New for 2003
There are a number of reasons, listed below, why you may have to lodge a tax return for the 2002–03 income year (1 July 2002 to 30 June 2003). Check each reason in order—REASON 1 to OTHER REASONS.

• If you find a reason that applies to your circumstances, you have to lodge. You do not have to read any further—proceed to page 4.
• If none of the reasons listed applies to you, go to page 3 to find out if you need to complete a 2003 non-lodgment advice.

→ REASON 1
You paid tax during 2002–03.

You need to lodge if you were an Australian resident for tax purposes (see page 10) and:
• you had amounts of tax withheld from income you received or earned OR
• you were required to lodge an activity statement under the pay as you go (PAYG) system and/or pay an instalment amount during the year OR
• you had amounts withheld from interest, because you did not quote your tax file number (TFN) or Australian business number (ABN) to the investment body.

→ REASON 2
You were eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset—you must meet all four conditions on page 79.

You need to lodge if your taxable income was more than the following relevant amount:
• if you were single, widowed or separated at any time during the year—$20,000
• if you had a spouse but either of you lived in a nursing home or you had to live apart due to illness—$18,883
• if you lived with your spouse for the full year—$16,306.

→ REASON 3
You received a Commonwealth of Australia government pension, allowance or payment but you are not eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset.

You need to lodge if any of the following applied to you:
• You received an allowance or payment listed at question 5 on page 22 and you had other income and your taxable income was more than $6,883.
• You received a pension, allowance or payment listed at question 6 on page 23 AND your taxable income was more than the following relevant amount:
  − if you were single or widowed at any time during the year—$17,164
  − if you had a spouse but either of you lived in a nursing home or you had to live apart due to illness—$16,305
  − if you lived with your spouse for the full year—$14,300.

→ REASON 4
You were not eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset and you did not receive a Commonwealth of Australia government pension, allowance or payment but you received or earned income.

You need to lodge if your taxable income exceeded the following amounts:
• $6,000 if you were an Australian resident for tax purposes for the full year
• $643 if you were under 18 years of age at 30 June 2003 and your income was not salary or wages
• $1 if you were a non-resident and you had income taxable in Australia—excluding income that has non-resident withholding tax withheld from it
• Part-year tax-free threshold amount if you stopped full-time education for the first time or you became or stopped being an Australian resident for tax purposes, you will have a part-year tax-free threshold which determines whether you have to lodge a tax return. Page 114 shows you how to work out this amount.

→ OTHER REASONS
You need to lodge if any of the following applied to you:
• You are the liable parent under a child support assessment.
• You have a reportable fringe benefits amount on your PAYG payment summary—individual non business.
• You are entitled to a tax offset at question T4 on pages 85–8.
• You carried on a business.
• You made a loss or you can claim a loss you made in a previous year.
• You were entitled to a distribution from a trust, or you had an interest in a partnership AND the trust or partnership carried on a business of primary production.
• You were an Australian resident for tax purposes and you had exempt overseas employment income and $1 or more of other income. Pages s21–5 in TaxPack 2003 supplement explain what is meant by ‘exempt overseas employment income’.
• You are a special professional covered by the income averaging provisions. These provisions apply to authors of literary, dramatic, musical or artistic works, inventors, performing artists, production associates and active sportspersons.
• You received income from dividends or distributions exceeding $6,000 (or $416 if you were under 18 years of age at 30 June 2003) AND you had imputation/ franking credits or amounts withheld because you did not quote your TFN or ABN to the investment body.

Deceased estate
If you are looking after the estate of someone who died during 2002–03, consider the above points on their behalf and, if a tax return is not required, complete the 2003 non-lodgment advice on the next page and send it to the Australian Taxation Office. If a tax return is required, see page 11 for more information.
NOTE

Imputation credits

Imputation credits are also known as franking credits. If you have an imputation/franking credit—shown on your dividend statement or your distribution statement from a managed fund for 2002–03—so long as you satisfy certain conditions you may be able to claim a refund of this imputation/franking credit without lodging a tax return. The publication Refund of imputation credits instructions and application for individuals (NAT 4105—6.2003) has more information about the conditions that apply and how you can claim your imputation/franking credit.

Baby bonus

If you are claiming the baby bonus for 2003 but you do not have to lodge a tax return, you can claim the baby bonus:
- electronically using e-tax, which has a separate baby bonus application—see page 5 for further information about e-tax, or
- by using the publication 2003 baby bonus instructions and claim (NAT 6580—6.2003) and sending your claim to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

If you are lodging a claim for both baby bonus and an application for refund of imputation/franking credits, you must attach the claims together and send them to the ATO. You can use e-tax when lodging these claims together, but you will be required to complete a full tax return in the e-tax application.

The publications Refund of imputation credits instructions and application for individuals and 2003 baby bonus instructions and claim are available on the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

2003 non-lodgment advice

If you do not need to lodge a tax return, you will need to complete the form below and send it to the ATO unless one of the following applied to you:

(The agencies that pay these have provided information for us to determine that you do not need to lodge a tax return.

Advice

You can phone the Australian Taxation Office (ATO)

You can phone the ATO if you need assistance with a question in TaxPack, including the supplement, or another matter concerning your tax affairs. (You may need to provide information to prove your identity—for example, your tax file number and details from a recent notice of assessment.) If you decide to phone us, please have your TaxPack or supplement handy. See the inside back cover for the right telephone number to phone.

If you would like to visit the ATO, phone for an appointment. Our telephone number and office locations are listed on page 123.

You can ask for a taxation ruling

If you have a complex enquiry about your tax affairs, you may want to ask for a private ruling which will relate to your particular circumstances.

To do this, complete an Application for a private ruling for individuals (NAT 4106—3.2001), which is available on the ATO website or by contacting the ATO.

You should lodge your tax return by the due date, even if you are waiting for the reply to your private ruling. You may need to request an amendment to your tax return once you have received the private ruling.

All issued private rulings are edited, to protect your privacy, and published on the ATO website. For more information, see the Application for a private ruling for individuals.

You can ask for a review of your private ruling if you disagree with it even if you have not yet received your assessment. Details of the review procedures are sent to you when the private ruling decision is made.

Binding Oral Advice

You can get an oral ruling from the ATO over the phone or in person on a simple tax enquiry that relates specifically to your own tax affairs. An oral ruling is binding on the ATO in much the same way as a private ruling. This service is called Binding Oral Advice.

Certain conditions apply. Your tax affairs must be simple in nature and you must be able to confirm your identity. Your tax file number and most recent notice of assessment will usually be sufficient proof of identity.

We will confirm your eligibility for Binding Oral Advice by asking you a series of questions to confirm that your enquiry and tax affairs are simple. If you receive Binding Oral Advice the ATO will provide you with a registration number for your ruling.

To get further information or to apply for Binding Oral Advice phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack). Information on Binding Oral Advice is also available on the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au

Product rulings

Is there a product ruling for a managed investment scheme you have invested in? The ATO website has more information about product rulings and lists of current product rulings on the aggressive tax planning website—log onto www.ato.gov.au/atp A product ruling provides certainty for investors in the arrangement it relates to by confirming that the tax benefits set out in the product ruling are available, provided that the arrangement is carried out in accordance with the details provided by the applicant and described in the product ruling.

Does the capital gains tax (CGT) question apply to you?

Some taxpayers may not be aware that question 17 capital gains applies to their circumstances. The following information is provided as a general guideline to help you decide if you need to complete question 17.

Capital gains or losses

You generally make a capital gain or capital loss if a CGT event happens to you. You can also make a capital gain if you have an investment in a managed fund or other trust and you are entitled to a share of a capital gain made by the trust.

The most common CGT event happens if you dispose of an asset to someone else—for example, you sell it or give it away. CGT assets include land, shares in a company, units in a unit trust, contractual rights, options, foreign currency and goodwill.

Here are examples of other common CGT events:
- An asset you own is lost or destroyed.
- An asset (such as shares you own) is cancelled, surrendered or redeemed.
- A liquidator declares that shares you own are worthless.
- You received an amount in respect of a share or trust interest that was not income and was not for the disposal of the share or trust interest.
- You ceased to be a resident.

If you think you may need to complete question 17, you will need TaxPack 2003 supplement and one of two publications:
- if you have invested only in shares, units in a unit trust or managed fund—Personal investors guide to capital gains tax (NAT 4152—6.2003)
- if you have other types of capital gains or losses—Guide to capital gains tax (NAT 4151—6.2003).

These publications explain how to work out your capital gains and capital losses. They are available on the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

Remember, e-tax can help you decide if you have a capital gain or capital loss. It also has a calculator that may help you work out the amount of any gain or loss you have made. For more information on using e-tax to complete and lodge your tax return electronically see page 5 in TaxPack 2003 or visit the ATO website.
Information

Messages

TaxPack 2003 is a guide designed to help you complete your 2003 tax return for individuals for the 2002–03 income year—from 1 July 2002 to 30 June 2003. You should have found two copies of the tax return and an envelope for lodgment enclosed with TaxPack 2003. If you need more copies of the tax return see page 6.

To check if you have to lodge a tax return this year carefully read Do you have to lodge a tax return? on page 2.

→ Self-assessment—It’s your responsibility

Under our system of self-assessment the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) prepares TaxPack, TaxPack supplement and our other tax time publications to provide you with the information and guidance you need to complete your tax return. It is your responsibility to lodge a tax return that is signed, complete and correct. We then use the information on your tax return to issue your notice of assessment.

When you receive your notice of assessment, you may find that we have made some adjustments—for example, you may have made an error adding up your figures.

However, we do not check everything in your tax return before issuing your notice of assessment.

The ATO may not initially adjust any claims you make on your tax return. We do not take responsibility for checking that your tax return details are correct—that is your responsibility.

At a later date we may check some of the details on your tax return more thoroughly—perhaps to review specific parts of your tax return or to conduct an audit. Under the law, the ATO is allowed a period of four years (depending on your circumstances—see A shorter period of review on this page) where it can review a tax return and may increase or decrease the amount of tax payable. This period of review is extended where tax avoidance is involved.

Please remember, even if someone else helps you to complete your tax return, you must sign the Taxpayer’s declaration and you are responsible for the information provided on your tax return. Someone else may sign your tax return on your behalf if they have authority to do so under a power of attorney.

If, after lodging your tax return, you believe you have made a mistake see page 107 to find out what to do.

→ Lodge your tax return by 31 October 2003

You have from 1 July 2003 to 31 October 2003 to lodge your tax return, unless it is prepared by a registered tax agent.

Don’t delay sending your tax return, even if you think you will owe tax. If you lodge your own tax return your tax is payable 21 days after your tax return is due for lodgment, irrespective of the date you are advised of the debt. The earliest due date for any 2002–03 personal income tax debt is 21 November 2003.

If you lodge your income tax return late, or not at all, any tax will be payable and general interest charge will be calculated from 21 November 2003. In addition a penalty for failure to lodge on time may be applied (see this information in the next column).

If you cannot lodge by 31 October 2003 due to circumstances beyond your control, contact us as soon as possible—and certainly before 31 October 2003—to find out if you can lodge at a later date. Phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack) or send a written request to the address that appeared on your 2002 notice of assessment, if you have one, or to your nearest tax office (see page 123). Explain why you need to lodge late and suggest another date. We will consider your request and contact you.

The following explanations will not normally be accepted as reasons for allowing a late lodgment: a delay in receiving your payment summary, losing your payment summary, or being absent from Australia.

If you have not received your payment summary or you have lost it, see YOU NEED TO KNOW on page 13 for information on late or lost payment summaries.

→ Failure to lodge on time penalty

We may apply a failure to lodge on time penalty if you lodge your tax return late.

If your tax return is incomplete—for example, if it is not signed or a payment summary is missing—we may send it back to you. Where that happens, we consider that your tax return has not been lodged until it is returned to us complete.

Generally, we apply a penalty of $110 for every 28 days (or part thereof) your tax return is overdue, to a maximum of $550. We may apply the penalty even where there is no tax payable. However, our policy is not to apply a penalty where your tax return:

• is lodged voluntarily, and
• does not result in any tax payable.

We are likely to apply the penalty if:

• you have more than one tax return outstanding OR
• you have a poor lodgment history OR
• you have not complied with a request to lodge your tax return.

The penalty is in addition to any general interest charge (GIC) that may apply if you have any tax amount outstanding after the due date.

→ A shorter period of review

You are eligible for a two-year shorter period of review if you are an Australian resident and have simple tax affairs. Eligibility is dependent on your circumstances each tax year. A shorter period of review will apply to you for the 2002–03 income year if:

• you only received income from salary or wages (other than from associates), pensions, benefits or allowances paid by the

NOTE

If you are a family tax benefit (FTB) claimant, for you to have any entitlement to FTB:

• you must lodge your FTB claim by 30 June 2004 (if you have not already done so)
• you must lodge your tax return by 30 June 2004 AND
• if you have a spouse who is required to lodge a tax return, they must do so by 30 June 2004.

For more information see pages 68–71.
Government, interest (from financial institutions and government bodies), and dividends (from resident public listed companies), and
• you were only entitled to deductions for the cost of managing tax affairs, account keeping fees and cash gifts or donations.

You are still eligible for a shorter period of review if you hold a capital gains tax asset and did not dispose of it after review if you hold a capital gains tax asset and did not dispose of it in the 2002–03 income year.

If you are eligible for the two-year shorter period of review this means that:
• you only need to keep certain tax records for the two-year period (see page 14)
• the two-year period applies for the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) to review and amend your assessment (see Self-assessment—it’s your responsibility on page 8), and
• you must make any objection or amendment request within the two-year period (see page 110).

The ATO will advise you on your 2003 notice of assessment if you qualify for the shorter period of review for 2002–03.

Pay as you go (PAYG) instalment payments
If you were required to pay instalments of tax under the PAYG instalments system towards your end-of-year income tax liability, you do not need to show them anywhere on your tax return. Your PAYG instalments will be automatically credited to your income tax assessment by the ATO to determine whether you are entitled to a refund of tax paid, or required to pay an additional amount of tax.

To ensure you receive the correct amount of credit in your assessment make sure you lodge all of your activity statements before you lodge your tax return. You should lodge any outstanding activity statements even if you have paid your instalments, or had nothing to pay.

WHAT’S NEW THIS YEAR?

Baby bonus (new question T5)
If you or your spouse had a baby or gained legal responsibility of a child aged under five (for example, through adoption), after 30 June 2001 — either of you may be entitled to the baby bonus. Read question T5 for more information on the baby bonus, including how to make a claim.

Non-employer sponsored superannuation contributions (question D13 — supplementary section)
For 2002–03, the fully deductible amount for superannuation contributions by self-employed and other eligible persons has increased from $3,000 to $5,000. Contributions above the fully deductible amount will remain 75% tax deductible with a maximum deduction equal to the taxpayer’s age-based limit.

Gifts or donations (question D8)
Workplace-giving — if you are claiming a tax deduction for gifts or donations through a workplace-giving program, you do not need to keep receipts from the deductible gift recipient — a payment summary or other form of advice from the employer showing the donated amount is sufficient evidence to support the claim.

Spreading deductions for property gifts and conservation covenants
From 1 July 2002, taxpayers may choose to apportion, over a period of up to five income years, deductions allowable for gifts of property valued at more than $5,000 and for entering into certain conservation covenants. Read question D8 for more information.

Farm management deposits or withdrawals (question 16 — supplementary section)
Changes have been made to the Farm Management Deposits (FMD) Scheme to:
• allow FMD holders to withdraw part of an FMD within 12 months of making the deposit and still retain the deduction for the remaining deposit, provided certain conditions are met.
• allow FMD holders in ‘exceptional circumstances areas’ to withdraw deposits within 12 months and still retain the tax deduction for the income year in which the deposit was made. The amount of the withdrawal is assessable in the income year of the withdrawal.

Read question 16 in the supplementary section for more information.

For 2002–03 the following questions have been moved from TaxPack to TaxPack supplement:
D14 Deduction for project pool (was question D6 in 2001–02)
A3 Amount on which family trust distribution tax has been paid.

Timor Sea Treaty
A treaty between Australia and East Timor was signed in 2002. As a result there have been changes to the taxation treatment of income earned in the Joint Petroleum Development Area (JPDA). If you earned income for work or services performed in the JPDA you must get a copy of the Joint Petroleum Development Area Instruction Sheet to assist you in completing your 2002–03 tax return. This publication is available on the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack). If you are a non-resident, you may be able to claim a tax offset on income earned in the JPDA — read question T11 in TaxPack supplement.
The Australian Taxation Office (ATO) requires the information you provide on page 1 of your tax return to start processing your tax return. It is important that you complete this page accurately to avoid delays.

Many of the items on page 1 of your tax return relate to your personal details and need no explanation. But we have provided some additional information on the tax related items to help you complete them. If you need further help phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).

Your tax file number (TFN)

- If you already have a tax file number, it will be on your last notice of assessment or your payment summary from your employer or other payer.
- If you do not have a TFN, phone the Personal Tax Infoline to get a Tax file number application or enquiry (NAT 1432—7.2003). With your application you will need to provide original, unaltered documents showing proof of your identity. You will find a list of appropriate proof of identity documents on the application.

Are you an Australian resident?

