

Sales Tax Bulletin

Australian Taxation Office

Number 41

Rate of sales tax on various goods

Valid from 3 April 2000

About this Bulletin

Sales tax will be replaced from 1 July 2000 by the goods and services tax (GST). Many goods currently taxed under the different rates of wholesale sales tax will be taxed at 10% under GST.

Retailers and service providers holding stocks of new goods for sale that have incurred sales tax, may be able to claim a special GST credit for the sales tax paid on their stock.

To claim the special GST credit, you will need to know how much sales tax you have paid on the goods you are holding for sale or exchange at 1 July 2000. In most cases, this will appear on the invoice from your wholesaler. For information about claiming your special GST credit, please phone the Business Tax Reform Infoline on 13 24 78.

This Bulletin sets out a listing of various goods and their current rate of sales tax. The description of goods in the list is a general one only, and is not meant to be exhaustive.

There may be cases in the attached list where particular goods appear to be covered by the general description given. However, the goods may actually be classified differently for sales tax purposes. For example, nuts and bolts are generally listed as exempt, but wheel nuts, (which are not covered by any exemption Item), are taxable at 22%. You should contact the Tax Office on 13 28 66 if you are in any doubt as to the correct classification of any goods.

Please note that this Bulletin is a public ruling for the purposes of section 77 of the Sales Tax Assessment Act 1992. It may be relied upon by any person to whom it applies and replaces any previous private or public rulings if they are inconsistent with this Bulletin. It is current as at 3 April 2000.

Warning: We regularly revise our publications to take into account changes in the law. If you are seeking to rely on anything contained in this Bulletin, you should make sure that this edition is the latest.
