! This cover sheet is provided for information only. It does not form part of PS LA 2011/8 - The registration of entities

! From 1 July 2015, the term 'Australia' is replaced in nearly all instances within the GST, Luxury Car Tax, and Wine Equalisation Tax legislation with the term 'indirect tax zone' by the Treasury Legislation Amendment (Repeal Day) Act 2015. The scope of the new term, however, remains the same as the now repealed definition of 'Australia' used in those Acts. This change was made for consistency of terminology across the tax legislation, with no change in policy or legal effect. For readability and other reasons, where the term 'Australia' is used in this document, it is referring to the 'indirect tax zone' as defined in subsection 195-1 of the GST Act.

PS LA 2011/8

! From 1 July 2015, the term 'Australia' is replaced in nearly all instances within the goods and services tax, luxury car tax and wine equalisation tax legislation with the term 'indirect tax zone' by the Treasury Legislation Amendment (Repeal Day) Act 2015. The scope of the new term, however, remains the same as the now repealed definition of 'Australia' used in those Acts. This change was made for consistency of terminology across the tax legislation, with no change in policy or legal effect. For readability and other reasons, where the term 'Australia' is used in this document, it is referring to the 'indirect tax zone' as defined in subsection 195-1 of the A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Act 1999.

This Practice Statement is an internal ATO document and an instruction to ATO staff.

Taxpayers can rely on this Practice Statement to provide them with protection from interest and penalties in the following way. If a statement turns out to be incorrect and taxpayers underpay their tax as a result, they will not have to pay a penalty, nor will they have to pay interest on the underpayment provided they reasonably relied on this Practice Statement in good faith. However, even if they do not have to pay a penalty or interest, taxpayers will have to pay the correct amount of tax provided the time limits under the law allow it.

SUBJECT: The registration of entities

PURPOSE: This Practice Statement sets out the policy and procedures to be followed on a range of issues relating to the registration of entities, maintaining the client register and security of taxpayer data. It should be read in conjunction with Law Administration Practice Statement PS LA 2011/9 The registration of entities in the Australian Business Register.

BACKGROUND

1. We use unique identifiers to:
 - enable the accurate identification of entities and persons for taxation law purposes
 - record key information that will be accessed by multiple ATO systems and applications
 - allow for the recording and management of taxpayer entitlements and obligations under income tax and other related laws
 - create accounts for recording transactions within the tax system
 - facilitate the sharing of information with other agencies as permitted or required by law.
2. Under taxation law, some registrations are compulsory in certain circumstances for different kinds of entities or persons. In other circumstances, registration is optional. There may be significant benefits to registration (such as not having tax withheld on interest earned from a financial institution).
3. For the purposes of this Practice Statement, consistent with relevant taxation law provisions, the term 'person' will be used in relation to a tax file number (TFN) registration. The term 'entity' will be used in relation to an Australian business number (ABN) registration and a goods and services tax (GST) registration or in discussing taxpayer obligations generally.
4. All legislative references in this Practice Statement are to the A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Act 1999 (GST Act), unless otherwise indicated.

TERMS USED

5. The following terms are used in this Practice Statement¹:

Australian business number (ABN) – the entity's ABN as shown in the Australian Business Register (ABR).

Australian Business Register (ABR) – the register established and maintained by the Registrar of the ABR. It may be kept in any form that the Registrar considers appropriate.

Applicant – in relation to an application for registration, means an entity or person specified in the application as the entity or person to be registered.

Approved form – takes the meaning set out in section 388-50 of Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 (TAA). See Law Administration Practice

¹ Links to legislative provisions quoted in this Practice Statement are in the legislative reference table at the end of this Practice Statement.

Statement PS LA 2005/19 Approved forms for further information on approved forms.

Carrying on – in relation to an enterprise is defined in section 195-1 to include doing anything in the course of the commencement or termination of the enterprise.

Commissioner – means the Commissioner of Taxation.

Creditable acquisition – has the meaning given by section 11-5. An entity makes a creditable acquisition if

- it acquires anything solely or partly for a creditable purpose
- the supply of the thing to the entity is a taxable supply
- it provides, or is liable to provide, consideration for the supply, and
- it is registered or required to be registered.

Creditable importation – has the meaning given by section 15-5. An entity makes a creditable importation if

- it imports goods solely or partly for a creditable purpose
- the importation is a taxable importation, and
- it is registered or required to be registered.

Creditable purpose – has the meaning given by section 11-15 in relation to creditable acquisitions and section 15-10 in relation to creditable importations.

Enterprise – has the meaning given by section 9-20. Further explanation of this term is contained in Miscellaneous Taxation Ruling MT 2006/1 The New Tax System: the meaning of entity carrying on an enterprise for the purposes of entitlement to an Australian Business Number.

Entity – in relation to GST registration and ABN registration has the meaning given by section 184-1. It means any of the following:

- (a) an individual;
- (b) a body corporate;
- (c) a corporation sole;
- (d) a body politic;
- (e) a partnership;
- (f) any other unincorporated association or body of persons;
- (g) a trust;
- (h) a superannuation fund.

Further explanation of this term is contained in MT 2006/1.

General law partnership – means an association of persons (other than a company or a limited partnership) carrying on a business as partners. Refer to paragraph 16 of Goods and Services Tax Ruling GSTR 2003/13 Goods and services tax: general law partnerships.

Government entity – has the meaning given by section 41 of the A New Tax System (Australian Business Number) Act 1999 (ABN Act) and means:

- (a) a Department of State of the Commonwealth; or
- (b) a Department of the Parliament established under the Parliamentary Service Act 1999; or

- (c) an Executive Agency, or Statutory Agency, within the meaning of the Public Service Act 1999; or
- (d) a Department of State of a State or Territory; or
- (e) an organisation that:
 - (i) is not an entity; and
 - (ii) is either established by the Commonwealth, a State or a Territory (whether under a law or not) to carry on an enterprise or established for a public purpose by an Australian law; and
 - (iii) can be separately identified by reference to the nature of the activities carried on through the organisation or the location of the organisation;

whether or not the organisation is part of a Department or branch described in paragraph (a), (b), (c) or (d) or of another organisation of the kind described in this paragraph.

GST – has the meaning given by section 195-1 and means goods and services tax that is payable under GST law.

GST branch – has the meaning given by section 54-5.

GST group – has the meaning given by section 48-5.

GST joint venture – has the meaning given by section 51-5.

GST turnover – means:

- in relation to meeting a turnover threshold – has the meaning given by subsection 188-10(1), and
- in relation to not exceeding a turnover threshold – has the meaning given by subsection 188-10(2).

Incapacitated entity – is an individual who is bankrupt, an entity that is in receivership or liquidation or an entity that has a representative as defined in section 195-1.

