is not entitled to make a declaration under subparagraph (1)(c)(i) or (2)(c)(i) specifying a percentage in relation to a dividend paid to a shareholder in the company unless it also makes a declaration under that subparagraph specifying the same percentage in relation to each other frankable dividend in the same combined class of dividends that it paid to a shareholder in the company.

All dividends not paid under resolution to be franked to same extent

- (6) A former exempting company is not entitled to make a declaration under paragraph (1)(d) or (2)(d) specifying a percentage in relation to a dividend paid to a shareholder in the company unless it also makes a declaration under that paragraph specifying the same percentage in relation to each other frankable dividend in the same combined class of dividends that it paid during the same franking year to a shareholder in the company.

Declaration to be irrevocable

- (7) A declaration made for the purposes of this section cannot be varied or revoked.

Combined class of dividends

- (8) In this section:

combined class of dividends has the meaning given by subsection 160AQG(1).

59 At the end of section 160AQH

Add:

- (2) An exempting company that pays a dividend to a shareholder in the company must, before or at the time of payment of the dividend, give to the shareholder a statement to the effect that Australian resident shareholders are not entitled to a franking rebate or franking credit in respect of the dividend except for certain companies and employees who receive the dividend in connection with an eligible employee share scheme.

Matters to be taken into account in determining whether life assurance company bears the risks associated with the holding of shares

- (3) In deciding whether it would be reasonable to conclude as mentioned in paragraph (2)(b):
- (a) regard is to be had to any arrangement in respect of shares (including unissued shares) in the exempting company held by persons who are not, and are not associates of, the life assurance company (including any derivatives held or issued in connection with those shares); but
 - (b) no regard is to be had to risks involved in the ownership of shares in the exempting company that are substantially borne by any person in the person's capacity as a secured creditor.

Exception for grossing-up limited to grossed-up amount attributable to credits arising while life assurance company held shares

- (4) Subsection (2) does not apply to so much of the franked amount of a franked dividend paid by an exempting company to a life assurance company as related to franking credits of the exempting company that arose at a time before the life assurance company acquired the shares in respect of which the dividend was paid.

Exception where shares held under employee share scheme

- (5) Subsection (1) does not preclude section 160AQT from applying in relation to a franked dividend paid by an exempting company in respect of a share held by a person who:

 - (i) the time when the dividend was paid;
 - (ii) the time immediately before the former exempting company ceased to be an exempting company;the shareholder was a life assurance company;

Grossing-up limited to grossed-up amount attributable to credits arising while life assurance company held shares

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply to so much of the exempted amount of an exempted dividend paid by a former exempting company to a life assurance company as related to exempting credits of the former exempting company that arose at a time before the life assurance company acquired the shares in respect of which the dividend was paid.

Grossed-up amount to be included in assessable income of holder of shares under employee share scheme

- (3) If a class A exempted dividend, or a class C exempted dividend, is paid in a year of income in respect of a share in a former exempting company held by a person who:
- (a) was an employee of the former exempting company, or of a company that was a subsidiary of the former exempting company, at the time when the dividend was paid; and