The tax rates that apply to your taxable income depend on whether or not you are an Australian resident. A higher rate of tax is applied to a non-resident’s taxable income and non-residents are not entitled to a tax-free threshold. See pages 114–5 for more information.

The standards the ATO uses to determine your residency status are not the same as those used by the Department of Immigration and Multicultural and Indigenous Affairs. Generally, the ATO considers you to be an Australian resident for tax purposes if:

- you have always lived in Australia or you have come to Australia and live here, or
- you have actually been in Australia for more than half of 2002–03 unless your usual home is overseas and you do not intend to live in Australia.

If you go overseas temporarily and you do not set up a permanent home in another country, you may continue to be treated as an Australian resident for tax purposes.

Overseas students coming to Australia to study who are enrolled in a course that is more than six months long are generally treated as Australian residents for tax purposes.

If you are visiting Australia on a working holiday, you will generally not be considered an Australian resident for tax purposes.

If you need help in deciding whether or not you are an Australian resident for tax purposes, phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).

Important: If your residency status for tax purposes has changed during 2002–03, you will need to answer question A2 on pages 103–4. We need this information to work out your tax-free threshold.

Will you need to lodge an Australian tax return in the future?

This may be your last tax return if:

- your annual taxable income in the future will be below the tax-free threshold, $6,000 for 2003–04 OR
- your only source of income in the future will be a Commonwealth of Australia government pension OR
- you become eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset in the income year 2003–04, and your taxable income is below the threshold for lodging a tax return—for eligibility and threshold levels for 2002–03, see page 2—OR
- you are moving overseas permanently.
Deceased estate—are you lodging a tax return for someone who died during the year?

Page 2 in TaxPack 2003 will tell you if a tax return is required.

If yes, prepare a final tax return for the income year up to the date of death.

Print DECEASED ESTATE on the top of page 1 of the tax return and print X in the NO box at Will you need to lodge an Australian tax return in the future? The executor or administrator of the estate must sign the tax return on behalf of the deceased person.

Certain types of income received after the date of death may need to be shown in a trust tax return. If you have any questions, phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).

Electronic funds transfer (EFT)

Direct refund

By using EFT the Australian Taxation Office can deposit your tax refund, family tax benefit and/or any baby bonus directly into the Australian bank, credit union or building society account of your choice. EFT gives you quicker access to your money. Direct refund is not available on the full range of accounts. If you are in doubt, check with your financial institution.

If you would like to use EFT, print X in the YES box on page 1 of your tax return at the question Do you want to use electronic funds transfer (EFT) this year for your tax refund or family tax benefit payment where applicable? If you used EFT last year and the bank account details you provided are still correct, there is no need to provide them again.

If you are providing EFT details this year for the first time or you wish to change EFT details provided last year, write the following information on your tax return:

- the bank state branch (BSB) number. This is a six-digit number that identifies the financial institution. The BSB number can be found on an account statement or a cheque form. If you do not know the BSB number, or it has less than six digits or is for a credit union account, check with the financial institution. Do not include spaces, dashes or hyphens in the BSB number

- the account number as shown on the account records. An account statement, cheque book or other document from the financial institution will show this information. You cannot use an account number longer than nine characters. Contact your financial institution if you need to check that an account is suitable for direct refund. Do not include spaces in the account number

- the account name—also called account title—as shown on the account records. Include a space between each word and between any initials in the account name. Do not print the account type—for example, savings, cheque, mortgage offset.

Important: Be careful to provide the correct account details—if you provide another person’s account details by mistake, your refund will be sent to that account.

Direct debit

If you have a tax debt, your notice of assessment will show a due date for payment. If you want to pay using EFT direct debit, phone the EFT helpline 1800 802 308.

If you have provided a Direct debit request, but the notice of assessment does not state that the payment will be debited from your account, phone the EFT helpline.

INCOME

QUESTION 1

SALARY OR WAGES

Did you receive payments of salary, wages, commissions, bonuses etc., including income earned from part-time and casual jobs, from which tax was withheld?

Include payments for lost salary or wages paid under an accident or insurance policy or worker’s compensation scheme from which tax has been withheld.

NO Go to question 2.
YES Read below.

NOTE
- Employers are payers.
- Employees are payees.

WHAT YOU NEED
To complete this question you need your PAYG payment summary—individual non business or a letter or signed statement from your payer which shows:
- your gross income (in the ‘Gross payments’ box on your payment summary)
- total tax withheld, and
- your payer’s Australian business number (ABN) or Withholding payer number (WPN).

YOU NEED TO KNOW

Late, lost or wrong payment summaries, letters or signed statements from your payer
If you do not have all of your documents, or any are wrong, contact your payer. Ask your payer to give you a signed copy, letter or statement showing the correct details.

If you are unable to get these documents from your payer, you will need to complete the Statutory Declaration for PAYG payment summary—individual non-business and ETP payment summary (NAT 4135—6.2003) which is available from the Australian Taxation Office and attach it to page 3 of your tax return. You will need a separate statutory declaration for each payer from whom you have no documents.

This statutory declaration identifies the categories of information you need to show on your tax return such as the period or periods covered by your missing documents during which payments were made, the names of your payers, the amounts of tax withheld and the amount of gross payments you earned.

To find out how to get this statutory declaration, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

NOTE If you lodge your tax return without a payment summary, signed copy, letter or statement from your payer, or statutory declaration, showing the correct details, we may send your tax return back to you to lodge it again with the necessary documents attached.

Completing this question

STEP 1
Print the occupation from which you earned most of your salary or wages included at this question in the Your main salary and wage occupation box at item 1 on your tax return.

STEP 2
Print the payer’s ABN or WPN shown on each payment summary, signed copy, letter or statement from your payer, or the statutory declaration you have completed, in a Payer’s Australian business number box at item 1 on your tax return.

STEP 3
Write the amount of tax withheld as shown on each payment summary, signed copy, letter or statement from your payer, or the statutory declaration you have completed, at the left of C to G item 1 on your tax return. Do not show cents.
STEP 4

Write the amount of gross payments shown on each payment summary, signed copy, letter or statement from your payer, or the statutory declaration you have completed, at C to G item 1 on your tax return. Do not show cents. If the gross payment is exempt from tax or is foreign employment income (including working overseas) — shown at item 19 on your tax return (supplementary section) — show ‘0’ as the gross payment.

IMPORTANT

If you have more than five payment summaries, signed copies, letters or statements from your payers, or statutory declarations, complete steps 2 to 4 in this question for your first four documents only. For your fifth and remaining documents leave the Payer’s Australian business number box at the left of G blank, add up the tax withheld shown on your fifth and remaining documents and write the total at the left of G item 1 on your tax return. Do not show cents.

Add up the amounts of gross payments shown on your fifth and remaining documents and write the total at G item 1 on your tax return. Do not show cents.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .

☐ printed on your tax return your occupation
☐ printed on your tax return the Australian business numbers or Withholding payer numbers of your payers

☐ written on your tax return the amounts of gross payments

☐ kept a copy of your payment summaries, signed copies, letters or statements from your payers, or the statutory declarations you have completed. You need to keep these records:
  • for five years after the end of the income year, or
  • if you are subject to a shorter period of review (see pages 8–9)
    − for two years after the due date for payment if you had a taxable notice of assessment, or
    − for two years from the 30th day after you received your notice advising you that no tax is payable.

Did you receive any income from working—whether or not it is shown on a PAYG payment summary—individual non business—such as:

- allowances
- payments of salary, wages, commissions, bonuses etc., including income earned from part-time and casual jobs, from which tax was NOT withheld
- tips, gratuities and payments for your services
- consultation fees and honoraria—payments for voluntary services
- jury attendance fees—except where you have to pay the fees to your employer because you received your normal employment income while you were on jury duty?

Show at this question income from sickness and accident insurance policies shown on a payment summary where no tax has been withheld.

STOP

Do not show at this question:

- salary or wages shown at item 1
- amounts shown on any payment summary other than the PAYG payment summary—individual non business
- Commonwealth of Australia government pensions, allowances and payments
- lump sum payments in arrears shown at label E in the ‘Lump sum payments’ box on your payment summary
- reportable fringe benefits amounts
- amounts in the ‘Other income’ box on your payment summary—if this is exempt income you will not need to show that amount in your tax return; if this is foreign employment income refer to the Index
- income from sickness and accident insurance policies NOT shown on a payment summary
- foreign employment income (including working overseas)
- income paid to you as a partner in a partnership
- income—including commission income—you earned because you were self-employed
- income you earned as a non-employee taxi driver—for example, a driver operating under a standard bailment agreement with an owner/operator. Otherwise you may be taxed incorrectly.
- Other questions deal with these matters.
- Refer to the relevant topics in the Index.

NOTE

- Employers are payers.
- Employees are payees.

WHAT YOU NEED

- your PAYG payment summary—individual non business
- other details of your income.

If you do not have all of your documents, contact the person who paid you.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

Allowances and earnings from your payer may include:

- car, travel or transport allowances
- award transport payments—these are allowances covering either transport or car expenses which are paid under an industrial law or award that was in force on 29 October 1986
- allowances for tools, clothing or laundry
- dirt, height, site, risk, meal or entertainment allowances
- allowances for qualifications—for example, a first aid certificate
- any reimbursement of car expenses—calculated by reference to the distance travelled by the car—which is an exempt car expense payment benefit for fringe benefits tax purposes

Jury fees can include attendance fees, travel and meal allowances. Only the attendance fees shown on your payment summary are assessable.

Reasonable travel allowances and award overtime meal allowances not shown on a payment summary

Travel allowances and award overtime meal allowances not exceeding the Commissioner’s reasonable allowance amounts do not have to be shown on payment summaries by payers. If you have received such an allowance and it is not shown on a payment summary, you do not have to include it as income at this question providing you have fully expended the allowance on deductible expenses and you are not making a claim for expenses relating to the allowance in your tax return (see question D2 for travel expenses and question D5 for award overtime meal expenses).

Deductions

You cannot automatically claim a deduction just because you got an allowance. Carefully read the Deductions section that starts on page 36.

QUESTION 3

LUMP SUM PAYMENTS

- a signed copy, letter or statement from your payer.

What are the amounts at A and B?
The amount at A was paid to you:

QUESTION 4

ELIGIBLE TERMINATION PAYMENTS

Did you receive an eligible termination payment (ETP)?

If you have received a lump sum payment which fits the description of one of the payments set out below—particularly if an ETP payment summary accompanied your lump sum—it is likely to be an ETP.

If you have received a lump sum on termination of foreign employment or from a non-resident superannuation fund, you need to read question 19 in TaxPack 2003 supplement.

YES Read below.

An ETP is:

- a lump sum paid to you by your employer when you retired or ceased employment, such as:
  - a payment in lieu of notice or a ‘golden handshake’
  - a payment for unused sick leave or unused rostered days off
  - compensation for loss of a job or wrongful dismissal
  - a bona fide redundancy payment or an approved early retirement scheme payment that exceeded the tax-free threshold for such payments—currently $5,623 plus $2,812 for each complete year of service
  - a payment received because of invalidity
- a lump sum payment from a superannuation fund, an approved deposit fund, retirement savings account, a life assurance company or a registered organisation, such as:
  - payments received when you changed your superannuation pension or annuity into a lump sum
  - payments received when you made a withdrawal from an approved deposit fund
  - other payments, excluding a pension or annuity or a departing Australia superannuation payment, from a superannuation fund
- a similar payment to those above, paid to you as the beneficiary of a person who has died—we call this a death benefit ETP. However, if the payments were made to you as the trustee of a deceased estate they must be shown in a trust tax return, not in your tax return for individuals
- a payment from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) of amounts collected from an employer under the Superannuation Guarantee; or paid to the Superannuation Holding Accounts Reserve
- proceeds from the sale of an active asset of a small business which would otherwise give rise to an assessable capital gain—but which is exempt from capital gains tax because you have chosen the small business retirement exemption—called the CGT exempt component.

If you are still unsure whether the payment you received is an ETP, phone the Superannuation Infoline on 13 10 20 for assistance.

What if your ETP was ‘rolled over’?

You roll over your ETP when you transfer a part or all of the ETP to a complying superannuation fund, retirement savings account or an approved deposit fund; or you use part or all of the ETP to buy an annuity. When you roll over some or all of your ETP, the tax payable on the rolled-over component is deferred until the benefit is received.

- your ETP payment summary. If you have lost it, you will need a signed copy, letter or statement from your payer that shows all the details of your ETP. If you think the details on your ETP payment summary are wrong, contact the person who prepared it
- your Reasonable benefit limit determination (form) that the ATO will have sent you if you have an excessive component.

Your reasonable benefit limit (RBL) is the maximum amount of retirement and other employment termination benefits you can receive that are taxed at concessional (reduced) rates. In most cases, the payer of the ETP will have reported the payment to the ATO, and we will work out whether your benefit is within your RBL. The ATO will send you an RBL determination only if some or all of your benefits were above your RBL. We will work out the excessive component and adjust the other components of your ETP. These will also be shown on your reasonable benefit limit (RBL) determination. You then use the information on the RBL determination instead of the related eligible termination payment (ETP) payment summary.

If you are unsure whether you need a RBL determination or if you have any enquiries regarding your RBL, you can phone the Superannuation Infoline on 13 10 20 or write to: RBL Section, PO Box 277, WTC, VIC 8005.

Working out the assessable amount

Parts A, B and C below and the steps in Completing this question will show you how to work out your assessable amount. This is the amount to include at item 4 on your tax return. We work out the tax based on the components of your ETP and it is therefore important that you attach your ETP payment summaries and RBL determinations to page 3 of your tax return.

If you lodge your tax return with ETP income at item 4 but without any ETP payment summary, signed copy, letter or statement from your payer, we will send the tax return back to you and ask you to lodge it again with the document attached.

If you received more than one ETP, check parts A, B and C for each ETP. You may need to add totals before transferring them to your tax return.

PART A Did you roll over all of an ETP?

| NO | Go to part B. |
| YES | Read below. |

Your tax on this ETP will be deferred and you do not need to work out its assessable amount for 2002–03. If you have no other ETPs go to question 5.

If you have other ETPs that you did not roll over in total, check parts B and C to see which applies to them.

PART B Were you aged 55 or over when you received an ETP that you did not roll over?

| NO | Go to part C. |
| YES | Read below. |

_low rate threshold_

If you were aged 55 or over when you received your ETP and have a post-June 1983 component shown on your ETP payment summary, some or all of this portion of the ETP may be taxed at a lower rate—up to a lifetime limit called the low rate threshold (see the table on this page). The limit is indexed each year.

The low rate threshold applies to the total of all your post-June 1983 elements (taxed and untaxed) that you have received since 1 July 1988, provided you were 55 years or older at the time of receiving the ETP.

Once the limit has been used up, it cannot be used again in future years, though you may use any extra amounts added for annual indexation. If you exceed this limit you will pay tax on the amount in excess of the threshold at the rates set out in the table on this page.

If you turned age 55 on or after 1 July 1988 and you did not receive the benefit of the low rate threshold increased by indexation, write to the Australian Taxation Office stating your age at the time you received the ETP, the amount of the ETP, the amount of the post-June 1983 component and the name and address of the payer. Enclose copies of any ETP group certificates or payment summaries you received from the payer. We will work out whether you are entitled to have the amount of tax on your ETP recalculated.

| low rate thresholds for 1988–89 to 2002–03 |
|-----------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1988–89 | $60,000 | 1996–97 | $86,917 |
| 1989–90 | $64,500 | 1997–98 | $90,916 |
| 1993–94 | $77,796 | 2001–02 | $105,843 |
| 1994–95 | $79,975 | 2002–03 | $112,405 |
| 1995–96 | $83,574 |

PART C Did you receive a death benefit ETP—that is, a lump sum you received because of the death of another person?

| NO | Go to Completing this question on the next page. |
| YES | Read below. |

YOU NEED TO KNOW

You cannot roll over a death benefit ETP.

If you received a payment as trustee of a deceased estate, the following instructions do not apply to you. You must lodge a trust tax return for the deceased estate and follow the instructions for that return.

If a payment was made to a trustee of a deceased estate, the obligation to pay tax, if any, is with the trustee. If you received your payment as a distribution from a deceased estate, you do not have to take any further action in relation to that payment.

How death benefit ETPs are taxed

Payments made direct to a person other than as a trustee are taxed in different ways depending on whether the person was a dependant of the deceased and whether the payment was more than the deceased person’s RBL.

Dependant of the deceased

A dependant of the deceased is a person who, at the time of death or the time the payment was made, was:

- a surviving spouse or de facto spouse
- a former spouse
- a child of the deceased who was under 18 years, or
- a person financially dependent on the deceased.
Phone the Superannuation Infoline on 13 10 20 if you need to know what ‘financially dependent’ means.

If you are a dependant of the deceased, has the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) issued a reasonable benefit limit (RBL) determination showing an excessive component? If not, the death benefit eligible termination payment (ETP) is not taxable. You do not show it anywhere on your tax return.

If the ATO has issued an RBL determination, the part of the death benefit ETP that is not excessive is not taxable and is not shown anywhere on your tax return. The excessive component is taxable at *47% (plus Medicare levy). Go to step 3 in Completing this question in the next column.