Input tax credit (ITC) – means an entitlement arising under sections 11-20 or 15-15.

Joint venture operator – of a GST joint venture, is the entity nominated to be the joint venture operator under paragraphs 51-5(1)(ea) or 51-70(1)(c).

Non-profit sub-entity – has the meaning defined in section 195-1.

Parent entity – is an entity that has a GST branch. For more information, refer to section 54-40.

Person – in relation to a TFN, is defined by section 202A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (ITAA 1936) to include a partnership, a company and a person in the capacity of trustee of a trust estate.

Proof of identity (POI) at registration – happens at registration or enrolment and involves the provision of documents as evidence of identity (such as a birth certificate, drivers' licence or passport). For further information, refer to Chief Executive Instruction Identity management (link available internally only).

Proof of record ownership (PORO) – the provision of information related to a client record to give us assurance that the person making contact is authorised to access the information they are attempting to access. For further information, refer to Chief Executive Instruction Identity management.

Registrar – means the Registrar of the ABR. The Commissioner is the Registrar of the ABR.

Registration turnover threshold – has the meaning given by sections 23-15 and 63-25, and sections 23-15.01 and 23-15.02 of the A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Regulations 2019.

Representative – has the meaning given by section 195-1 and means:

- (a) a trustee in bankruptcy; or
- (b) a liquidator [as defined in subsection 6(1) of the ITAA 1936]; or
- (c) a receiver; or
- (ca) a controller (within the meaning of section 9 of the Corporations Act 2001); or
- (d) an administrator appointed to an entity under Division 2 of Part 5.3A of the Corporations Act 2001; or
- (e) a person appointed, or authorised, under an Australian law to manage the affairs of an entity because it is unable to pay all its debts as and when they become due and payable; or
- (f) an administrator of a deed of company arrangement executed by the entity.

Subsection 995-1(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (ITAA 1997) adopts this definition.

Resident agent – has the meaning given in section 195-1 and means an agent that is an Australian resident.

Reviewable GST decisions – are defined and listed in section 110-50 of Schedule 1 to the TAA.

Tax file number (TFN) – has the meaning given by section 202A of the ITAA 1936 and means a number issued to the person by the Commissioner, being a number that is either

- a number issued to the person under Division 2 of Part VA of the ITAA 1936 or a number issued to a person under sections 44 or 48 of the Higher Education Funding Act 1988, or
- a number notified, before the commencement of section 202A of the ITAA 1936, to the person as the person's income TFN.

Tax law partnership – has the meaning given in the second limb of paragraph (a) of the definition of partnership in subsection 995-1 of the ITAA 1997 and means an association of persons (other than a company or limited partnership) 'in receipt of ordinary income or statutory income jointly'.

Tax period – is the period for which an entity that is registered or required to be registered must lodge a GST return. These periods may be quarterly, monthly, annually or, in limited circumstances, another tax period such as a substituted accounting period. See section 195-1.

Taxable importation – has the meaning given by sections 13-5 and 114-5.

Taxable supply – has the meaning given by sections 9-5, 78-50, 84-5 and 105-5.

TFN declaration – has the meaning given by section 202A of the ITAA 1936. Completion of a TFN declaration will ensure that a pay as you go (PAYG) withholding amount is withheld at the appropriate rate in certain circumstances, including receipt of salary and wages, dividends and interest.

STATEMENT

6. This Practice Statement sets out the policy and procedures you must follow in relation to:
 - TFNs
 - GST registration
 - maintaining the client register.
7. Some aspects of this Practice Statement apply to all or many registration types. The introductory paragraphs and paragraphs 110 to 133 of this Practice Statement also apply to registration of an ABN.
8. The Commissioner (including in the role as Registrar of the ABR) is required to:
 - record and maintain registration details (including establishing and maintaining the ABR) using formal and informal information-gathering powers to seek information in order to verify and update registration entitlements and details
 - maintain the confidentiality of TFNs and other taxpayer information in accordance with taxation law confidentiality provisions, the Privacy Act 1988 (Privacy Act) and the Privacy (Tax File Number) Rule 2015 issued under the Privacy Act
 - notify entities and persons when making certain changes to registration details (for example, cancelling a registration).
9. The TFN registration is attached to a person (as defined). An ABN or GST registration is attached to an entity (as defined).
10. Where a registration imposes obligations or provides entitlements, the date of effect may be important. Most provisions allow the Commissioner to determine the date of effect for registration and cancellation. These are generally reviewable decisions.

EXPLANATION

TAX FILE NUMBERS

11. This section of this Practice Statement deals with TFNs. In particular, it contains a TFN overview and deals with:
 - applying for a TFN
 - refusal to issue a TFN
 - maintaining TFN records and declarations
 - TFN declarations
 - TFN security
 - compromised TFNs.

TFN overview

12. The TFN is a unique identifier issued by us to a person (as defined).
13. TFNs are used for a variety of purposes, including:
 - identifying an account

- enabling interactions between the account holder and us
 - increasing the effectiveness and efficiency of ATO data-matching
 - preventing income tax evasion
 - facilitating the administration of various Australian Government laws, such as those relating to social security, child support, super and higher education loans.
14. A person can only have one TFN at any time. If a new TFN is issued, any previously issued TFN will cease to have effect.
15. We may issue a TFN without an application being made where it is necessary to perform a function under a tax law.² For example, we may issue a TFN to enable an assessment to be made following a compliance enforcement activity.

Applying for a TFN

16. An application for a TFN must be in the approved form and accompanied by evidence of the applicant's identity.³ PS LA 2005/19 sets out how we administer approved forms.
17. Generally, persons (as defined) lodging their first application for a TFN may:
- complete an online form and attend a personal interview and present POI at registration at selected Australia Post outlets, or
 - apply online using myID if they are an Australian citizen with a current Australian passport
 - complete and lodge a paper TFN application form (including POI at registration documentation).
18. Information about how to apply for a TFN can be found at Apply for a TFN.
19. Special arrangements are in place to assist particular individuals register. These are through:
- Centrelink or the Department of Veterans' Affairs if applying for government benefits or a pension
 - online application on arrival in Australia if a permanent migrant or temporary visitor
 - a form designed specifically for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, or
 - specific processes for prisoners and applicants from detention centres.
20. Non-individual applicants may also apply for a TFN:
- online through the ABR website, or
 - via the approved paper application form.

² Subsection 202BA(4) of the ITAA 1936.

³ Subsection 202B(2) of the ITAA 1936.

Minors applying for a TFN

21. Generally, if a person applying for a TFN is:
- under 13 years old – their parent or guardian must sign an approved application form on their behalf
 - 16 years old or older – they must sign their own approved application form
 - 13 years old or older, but under 16 years old – either the minor or the parent or guardian can sign the application form.
22. Where a parent or guardian signs the approved application form, they must provide:
- POI at registration for themselves
 - POI at registration for the minor
 - documentation that proves their relationship with the minor.