If you are NOT a dependant of the deceased, and the ATO has not issued an RBL determination showing an excessive component, your death benefit ETP will be taxed as follows:

- payments from a taxed source—for example, a superannuation fund 15%
- payments from an untaxed source—for example, an employer payment, or an insurance payout through a superannuation fund 30%

In both cases, the Medicare levy will apply.

If the ATO has issued an RBL determination, the part of the death benefit ETP that is not excessive is taxed at the rates shown above. The excessive component is taxed at *47% (plus Medicare levy). Read on.

* Under a proposed change to the law, a lower rate of tax may apply to the excessive component in certain situations. At the time of printing, this measure had not become law.

Completing this question
You will find the necessary ETP components at ‘Section 3 - ETP cash payment details’ on your ETP payment summary or on any RBL determination.

If you have an ETP payment summary with a non-qualifying amount, phone the Superannuation Infoline on 13 10 20 before completing this question.

Undeducted contributions, post-June 1994 invalidity components and CGT exempt components are exempt from tax and are not included in your assessable amount.

STEP 1 Add the assessable amounts shown on your ETP payment summaries. If an RBL determination has been issued in respect of any of your ETPs, do not use any amounts on the ETP payment summary. You will need to calculate a new assessable amount for the ETP based on the information in the RBL determination. Do not include the excessive component; refer to step 3. Write the total at item 4 on your tax return. Do not show cents.

STEP 2 Write the total amount of tax withheld from all of your ETPs in the tax withheld column at item 4 on your tax return. Do not show cents. You will find this amount on your ETP payment summary. If an RBL determination was issued in respect of an ETP payment summary that shows tax withheld, you should also include these amounts.

However, if you have already included these withheld amounts at item 1 or 3 on your tax return, do not include them again here.

STEP 3 If you have an RBL determination which shows an excessive component, write the amount of the excessive component at item 4 on your tax return. This includes an RBL determination in respect of a death benefit ETP. Do not show cents.

STEP 4 Attach your ‘Payee’s Tax Return Copy’ of any ETP payment summaries to page 3 of your tax return.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .

☐ written on your tax return the amount of all tax withheld
☐ written on your tax return the total assessable amount of your ETPs and any excessive component attached to page 3 of your tax return your ‘Payee’s Tax Return Copy’ of any ETP payment summaries, letters or statements from your employer and any RBL determinations from the ATO
☐ kept a copy of your ETP payment summaries, signed copies, letters or statements from your employer. You need to keep these records for five years after the end of the income year.

HOW YOUR TAX IS WORKED OUT

We will work out your tax based on the individual components of your ETP. The tax rates applying to some common ETP components are explained below.

Concessional component and pre-July 1983 component—5% of these components is included in your assessable income and taxed at your usual rate.

Post-June 1983 component—may be either a ‘taxed element’ or an ‘untaxed element’. Some payments will have both elements present. ‘Taxed element’ means that the payer—usually a superannuation fund—has paid a contributions tax on this element. ‘UnTaxed element’ means that the payment has not been subject to contributions tax. For this reason the elements are taxed differently as shown in the table below.

<table>

<tr>

<tr>

<tr>

</tbody>

Any Medicare levy is added to these rates. A Medicare levy will not apply to a taxed element where the tax rate is zero.
The post-June 1983 component is initially included in your tax return as assessable income. You are then given a tax offset to ensure that the correct tax rates are applied. This may affect your entitlement to other tax offsets—for example, age pension and low income tax offsets.

Excessive component—the amount, if any, by which your eligible termination payments (ETP) benefits have exceeded your reasonable benefit limit (RBL). In 2002–03, the lump sum RBL is $562,195 and the pension RBL is $1,124,384. You may be entitled to the pension RBL if you take more than half of:

- the value (for RBL purposes) of your benefits, or
- your pension RBL

in the form of pensions or annuities that meet the pension RBL standards. These are general rules only. For further information see the publication Reasonable benefit limits—which RBL will apply? (NAT 6199). This electronic publication is available on the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website at www.ato.gov.au/super

Changing the components of your ETP

It may be in your interest to ask the ATO to change the components of your ETP if:

- you were in a superannuation fund but only received what you contributed with no interest added
- you were receiving a pension or annuity before 1 July 1983 and changed it into a lump sum
- you were in a ‘self-employed superannuation fund’ or one not supported by your employer and you made contributions before 19 August 1980, or
- the pre-July 1983 component shown on your ETP payment summary is less than the amount that you would have received if you had left your job or withdrawn from your superannuation fund at 30 June 1983.

Your superannuation fund can tell you if you meet any of these conditions. If you think you are entitled to have the components of your ETP changed, phone the Superannuation Infoline on 13 10 20 for assistance.

Rolling over your ETP and ‘contributions tax’

Where you roll over some or all of your ETP, the amount representing the post 30 June 1983 untaxed element attracts ‘contributions tax’ when rolled over to a complying superannuation fund.

NOTE Any contributions tax required is paid by the superannuation fund.

TERMINATION PAYMENTS SURCHARGE

A termination payments surcharge will be payable if:

- your ETP was paid to you by your employer AND
- your adjusted taxable income (as calculated for surcharge purposes) exceeds $90,527.

A death benefit ETP paid to you by the employer of the deceased person is not subject to the surcharge.

If your employer ETP was rolled over to a superannuation fund or retirement savings account (RSA), any surcharge will be paid by the fund or RSA. The ATO will work out whether the surcharge applies and will send a surcharge assessment to you, the fund or RSA if there is a surcharge liability.

You may receive an assessment for termination payments surcharge well after the payment of the ETP and after your income tax notice of assessment has been issued. This means that while you may have received a refund on your notice of assessment you may still have a surcharge liability. This is because the ATO needs to obtain certain information from your income tax return and superannuation contribution information from superannuation providers before a termination payments surcharge assessment can be made.

NOTE You can also find more information in the electronic publications Superannuation contributions surcharge on employer termination payment rolled-over (NAT 5030) and Termination payments surcharge on employer termination payments taken in cash (NAT 5031), in addition to Termination payments surcharge (NAT 2770—7.2002). All these publications are available on the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au/super Or to find out how to get a printed copy of Termination payments surcharge, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

NOTE If you need further information on this question, phone the Superannuation Infoline on 13 10 20.

YES  Read below.

WHAT YOU NEED
- your PAYG payment summary—individual non business or
- a letter from the agency that paid your pension, allowance or payment stating the amount that you received

If you have not received these, or you have lost them, contact the agency that paid you.

Completing this question

STEP 1  Add up all the amounts of tax withheld as shown on your payment summaries or letters. Write the total amount of tax withheld at the left of B item 6 on page 2 of your tax return. Do not show cents.

STEP 2  Add up all the income you received. Write the total amount at B item 6 on page 2 of your tax return. Do not show cents. Read on.

You may be entitled to a tax offset on this income.

Tax offsets reduce the amount of tax you have to pay.

We work out your tax offset entitlement based on:
- the tax offset code letter you print at item 6 on page 2 of your tax return
AND
- the veteran code letter you print at item 6 on page 2 of your tax return if you or your spouse is a veteran, war widow or war widower
AND
- the Senior Australians tax offset code letter you print at item T2 on page 4 of your tax return if you are eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset (see page 79).

If you do not print the correct code letter(s) on your tax return, you may not receive your correct entitlement.

STEP 3  Work through the Tax offset code letters table on the next page to select your tax offset code letter.
Tax offset code letters

If at any time during 2002–03 while you were receiving any of the payments listed on the previous page:

- you were single, widowed or separated \( S \)
- you and your spouse—married or de facto—lived together \( P \)
- you and your spouse—married or de facto—had to live apart due to illness or either of you was in a nursing home \( I \)

Where more than one code letter applies

- If both \( P \) and \( I \) apply to you, select \( I \)
- If \( S, P \) and \( I \) all apply to you, select \( J^* \)
- If both \( S \) and \( I \) apply to you, select \( J^* \)
- If both \( S \) and \( P \) apply to you, select \( Q^* \)

* Tax offset codes \( J \) and \( Q \) are used to calculate correct entitlements in certain situations where more than one tax offset code applies.

STEP 4

Print your tax offset code letter in the TAX OFFSET CODE box \( \square \) at the right of item 6 on page 2 of your tax return.

STEP 5

If you or your spouse is a veteran, war widow or war widower (see NOTE for Definition on page 79) read on. Otherwise, go to step 6.

From the following list select the veteran code that applies to your circumstances:

- you are a veteran, war widow or war widower \( V \)
- your spouse is a veteran, war widow or war widower \( W \)
- if both \( V \) and \( W \) apply to you \( X \)

Print your veteran code in the VETERAN CODE box \( \square \) at item 6 on page 2 of your tax return.

STEP 6

If your tax offset code (not veteran code) is \( S \) go to CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . . in the next column.

If your tax offset code is \( P, Q, I \) or \( J \) you must complete Spouse details—married or de facto on pages 6–7 of your tax return.

Provide relevant details including:

- your spouse’s date of birth at \( K \)
- your spouse’s taxable income at \( O \)—if this amount is zero, write ‘0’
- your spouse’s share of trust income on which the trustee is assessed under section 98, if it is not already included in your spouse’s taxable income, at \( T \)—if this amount is zero, write ‘0’
- your spouse’s government pensions (listed on the previous page) at \( P \)—if this amount is zero, write ‘0’
- your spouse’s exempt pension at \( Q \)—if this amount is zero, write ‘0’.

If both you and your spouse are eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset or pensioner tax offset and either of you do not fully use your tax offset, any unused tax offset may be available for transfer to the other person. By using the amounts you write on the spouse details section of your tax return we will work out if you are entitled to have the unused portion of your spouse’s tax offset transferred to you. If an unused amount is available, we will make sure it is taken into account in working out your tax offset.

NOTE

In working out if there is any unused spouse’s Senior Australians or pensioner tax offset available for transfer, your spouse’s other credits and tax offsets are not taken into account.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .

- written on your tax return the total amount of tax withheld and the total amount of income you received
- written on page 2 of your tax return your tax offset code letter and, if required, your veteran code
- if required, written at spouse details on your tax return your spouse’s income and other details
- attached to page 3 of your tax return your letter and/or your ‘Payee’s Tax Return Copy’ of all payment summaries
- read page 79 to find out whether or not you are eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset. If you are eligible, complete question \( T_2 \).

DO YOU WANT TO WORK OUT YOUR TAX OFFSET?

You do not have to work out your tax offset. We will work it out for you from your taxable income details and your tax offset code letter and your veteran code letter (if applicable). Make sure you print your code letter(s) as set out in step 2.

If you do want to work out your tax offset, go to page 117.
Did you receive any income from an Australian:

Completing this question

STEP 1
Print the type of annuity or pension—for example ‘annuity’ or ‘superannuation pension’—in the Type box at item 7 on your tax return. If you received more than one type, print the type that gave you the largest amount of income.

STEP 2
Add up all the tax withheld amounts as shown on your payment summaries and statements and write the total amount at the left of J item 7. Do not show cents. Do not include amounts already shown at items 1, 3 and 4.

STEP 3
Add up all the gross amounts shown on your payment summaries and statements and write the total amount at J item 7. Do not show cents. Attach all statements and/or your ‘Payee’s Tax Return Copy’ of all payment summaries to page 3 of your tax return.

Undeducted purchase price

If your annuity or pension has an undeducted purchase price, you may be able to claim the deductible amount of your undeducted purchase price at question D9 on pages 59–60.

Senior Australians tax offset

You may be entitled to a Senior Australians tax offset. Read question T2 on pages 80–1 to find out more about this tax offset.

Superannuation tax offset

You may be entitled to a tax offset for your annuity or pension. Read question T3 on pages 82–4 to find out more about this tax offset.
Did you have personal services income attributed to you from a company, partnership or trust?

If you have received a Payment summary—personal services attributed income, your answer to this question is YES and you must complete item 8 on your tax return.

Where you have provided personal services for reward, and the payment for your services was made to you as a sole trader, your answer to this question is NO. In that case you must answer question 13 in TaxPack 2003 supplement and complete item P1 in the 2003 business and professional items schedule (NAT 2816—6.2003). These publications are available on the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website at www.ato.gov.au. Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

NO  Go to TOTAL TAX WITHHELD.  YES  Read below.

WHAT YOU NEED
• your Payment summary—personal services attributed income showing the amount of personal services income attributed to you and the total amount of tax paid or withheld
• details of any other personal services income attributed to you.

If you do not have all of your documents, contact the person who paid you.

YOU NEED TO KNOW
There are special rules for the income tax treatment of certain personal services income.

Personal services income is income that is mainly a reward for your personal efforts or skills and is generally paid either to you or to a personal services entity such as a company, partnership or trust.

Where the payment has been made to a personal services entity, the income (less any deductions allowable to the personal services entity in gaining or producing the personal services income) will be attributed to you unless:
• the personal services entity gained the income in the course of conducting a personal services business, or
• the income has been promptly paid to you by the entity as salary.

If you need help in relation to these rules phone the Business Infoline on 13 28 66 or visit the ATO website.

Completing this question

STEP 1  Write the total amount of tax paid or withheld from personal services income attributed to you at the left of item 8 on your tax return. Do not show cents. Do not show any tax withheld included elsewhere on your tax return.

STEP 2  Write the total amount of personal services income attributed to you at item 8 on your tax return. Do not show cents.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .

☐ written on your tax return the amounts of tax paid or withheld
☐ written on your tax return the amounts of personal services income attributed to you
☐ attached to page 3 of your tax return your ‘Payee’s Tax Return Copy’ of your payment summary.
TOTAL TAX WITHHELD

Add up all the amounts in the tax withheld boxes at items 1 to 8 on your tax return. Write the total amount at $\text{TOTAL TAX WITHHELD}$ on your tax return. Go to question 9.

Tax offsets and your tax withheld

If your tax offset or family tax benefit entitlements have changed since you last filled in a Withholding declaration (NAT 3093—7.2003) authorising your payer to vary the amount of tax withheld, you may need to fill in a new declaration. If your family tax benefit entitlements have changed, you will also need to complete the Withholding declaration Family tax benefit (FTB) worksheet (NAT 7089—7.2003). Contact your payer for more information. Failure to fill in a new declaration may result in a tax debt. Pages 72–91 tell you about tax offsets. For more information about family tax benefit, see pages 68–71.

Additional tax withheld for the Higher Education Contribution Scheme and the Student Financial Supplement Scheme

If you have an accumulated Higher Education Contribution Scheme (HECS) debt, and/or an accumulated Student Financial Supplement Scheme debt, the additional tax withheld from your pay forms part of your normal tax withheld—shown on your payment summary—and is therefore already included in the total amount you show at $\text{TOTAL TAX WITHHELD}$ on your tax return. Page 113 shows you how we work out your tax.

NOTE Pay as you go (PAYG) instalment payments

If you were required to pay instalments of tax under the PAYG instalments system towards your end-of-year income tax liability, you do not need to show them anywhere on your tax return. Your PAYG instalments will be automatically credited to your income tax assessment by the Australian Taxation Office to determine whether you are entitled to a refund of tax paid, or required to pay an additional amount of tax.

To ensure you receive the correct amount of credit in your assessment make sure you lodge all of your activity statements before you lodge your tax return. You should lodge any outstanding activity statements even if you have paid your instalments, or had nothing to pay.
QUESTION 9
TOTAL REPORTABLE FRINGE BENEFITS AMOUNTS

Do you have a reportable fringe benefits amount shown on a PAYG payment summary—individual non business?

NO  Go to question 10.

YES  Read below.

WHAT YOU NEED
• your PAYG payment summary—individual non business

YOU NEED TO KNOW
You need to complete this question if you and/or an associate received certain fringe benefits from an employer and any payment summaries provided by your employer showed a reportable fringe benefits amount under that heading.

Your employer has to keep records of the value of any fringe benefits given to you and/or your associate, but only needs to show the fringe benefits on your payment summary if their taxable value exceeds $1,000 in the fringe benefits tax year 1 April 2002 to 31 March 2003.

However, your employer has to gross-up the taxable value of the fringe benefits for reporting purposes to ensure their value is consistent with other forms of income on your payment summary. As you do not pay income tax on fringe benefits, the grossed-up taxable value of a benefit reflects the gross salary that would have to be earned to purchase the benefit from after tax dollars. The highest marginal rate of income tax plus Medicare levy is used, so that a fringe benefit having a taxable value of $1,001 becomes a reportable fringe benefits amount of $1,943.

Therefore, if you have a reportable fringe benefits amount shown on your payment summary which is less than $1,943, you will need to check with your employer about the amount or the method of calculating the amount.

The total reportable fringe benefits amounts you show on your tax return are not included in your total income or loss amount and you do not pay income tax or Medicare levy on them.

However, they will be used in determining your entitlement to or liability for:
• Medicare levy surcharge
• superannuation contributions surcharge
• termination payments surcharge
• deductions for superannuation contributions
• superannuation contributions tax offset
• Higher Education Contribution Scheme repayments
• child support obligations
• certain government benefits.

Completing this question

STEP 1  Add up the reportable fringe benefits amounts shown on your payment summaries.

STEP 2  Write the total at W item 9 on your tax return. Do not show cents.
Did you receive, or were you credited with, interest from any source within Australia?

Include interest earned from financial institution accounts and term deposits—unless you are a non-resident and have paid non-resident withholding tax on that interest.

Include any interest you received from, or were credited with by, the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

NO Go to question 11.

YES Read below.

Children’s accounts

If you open or operate an account for a child and the funds in that account belong to you, or you spend or use the funds in the account as if they belong to you, you must include any interest from the account at this question. Taxation Ruling IT 2486—Children’s savings accounts has more detail. This publication is available on the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

Non-residents

Withholding tax paid by non-residents is a final tax. If you are not an Australian resident for tax purposes (see page 10), do not include interest at this question if withholding tax was deducted from the interest by your financial institution. However, if you have not paid withholding tax on any interest you earned, you need to show that interest at this question so that the ATO can work out the amount of withholding tax you have to pay on this interest. We will advise you of this amount.

What you need

- your statement, passbook or other documentation from your financial institution or other source that shows 2002–03 income
- any ATO notice of assessment or amended assessment you received during 2002–03 that shows interest on early payments or interest on overpayments.

Completing this question

Using your records, add up all the amounts of gross interest received by or credited to you. You do not have to show an amount if the total gross interest you earned from all accounts during the year is less than $1.

If you are not the sole holder of an account, show only your share of interest. For any account where the account holders do not share equally in the interest, keep a record to show how you worked out your share.

The gross interest amount you show at this question must include any tax file number (TFN) amounts. These are amounts of tax withheld by the financial institution because you did not quote your TFN or Australian business number (ABN) to the institution. They will be shown on your statement or other document as Commonwealth tax or TFN withholding tax.

STEP 1

Do not deduct account keeping fees and charges from your gross interest amount. You may be able to claim these at item D7 Interest and dividend deductions.

STEP 2

Write your gross interest at L item 10 on your tax return. Do not show cents.

STEP 3

Add up all the TFN amounts shown on your statement and take away any TFN amounts already refunded to you—these will also be shown on your statement or other document.

STEP 4

Write the answer from step 3 at M item 10. Show cents. This amount will be credited to you on your notice of assessment.
STOP

Do not show at this question:

• dividend distributions from a partnership or trust—including a cash management trust, money market trust, mortgage trust, unit trust or managed fund such as a property trust, share trust, equity trust, growth trust, imputation trust, balanced trust or similar trust investment product
• dividends from foreign companies
• that part of a dividend or distribution on which family trust distribution tax has been paid.

Other questions deal with these matters. Refer to the relevant topics in the Index.

Don't leave it too late!

Did you:

• purchase or inherit any shares
• receive any shares as part of a divorce settlement or as a gift or donation, or
• receive ownership interests under a demerger?

If YES, start keeping or updating your records now. Incomplete records could mean paying more tax when you dispose of your shares. For further information about shares and other assets that attract capital gains tax and the records you need to keep, see the publication Guide to capital gains tax (NAT 4151—6.2003). This publication is available on the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

You need to show at this question all your assessable dividends including:

• those directly paid to you
• dividends applied under a dividend reinvestment plan
• dividends which are otherwise dealt with on your behalf
• bonus shares which qualify as dividends.

Dividends include distributions made by a corporate limited partnership. This is a partnership taxed in accordance with Division 5A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936. Dividends also include dividends paid to you by a listed investment company.

A dividend is assessable income in the year it was paid or credited to you. Your dividend statement should have the relevant date (generally referred to as the payment date or date paid).

Example

Jessica received a dividend statement notifying her of a final dividend for the year ended 30 June 2002. The payment date shown on the dividend statement was 30 September 2002. Jessica must include the amount of the dividend as well as any imputation/franking credits as part of her assessable income for the year ended 30 June 2003—on her 2002–03 tax return.

Dividends paid under a demerger are generally not assessable dividends. Do not show demerger dividends at this question unless you are advised by the company that they are assessable. You can find out more about demergers in the publication You and your shares (NAT 2632—6.2003). This publication is available on the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

Payments, benefits and loans to be treated as dividends—deemed dividends

If you are a shareholder (or an associate of a shareholder) of a private company and received payments or loans from the company or had debts forgiven by the company, the value of those payments, loans or debts forgiven are treated as deemed dividends (unless specifically excluded in the law).

Deemed dividends must be combined with any unfranked dividends you received and be included in your assessable income at item 11 on your tax return. For more information, read the publication You and your shares.

Returns on non-share equity interests

Dividends also include dividends paid on a non-share equity interest. To find out more about this, read You and your shares.

Did an Australian company (including a listed investment company), corporate unit trust, public trading trust or corporate limited partnership pay or credit you with any dividends or distributions?

Do not claim dividend expenses here. Claim them at question D7.

If you carried on the business of trading in shares, include any dividend income and imputation/franking credits at this question; if you have a profit or loss on the sale of shares, read question 14 in TaxPack 2003 supplement.

If you sold shares during the year, you must read question 17 in TaxPack 2003 supplement to see if you need to show a capital gain or loss.

If you were paid or credited with dividends from a foreign company, you must read question 19 in TaxPack 2003 supplement.

NO Go to INCOME FROM THE SUPPLEMENTARY SECTION on page 34.

YES Read below.

You and your shares.
Non-residents

If you are not an Australian resident for tax purposes, do not include dividend income at this question if:

• the dividend was fully franked, or
• the dividend was not fully franked but withholding tax was withheld from the unfranked amount.

If your dividends were not fully franked and you have not paid withholding tax on your dividends, you will need to include them at this question so that the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) can work out the amount of withholding tax you have to pay on these dividends. We will advise you of this amount.

IMPUTATION SYSTEM

Dividends paid to shareholders by Australian resident companies are taxed under a system known as ‘imputation’. It is called an imputation system because the payment of company tax is imputed, or attributed, to the shareholders. The tax paid by the company is allocated to shareholders by way of imputation/franking credits attached to the dividends they receive.

An amount equal to the imputation/franking credits attached to the dividends is included in the assessable income of the shareholder, who is then entitled to a franking tax offset equal to the amount included in their income.

The franking tax offset will cover, or partly cover, the tax payable on the dividends. If the tax offset is more than the tax payable on the dividends, the excess tax offset will be applied to cover, or partly cover, any tax payable on other taxable income received.

If any excess tax offset amount is left over after that, the ATO will refund that amount to the shareholder.

Some situations are not covered by the imputation system and the tax paid by the company is not allocated to shareholders by way of imputation/franking credits. Imputation/franking credits do not attach to:

• that part of the dividend on which family trust distribution tax has been paid. (The company or corporate limited partnership that paid the dividend should tell you if family trust distribution tax has been paid on it.) These dividends are exempt income and the shareholder cannot claim the imputation/franking credit
• a dividend which is included in a trust distribution on which ultimate beneficiary non-disclosure tax has been paid (the trustee will let you know if a distribution fits this category)
• dividends where the shareholder has engaged in franking credit trading and failed to satisfy the holding period rule or the related payments rule
• dividends to the extent that a franking tax offset is denied because the shareholder has exceeded the small shareholder franking tax offset ceiling contained in the franking credit trading rules
• dividends from a non-equity share which, although a share in legal form, is not treated as an equity interest, and so the dividends are not frankable. The publication You and your shares has more information on non-equity shares, or
• demerger dividends.

Franking credit trading—qualified persons

Measures have been introduced to curb the unintended usage of franking tax offsets by persons who do not effectively own the shares or who only briefly own the shares. These measures, known as the holding period rule and the related payments rule, provide that taxpayers must satisfy certain criteria before they qualify for franking tax offsets. In other words, only qualified persons are able to have the benefit of the imputation/franking credits attached to their dividends. These measures address the issue of franking credit trading.

The holding period rule could affect you if you have bought shares on or after 1 July 1997 and sold the shares or entered into a risk diminution arrangement, such as a derivative transaction, within 45 days—90 days for certain preference shares—of buying your shares. The related payments rule could affect you if you were under an obligation to make a related payment with respect to a dividend under an arrangement entered into after 7.30pm on 13 May 1997 and you did not hold your shares ‘at risk’ during a specified qualifying period.

If you have failed the holding period rule, and the related payments rule does not apply to you, you may still be entitled to a franking tax offset if you qualify for the small shareholder exemption. The small shareholder exemption imposes a maximum franking tax offset ceiling of $5,000 on all of your franking tax offset entitlements in a given year, whether received directly, or indirectly through a trust or partnership.

If any of these measures are likely to affect you, read the publication You and your shares.

Unfranked dividends
Unfranked dividends are paid by an Australian resident company that has not already paid Australian company tax. If the dividend is unfranked, you are not entitled to a franking tax offset. The unfranked dividend is taxed in the same way as your other income and must be included in your assessable income at S item 11 on your tax return.

If you did not quote your tax file number (TFN) to your investment body for shares or units held, tax may have been withheld from any unfranked dividends at the highest marginal rate plus the Medicare levy, a total of 48.5%.

If you had TFN amounts withheld from your unfranked dividends, these will be shown on your dividend statement. You can claim a credit for any TFN amounts withheld at V item 11 on your tax return. If you have received a refund of some or all of the TFN amounts withheld, you cannot claim a credit for these amounts.

Franked dividends
If you received a franked dividend from a resident company you must include the dividend amount in your assessable income at T item 11. Franked dividends can be either fully franked, meaning that the whole amount of the dividend carries imputation/franking credit, or partly franked, meaning that only part of the amount of the dividend carries imputation/franking credit.

Imputation/franking credit
You must also include any imputation/franking credit in your assessable income at U item 11 on your tax return, so the correct amount of tax and Medicare levy can be calculated. Do not include any imputation/franking credit for which you do not qualify for a franking tax offset because of the application of the holding period rule or the related payments rule or a breach of the small shareholder exemption (the franking credit trading measures described on page 31).

An amount equal to the imputation/franking credit will be automatically allowed as a tax offset to reduce any tax payable on your dividends and any other taxable income received.

For more information, read the publication You and your shares.

WHAT YOU NEED
Your statements from the company, corporate unit trust, public trading trust or corporate limited partnership that paid you the dividends or made the distributions.

These should show:
- the amounts of unfranked and franked dividends you received
- the amounts of imputation/franking credit—which the company has already worked out and allocated to the dividend or distribution, and
- the TFN amounts withheld from unfranked dividends.

If you have not received your dividend or distribution statements, contact the company, corporate unit trust, public trading trust or corporate limited partnership that paid or credited you with the dividends or distributions.

Completing this question
STEP 1
Add up all unfranked dividend amounts—including any TFN amounts withheld—on your statements plus any deemed dividends. Write the total amount at S item 11 on your tax return. Do not show cents.

STEP 2
Add up all franked dividend amounts on your statements and any other franked dividends paid or credited to you. Write the total amount at T item 11. Do not show cents.

NOTE
If your statement does not show the franked and unfranked portions of the dividend, include the total dividend amount at T item 11.
Example of how to show unfranked and franked dividends

In the following example, the imputation/franking credits attached to dividends are class C credits from dividends franked at the company tax rate of 30 cents. Dividends can also be partly franked or unfranked. Your statement from the company, corporate unit trust, public trading trust or limited partnership will show the amount to which your dividends have been franked.

a) Poh Lee received dividends from Coals Tyre Ltd. Fully franked dividends of $70 and a $30 imputation/franking credit were shown on her dividend statement.

b) Poh Lee was entitled to receive an unfranked dividend of $100 from Telsbra Ltd and she did not quote her tax file number (TFN). Her statement showed a TFN amount of $48.50 was withheld and she was paid a net amount of $51.50 as an unfranked dividend. The unfranked amount to be shown on her tax return was $100—$51.50 plus $48.50.

c) Poh Lee received dividends from JT Corporate Unit Trust. $50 in unfranked dividends, $70 in franked dividends and a $30 imputation/franking credit was shown on her dividend statement.

d) Poh Lee was entitled to receive a dividend of $240 from SYF Pty Ltd and she did not quote her TFN. $100 was unfranked and $140 was fully franked. Her statement from the company showed a TFN amount of $48.50 was withheld from the unfranked dividend and a net amount of $51.50 was paid to her. The unfranked amount to be shown on her tax return was $100—$51.50 plus the TFN amount withheld of $48.50. She was also entitled to a franked dividend of $140 and an imputation/franking credit of $60. No TFN amount was withheld from franked dividends.

NO Go to TOTAL INCOME OR LOSS on page 35.

YES You must complete the 2003 tax return for individuals (supplementary section). Read below.

If you have personal services income, net income or loss from business or deferred non-commercial business losses you will need to read the publication Business and professional items (NAT 2543—6.2003) and complete the 2003 business and professional items schedule and attach it to page 3 of your tax return.

NOTE The supplementary section of the tax return is located in the back of TaxPack 2003 supplement. If you don’t already have a copy of TaxPack 2003 supplement, from 1 July to 31 October 2003 you can get a copy from most newsagencies. Copies are also available from our Publications Distribution Service (see the inside back cover of TaxPack) and all year from ATOaccess sites.

Completing this item

STEP 1 Complete the details at the top of page 9 on your tax return (supplementary section). Use TaxPack 2003 supplement to complete the Income section.

STEP 2 Transfer the amount you wrote at TOTAL SUPPLEMENT INCOME OR LOSS on page 11 to the box beside that amount.
You have now reached the end of the Income section.

Before adding up your income amounts from items 1 to 11 and any amount at I on page 2 of your tax return, please note the following.

- The more common types of exempt income are listed at page 12 in TaxPack 2003. Generally your exempt income is not included in your tax return.
- You must have shown all of your income for tax purposes—the Taxpayer’s declaration on page 8 of your tax return will require you to sign that this is true. Pages 13–34 in TaxPack 2003 give you the information you need to show the right amounts. If you still have income that you have not put at any item and it is not exempt income, you will need to go back through the Income section and include it.

If you are in any doubt, phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).

Our audit activities include checking the income details you provide on your tax return with other sources—for example, your employer, your bank or the Commonwealth of Australia government agency that pays your pension, allowance or payment.

If you have not been able to complete any of the income items because you do not have all the documents you need to work out the right amount—for example, a payment summary—do not complete this section yet.

Remember that you have until 31 October 2003 to lodge your tax return, unless prepared by a registered tax agent. (Read the following paragraph for information about ‘registered tax agents’). You should not lodge your tax return if it is incomplete. If you think you will still be missing information on 31 October, ask the Australian Taxation Office if you can lodge at a later date. Page 8 in TaxPack 2003 tells you how.

Registered tax agents are the only people who can prepare and lodge your tax return for a fee. Some people present themselves as registered tax agents when they are not. You should ensure that you are using a registered tax agent.

Completing this item

STEP 1  Add up all the income amounts in the right-hand column of items 1 to 11 and I on your tax return.

STEP 2  Take away any loss amount at I from the total income amount you worked out at step 1. Your answer is your total income or loss.

STEP 3  Write your answer from step 2 at TOTAL INCOME OR LOSS on your tax return. Do not show cents.

If you made an overall loss, print L in the LOSS box at the right of TOTAL INCOME OR LOSS.
TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS

How you complete this item will depend on whether you completed L1 Tax losses of earlier income years claimed this income year.

IF YOU HAVE NOT COMPLETED L1

Transfer the amount you have shown at SUBTOTAL to $ TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS. Do not show cents. If the amount at $ TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS is less than zero, print L in the LOSS box.

NOTE

If the amount at TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS is less than zero and you have printed L in the LOSS box, this amount may not be your tax loss that can be carried forward for next year. Adjustments may have to be made to limit certain deductions—for example, gifts or donations and personal superannuation contributions, to take into account any exempt income and to make other variations. Phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack) for more information.

IF YOU HAVE COMPLETED L1

Where the amount at SUBTOTAL is a loss

You cannot deduct tax losses of earlier income years and you should not have completed item L1—keep a record of these amounts for next year.

Transfer the amount you have written at SUBTOTAL to $ TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS. Do not show cents. Print L in the LOSS box.

Where the amount at SUBTOTAL is an income amount

Add the amounts at F and Z item L1 and take the total away from the amount you have written at SUBTOTAL. Write the result at $ TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS on your tax return. Do not show cents.

Tax offset for low income taxpayer

If you are an Australian resident for tax purposes and your taxable income is less than $24,450, you may get a tax offset.

The maximum tax offset of $150 applies if your taxable income is $20,700 or less. This amount is reduced by four cents for each dollar over $20,700.

We will work out your tax offset and make sure it comes off your tax. The tax offset will be shown on your notice of assessment. If you want to work out your tax offset, go to page 116. Do not include anything about this tax offset on your tax return.

Child support clients

The Child Support Agency (CSA) may use your taxable income to make an assessment of child support.

The CSA will include your total reportable fringe benefits amounts, losses from rental properties and exempt foreign employment income when assessing child support liabilities.
DEDUCTIONS

CLAIMING DEDUCTIONS FOR EXPENSES THAT RELATE TO YOUR WORK AS AN EMPLOYEE

You can claim deductions for work-related expenses you incurred while performing your job. Generally, a work-related expense is incurred when you have spent the money or paid by cheque or credit card. In some cases, you will have incurred a work-related expense when you received a bill or invoice for the expense which you are liable for and must pay. Refer to Taxation Ruling TR 97/7—Meaning of ‘incurred’ for more information. This publication is available on the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website at www.ato.gov.au or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

If your work-related expense includes an amount of goods and services tax (GST), the GST is part of the total expense and is therefore part of any allowable deduction.