Applicant does not require connection with tax system

23. Entitlement to a TFN is not contingent on the applicant establishing that they need or intend to use a TFN. An application that meets all the process requirements will result in us issuing a TFN.
24. If an applicant has no need for a TFN or the application is made in error, we may suggest to the applicant that they withdraw their application. This is done because TFNs have a specific tax purpose and it is undesirable to have unnecessary TFNs in the tax system. However, the person is entitled to proceed with their application in these circumstances.

Refusal of TFN application

25. We may refuse an application for a TFN if:
- the application is not received in the approved form, or
 - we are not satisfied as to the person's true identity.
26. We must refuse an application if:
- the person already has a TFN, or
 - an interim notice has been issued under section 202BD of the ITAA 1936.⁴ These notices are issued when a TFN applicant provides the name and address of the payer of the applicant, and we give the payer a notice that a TFN application is pending in relation to the applicant. This notice is valid for 28 days. If such a notice exists, there is already a TFN application in process.

Maintaining TFN records and declarations

Inactive TFNs

27. In some circumstances, it is necessary for a TFN to be deactivated. This may occur where, for example, we have been advised that an individual has died, the individual has departed the country permanently or a person has been inadvertently issued with 2 or more TFNs.

⁴ Subsections 202BA(2) and (3) of the ITAA 1936.

28. In certain circumstances, it is necessary to deactivate and replace a TFN, such as where the security of private information associated with the TFN has been compromised (see paragraphs 37 to 41 of this Practice Statement).
29. Deactivated TFN records are retained for record-keeping purposes.

TFN declarations

30. The TFN declaration form is an approved form⁵ that is completed in a 2-stage process. The payee gives their completed form to their payer, who in turn countersigns the form, retains a copy and sends the original to us.⁶ The payer and payee are both required to sign declarations to state that the information in their part of the form is true and correct.⁷

Lodging TFN declarations electronically

31. Payers who lodge their TFN declaration reports to us electronically may also receive a payee's TFN declaration form electronically, including the payee's electronic signature. Our requirements for an acceptable electronic signature are set out in fact sheet Signature requirements for approved electronic tax file number declaration – payee to payer process (NAT 73963-03.2012).

TFN security

32. A TFN is an important identifier used in administering the tax and superannuation systems, as well as some government services such as child support and personal assistance programs, and should be kept secure and confidential.
33. A person may not request or require another person to quote their TFN except as permitted by section 8WA of the TAA. However, person A may voluntarily disclose their TFN to person B (who is not authorised to request it), but person B may not record, use or disclose the TFN except as allowed by section 8WB of the TAA. Sections 8WA and 8WB apply to all types of persons, not just to us or other government officials.
34. Failure to maintain the security of their TFN and related personal information can adversely affect a TFN holder, including the TFN being used for fraudulent purposes such as identity theft. We recommend that persons:
- not store their TFN in their purse or wallet or on their mobile phone
 - shred or destroy documents when disposing of documents containing TFN details
 - install up-to-date anti-virus software on their computer or mobile phone
 - only provide their TFN to persons who are authorised to ask for it (such as us, their tax agent, financial institution or employer)
 - ensure that the tax agent they use to complete or lodge their tax return is registered, by checking the Tax Practitioners Board website (tpb.gov.au).
35. The Privacy (Tax File Number) Rule 2015 regulates the collection, storage, use, disclosure, security and disposal of individuals' TFN information. It is legally binding and is available on the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner's website (oaic.gov.au).

⁵ Subsection 202C(2) of the ITAA 1936.

⁶ Section 202CD of the ITAA 1936.

⁷ Section 388-60 of Schedule 1 to the TAA.

36. Under the Privacy (Tax File Number) Rule 2015, individuals cannot be compelled to quote their TFN but there may be consequences if they choose not to (for example, not being able to access certain Australian Government assistance benefits or having an assessment delayed). We are required to inform individuals of this when we ask them for their TFN.

Compromised TFN

37. We may classify a TFN as compromised if an unauthorised party has obtained the TFN. A TFN may also be compromised if an unauthorised party has access to sufficient information to obtain the TFN. A compromised identity may occur if an unauthorised third party has obtained personal identification details, such as a person's name, address and date of birth.
38. A compromised TFN or identity may be caused by a range of circumstances, including one or more of the following:
- theft
 - loss or accidental disclosure
 - our error (for example, incorrectly matched records may lead to a taxpayer's TFN being included in material provided to an unintended third party).
39. Remedial action may include implementing additional security measures for that taxpayer record or replacing the TFN.
40. In determining what remedial action, if any, should be undertaken, we will consider the facts and circumstances, such as:
- the likelihood of fraud, that is the known or anticipated intent by the third party to defraud (for example, this would be higher where records are deliberately stolen from a tax agent's office, compared to where records are lost in a natural disaster where they are likely destroyed)
 - whether the TFN has been associated with, or used by, another person
 - potential impacts on us, such as revenue risks or reputational risks arising from failure to take timely remedial action or to identify fraudulent activity
 - the cost and inconvenience to the taxpayer of any proposed remedial action
 - the likely effectiveness of the possible remedial action, including considering
 - if the remedial action will provide long-term sustainable resolution to the issue (for example, if a third party is known to have obtained, from a theft or disclosure, sufficient information to pass our PORO requirements, simply issuing a new TFN may not be appropriate or adequate action)
 - whether the remedial action for a prior compromise has been previously implemented and not succeeded, in which case, an alternative approach may be required
 - whether it is likely that the compromise will recur, regardless of the solution

- the taxpayer's preferences – although the decision to take remedial action is taken by us, the taxpayer's preferences will be considered. However, there may be situations where a taxpayer would prefer to have their TFN replaced but we decline to do so, or some unusual cases where we insist on doing so.

Example 1 – identity theft, replacing TFN

41. Peter has a large share portfolio. A record of his TFN is stolen from his tax agent's office by thieves targeting identity information. Peter would prefer not to replace his TFN as he would have to inform all the companies in which he holds shares. However, we decide that, as the thieves were specifically searching for identity information, the inconvenience to Peter is outweighed by the risk of the TFN being misused.

GST REGISTRATION

42. This section deals with GST registration. In particular, it contains a GST overview and deals with:

- applying for GST registration
- cancelling GST registration
- GST groups
- GST joint ventures, and
- GST branches.