Basic rules to consider before you decide to make a claim:
- You must have incurred the expense in 2002–03.
- You cannot claim an expense which has been or will be reimbursed to you by your employer or any other person.
- You must have incurred the expense in the course of earning your assessable income and it must not be private, domestic or capital in nature. For example, the costs of normal travel to and from work or buying lunch each day are private. If you incurred an expense that was both work-related and private or domestic, you can only claim a deduction for the work-related portion of the expense.
- If you incurred an expense for services paid in advance, read Advance expenditure below to decide what part of the expense is allowable in 2002–03.
- You must be able to substantiate your claims with written evidence if the total claimed for expenses, not including claims for car, meal allowance, award transport payments allowance and travel allowance expenses, is greater than $300 (see Written evidence rule—records you need to keep for claims of more than $300 below).
- If the total claimed is $300 or less—you need to be able to show how you worked out your claims—but you do not need written evidence.

Advance expenditure
You must follow the apportionment rules for advance expenditure if you prepay for a service costing $1,000 or more and the service extends for a period of more than 12 months or beyond 30 June 2004. Under these rules you may be entitled to claim only part of the expenditure this year and the remainder in future tax returns. If you incurred expenditure in a prior income year that has been apportioned under the advance expenditure rules and the prepaid service extended into the 2002–03 income year, you may claim the relevant portion of the expenditure in 2002–03. If you need to know more, refer to the publication Deductions for prepaid expenses (NAT 4170—6.2003). This publication is available on the ATO website. Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

Allowances
Receiving an allowance from your employer does not automatically entitle you to a deduction—you must still meet the basic rules listed above to make a claim. You can claim only the total amount you incurred even if the allowance is more. For example, if you received a tools allowance of $500 and your tool expenses were $400, you must include the whole amount of the allowance at item 2 on your tax return and the deduction you can claim at item D5 is $400.

Written evidence rule—records you need to keep for claims of more than $300
You must have written evidence to prove your claims if your total claims exceed $300. The records you keep must prove the total amount, not just the amount over $300. The $300 limit does not include claims for car, meal allowance, award transport payments allowance and travel allowance expenses. There are some exceptions to the written evidence rule (which are explained in the relevant questions).

NOTE
If your income comes from carrying on a business, claim your business expenses in the 2003 business and professional items schedule (NAT 2543—6.2003). See questions 13 Personal services income (PSI) and 14 Net income or loss from business in TaxPack 2003 supplement.

NOTE
Do not send in your receipts or other records with your tax return unless we request you to do so in writing.

NOTE
If you are in business and have elected to enter the Simplified Tax System (STS), you can only claim most work-related expenses when you have paid them. Refer to The Simplified Tax System: A guide for tax agents and small businesses (NAT 6459—6.2002) for details.

NOTE
If your total claimed is $300 or less—you need to be able to show how you worked out your claims—but you do not need written evidence.
What is written evidence?

Written evidence can be:

- a document from the supplier of the goods or services, showing:
  - the name of the supplier
  - the amount of the expense
  - the nature of the goods or services—if not shown, you may write this on the document before you lodge your tax return
  - the date the expense was incurred
  - the date of the document

If the document does not show the payment date, you can use independent evidence to show the date the expense was incurred, such as a bank statement. A document from the supplier of the goods or services must be in English unless the expense was incurred outside Australia.

- your PAYG payment summary—individual non-business—for example, it may show your total union fees
- evidence you have recorded yourself:
  - for expenses of $10 each or less and the total of these expenses is $200 or less, or
  - where you have been unable to obtain written evidence—for example, for toll or parking fees where you cannot get a receipt.

Your records must show the same details as a document from a supplier as described above.

Don’t leave it too late!

- Will your total claims for work-related expenses exceed $300 next year?
- If you are unsure, you may want to keep written evidence for your expenses during the year—you will need it if you want to claim more than $300.

How long you need to keep your records

You must keep your written evidence for five years from 31 October or, if you lodge later, for five years from the date you lodge your tax return. If at the end of this period you are in a dispute with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) that relates to a work expense, you must keep the relevant records until the dispute is resolved.

For depreciating assets, you must keep records for the entire period over which you claim deductions for the decline in value of those assets. You must keep your records for a further five years from the date of your last claim. The five years start on 31 October or, if you lodge later, from the date you lodge your tax return. This period is extended if, when the five years end, you are in a dispute with the ATO that relates to a depreciating asset.

Example—Keeping records

Linda buys a computer for $4,000 in July 1999. Linda uses her computer for work 60% of the time. She claims 60% of the decline in value on the cost of her computer over four years. Linda’s last claim for a deduction for decline in value is in her 2002–03 tax return which she lodges on 15 October 2003.

Linda must keep her records until 31 October 2008. If at this time she is in a dispute with the ATO that relates to this claim, she must keep her records until the dispute is resolved.

If you have lost your records, or they have been destroyed, phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack) to find out what you can do.

Why you need to keep your records

We will work out your refund or tax debt using the information you provide on your tax return. We may ask for more information or audit this information at a later date. You need to keep your records to prove your deduction claims in case you are audited.

Claims of $300 or less

We may ask you to tell us how you worked out your claim and explain why your claim is reasonable, based on the requirements of your occupation. You do not need written evidence—you can make reasonable estimates.

Questions D1 to D6 show you how to claim deductions for expenses that relate to your work as an employee.

Extra information for some occupations

The ATO provides summaries of tax rulings for 16 occupations:

- Airline employees (NAT 2331—6.2003)
- Building workers (NAT 2324—6.2003)
- Cleaners (NAT 2328—6.2003)
- Factory workers (NAT 2329—6.2003)
- Hospitality industry employees (NAT 2326—6.2003)
- Journalists (NAT 2782—6.2003)
- Nurses (NAT 2319—6.2003)
- Performing artists (NAT 2325—6.2003)
- Police officers (NAT 2316—6.2003)
- Real estate employees (NAT 2323—6.2003)
- Shop assistants (NAT 2322—6.2003)
- Teachers (NAT 2317—6.2003)

Your employer, trade union or professional association should have copies of this information. The publications are also available on the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au. Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

NOTE

‘Decline in value’ is the new term for depreciation.
‘Depreciating asset’ is an asset with a limited effective life which declines in value over that life.
QUESTION D1  WORK RELATED CAR EXPENSES

Did you have any car expenses relating to your work as an employee?

Do not include expenses for vehicles other than cars—for example, motorcycles, utility trucks or panel vans with a carrying capacity of 1 tonne or more, or any other vehicle with a carrying capacity of nine or more passengers. Show them at item D2.

Do not include travel expenses including short-term car hire, public transport fares, bridge and road tolls, parking fees, taxi fares or the work-related running costs associated with a car owned or leased by somebody else—a borrowed car. You may be able to claim these at item D2.

CAUTION

If you received a reimbursement for car expenses—worked out by reference to the distance travelled by the car—or an allowance for car expenses, you must show the amount of the reimbursement or allowance as income at item 1 or 2 on your tax return.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

YOU MAY NEED

• written evidence of your car expenses—receipts, invoices or diary entries
• car logbook and odometer records
• Practice Statement PS 1999/2—Calculating car expense deductions where the car is jointly owned, jointly leased or jointly hired under a hire purchase agreement (but is not owned, leased or hired by a partnership).

Did you have any car expenses relating to your work as an employee?

You can claim at this question your work-related expenses for using a car that you owned or leased under a hire purchase agreement.

You cannot claim at this question any expenses relating to a car owned or leased by someone else, including your employer or another member of your family. However, you are considered to be the owner or lessee of a car and eligible to claim expenses where a family or private arrangement makes you the owner or lessee even though you are not the registered owner. For example, a family car is given to you as a gift for your birthday. It is not registered in your name but you are the owner of the car, incur all associated expenses and use the car as your own.

If you own or lease a car or hire a car under a hire purchase agreement, you can use one of the four methods explained in this question to claim your work-related car expenses.

Depending on the method you choose, you will need to know or estimate your business kilometres. Business kilometres are the kilometres the car travelled in the course of using it for work-related purposes.

Using your car for work

You cannot claim the cost of normal trips between home and work as the expense is private. The travel is private and cannot be claimed even if:

• you do minor tasks—for example, picking up the mail on the way to work or home
• you have to travel between home and work more than once a day
• you are ‘on call’—for example, you are on stand-by duty and your employer contacts you at home to come into work
• there is no public transport near where you work
• you work outside normal business hours—for example, shift work or overtime
• your home is a place of business and you travel directly to a place of employment.

You can claim the cost of trips between home and work where:

• you use your car because you have to carry bulky tools or equipment that you use for work—for example, an extension ladder or cello—and you cannot leave them at work
• your home is a base of employment—you start your work at home and travel to a workplace to continue the work, or
• you have shifting places of employment—you regularly work at more than one site each day before returning home. Taxation Ruling TR 95/34—Employees carrying out itinerant work, has more information on travel expenses for employees who have shifting places of employment. This publication is available on the Australian Taxation Office website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

You can claim the cost of using your car to travel directly between two separate places of employment—for example, when you have a second job.

Example

Jason is a clerk at a large department store who travels in his own car from his normal workplace to his second job as a waiter. After finishing work as a waiter, he travels directly home. The cost of travel from his normal workplace to his second job is an allowable deduction.

However, Jason cannot claim the cost of travelling from his second job to his home.
You can claim the cost of using your car to travel:
- from your normal workplace to an alternative workplace—for example, a client’s premises—while on duty and back to your normal workplace or directly home.
- from your home to an alternative workplace for work purposes and then to your normal workplace or directly home.

Example

Bec is a clerk at a large department store in the city. She is required to attend a meeting at her employer’s other store in the suburbs and travels in her own car to that store. As the meeting finishes late she travels directly home from the meeting.

Bec can claim the cost of the journey from the city store to the suburban store and from the alternate workplace to her home.

CALCULATING YOUR DEDUCTION

You can use one of four methods summarised below to work out your car expenses.

METHOD 1—Cents per kilometre method

- Your claim is based on a set rate for each business kilometre.
- You are able to claim a maximum of 5,000 business kilometres.
- You do not need written evidence.

METHOD 2—12% of original value method

- Your claim is based on 12% of the original value of the car.
- The value is subject to luxury car limits.
- Your car must have (or would have) travelled more than 5,000 business kilometres.
- You do not need written evidence.

METHOD 3—One-third of actual expenses method

- Your claim is based on one-third of each car expense.
- Your car must have (or would have) travelled more than 5,000 business kilometres.
- You need written evidence or odometer records for fuel and oil costs.
- You need written evidence for all other car expenses.

METHOD 4—Logbook method

- Your claim is based on the business use percentage of each car expense.
- You need a logbook to record the percentage.
- You need odometer readings for the start and end of the period you owned or leased the car.
- You can claim fuel and oil costs based on odometer records.
- You need written evidence for all other car expenses.

Choose the method that gives you the largest deduction and ensure you have the necessary evidence.

Jointly Owned Cars

There are special rules for jointly owned cars. For example, where a car is owned by two people, each owning half, under METHOD 2 each joint owner would claim 6%. Practice Statement PS 1999/2 tells you more about these rules.

Deductions for decline in value

NOTE ‘Decline in value’ is the new term for depreciation.

If you are claiming a deduction for the decline in value of a car you should refer to the publication Guide to depreciable assets (NAT 1996—6.2003) which contains details of how to work out deductions for decline in value and balancing adjustments for cars.

You can only claim a deduction for decline in value if you own the car or hire it under a hire purchase agreement and you use METHOD 3 or METHOD 4 to calculate your car expenses. If you lease a car that is not a luxury car, you cannot claim a deduction for its decline in value because you are not the owner of the car.

Some important things to remember:

- The decline in value is worked out from the day you first use the car for any purpose.
- You can only claim a deduction for decline in value in a year you use the car for work-related purposes.
- You will need to apportion your deduction for decline in value where the car is used privately as well as for work-related purposes or where you owned the car for part of the year.
- When calculating a deduction for the decline in value the cost of the car is limited to the luxury car limit. Luxury car limits are shown on page 41.
- If you lease a luxury car special rules apply which require you to claim a deduction for its decline in value based on the luxury car limit—if you use METHOD 3 or METHOD 4. A car is considered to be a luxury car where the cost of the car—whether new or secondhand—at the time the lease begins is more than the luxury car limit applying for that year. Phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack) to find out what these special rules are.
- Low-value pool deductions

If you choose to use the low-value pooling method (see Guide to depreciable assets) to calculate the decline in value of your low-cost and low-value depreciable assets, your car expenses at D1 under METHOD 3 and METHOD 4 do not include an amount for the decline in value of a car used for work if it is included in the low-value pool. In those circumstances claim the deduction for decline in value of the low-value pool at D6.

Simplified Tax System (STS)

If you are in business and are eligible to enter or continue in the Simplified Tax System (STS) and you have chosen to do so at item S1 in the 2003 business and professional items schedule, you will need to calculate your work-related deduction for depreciable assets using the STS rules. If you have chosen either METHOD 3 or METHOD 4 to calculate your work-related car expenses, do not claim an amount for the decline in value of your car at D1 as the appropriate amount is claimed as part of claiming your STS depreciable assets deductions, which are shown at P8 in the 2003 business and professional items schedule.
If you did not carry on any business during 2002–03 but have STS pool deductions because you have allocated depreciating assets (such as a car) to an STS pool in a prior year, make your claim for STS pool deductions at question D15 in the supplementary section of your return. Refer to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) publication The Simplified Tax System: A guide for tax agents and small businesses (NAT 6459—6.2002).

Was your car disposed of, lost or destroyed?
If so, a balancing adjustment may need to be made where you have claimed a deduction for the decline in value of the car and you have:
(a) switched between:
   - the one-third of actual expenses method or the logbook method AND
   - the cents per kilometre method or the 12% of original value method, or
(b) switched between the one-third of actual expenses method and the logbook method, or
(c) used only the one-third of actual expenses method or the logbook method.

The publication Guide to depreciating assets explains how to make these calculations.

If you have a loss after making the calculation, claim the amount at this question. If you have a profit, include the amount as category 2 income at item D1 on your tax return (supplementary section). Refer to the Index for more information.

Important: A balancing adjustment is not required if you have used only the cents per kilometre or 12% of original value method for calculating car expenses for the car.

Award transport payments
Award transport payments are allowances covering either transport expenses or car expense reimbursements which are paid under an industrial law or award that was in force on 29 October 1986. The car expense reimbursement is calculated in respect of a certain number of kilometres.

Changes made to the industrial law or award after that date are treated as if they had been made on that day. Your union or employer can tell you the amount.

Award transport payments are assessable and must be included as income on your tax return. If you have incurred deductible transport expenses or deductible car expenses associated with these payments, you may be able to claim a deduction:
- for transport expenses—under question D2
- for car expenses—under either this question or question D2.

If your claim is no more than the 29 October 1986 amount, claim these work-related transport or car expenses at question D2. You do not need written evidence.

If you also have a claim for any additional kilometres not covered by the award transport payment, you can make the claim at this question but you can only use METHOD 4—the logbook method—with written evidence or METHOD 1—the cents per kilometre method.

Remember, any kilometres travelled that are covered by the award transport payment and claimed at question D2 are not counted as business kilometres under either method but they are counted as part of the total kilometres travelled for METHOD 4. If you do not know how many business kilometres relate to your award transport payment you can make a reasonable estimate.

Alternatively, you may choose not to limit any part of your claim for work-related car expenses to the 29 October 1986 amount of the award transport payment. If this is the case make the claim at this question—do not claim car expenses covered by your award transport payment at question D2. When making your car expense claim at this question you can use any of the four methods, and any work-related kilometres travelled that are covered by the award transport payment are treated as business kilometres. You will need to satisfy the written evidence required by the particular method you select.

The example which follows explains the different ways you can claim when you receive an award transport payment.

Example
Emma travelled 22,000 kilometres in total during 2002–03. She received an award transport payment of $2,000 which, under her award, covered travel of 5,000 work-related kilometres. The award transport payment as at 29 October 1986 was $1,400. She also travelled an additional 6,000 business kilometres that were not covered by her award transport payment.

Emma has to show the $2,000 at item 2. She can claim her car expenses in one of the following ways:
- only claim $1,400 at item D2
- claim $1,400 at item D2 and then use 5,000 of her 6,000 business kilometres towards a claim for total car expenses at item D1 using the cents per kilometre method. See METHOD 1 on this page, or
- claim $1,400 at item D2 and then use the 6,000 business kilometres towards a claim for total car expenses using METHOD 4 on page 42 if she has written evidence. She divides the 6,000 business kilometres by the 22,000 total kilometres to work out her business use percentage:
  \frac{6,000}{22,000} \times 100 = 27\% \text{ or }
- not claim the $1,400 at item D2 and treat the kilometres covered by the award transport payment as business kilometres. This gives her a total of 11,000 business kilometres towards a claim for total car expenses using METHOD 4 on page 42 if she has written evidence. She divides the 11,000 business kilometres by the 22,000 total kilometres to work out her business use percentage:
  \frac{11,000}{22,000} \times 100 = 50\%

METHOD 1—Cents per kilometre method
You can use this method to claim a maximum of 5,000 business kilometres per car even if you have travelled more than 5,000 business kilometres. For example, if you travelled 5,085 business kilometres, you can only claim the cost of travelling 5,000 kilometres with this method. You cannot claim for the extra 85 kilometres.
No written evidence is necessary but you may need to be able to show how you worked out your business kilometres.