Applying for GST registration

43. Entities that carry on an enterprise and have a GST turnover of $75,000 (or $150,000 for non-profit bodies) or more are required to register for GST.⁸ Entities that carry on an enterprise with a turnover of less than $75,000 (or $150,000 for non-profit bodies) may register for GST if they choose. It is the entity that is registered for GST, not the enterprise.
44. If an entity is registered or required to be registered, they must pay GST on any taxable supplies and taxable importations that they make. They are also entitled to ITCs for creditable acquisitions and creditable importations.

Registering for GST

45. We must register an entity for GST if:
- an application for registration has been made in the approved form, and
 - they are satisfied that the entity is carrying on an enterprise or intends to carry on an enterprise from the date specified in the application.⁹

⁸ Sections 23-5 and 23-15. Also see the exceptions to this rule requiring certain types of entities to register for GST even though they do not meet these criteria, as discussed at paragraphs 63 to 67 of this Practice Statement.

⁹ Subsection 25-5(1).

46. We must also register an entity if we are satisfied that the entity is required to be registered, even if the entity has not applied for registration.¹⁰
47. An entity may choose to register for GST if it:
- is carrying on an enterprise and its GST turnover is below the registration turnover threshold, or
 - intends to carry on an enterprise from a particular date.¹¹
48. If an entity is required to be registered, it must apply in the approved form to us within 21 days after becoming required to be registered.¹² If an entity is entitled to be registered but not required to do so, it may apply at any time.
49. MT 2006/1 considers the meaning of the terms 'entity' and 'enterprise' in relation to entitlement to an ABN. The principles in MT 2006/1 apply equally to the terms 'entity' and 'enterprise' in the GST Act (see Goods and Services Tax Determination GSTD 2006/6 Goods and services tax: does MT 2006/1 have equal application to the meaning of 'entity' and 'enterprise' for the purposes of the A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Act 1999?).
50. Carrying on an enterprise includes doing anything in the course of commencement of that enterprise.¹³ Activities undertaken in the commencement of an enterprise may include feasibility studies involving genuine business activities where, from the scale and nature of these activities, it is clear that there has been serious contemplation of developing an enterprise. However, the mere intention by an entity to commence an enterprise is not commencement activity.
51. We will require POI at registration to establish the identity of the applicant and its associates (where appropriate) when an entity applies for GST registration. There is no express provision for the Commissioner to seek information necessary to establish the identity of the applicant and its associates. However, the approved form provisions in the TAA empower the Commissioner to determine the information and additional statements or documents that an approved form will require. This can extend to any information which has a reasonable connection with the purpose for which it is sought (such as information to identify an applicant seeking GST registration).

Registration date of effect

52. An entity's registration will take effect from the date specified in its registration application, unless we specify another date.¹⁴
53. Where an entity registers for GST on the basis that it intends to carry on an enterprise, the date of effect of registration must not be earlier than the date the entity specifies in its application as the date from which it intends to carry on the enterprise.¹⁵
54. We must notify the entity in writing of:
- the date of effect of the registration
 - the registration number, and

¹⁰ Subsection 25-5(2).

¹¹ Section 23-10. Also note the special rules which permit government entities and some kinds of non-profit sub-entities to register for GST even if they do not meet the criteria in section 23-10, as discussed in paragraphs 63 to 67 of this Practice Statement.

¹² Section 25-1.

¹³ See definition of 'carrying on' in section 195-1.

¹⁴ Section 25-10.

¹⁵ Paragraph 25-10(1)(c).

- the tax periods that apply to the entity.¹⁶
55. The Registrar of the ABR must also enter the date of effect of the entity's GST registration in the ABR.¹⁷
56. Where an entity that has an ABN applies for a GST registration or an entity applies for ABN and GST registration at the same time, the GST registration number will be the same as the ABN, even though they are separate registrations.

Backdating GST registration

57. We may backdate an entity's GST registration, subject to the following limitations:
- Where no registration application is made, the date of effect cannot be before the day on which the entity became required to be registered.
 - Where the entity applies for registration, the date of effect cannot be before the date the entity specified in the application, unless we are satisfied that the entity was required to be registered as of an earlier date.¹⁸
58. If an entity's GST registration is backdated, it will result in the entity being required to pay GST on taxable supplies and taxable importations made from that earlier date. The entity will be entitled to claim ITCs on creditable acquisitions or importations from the earlier date, provided the appropriate documentation is held.¹⁹ However, for tax periods that commence on or after 1 July 2012, we cannot backdate the date of effect to a date that is more than 4 years before the date on which we decide the date of effect of the entity's registration.²⁰

GST-only registration

59. An entity qualifies for an ABN by carrying on an enterprise in Australia, whereas an applicant for GST registration need only carry on an enterprise.²¹ Non-resident entities that are carrying on an enterprise, although not in Australia, may apply for GST registration but are not entitled to an ABN because they are not carrying on an enterprise in Australia.
60. There are a number of situations where entities are registered for GST without having an ABN. The most common examples of this are:
- Non-residents entitled to ITCs. If an entity is not carrying on an enterprise in Australia or making supplies connected with Australia, it will not be entitled to an ABN.
 - GST audit cases where the entity is not registered for GST but is required to be. The entity can be registered for GST whether or not it applies but cannot be registered in the ABR unless it applies.

¹⁷ Subsection 25-10(2).

¹⁸ Section 25-10.

¹⁹ See Law Administration Practice Statement PS LA 2004/11 Treating a document as a tax invoice or adjustment note for further information.

²⁰ Subsection 25-10(1A), unless we are of the opinion there has been fraud or evasion.

²¹ Compare section 23-5 with subsection 8(1) of the ABN Act. However, paragraph 8(1)(b) of the ABN Act also permits an entity to have an ABN if it carries on an enterprise other than in Australia and in the course or furtherance of that enterprise, makes supplies that are connected with Australia.

61. Where an entity is entitled to GST registration but not to an ABN, it will be provided with a GST registration number for use when meeting its GST obligations.

Example 2 – registered for GST without an ABN

62. Ray Source is a livestock breeder in the United States of America. He buys 3 brood mares in Australia and pays GST on purchase. He exports the horses to his ranch in Kentucky and seeks registration for GST to claim ITCs. As he is carrying on an enterprise, he can register for GST. As Ray is not carrying on an enterprise in Australia, and not making supplies connected with Australia in the course of an enterprise he carries on elsewhere, he is not entitled to an ABN.

Entities subject to special rules for GST registration

63. A government entity is not required to be registered even if it is carrying on an enterprise and its GST turnover meets the registration turnover threshold.²² However, a government entity may apply for registration even if it does not meet the usual criteria for registration. That is, it may apply to be registered even if it is not an entity and is not carrying on or intending to carry on an enterprise.²³
64. Some kinds of non-profit entities may choose to have some (or all) of their separately identifiable branches treated as separate entities for GST purposes. A non-profit sub-entity may be registered for GST if the criteria set out in section 63-5 are met, even if the non-profit sub-entity is not carrying on, or not intending to carry on, an enterprise.²⁴
65. If an entity supplies taxi travel as part or all of its enterprise, it must register for GST irrespective of its GST turnover.²⁵ Taxi travel is travel that involves transporting passengers, by taxi or limousine, for fares.²⁶
66. The representative of an incapacitated entity must register for GST in that capacity, if the incapacitated entity is registered or required to be registered.²⁷
67. A resident agent of a non-resident is required to be registered if the non-resident is registered or required to be registered.²⁸

GST branches

68. We must register a branch of a parent entity as a GST branch if:
- (a) the parent entity is registered for GST and applies in the approved form for registration of the branch, and
 - (b) we are satisfied that the branch maintains an independent accounting system and can be separately identified either by the nature of its activities or by its location, and ²⁷ Section 58-20.

²⁸ Subsection 57-20(1).

- (c) we are satisfied that the parent entity carries on, or intends to carry on, an enterprise through the branch, from a particular date specified in the application.²⁹
69. A branch cannot be registered as a GST branch if the parent entity is a member of a GST group.³⁰

GST groups

70. Two or more entities may form a GST group if:
- each of the entities satisfies the membership requirements of the group
 - each of the entities agrees in writing to forming the group
 - one of the entities notifies us, in the approved form, of the formation of the group
 - the notifying entity is nominated in that notice to be the representative member of the group, and
 - that entity is an Australian resident.³¹
71. If a group's representative member nominates to us a date for forming, changing or dissolving the group, but does so after the day by which they were required to give to us a GST return for the period within which the nominated date falls, they must apply for approval of the backdated date of effect.³²
72. If a GST group is formed or entities leave or join an existing GST group part way through a tax period, the entities will be responsible for their own GST obligations for the relevant period during which they are not in the GST group.³³

GST joint ventures

73. Two or more entities may become participants in a GST joint venture if:
- the joint venture is for the exploration or exploitation of mineral deposits, or for a purpose specified in the A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Regulations 2019
 - the joint venture is not a partnership
 - each of those entities satisfy the participation requirements of a GST joint venture (see section 51-10)
 - each of the entities agree in writing to the formation of the joint venture as a GST joint venture
 - one of the entities, or another entity, is nominated in that agreement to be the joint venture operator of the joint venture
 - the nominated joint venture operator notifies us, in the approved form, of the formation of the joint venture as a GST joint venture, and

- the nominated joint venture operator is not a party to the joint venture agreement, that entity must be registered for GST and account for GST on the same basis as the participants in the joint venture.³⁴

Refusal of GST registration

74. We may refuse an entity's application for GST registration if they are not satisfied that the entity is carrying on an enterprise or intends to do so from a particular date specified in the application. However, special rules apply to some entities such as non-profit sub-entities and government entities, which may register regardless of whether they meet these criteria (see paragraphs 63 to 67 of this Practice Statement).
75. We may also refuse an application if it is not in the approved form, including the provision of POI at registration information required by the approved form. For a non-individual applicant, POI at registration may include the TFN or proof of the identity at registration of some individuals who are associates of the entity (for example, the directors of a company).
76. We must notify an entity in writing of a decision to refuse to register the entity.³⁵ A decision to refuse to register an entity is a reviewable GST decision.³⁶

Cancelling a GST registration

77. An entity must request cancellation of their GST registration within 21 days of ceasing to carry on an enterprise or if it did not commence carrying on an enterprise.³⁷ An entity ceases carrying on an enterprise when it concludes doing everything in the course of terminating its enterprise.
78. Failure to cancel a registration may result in a penalty of 20 penalty units.³⁸
79. If a registered entity is entitled to be registered for GST but is no longer required to be registered (for example, its GST turnover has dropped below the registration turnover threshold), it may apply to have its registration cancelled.
80. An entity that is required to be registered for GST cannot cancel its GST registration. (For a more detailed explanation of the terms 'entity' and 'enterprise', refer to MT 2006/1 which applies in both the GST and ABN context).
81. Cancellation of the GST registration will also result in the cancellation of fuel tax credit, luxury car tax and wine equalisation tax registrations.
82. If an enterprise which has been carried on by an entity continues but is undertaken by a new entity, the old entity must cancel its registration unless it is carrying on another enterprise. This includes entities with associated individuals in common, such as a partnership whose partners then become directors of a company which proceeds to carry on the enterprise. The new entity may apply for a new registration. This is because it is the entity that is registered for GST, not the enterprise.

Example 3 – registering for GST, entity or enterprise

83. Catherine and Peter are carrying on an enterprise as partners and the partnership is registered for GST. They change their business structure by incorporating and becoming directors of a Corporations Act company that is carrying on the same enterprise as previously carried on by the partnership. As it is the entity which is registered for GST, not the enterprise, the company will need to apply for GST and the partnership, if it is not carrying on another enterprise, must cancel its registration.
84. Similarly, if Catherine and Peter sell the enterprise to a partnership between Lisa and Anthony, Lisa and Anthony will need to register for GST. Catherine and Peter, if they are not carrying on any other enterprise, will need to cancel their GST registration.

85. If an entity applies in the approved form to cancel its GST registration and we are satisfied that the entity is not required to be registered:
- if the entity has been registered for at least 12 months, we must cancel the registration³⁹, and
 - if the entity has been registered for less than 12 months, we may cancel the registration.⁴⁰
86. We must also cancel the entity's GST registration, even if the entity has not applied for cancellation, if they:
- are satisfied that the entity is not carrying on any enterprise, and
 - believe on reasonable grounds that the entity is not likely to carry on any enterprise for at least 12 months.⁴¹
87. We must notify an entity of any decision made in relation to cancelling the entity's GST registration. If we decide to cancel the registration, the notice must specify the date of effect of the cancellation.⁴² Cancelling an entity's registration or refusing to cancel an entity's registration is a reviewable GST decision.

Date of effect of cancellation of GST registration

88. We must decide the date on which the cancellation of a GST registration takes effect. The date of effect of cancellation may be any day occurring before, on or after the day on which we make the decision to cancel the registration.⁴³
89. We will not cancel the registration with effect from a date on which the entity was required to be registered and will not usually do so from any date when the entity was operating as if it were registered for GST.
90. When an entity that was required to be registered applies to cancel its registration, we will ordinarily accept the cancellation date the entity chooses, provided that the entity:
- was not required to be registered after that date

³⁹ Section 25-55.

⁴⁰ Section 25-57.

⁴³ Subsection 25-60(1).