STEP 1 Multiply the total business kilometres travelled (a maximum of 5,000 for each car) by the number of cents allowed for your car’s engine capacity. Divide your answer by 100 to work out the amount in dollars that you can claim.

This table shows you the rate per business kilometre to use in working out how much you can claim.

<table>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>2601cc (2.601 litre) and over</td>

</tbody>
</table>

Work out the amount you can claim for each car and add up all the amounts.

STEP 2 Write the total amount at A item D1 on your tax return. Do not show cents. Print the code letter S in the CLAIM TYPE box beside the amount.

METHOD 2—12% of original value method

You can use this method if you used your car to travel more than 5,000 business kilometres in 2002–03. This method is also available if you would have used your car to travel more than 5,000 business kilometres if you had used it for the whole of 2002–03.

You do not need written evidence to use this method but you may need to be able to show how you worked out your business kilometres.

If you bought the car, you can claim 12% of the cost. If you leased the car, you can claim 12% of its market value at the time that you first leased it. The maximum deduction you can claim is 12% of the luxury car limit in the year in which you first used or leased the car.

Luxury car limits for the last 10 years

</tbody>

STEP 1 Multiply the cost of the car or the luxury car limit, whichever is less, by 12 and divide the result by 100. This is the amount you can claim if you owned or leased your car for the whole of 2002–03 and used it for work during that year.

If you are using this method to claim a deduction for more than one car that you own or lease, work out the amount you can claim for each car. Add up the amounts you have worked out. If you owned or leased the car for the whole of 2002–03, go to step 3. Otherwise, read on.

STEP 2 If you did not own or lease the car for the whole of 2002–03, you need to work out if you can use this method. First work out the number of days you owned or leased the car.

If you travelled 5,000 business kilometres or less, multiply the number of business kilometres you travelled by 365 and divide the result by the number of days you owned or leased the car during 2002–03. This is considered to be the number of kilometres you would have travelled if you had used the car for the whole year.

If your answer is more than 5,000 or you travelled more than 5,000 business kilometres, you can use this method to claim your expenses. Read Working out the amount you can claim below. Otherwise, use METHOD 1 or 4.

Working out the amount you can claim

Multiply the amount you worked out at step 1 by the number of days you owned or leased the car. Divide the result by 365.

Example

Aaron bought a car on 1 March 2003 for $40,000 and he travelled 3,600 kilometres for work between 1 March 2003 and 30 June 2003 (122 days).

Because he did not own the car for the full year, Aaron needs to work out if he can use METHOD 2.

A As he travelled less than 5,000 business kilometres, Aaron multiplies the business kilometres he travelled by 365 and divides the result by the number of days he owned the car.

3,600 \times 365 = 10,770

\frac{10,770}{122} = 89

Because this is more than 5,000 business kilometres, he is able to use this method.

B Aaron follows the instructions in step 1 to get 12 per cent of the cost of the car.

\frac{40,000 \times 12}{100} = 4,800

He multiplies this amount by the number of days he owned the car and divides the result by 365.

\frac{4,800 \times 122}{365} = 1,605

This is the amount Aaron can claim.

STEP 3 Write your claim at A item D1 on your tax return. Do not show cents. Print the code letter T in the CLAIM TYPE box beside the amount.
METHOD 3—One-third of actual expenses method

This method allows you to claim one-third of each car expense. Car expenses do not include capital costs, such as the initial cost of your car or improvements to your car.

You can use this method if you used your car to travel more than 5,000 business kilometres in 2002–03. This method is also available if you would have used your car to travel more than 5,000 business kilometres if you had used it for the whole of 2002–03.

You must have kept written evidence for all your car expenses—except for fuel and oil costs.

There are two ways to work out your fuel and oil costs:

- Use your fuel and oil receipts, if you have them.
- Keep odometer records and make a reasonable estimate based on those records.

Odometer records need to show the odometer readings of the car at the start and end of the period that you owned or leased the car during 2002–03. They should also show the car’s engine capacity, make, model and registration number. You may also need to be able to show how you worked out your business kilometres and any reasonable estimate you made.

Example

Sim has made a reasonable estimate that she travelled 7,000 business kilometres during 2002–03. She is able to use this method.

Her odometer records show she used the car to travel a total of 25,000 kilometres during 2002–03.

She also estimated that the car used 10 litres of fuel per 100 kilometres travelled, based on the manufacturer’s guidelines, and the average fuel price for the period was 90 cents per litre.

Sim’s fuel claim would be worked out like this:

25,000 km multiplied by 10 and divided by 100 = 2,500
2,500 multiplied by $0.90 = $2,250

This is the amount Sim would include for fuel in step 1.

Complete the following steps to work out how much you can claim using the one-third of actual expenses method.

STEP 1 Add up your total expenses for fuel and oil, registration, insurance, interest, repairs and maintenance, the decline in value or lease payments and any other costs of running your car. See pages 39–40 to work out the amount to show here for decline in value.

STEP 2 Divide your total car expenses by 3. This is the amount you can claim.

STEP 3 Write the amount from step 2 at A item D1 on your tax return. Do not show cents. Print the code letter O in the CLAIM TYPE box beside the amount.

METHOD 4—Logbook method

Using the logbook method, you work out the business use percentage of your car. You can then claim this percentage of each car expense. Car expenses do not include capital costs, such as improvements to your car.

You must keep:

- a logbook
- odometer records, and
- written evidence for all your car expenses—except for fuel and oil costs.

Business use percentage

You can claim the business use percentage of all your car expenses. To work out your business use percentage, use the details from your logbook and odometer records.

From your records, work out the total kilometres travelled. Work out how many were business kilometres. Divide this number by the total number of kilometres travelled. Multiply this amount by 100.

Example

At the end of the logbook period, Tim’s logbook shows that he travelled a total of 11,000 kilometres of which 6,600 were business kilometres.

He divides 6,600 by 11,000 and multiplies by 100. Tim’s business use percentage is 60%.

It is in your interest to write in the logbook all journeys you make in your car for work activities. If a work-related journey is not recorded, the logbook will indicate a lower business use percentage than it could.

Did your car use change during 2002–03?

If it changed, make a reasonable estimate of what your business use percentage would have been for the whole of 2002–03, taking into account your logbook, odometer and other records, any variations in the pattern of use of your car and any changes in the number of cars you used in the course of earning your income.

Your logbook

Your logbook is valid for five years. If this is the first year you are using this method, you must have kept a logbook during 2002–03. The logbook must cover at least 12 continuous weeks. If you started to use your car for business purposes less than 12 weeks before the end of 2002–03, you are able to continue to keep a logbook into 2003–04 so that your logbook covers the required 12 weeks. If you want to use the logbook method for two or more cars, the logbook for each car must cover the same period.

If you have not kept a logbook since 1997–98, you must have kept a new logbook for 2002–03. If you did not keep a new logbook for 2002–03, you cannot use the logbook method. You must use another method.
Where you have kept a logbook for 2002–03 your logbook must contain the following information:

- when the logbook period begins and ends
- the car’s odometer readings at the start and end of the logbook period
- the total number of kilometres that the car travelled during the logbook period
- the number of kilometres travelled for work activities based on journeys recorded in the logbook. If you make two or more in a row on the same day, they can be recorded as a single journey, and
- the business use percentage for the logbook period.

If you are using a logbook from an earlier year—which established your business use percentage—you need to keep that logbook and maintain odometer records.

You also need a logbook if the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) told you in writing to keep one. We do not supply logbooks. Pre-printed logbooks are available from stationery suppliers or you can draw up your own.

Logbook entries for each journey

Your logbook must also show details of each business trip. You must write down:

- the day the journey began and the day it ended
- the car’s odometer readings at the start and end of the journey
- how many kilometres the car travelled on the journey, and
- the reason for the journey.

The logbook entries must be made at the end of the journey, or as soon as possible afterwards, and they must be in English.

Odometer records

You must keep written odometer records for the period you owned or leased the car during 2002–03. You need to record:

- the car’s odometer readings at the start and end of the period, and
- the make, model, engine capacity and registration number of the car.

Odometer records can be kept as part of your logbook if you kept one for 2002–03. If you did not keep a logbook in 2002–03, you need to have kept a separate record of the odometer readings and other details.

Working out your claim

Once you have worked out your business use percentage, you can apply it to your car expenses.

You need to keep written evidence of all your car expenses except for fuel and oil costs—for example, registration, repairs, interest and insurance.

There are two ways to work out your fuel and oil costs:

- Use your fuel and oil receipts, if you have them.
- Make a reasonable estimate based on your odometer records.

Complete the following steps to work out how much you can claim using the logbook method.

STEP 1 Add up your total expenses for fuel and oil, registration, insurance, interest, repairs and maintenance, the decline in value or lease payments and any other costs of running your car. See pages 39–40 to work out the amount to show here for decline in value.

STEP 2 Using your business use percentage, work out the business portion of your total expenses from step 1. This is the amount you can claim.

STEP 3 Print the amount from step 2 at the correct code letter in the box beside the amount.

CLAIMING UNDER MORE THAN ONE METHOD

If you have more than one car and you are claiming expenses under different methods, add the amounts you worked out under each method and write the total at item D1 on your tax return. Do not show cents. Print the code letter for the method that gave you the largest amount in the box beside the amount.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .

- written on your tax return the amount of your claim for car expenses
- printed the correct code letter in the box beside the amount:
  - if you used METHOD 1—code S
  - if you used METHOD 2—code T
  - if you used METHOD 3—code O
  - if you used METHOD 4—code B
- kept written evidence of your car expenses, where required. Retain it for five years from 31 October or, if you lodge later, for five years from the date you lodge your tax return. If at the end of this period you are in a dispute with the ATO that relates to this work expense, you must keep your records until the dispute is resolved.

Example

Bayden’s odometer records show he used his car to travel a total of 7,000 kilometres during 2002–03.

Based on the manufacturer’s guidelines, he estimated that the car used 10 litres of fuel per 100 kilometres travelled and the average fuel price for the period was 90 cents per litre.

Bayden’s fuel claim would be worked out like this: 7,000 km multiplied by 10 and divided by 100 = 700

700 multiplied by $0.90 = $630. This is the amount he would include for fuel in step 1.
Did you have any travel expenses relating to your work as an employee?

Claim at this question expenses for vehicles other than cars—for example, motorcycles, utility trucks or panel vans with a carrying capacity of 1 tonne or more, or any other vehicle with a carrying capacity of nine or more passengers.

Claim at this question any work-related running costs you are entitled to that are associated with a car owned or leased by somebody else—a borrowed car.

NO  Go to question D3.

YES  Read below.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

You can claim travel expenses directly connected with your work. If your travel was partly private and partly for work, you can claim only the part that related to work. Travel expenses you may be able to claim include meals, accommodation and incidental expenses incurred while travelling overnight for work—for example, going to an interstate work conference. Generally, if your travel does not involve an overnight stay, you cannot claim for meals even if you received a travel allowance.

Other travel expenses that you may be able to claim include air, bus, train, tram and taxi fares, bridge and road tolls, parking and car hire fees.

You cannot claim a deduction for any expenses you incur for the direct operation of a car that your employer provides, which at any time is used privately by you or your relatives, even if the expenses are work-related. Examples of direct operation expenses are petrol, oil and repairs. Such expenses form part of the valuation of the car for fringe benefits tax purposes. However, you may be able to claim expenses—such as parking fees and bridge tolls—which are linked to the car but are not involved in its direct operation.

You cannot claim the cost of normal trips between home and work as the expense is private. The travel is private and cannot be claimed even if:

- you do minor tasks—for example, picking up the mail on the way to work or home
- you have to travel between home and work more than once a day
- you are ‘on call’—for example, you are on stand-by duty and your employer contacts you at home to come into work
- there is no public transport near where you work
- you work outside normal business hours—for example, shift work or overtime, or
- your home is a place of business and you travel directly to a place of employment.

You can claim for the cost of trips undertaken between home and work where:

- you use your vehicle or have other travel expenses because you have to carry bulky tools or equipment that you use for work—for example, an extension ladder or cello—and you cannot leave them at work
- your home is a base of employment—you start your work at home and travel to a workplace to continue the work, or
- you have shifting places of employment—you regularly work at more than one site each day before returning home. Taxation Ruling TR 95/34—Employees carrying out itinerant work has more information on travel expenses for employees who have shifting places of employment. This publication is available on the Australian Taxation Office website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

You can claim the cost of travelling directly between two separate places of employment—for example, when you have a second job.

Example

Sue is a clerk at a large department store who travels by bus from her normal workplace to her second job as a waitress. After finishing work as a waitress, she travels directly home.

The only allowable deduction is the cost of travel from Sue’s normal workplace to her second job.
You can claim the cost of travelling:

- from your normal workplace to an alternative workplace—for example, a client’s premises—while still on duty and back to your normal workplace or directly home
- from your home to an alternative workplace for work purposes and then to your normal workplace or directly home.

Example

Janet is a clerk at a large department store in the city. She travels by bus from her normal workplace to her employer’s other store in the suburbs. She attends a meeting at this alternative workplace. After this meeting, she travels directly home by train.

Janet can claim the cost of each journey.

Records you need

The table below explains what records you need if you are claiming domestic or overseas travel expenses for accommodation, food, drink or incidentals.

If you are claiming travel expenses and you receive a travel allowance from your employer, you must show the allowance at item 2 on your tax return.

The Australian Taxation Office (ATO) sets the reasonable allowance amount for your circumstances in an annual ruling. For 2002–03 refer to Taxation Ruling TR 2002/12—Income tax: reasonable allowance amounts for the 2002–2003 income year. This publication is available on the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack. Your employer may also be able to tell you what the amount is.

NOTE

If your travel allowance was not shown on your payment summary and was not more than the reasonable allowance amount for your circumstances, you do not have to include the allowance at question 2 providing you have fully expended the allowance on deductible travel expenses and you do not claim a deduction for these expenses.

A travel diary is a document which shows details of your activities. It must show the dates, places, times and duration of your activities and travel.

* Written evidence is required for overseas accommodation expenses—regardless of the length of the trip.

 Members of international air crews do not need to keep a travel diary if they limit their claim to the amount of the allowance received.

NOTE

You must have written evidence for the whole of your claim, not just the excess over the reasonable amount. Written evidence is explained on pages 36–7.
Car owned or leased by somebody else—a borrowed car
You can claim the actual costs you incurred when using a car owned or leased by somebody else for work-related purposes—for example, petrol and oil. You cannot use the cents per kilometre method or any other method described at question D1 to calculate your claim.

Award transport payments
Award transport payments are allowances covering either transport expenses or car expense reimbursements which are paid under an industrial law or award that was in force on 29 October 1986.

Some changes made to the industrial law or award after that date are treated as if they had been made on that day. Your union or employer can tell you the 29 October 1986 amount.

Award transport payments are assessable and must be included as income on your tax return. If you have incurred work-related transport expenses or car expenses covered by these payments, you may be able to claim a deduction for these expenses.

If you choose to claim no more than the 29 October 1986 amount, claim these expenses at this question. You do not need written evidence.

If you choose to claim more than the 29 October 1986 amount for work-related transport expenses, make the claim at this question. You will need written evidence for the whole of the claim.

If you choose to claim more than the 29 October 1986 amount for work-related car expenses or to claim for additional car expenses not covered by the award transport payment, make the claim at question D1.

Completing this question

STEP 1 Add up all your allowable travel expenses.

STEP 2 Write the total amount at B item D2 on your tax return. Do not show cents.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .
☐ written on your tax return the amount of your claim for travel expenses
☐ kept written evidence of your travel expenses, where required. You need to keep it for five years from 31 October or, if you lodge later, for five years from the date you lodge your tax return. If at the end of this period you are in a dispute with the Australian Taxation Office that relates to this work expense, you must keep your records until the dispute is resolved.
QUESTION D3  WORK RELATED UNIFORM, CLOTHING, LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING EXPENSES

Did you have any:
• protective clothing
• uniform
• occupation specific clothing, or
• laundry or dry cleaning expenses relating to your work as an employee?

NO  Go to question D4.  YES  Read below.

If you received an allowance from your employer for clothing, uniforms, laundry or dry cleaning, make sure that you have shown the amount at item 2.

You can claim the cost of buying, renting, repairing and cleaning occupation specific clothing, protective clothing and certain work uniforms.

You cannot claim the cost of purchasing or cleaning a plain uniform or clothes you bought to wear for work that are not protective or specific to your occupation even if your employer tells you to wear them—for example, a bartender’s black trousers and white shirt or a manager’s suit or stockings. If you need more information about whether you can deduct the cost of clothing you wear to work, read Taxation Ruling TR 98/5—Calculating and claiming a deduction for laundry expenses, Taxation Ruling TR 97/12—Deductibility of expenses on clothing, uniform and footwear and Taxation Ruling TR 94/22—Deductibility of expenditure on conventional clothing. These publications are available on the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

WHAT YOU MAY NEED
• written evidence from your goods or services supplier
• diary records of your laundry costs, if you need written evidence.

YOU NEED TO KNOW  You cannot automatically claim a deduction just because you received a uniform, clothing, laundry or dry cleaning allowance from your employer. Carefully read the section Claiming deductions for expenses that relate to your work as an employee on pages 36–7 before claiming a deduction.