- was entitled to be registered before that date
 - has been registered for 12 months, and
 - has at that date ceased operating on a GST-registered basis.
91. When an entity that is registered but was not required to be registered (a voluntary registration) applies to cancel its registration:
- if we are satisfied that the entity has never operated on a GST-registered basis, we may accept the application to cancel the GST registration from a retrospective date chosen by the entity
 - if the entity has operated on a GST-registered basis but has ceased doing so before the application to cancel registration is made, we may accept the entity's application to cancel its GST registration from the start of the tax period which commences on or after the date it stopped operating on a GST-registered basis
 - if the entity is still operating on a GST-registered basis at the time of the application to cancel registration, the date of cancellation will generally not be retrospective. We will negotiate a prospective date if the application does not state one.
92. The date of effect of cancellation effect is a reviewable GST decision.⁴⁴
93. We will be satisfied that an entity has stopped operating (or never operated) on a GST-registered basis from a certain date if, from that date or an earlier date, the entity:
- did not hold themselves out to other businesses as being registered for GST
 - did not issue any tax invoices or adjustment notes
 - did not claim any ITCs, special transitional credits or indirect transitional credits, and
 - has made a declaration to us that satisfies all of the above points.

Dissolving GST groups or removing group members

94. The representative member may notify us in the approved form that a GST group is dissolved or that one or more of the entities is removed from the group. If a group's representative member ceases to be the representative member, the new representative member must notify us within 21 days of becoming a representative member. The GST group will be dissolved unless a new representative member is nominated with effect from the day after the previous representative ceased to be the representative member.⁴⁵
95. A GST group member that becomes incapacitated may be removed from the group by the representative member or the representative of the incapacitated member. If the representative member becomes an incapacitated entity and it does not cease to be a group member, it ceases to be the group representative member unless all other group members are incapacitated entities.⁴⁶
96. Under section 27-39, an incapacitated entity's tax period ceases at the end of the day before incapacitation, which generally means that the incapacitated member has a tax period different to those applying to the other members and ⁴⁴ See section 110-50 of Schedule 1 to the TAA.

⁴⁵ Section 48-70.

⁴⁶ Section 48-75.

therefore breaches one of the membership requirements. However, the representative member may elect that the tax periods of the other GST group members will end at the same time as that of the incapacitated member thereby allowing the incapacitated member to remain in the group.⁴⁷ The election must be made in the approved form within 21 days after the member becomes an incapacitated entity.⁴⁸

Cancelling GST branches

97. We must cancel the registration of a GST branch if:
- the entity has applied for cancellation of registration in the approved form, and
 - the branch had been registered for at least 12 months at the time of the application.⁴⁹
98. An entity must apply for cancellation of registration of its GST branch if it is not carrying on an enterprise through the branch.⁵⁰ It must lodge the application within 21 days of ceasing to carry on an enterprise through the branch.⁵¹
99. We must also cancel the registration of a GST branch, even without an application being made, if satisfied that the entity:
- is not carrying on an enterprise through the branch, and
 - will not carry on an enterprise through the branch in the following 12 months.⁵²
100. The date of effect of cancellation of the registration of a GST branch may be any date occurring before, on or after the day on which we make the decision.⁵³
101. Cancellation of an entity's registration will automatically cancel the GST registration of its branch or branches, with the same date of effect.⁵⁴
102. Refusing to cancel a branch's GST registration, cancelling a branch registration without an application and deciding the date of effect of cancellation of a GST branch are all reviewable GST decisions.⁵⁵

Registration requirements for representatives of incapacitated entities

103. A representative of an incapacitated entity is required to be registered for GST in their capacity as a representative, if the incapacitated entity is registered or required to be registered.⁵⁶ If more than one representative is appointed over the assets of the incapacitated entity, each representative will be required to register, unless the representatives are appointed jointly, in which case there is a single registration for the joint appointment. If the incapacitated entity is registered or required to be registered, the tax periods applying to the representative in that capacity are the same tax periods that apply to the incapacitated entity.⁵⁷

104. We must cancel the registration of a representative of an incapacitated entity if they are satisfied that the representative is not required to be registered in that capacity. We must notify the representative of the cancellation.⁵⁸
105. When a representative ceases to be a representative of the incapacitated entity, they must notify us in the approved form within 21 days.⁵⁹
106. The Commissioner (in their capacity as Registrar of the ABR) will allow the representative of an incapacitated entity to use the incapacitated entity's existing ABN for transactions conducted in its capacity as the representative of the incapacitated entity. We will set up a new running balance account under the incapacitated entity's ABN for each representative to cover post-appointment liabilities and entitlements. However, a trustee in bankruptcy will need to apply for a separate ABN in respect of each appointment as trustee under the Bankruptcy Act 1966.

Other notifications required of representatives

107. A liquidator must give written notice to us of their appointment within 14 days after becoming liquidator.⁶⁰
108. A receiver must give written notice to us within 14 days after taking possession of the assets of the entity in receivership.⁶¹

MAINTAINING THE CLIENT REGISTERS

109. This section of the Practice Statement deals with maintaining the client registers. In particular, it deals with:
 - registration of partnerships consisting of one entity or person acting in different legal capacities
 - registration requirements where an entity or person restructures
 - change of sex code
 - registration for minors (making decisions and signing forms)
 - recording names on the client registers
 - public officers.

Registration of partnerships consisting of one entity or person acting in different legal capacities

110. An entity (as defined) or person (as defined) can act in a number of different capacities. For example, in addition to their individual capacity, an individual may be a trustee of one or more trusts. In each of those capacities, the individual is taken to be a different entity or person. This also applies where the trustee is a company.
111. The Commissioner (including when acting as Registrar of the ABR) may accept an application for registration from a partnership (for a TFN, ABN, GST or other role registration) if satisfied that the entities involved are together proprietors of the relevant business or assets that are being used to carry on a business or to derive income jointly. The partnership can be either a general law or tax law partnership and must be comprised of:

- 2 or more entities or persons being an individual or company in their own right and that individual or company as trustee of one or more trusts, or
- 2 or more entities or persons being an individual or company as trustee of 2 or more trusts.

Example 4 – one individual with multiple roles

112. Margaret as an individual and Margaret as trustee for the Scanlan Family Trust are partners in an enterprise. There is only one natural person (Margaret) involved, but she is there in 2 capacities (individual and trustee). The Registrar will register the partnership.

Reconstituted partnerships

113. Where a partner exits a general law partnership (the partnership) and the assets and liabilities of that partnership are taken over by the continuing partners (and any new partners) and the partnership business is continued without any apparent break, a technical rather than a general dissolution has occurred. This is known as a reconstituted partnership.
114. A reconstituted partnership, providing the conditions in paragraph 115 of this Practice Statement are met, can continue to use the same TFN, GST registration or ABN as the pre-reconstitution partnership. The partnership will only be required to complete one tax return for the income year in which the reconstitution took place. The reconstituted partnership treatment only applies to general law partnerships, not to tax law partnerships.
115. All of the following conditions must be satisfied if a reconstituted partnership wishes to continue to use its existing TFN, GST registration or ABN:
- There must be at least one continuing partner who is a member of the partnership prior to and following the reconstitution.
 - There must be an express or implied continuity clause agreed to by the continuing, incoming and outgoing partners. This includes a clause in the partnership agreement, a statement signed by the partners or an oral agreement by the partners.
 - The following must be satisfied
 - substantially all of the partnership assets remain with the continuing partnership
 - the nature of the enterprise remains substantially unchanged
 - the client or customer base remains substantially unchanged
 - the business name or name of the firm remains unchanged.
- 'Substantially' means largely or considerably. This is taken to mean more than 50%, though each case will need to be decided on its own facts.

- When lodging the partnership tax return, the following details must be supplied
 - the date of the dissolution
 - the date of the reconstitution
 - the names of the new, continuing and retiring partners
 - the TFN or address and date of birth of all new partners
 - details of the changes if the contacts authorised to act on behalf of the partnership have changed.
116. If all of the conditions set out in paragraph 115 of this Practice Statement are not met, the original partnership will be dissolved and a new partnership created. In this case:
- the new partnership will be required to register for a new TFN, GST registration and ABN
 - the former partnership will be required to cancel their GST registration and ABN if they are not carrying on any other enterprise
 - the new partnership will be required to lodge a tax return for the period from the date of its formation to the end of the income year
 - the former partnership will be required to lodge a tax return from the beginning of the income year to the date of dissolution.

Registration requirements where an entity or person restructures

Government entities

117. Government entities at the Commonwealth, State, Territory and local level may undergo a variety of structural changes that include but are not limited to:
- the merging of 2 bodies
 - a change in the type of entity (for example, a change from one type of government body to another)
 - the whole or part of an entity being absorbed by another entity.
118. Such restructures are commonly referred to as 'machinery of government changes'.
119. Machinery of government changes give rise to questions as to whether the entity or entities emerging from a restructure need to apply for new registrations or roles, such as TFN, ABN, GST, PAYG withholding, fringe benefits tax and fuel tax credits, or may instead continue the registrations and roles of the pre-change entity.
120. Where it is evident that an entity emerging from a machinery of government change is to be treated at law as a continuation of the pre-change entity, the TFN, ABN and other roles of the pre-change entity continue unaltered with only a change to the entity name. Relevant evidence is found in the primary or delegated legislation, administrative orders or gazettal notice. The legislation should contain specific transition, transfer and savings provisions which provide that the new entity is to be treated as if it were the former entity such that the new entity has all the rights, entitlements, liabilities and obligations of the former entity.
121. Where there is no such evidence, an entity emerging from a machinery of government change must apply for new registrations.

122. Where it is evident that a government entity continues, in fact, after the machinery of government change, there is no new and former entity for which there is a need to establish continuity. Such cases do not need to be treated in accordance with this Practice Statement and the entity may continue to use their existing registrations. An example of the continuation of an entity in fact is where a State Governor gives notice in their state's Gazette that an existing department has been renamed and had some functions added or taken away (sometimes referred to as having its 'designation altered') under the relevant state Public Sector Management Act (or equivalent). In this example, no new primary or delegated legislation has been passed. Rather, powers under the existing statute have been used to restructure a department without abolishing it.

Registrations and sex code

123. When registering an individual, we will record the individual's sex or gender as described in the primary POI documents. In cases where an individual seeks to change the record of their sex or gender, they are required to provide one of the following documents specifying their preferred sex or gender:
- a statement from a registered medical practitioner or a registered psychologist, or
 - a valid Australian Government travel document, such as a valid passport, or
 - an amended State or Territory birth certificate, or
 - a State or Territory gender recognition certificate or recognised details certificate showing a State or Territory Registrar of Birth, Deaths and Marriages.
124. Sex reassignment surgery or hormone therapy are not pre-requisites for the recognition of a change of sex or gender in our records.
125. Recording of gender is not compulsory on the ABR. However, the ABR recognises the following gender codes:
- F – Female
 - M – Male
 - U – Unknown
 - X – Other.
126. An individual may apply to change their name and update their title to one that is not sex or gender-specific or to remove the title from our records.

Minors – making decisions and signing forms

127. At general law, an individual does not achieve full legal capacity while they are a minor (under 18 years old). Legal capacity is a legal concept which describes the ability of an individual to act under the law. See also paragraphs 21 and 22 of this Practice Statement.
128. Taxation laws do not specify at what age a minor will have capacity in relation to tax affairs. Case law in the criminal and family law contexts⁶² has established that the optimal approach to determining the capacity of a minor is to judge each case on its own merits depending on the nature of a particular decision to be made and the minor's ability to understand the consequences of their decision. However, it also suggests that generally children under 10 years old will not be capable of making informed decisions while children 14 years or over generally will be capable. There is no specific guidance on the capacity of children aged between 10 and 14.

129. It would be difficult for us to attempt to discover the actual capacity of minors on an individual basis. In the context of this Practice Statement, it is accepted that a minor aged 14 years or over, in the absence of evidence or facts indicating otherwise, has the capacity to make decisions in relation to matters dealt with in this Practice Statement, such as registrations.
130. A manager in a client contact area also has the discretion to decide whether a particular minor under 14 years old has capacity (that is, the capacity to understand the decision and its consequences). In these cases, a determination of the child's capacity would need to be made by the manager. An example of this is the manager interviewing the minor to assess the minor's understanding of the decision. The manager can decide, taking into account the minor's understanding and the complexity of the decision to be made by the minor, that the minor is capable of making the decision and understanding the decision.
131. Exceptions applying to different ages should be made where it can be assessed that the particular type of decision is appropriate for a child of that age. An example of an exception is the policy on the age for signing a TFN application, which is referred to at paragraph 21 of this Practice Statement. The TFN application process for minors has operated successfully for many years and is widely accepted within the community.

Recording names in ATO systems

132. We will enter the legal name (also known as entity name) of an entity or person in our systems. However, an entity or person can record more than one name in our systems (for example, a client's legal name and preferred name), provided there is no intention to use it for fraudulent purposes.
133. We maintain records containing the full legal name of an individual. This may include the surname, given name and middle names. Unless there is a specific legal requirement to use the taxpayer's full legal name (such as serving a particular form of notice), it is acceptable to use a shortened version of the full name, such as given and last name only or given name, middle initials and surname. We may take into account the taxpayer's wishes and can accommodate them where it is appropriate, taking into account system limitations such as a limited character field.