Work uniform
This is a work uniform—either compulsory or non-compulsory—that is unique and distinctive to your organisation.

Compulsory work uniform
This is a set of clothing that identifies you as an employee of an organisation which has a strictly enforced policy that makes it compulsory for you to wear the uniform while at work.

You may be able to claim a deduction for shoes, socks and stockings where they are an essential part of a distinctive compulsory uniform, the characteristics of which—colour, style, type—are specified in your employer’s uniform policy.

If you need more information about work uniforms, read Taxation Determination TD 1999/62—What are the criteria to be considered in deciding whether clothing items constitute a compulsory corporate uniform/wardrobe? This publication is available on the ATO website. Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

You may be able to claim for a single item of distinctive clothing, such as a jumper, where it is compulsory for you to wear it at work. Generally, clothing is distinctive where it has the employer’s logo permanently attached and the clothing is not available to the public.

Non-compulsory work uniform
You cannot claim expenses incurred for non-compulsory work uniforms unless your employer has registered the design with AusIndustry. Ask your employer for advice.

Shoes, socks and stockings can never form part of a non-compulsory work uniform.
Occupation specific clothing
This is clothing that is specific to your occupation, is not everyday in nature and would allow the public to easily recognise your occupation (eg the checked pants a chef wears).

Protective clothing
This is clothing and footwear that you wear to protect yourself (or your clothing) from the risk of illness or injury posed by your income earning activities or the environment in which you are required to carry them out. For example, fire resistant and sun-protection clothing, safety-coloured vests, overalls, non-slip nurse’s shoes, rubber boots for concreters and steel-capped boots. Heavy duty items, such as jeans, drill trousers and drill shorts are not considered protective items.

Laundry expenses
The costs of washing, drying and ironing eligible work clothes, as described in this question, are laundry expenses which you can claim. They include laundromat expenses. You must have written evidence—for example, diary entries and receipts—for your laundry expenses if:
• the amount of your claim is greater than $150, and
• your total claim for work expenses—other than car, meal allowance, award transport payments allowance and travel allowance expenses—exceeds $300.

If you do not need to provide written evidence for your laundry expenses, you may use a reasonable basis to work out your claim.

The Australian Taxation Office (ATO) considers that a reasonable basis for working out your laundry claim would be $1 per load—this includes washing, drying and ironing—if the load is made up only of the clothes described in this question, and 50 cents per load if other laundry items are included. If you choose a different basis to work out your claim, we may ask you to explain that basis.

Dry cleaning expenses
You can claim the cost of dry cleaning eligible work clothes, as described at this question. If your total claim for work expenses—other than car, meal allowance, award transport payments allowance and travel allowance expenses—exceeds $300 you must have written evidence to substantiate your claim.

Completing this question
STEP 1 Work out the total cost of laundering your occupation specific clothing, protective clothing or work uniforms. (For information about using a reasonable basis to work out laundry expenses, see Laundry expenses above.)

STEP 2 Add up all your allowable uniform, clothing, laundry and dry cleaning expenses and write the total amount at item D3 on your tax return. Do not show cents.

STEP 3 Select the code letter that describes the majority of the clothing for which you are claiming:
C compulsory work uniform
N non-compulsory work uniform
S occupation specific clothing
P protective clothing

Print the code letter in the CLAIM TYPE box at the right of item D3 on your tax return.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .
☐ written on your tax return the total amount of your uniform, occupation specific clothing, protective clothing, laundry and dry cleaning expenses
☐ printed your code letter in the CLAIM TYPE box
☐ kept written evidence to prove your claims, where required. You need to keep it for five years from 31 October or, if you lodge later, for five years from the date you lodge your tax return. If at the end of this period you are in a dispute with the ATO that relates to this work expense, you must keep your records until the dispute is resolved.
Did you have any self-education expenses relating to your work as an employee?

NO Go to question D5.

YES Read below.

WHAT YOU CANNOT CLAIM

You cannot claim a deduction for Higher Education Contribution Scheme (HECS) payments, Financial Supplement Loan repayments or Open Learning Agency of Australia basic charges.

If you take out a loan under the Postgraduate Education Loans Scheme (PELS) or Bridging for Overseas Trained Professionals Loan Scheme (BOTPLS) for part or all of your course fees, you cannot claim a deduction for the loan repayments. However, you may be able to claim a deduction for your course fees, including that part the Commonwealth pays on your behalf under PELS and BOTPLS, if there is a direct connection between your self-education and your work activities at the time that the expense was incurred.

You cannot claim a deduction for self-education expenses against income you received from youth allowance, austudy payment, ABSTUDY or similar schemes providing payments in the nature of assistance.

WHAT YOU MAY NEED

- written evidence from your supplier or educational institution
- written evidence or diary entries you made of any expenses relating to your self-education—for example, travel
- Guide to depreciating assets (NAT 1996—6.2003). This publication contains information about deductions for decline in value and balancing adjustments, and immediate deductions for certain depreciating assets whose cost (when added to the cost of other substantially identical assets or assets that make up a set) does not exceed $300. It also explains the option to pool low-value depreciating assets for which you cannot claim an immediate deduction. If you choose this option, see question D6 Low value pool deduction. This publication is available on the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

You can claim only self-education expenses that relate to your work activities while you were studying. If your self-education was to help you get a new job, you cannot claim your expenses.

Self-education expenses are expenses related to a course of education provided by a school, college, university or other place of education. The course must be undertaken to gain a formal qualification for use in carrying on a profession, business or trade or in the course of employment.

If you are a part-time or full-time student, you may be able to claim the costs of self-education if there is a direct connection between your self-education and your work activities at the time the expense was incurred.

Taxation Ruling TR 98/9—Deductibility of self-education expenses provides additional information. This publication is available on the ATO website. Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

If your total claim for all work expenses is more than $300, you may need to keep written evidence to prove your claim. Read pages 36–7 in TaxPack 2003 for the written evidence rule.

The cost of meals is generally a private—and non-claimable—expense. However, if:

- you are participating in self-education directly connected to your current work, and
- that self-education requires you to be temporarily absent for one or more nights from your home you may claim the cost of meals during that absence.

Allowable self-education expenses

You may be able to claim expenses such as textbooks, stationery, student union fees, course fees and the decline in value of your computer. If you did not use your computer solely for self-education purposes, you will need to apportion your deduction.

This means you divide the amount between private use and work-related use. For example, if you use your computer 40% of the time for deductible self-education and 60% of the time for private purposes, then you can only claim 40% of the decline in value.

You can claim expenses for travel between:
- home and your place of education
- your place of education and home
- work and your place of education, and
- your place of education and work.

However, only the first leg of each trip is deductible where you travel:
- from home to your place of education and then to work, or
- from your workplace to your place of education and then to home.

To work out the amounts of allowable car or other travel expenses you will need to read question D1 (car expenses) or D2 (travel expenses). But you must generally claim these amounts here at question D4.

$250 reduction

In certain circumstances you may have to reduce your allowable self-education expenses by $250. However, you may have other types of expenses—some of which are not allowable as a deduction (category E)—that can be offset against the $250 before you have to reduce the amount you can claim for allowable expenses.

How to work out your claim

First list your expenses under the following categories.

Category A

General expenses that are allowable as a deduction. They include textbooks, stationery, student union fees, course fees or car expenses (excluding amounts for decline in value) worked out under the logbook or one-third of actual expenses method.

In some cases you may need to reduce your category A expenses by $250—see example 1 on page 51.

Category B*

Deductions for the decline in value of depreciating assets used for self-education purposes, including a car for which you are claiming deductions under the logbook or one-third of actual expenses method.

NOTE

1. Make your claim for the decline in value of a low-value pool (which includes assets used for self-education purposes) at D6.
2. If you are in business and are eligible to enter or continue in the Simplified Tax System (STS) and you have chosen to do so at item S1 in the 2003 business and professional items schedule, you will need to calculate your work-related deduction for depreciable assets using the STS rules. In that case, claim your work-related deduction for depreciable assets at P8 in the 2003 business and professional items schedule.
3. If you did not carry on any business during 2002–03 but have STS pool deductions because you have allocated depreciable assets to an STS pool in a prior year, make your claim for STS pool deductions at item D15 on your tax return (supplementary section). Refer to The Simplified Tax System: A guide for tax agents and small businesses (NAT 6459—6.2002). This publication is available on the Australian Taxation Office website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

Category C*

Repairs to items of equipment used for self-education purposes.

Category D*

Car expenses related to your self-education activities which are claimed using the cents per kilometre or 12% at your place of education and then to home.

Self-education expenses not allowable as a deduction

Child care costs | $520 | E

The general expenses for stationery, textbooks, course fees, bus fares and student union fees are category A amounts. The repair expense is a category C amount.

Angus does not have to reduce his category A expenses as the total of his category C (repairs $70) and E (child care costs $520) is more than $250.

Angus can claim $820—his category A and C amounts. However, if Angus had no child care costs then his claim would be worked out using the steps from the previous pages, as follows:

STEP 3: $250 less $70 (the category C amount) = $180
STEP 4: $750 (category A amount) less $180 (step 3 amount) = $570
STEP 5: $570 (step 4 amount) plus $70 (category C amount) = $640

Angus could claim $640.
QUESTION D5
OTHER WORK RELATED EXPENSES

Did you have:
• debits tax charged on any outgoings from your bank, building society or credit union account where the outgoing can be claimed as an allowable work-related deduction
• any other expenses relating to your work as an employee?

Other expenses include union fees, overtime meals, attending formal education courses provided by professional associations, seminars, conferences or education workshops, books, journals and trade magazines, tools and equipment, protective items such as sunscreens and sunglasses, computers and software, telephone and home office expenses. Phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack) if you are not sure if an expense can be claimed.

You cannot claim the cost of entertainment, fines or penalties. You cannot claim private expenses such as child care expenses or fees paid to social clubs.

NOTE
‘Decline in value’ is the new term for depreciation.
A ‘depreciating asset’ is an asset with a limited effective life which declines in value over that life.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

STOP
Do not show at this question claims for:
• expenses not related to your work
• expenses from carrying on a business
• the cost of sickness and accident insurance premiums
• tax costs—such as tax agent fees
• decline in value of items included in a low-value pool. Show these at D6 Low value pool deduction
• decline in value of work-related items if you are in business and have elected to enter the Simplified Tax System (STS). Show these at item P8 on the 2003 business and professional items schedule

YOU MAY NEED
• statements from your bank, building society or credit union
• written evidence from your supplier or association
• other written evidence or diary entries you made to record your expenses
• your PAYG payment summary—individual non business
• Taxation Ruling TR 93/30—Deductions for home office expenses
• Practice Statement PS 2001/6—Home office expenses
• Guide to depreciating assets (NAT 1996—6.2003). This publication contains information about deductions for decline in value and balancing adjustments, and immediate deductions for certain depreciating assets whose cost (when added to the cost of other substantially identical assets or assets that make up a set) does not exceed $300. It also explains the option to pool low-value depreciating assets for which you cannot claim an immediate deduction. If you choose this option, see question D6 Low value pool deduction. This publication is available on the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

Simplified Tax System (STS)
If you are in business and are eligible to enter or continue in the Simplified Tax System (STS) and you have chosen to do so at item S1 (in the 2003 business and professional items schedule), you will need to calculate your work-related deduction for depreciating assets using the STS rules. In that case, claim your work-related deduction for depreciating assets at P8 in the 2003 business and professional items schedule (NAT 2816—6.2003).

If you did not carry on any business during the year but have STS pool deductions because you have allocated depreciating assets to an STS pool in a prior year, make your claim for STS pool deductions at item D15 in the supplementary section of your return. Refer to the ATO publication The Simplified Tax System: A guide for tax agents and small businesses (NAT 6459—6.2002) which is available on the ATO website. Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

Receiving an allowance from your employer does not automatically entitle you to a deduction. To claim a deduction, you must have included the whole of the allowance at item 2 on your tax return and incurred the expense, and it must be related to your work as an employee.

If your total claim for all work expenses as an employee exceeds $300, you may need to keep written evidence to prove your claim. Read pages 36–7 for the written evidence rule.

Debits tax
You can claim a deduction for that part of the debits tax charged on any outgoing from your account where the outgoing can be claimed as an allowable deduction—for example, work-related expenses.
Union fees and subscriptions to associations
You can claim a deduction for union fees and subscriptions to trade, business or professional associations. You can only claim payments of levies to a strike fund where the fund is used solely to maintain or improve the contributors’ pay. Your payment summary may show fees or subscriptions paid by you.

Overtime meals
You may be able to claim a deduction for overtime meal expenses you incurred if you received an overtime meal allowance from your employer which was paid under an industrial law, award or agreement. You can claim only the amount of expenditure you incurred. If your claim is more than $19.15 per meal, you will need written evidence.
You can only claim for overtime meal expenses incurred on those occasions when you worked overtime and you received an overtime meal allowance payment for that overtime.
An amount for overtime meals that has been ‘folded in’ (eg under a workplace agreement) as part of your normal salary or wages income is not considered to be an overtime meal allowance.
Amounts received as overtime meal allowance must be included as income at item 2 on your tax return, subject to the note below:

NOTE
If your award overtime meal allowance was not shown on your payment summary and was not more than $19.15 for each meal, you do not have to include the amount at item 2 providing you have fully expended the allowance and do not claim a deduction for overtime meal expenses.

Seminars, conferences or education workshops
You can claim the cost of attending seminars, conferences or education workshops that are sufficiently connected to your work activities.

Books, journals and professional libraries
You can claim the cost of trade magazines, technical journals and reference books that you need to do your work.
You can claim a deduction for the decline in value of a professional library that includes books, tapes, compact discs, records and videos that you need to do your work.

Protective items
This is equipment or other items that you use to protect yourself from the risk of illness or injury posed by your income earning activities or the environment in which you are required to carry them out. For example, safety glasses, hard hats, gloves, sunscreens and sunglasses.
Make your claim for the cost of protective clothing and footwear at question D3.

Computers and software
You can claim a deduction for the work-related proportion of the decline in value of computers. See the publication Guide to depreciating assets (NAT 1996—6.2003) to work out your claim. If you use your computer for private purposes you must apportion your decline in value between work-related and private use. ‘Apportion’ means you divide the amount between private use and work-related use. For example, if you use a computer 30% of the time for work and 70% of the time for non-work purposes, then you can only claim 30% of the decline in value.
You can also claim a deduction for the work-related proportion of the cost of repairs to your computer and interest on money borrowed to finance the cost of your computer.

Telephone expenses
You can claim a deduction for the cost of work-related telephone calls.
You can claim a deduction for your telephone rental if you can show you are ‘on call’ or are regularly required to telephone your employer or clients while you are away from your workplace. If you also use your telephone for private purposes you must apportion the cost of telephone rental between work-related and private use.

Home office expenses
You can claim the additional running expenses of a home office—for example, the decline in value of and repairs to your home office furniture and fittings, heating, cooling, lighting and cleaning. You can keep a diary to work out how much of your running expenses relate to doing work in your home office. Alternatively, you can use a fixed rate of 20 cents per hour for home office expenses for heating, cooling, lighting and the decline in value of furniture instead of keeping details of actual costs. For further information refer to Practice Statement PS2001/6—Home office expenses.
When you use your home office for work as an employee, note that time in your diary. Diary records are acceptable evidence of a connection between the use of a home office and your work. Keep diary records during a representative period and for a reasonable time—for example, at least four weeks.
For a complete explanation of the limited circumstances in which you may claim for occupancy expenses of your home, such as rates, rent, mortgage interest and insurance, refer to Taxation Ruling TR 93/30—Deductions for home office expenses.

Low-value pooling
If you choose the low-value pooling method to calculate the decline in value of low-cost and low-value depreciable assets, make your claim at question D6.

Other expenses
You can claim a deduction here for any other expenses you incurred in earning your salary or wages that you have not already claimed.

Completing this question

STEP 1 Add up all the expenses that you can claim at this question.

STEP 2 Write the total amount at item D5 on your tax return. Do not show cents.
QUESTION D6  LOW VALUE POOL DEDUCTION

Have you allocated assets used to earn assessable income to a low-value pool?

You cannot allocate the following depreciating assets to a low-value pool:

- assets for which you have previously claimed deductions worked out using the prime cost method
- assets that cost $300 or less for which you can claim an immediate deduction
- assets for which you can deduct amounts under the simplified tax system (STS)
- horticultural plants (including a grapevine)
- certain depreciating assets used in carrying on research and development activities.

NO  Go to question D7.
YES  Read below.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

You can allocate the following types of depreciating assets to a low-value pool for 2002–03:

- low-cost assets—assets costing less than $1,000, and
- low-value assets—assets that are not low-cost assets which have been written off under the diminishing value method to less than $1,000 as at 1 July 2002.

You can only have one low-value pool.

Once you choose to allocate a low-cost asset to a low-value pool, all low-cost assets you start to hold in that and any subsequent income year must also be allocated to the pool.

Claiming your low-value pool deduction

You must claim your deduction:

- at item P8 on the 2003 business and professional items schedule if your low-value pool contains only assets used in business and not for any other income-producing purpose
- at this question in all other cases—this includes where your low-value pool contains assets used in relation to your work as an employee (questions D1 to D5) or to gain rental income (question 20 in TaxPack 2003 supplement).