Public officers

134. The public officer is a position that exists for taxation and indirect taxation purposes. A public officer is not appointed until notice has been given to us in writing. The public officer appointed under section 252 of the ITAA 1936 is also the public officer of the company for the purposes of an indirect tax law.⁶³
135. A company that carries on business in Australia or derives income from property in Australia is required to be represented for taxation purposes by a public officer.⁶⁴ The company must appoint a public officer, in writing, within 3 months of commencing to carry on business or derive income in Australia.⁶⁵

136. The public officer has the authority to do all things in relation to taxation matters on behalf of a company.
137. In performing your duties as a taxation officer, you may disclose information about a company to its public officer for the purposes of administering taxation laws. However, you cannot automatically disclose information about the company to the public officer for purposes which do not assist in the administration of taxation laws. In these circumstances, the public officer must be nominated in the approved form under paragraph 355-25(2)(g) of Schedule 1 to the TAA so that they will then be a 'covered entity' in relation to the company for the purposes of the confidentiality provisions.
138. A trust estate that carries on business in Australia or derives any income from property from sources in Australia, and does not have an Australian-resident trustee, is also required to appoint a resident public officer.⁶⁶
139. Further information on public officers is contained in the Appendix to this Practice Statement.

APPENDIX – PUBLIC OFFICERS

Exemption from being represented by a public officer

140. We may exempt a company⁶⁷ or trust estate⁶⁸ from the requirement to appoint a public officer for some of the time or all of the time.
141. While there is scope to exempt a company or trust estate from the requirement to appoint a public officer, the intent of the public officer provisions is to ensure that every company or trust estate carrying on business in Australia, or deriving in Australia income from property, appoints a public officer. Even if the Commissioner's discretion in this regard is not subject to any particular conditions, the context, purpose and policy of the provisions and the matters which may properly be taken into account in exercising the discretion demonstrate that the requirement to appoint a public officer should be waived in limited situations only. For example, we may consider granting an exemption where there is another representative or associate of the company or trust estate who is in effect performing the role of public officer.
142. We are unlikely to grant an exemption on the basis that the company cannot find a suitable individual to fill the position, or that it is too onerous or expensive to do so.

Company or trust estate trading for less than 3 months

143. A company or trust which would otherwise be required to appoint a public officer, but which ceases to trade within 3 months from commencing, is not required to appoint a public officer.

Example 5 – appointing a public officer

144. Sporty Pty Ltd sells souvenirs at the Table Tennis World Championships, and trades for 3 weeks. At the end of that time, the company stops trading. As it has not traded for a period of 3 months, it is not required to appoint a public officer.

Application of the public officer provisions to a company not carrying on business in Australia or deriving in Australia income from property

145. There is no requirement to appoint a public officer if a company does not carry on business in Australia or does not derive in Australia income from property.
146. Under section 444-10 of Schedule 1 to the TAA, a company's public officer for the purposes of the ITAA 1936 is also the public officer of the company for the purposes of an indirect tax law. An indirect tax law does not include the ABN Act, meaning that a public officer is not appointed for ABN purposes. However, the public officer's name is recorded in the ABR.⁶⁹
147. Where a company is required to be registered for indirect taxes but is not required to appoint a public officer under the ITAA 1936, they are not required to appoint a public officer for indirect tax purposes. However, any notice or process that is to be given or served on the company for the purposes of an indirect tax law may be given to or served on an individual who is acting or appears to be acting in the business of the company.⁷⁰

Example 6 – overseas company carrying on an enterprise in Australia

148. Moo Inc, an American company buys 3 stud bulls in Australia and exports them to the United States of America. They are carrying on an enterprise so are entitled to register for GST. However, they are not carrying on business in Australia and are not deriving in Australia income from property, so are not required to appoint a public officer under subsection 252(1) of ITAA 1936. As such, they do not have a public officer for indirect tax purposes.

Multiple or alternate public officers

149. The intent of the public officer provisions is to appoint a single person answerable for everything that is required to be done by the company for tax related purposes. For this reason, we will not accept the nomination of more than one public officer at any one time.
150. If more than one public officer were appointed by a company or by a trustee, issues might arise about the responsibilities and liabilities of the respective public officers of various sections.
151. If a company's public officer is unavailable for a particular time to perform the role, a company or trust may appoint an alternate public officer who is responsible for carrying out all the things required to be done. Having an alternate public officer does not amount to more than one public officer at any one time.

Example 7 – appointing a public officer for a period of leave

152. Robin, the public officer of Lorry Ltd, goes on leave for 6 months. It is appropriate to appoint Terry as an alternate public officer for that period. Terry's appointment for this period overrides Robin's appointment.

Example 8 – multiple divisions and public officers not allowed

153. Lorry Ltd wishes to appoint Robin as the public officer of the West division of Lorry Ltd and to appoint Terry as the public officer of the East division of Lorry Ltd. This is not appropriate as Lorry Ltd may only have one public officer at a time.

Non-resident companies

154. For the purposes of the public officer provisions, non-resident companies fall into one of the following categories:
- (a) Non-resident companies that are carrying on business in Australia, or deriving income in Australia from property, for more than 3 months.
- The intent of the public officer provisions is that every company carrying on business in Australia, or deriving in Australia income from ⁷⁰ Subsection 444-10(5) of Schedule 1 to the TAA.

property, is required to appoint a public officer and this requirement applies whether the company is a resident or non-resident.

All non-resident companies that are carrying on business or deriving income in Australia on an ongoing basis will be required to appoint a public officer.

- (b) Non-resident companies that are not carrying on business in Australia or deriving in Australia income from property, for a period of greater than 3 months.

In this situation, there is no requirement to appoint a public officer. For example, a management company trading in Australia for less than 3 months while representing a non-resident entertainer or sportsperson, is not required to appoint a public officer.

- (c) Non-resident companies that are not carrying on business in Australia, or deriving in Australia income from property, but still need to interact with the Australian tax system (for example, GST only registrants).

Where a company is required to be registered for indirect taxes but is not required to appoint a public officer under the ITAA 1936, it is not required to appoint a public officer. However, any notice or process that is to be given or served on the company for the purposes of an indirect tax law may be given to or served on an individual who is acting or appears to be acting in the business of the company.⁷¹

Notification of the appointment of a public officer at registration

- 155. If a company applies for registration before it has been carrying on business in Australia or deriving in Australia income from property for 3 months, it is not required to appoint a public officer in order to complete registration. However, before expiration of the 3-month period, the company must nominate the appointment of the public officer in writing.
- 156. Although we are obliged to allow all companies or trust estates the flexibility to not appoint a public officer on registering during their first 3 months of operation, for administrative convenience, it is desirable for companies or trust estates to appoint a public officer at the time of registration. We will continue to encourage appointments of public officers at that time.