Working out your deduction

The deduction for the decline in value of depreciating assets in a low-value pool is worked out using a diminishing value rate of 37.5%.

For the income year you first allocate a low-cost asset to the pool, your deduction is worked out for that asset at a rate of 18.75% or half the pool rate. Halving the rate recognises that assets may be allocated to the pool throughout the income year and eliminates the need to make separate calculations for each asset based on the date it was allocated to the pool.

Taxable use percentage

When you allocate an asset to a low-value pool, you must make a reasonable estimate of the extent to which you will be using it to earn income over its effective life (for a low-cost asset) or its remaining life (for a low-value asset). This estimate is the taxable use percentage.

Only the taxable use percentage of the cost (of a low-cost asset) or the opening value (of a low-value asset) is allocated to the pool and used to calculate the deduction for decline in value.

How to calculate your low-value pool deduction

The worksheet on the next page shows you how to work out your low-value pool deduction. An example is presented and there is space left for your own calculations.
Example

Edward buys a printer for $600 in 2002–03 and allocates it to a low-value pool. He estimates that the printer will be used 40% of the time for work purposes over its effective life. This is the first time Edward has had a low-value pool.

In 2002–03 Edward also decides to allocate to the low-value pool a laptop computer for which he has previously claimed deductions worked out under the diminishing value method. The asset’s opening value at 1 July 2002 is $900 and it will be used only for work purposes.

Completing this question

Write your total low-value pool deduction at \( K \) item D6 on your tax return.

Disposal of deprecating assets allocated to a low-value pool

If you dispose of an asset in a low-value pool in 2002–03, you need to reduce the closing pool balance for 2002–03 (see below) by the taxable use percentage of the asset’s termination value. The asset’s termination value is usually the proceeds from the asset’s disposal. If this amount is more than the closing pool balance, the closing pool balance is reduced to nil and the excess is included in your assessable income at question 22.

Closing pool balance for 2002–03

You will need to use the closing pool balance to calculate your low-value pool deduction for next year.

WORKSHEET

Edward You

The closing balance of the pool for 2001–02 (a) \( $0 \) (a) \( $ \)

If you did not have a low-value pool in 2001–02, write ‘0’ at (a).

For each low-value asset allocated to the pool in 2002–03, multiply the opening value (at 1 July 2002) by the taxable use percentage. Add up the amounts and write the total at (b).

\( (b) \text{ $900} \) (b) \( \text{$} \)

Add (a) and (b).

\( (c) \text{ $900} \) (c) \( \text{$} \)

Multiply (c) by 37.5%.

\( (d) \text{ $337} \) (d) \( \text{$} \)

For each low-cost asset allocated to the pool in 2002–03, multiply the cost by the taxable use percentage. Add up the amounts and write the total at (e).

\( (e) \text{ $240} \) (e) \( \text{$} \)

Add up the amounts (see example) and write the total at (f).

\( (f) \text{ $0} \) (f) \( \text{$} \)

For each asset already in the pool and for low-value assets added this year for which you incurred additional capital costs (such as improvements) in 2002–03, multiply those costs by the taxable use percentage. Add up the amounts and write the total at (g).

\( (g) \text{ $240} \) (g) \( \text{$} \)

Multiply (g) by 18.75%.

Add up the amounts at (d) and (h).

This is the total low-value pool deduction. Edward will show $382 at \( K \) item D6 on his tax return.

Did you have any expenses that you can claim as deductions against assessable interest and dividend income, such as:
- account keeping fees or management fees
- debits tax
- interest charged on money borrowed to purchase shares
  or did you have a ‘listed investment company (LIC) capital gain amount’ included in a dividend received from an LIC?

You can claim a deduction against assessable interest and dividend income if you are able to show that expenses and any debits tax were incurred in earning that income.

You cannot claim a deduction for expenses incurred in deriving exempt income such as an exempt dividend on which family trust distribution tax has been paid. Refer to page 12 and question A3 on page s60 in TaxPack supplement for further details.

YES [ ] Read below.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

Account keeping fees

Some financial institutions charge account keeping fees. You can claim for these fees where the account is held for investment purposes—for example, a cash management account. You will find these fees listed on your statements or in your passbooks.

If you are not the sole holder of an account you can only claim your share of fees, charges or taxes on the account—for example, where you hold an equal share in an account with your spouse, you can only claim half of any allowable debits tax paid on that account.

Debits tax

State governments charge debits tax for operating certain types of accounts held with financial institutions such as banks, building societies and credit unions. If debits tax was charged to your account, it will be shown on your statements or in your passbooks. You can claim that part of debits tax charged on payments from your account where the payment is for a deductible expense which is also claimed here.

Other deductions

You can claim for ongoing management fees, retainers, amounts paid for advice relating to changes in the mix of investment, interest incurred on money borrowed to purchase shares and other related investments. If the money borrowed is used for both private and income-producing purposes, then the interest must be apportioned between each purpose. Only that interest incurred for an income-producing purpose is deductible.

You cannot claim a fee charged for drawing up an investment plan unless you are carrying on an investment business. You cannot claim a fee paid to an investment adviser for drawing up an initial investment plan which includes pre-existing investments.

If you have debt deductions, such as interest, your claims may be affected by the thin capitalisation rules. These rules may apply if you are an Australian resident and you (or any associate entities) have certain overseas interests, or you are a foreign resident, and your debt deductions (combined with those of your associate entities) for 2002–03 are more than $250,000. More information is available from the Australian Taxation Office website at www.ato.gov.au

Deduction you can claim for 50% of an LIC capital gain amount

If you were an Australian resident when an LIC paid you a dividend, and the dividend includes an LIC capital gain amount, you can claim a deduction of 50% of the LIC capital gain amount. The LIC capital gain amount will be shown separately on your dividend statement.

- your bank or financial institution statements or passbooks
- your dividend statements including any LIC capital gain amount.

Completing this question

Add up all your interest and dividend deductions and 50% of any LIC capital gain amount.

Write the total amount at item D7 on your tax return. Do not show cents.
QUESTION D8

GIFTS OR DONATIONS

Did you make a gift (or donation) of $2 or more to:

- an eligible organisation such as:
  - certain organisations or charities which gave help in Australia
  - an approved overseas aid fund
  - a school building fund
  - an approved environmental or cultural organisation which the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) has endorsed as a deductible gift recipient or which is listed by name in the tax laws as gift deductible or did you:

- make an approved cultural bequest
- enter into a conservation covenant, or
- make a financial contribution of $2 or more to a registered political party?

NO  Go to question D9.

YES  Read below.

WHAT YOU MAY NEED

- your receipts for donations or contributions
- the purchase price and purchase date of any property donated
- your valuations by two or more approved valuers for any donations of property under the Cultural Gifts Program or to a body of the National Trust
- your valuation certificate from the Australian Valuation Office (AVO), if required, for your donation of property valued at more than $5,000 (see below)
- a certificate of approval from the Minister for Communications, Information Technology and the Arts for a cultural bequest
- your PAYG payment summary—individual non-business or other form of advice from your employer showing the amount you have donated through a workplace-giving program
- your valuation certificate from the AVO in relation to a conservation covenant you have entered into
- written approval from the Minister for the Environment and Heritage for a conservation covenant you have entered into.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

- You cannot claim a deduction for a donation if you received something in return—for example, a pen, raffle ticket, dinner or a reduction in your child’s school fees.
- If you made a donation to a school building fund and your receipt includes other payments, you can claim only that part which is the voluntary donation.
- The total amount you can claim for contributions to registered political parties is $100.
- You can claim donations made to prescribed private funds.

Workplace-giving program

If you made donations during the year under a workplace-giving program with your employer, then the relevant amount shown on your payment summary or other form of advice from your employer needs to be included at this question.

Your payment summary or other form of advice from your employer, showing the donated amount, is sufficient evidence to support your claim for the deduction. You do not need to have a receipt from the deductible gift recipient(s).

Gifts of property

- Under the general gift provisions you can claim a donation of property to an eligible organisation if the property was purchased during the 12 months before the gift was made. You claim the lesser of either the price you paid for it or the market value of the property at the time of donation. This means that you cannot claim for property if you did not purchase it—for example, you inherited or won the property.
- You can also claim donations of property to certain funds, authorities and institutions if they are valued at more than $5,000. A valuation certificate must be obtained from the AVO for property you purchased more than 12 months before making the donation or for property you did not purchase—for example, where you inherited or won the property. However, if the property was purchased within 12 months before making the donation, the amount deductible is the lesser of the market value of the property at the time of donation and the amount paid for the property.

- From 1 July 2002 you can elect to spread the deduction for a donation of property which is valued by the Australian Valuation Office (AVO) at more than $5,000, over five income years or less. You need to make the election in writing before lodging your tax return, setting out the percentage of the deduction you will claim in each year. You may make the election using the form on this page.

For more information about property valuations phone the AVO on (02) 6229 3400, fax (02) 6230 5060 or email bryan.hurrell@avo.gov.au

Cultural and environmental gifts

- You can elect to spread the deduction for donations made under the Cultural Gifts Program, and environmental and heritage gifts (valued by the AVO), over five income years or less. The election must be lodged with the relevant department before you lodge your tax return.

For more information about the Cultural Gifts Program and the election phone the Department of Communications, Information Technology and the Arts on (02) 6271 1643, email cgp.mail@dcita.gov.au or visit its website at www.dcita.gov.au/cgp

For more information about making donations to environmental and heritage organisations and the election phone the Department of the Environment and Heritage on (02) 6274 1467 or email reo@ea.gov.au

- If you enter into a conservation covenant over land you own, on or after 1 July 2002, you may be entitled to claim a deduction if certain conditions are met. You can elect to spread the deduction over five years or less. The covenant needs to be approved by the Minister for the Environment and Heritage. For more information phone the Department of the Environment and Heritage on (02) 6274 1111 and ask to speak to the relevant officer in the Natural Resource Management Branch.

- If you are an executor or administrator of an estate, you can claim a deduction in the donor’s final individual tax return for a cultural bequest made under the Cultural Bequests Program. If the value of the bequest reduces the donor’s taxable income to nil, any excess value can be claimed in the first tax return of the estate. You need a certificate of approval issued to the donor, during the 1998, 1999 or 2000 income years, by the Minister for Communications, Information Technology and the Arts.

Spreading of a deduction for a gift of property under the general gift provisions, valued by the AVO at more than $5,000.

You do not need to fill out the election form if you wish to claim the full deduction in the year of donation.

Where you elect to spread your deduction you give up the right to claim the full deduction amount in the year the donation was made.

If you make a donation in conjunction with other donors, and you elect to spread your share of the deduction, you must complete your own separate election form and advise your percentage share in the donation.

An election can be varied at any time, but you can only vary the percentage that you can deduct in respect of income years for which an income tax return has not yet been lodged.

The election must:

- be made in writing and signed and dated
- be made before you lodge your tax return for the income year in which the donation of property is made
- state the percentage of the deduction you will claim in the income year the donation was made and for each year up to five years—the total of which cannot exceed 100% of the original deduction
- be kept with your tax records for five years from the date you lodge your tax return with the claim for your last apportionment—do not attach it to your tax return or send it in to us.

Add up all the amounts of your eligible donations and write the total at Item D8 on your tax return. Do notshow cents.

QUESTION D9

DEDUCTIBLE AMOUNT OF UPP OF AN AUSTRALIAN PENSION OR ANNUITY

Did you receive an Australian pension or annuity which has a deductible amount of undeducted purchase price (UPP)?

To claim the deductible amount of a UPP on a foreign pension or annuity, complete item D12 on your tax return (supplementary section).

NO Go to question D10.

YES Read below.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

UPP of a pension or annuity

If you showed income from an Australian pension or annuity at item 7 on your tax return, you may be able to reduce the taxable amount of your pension or annuity income if it has a UPP.

The UPP is the amount you contributed towards the purchase price of the pension or annuity for which you did not claim, and were not eligible to claim, a tax deduction.

Each year, that part of your pension which represents a return to you of your personal contributions is deducted from your taxable pension income. This tax-free part is called the deductible amount of the UPP, and it is calculated by dividing the UPP of your pension by a life expectancy factor that applies to you, according to life expectancy statistics.

If you already know your deductible amount, go to Completing this question on this page.

Your pension or annuity may have a UPP if:

- you receive a superannuation pension and you could not claim a tax deduction for some or all of the personal contributions you made to your superannuation fund or retirement savings account provider in previous years
- you receive a pension or annuity that reverted to you on the death of another person
- you receive a pension or annuity that you bought with your own capital.

NOTE If you have commuted any part of your pension into a lump sum, the deductible amount of UPP that you can claim must be recalculated.

If you do not know your deductible amount, go to Schedule of additional information on this page.

Completing this question

Write the deductible amount of your UPP at item D9 on your tax return. Do not show cents. This amount cannot be more than the pension or annuity to which it relates—the amount shown at item 7.

If you have more than one Australian pension, write the total of all the deductible amounts of your UPP at item D9.

You have finished this question. Go to CHECK THAT YOU HAVE... on the next page.

Schedule of additional information

If you do not know how much of your UPP you can claim—the deductible amount—your payer may be able to tell you. Otherwise, you will need to provide as an attachment the answers to the questions on the next page, so the Australian Taxation Office can work it out for you.

Usually, when you start to receive a pension, the pension provider will give you a copy of the details regarding your pension. In addition, each year your pension provider must give you a payment summary for the year, and most pension providers also supply additional information with the payment summary. You may find the answers to many of the following questions in that additional information.
Print SCHEDULE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION—QUESTION D9 on the top of a separate piece of paper and tell us your name, address, tax file number and the answers to the following questions.

1 What is your date of birth?

2 On what date did your pension or annuity first become payable? This is the first day of the first payment period of the pension or annuity. (Check your original contract, information sheet, or contact your pension provider if you are unsure.)

3 What is the name of the provider or company paying your pension or annuity?

4 If you are receiving a superannuation pension:
   (a) What amount did you personally contribute to your superannuation provider after 30 June 1983?
   (b) For what part of this amount did you not get a tax deduction?
   (c) Have you rolled over any CGT exempt amounts to your superannuation provider? What is the amount?

5 If you are receiving a superannuation pension from a provider which has not paid tax on the contributions it received—such as some government funds—or your superannuation pension started before 1 July 1994, what amounts did you personally contribute towards your superannuation before 1 July 1983, for which you did not claim, and were not entitled to claim, a tax deduction or rebate? The Australian Taxation Office will insert this figure from information held if you do not have it.

6 If you are receiving an annuity or superannuation pension that you bought with one or more eligible termination payments (ETPs):
   (a) What amounts of each component of the ETP did you roll over into the annuity or superannuation pension? (Your pension or annuity provider can give you this information.)
   Examples are: undeducted contributions, CGT exempt amounts, concessional components, invalidity components, pre-July 1983 or post-June 1983 components.
   (b) Did you buy the superannuation pension or annuity you are now receiving with funds obtained solely from rolling over a previous superannuation pension or annuity? If so, when did you first start to receive payments under the previous superannuation pension or annuity?

7 If you are receiving an annuity that you bought with money other than as described in question 6 (on this page), how much did you pay for the annuity?

8 Is the period for which you will be receiving the pension or annuity fixed?
   (a) If YES, how long is the period?
   (b) If NO:
      - What are the conditions under which the payments are made?
      - Does your pension or annuity have a reversionary beneficiary—this is someone who will be entitled to receive all or part of your pension or annuity payments if you die? If so, what is the name and date of birth of this person?
      - If you are receiving your pension or annuity because it reverted to you upon the death of someone else, what is the name, date of birth and tax file number of the person who died? On what date did the deceased person first receive the pension? (Your pension provider may be able to give you this information.)

9 If someone else is now entitled to a share of your pension or annuity, what is the percentage to which they are entitled?

10 When the pension or annuity stops, will an agreed lump sum—often called the residual capital value—become payable? If so, how much is this lump sum?

If you have commuted (or partially commuted) your pension into a lump sum during the year, the answers to the above questions and the information in the ETP payment summary will be used to recalculate the deductible amount.

Leave item D9 blank.

Print X in the YES box at Taxpayer’s declaration question 2a on page 8 of your tax return. Sign and attach your schedule to page 3 of your tax return.

You have now completed this question.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .

☐ written on your tax return the total deductible amount of the undeducted purchase price of all your Australian pensions and annuities, if you know it

☐ attached to page 3 of your tax return your signed SCHEDULE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION—QUESTION D9, if you need to send us one.

NOTE This information is important if you bought a pension or annuity on or after 1 July 1994 and the purchase price of the pension or annuity was derived wholly from funds obtained by rolling over a previous pension or annuity which had a starting date earlier than 1 July 1994.
QUESTION D10  COST OF MANAGING TAX AFFAIRS

Did you have expenses:
• relating to managing your own tax affairs
• for advice relating to a claim for family tax benefit (FTB) lodged through the tax system
• imposed by the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) as a general interest charge or as a penalty for underestimating a varied goods and services tax (GST) instalment
• for complying with your legal obligations relating to another person’s tax affairs?

NO  Go to DEDUCTIONS FROM THE SUPPLEMENTARY SECTION on page 62.

YES  Read below.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

Expenses for managing your own tax affairs include those relating to:
• preparing and lodging your tax return and activity statements—for example, buying tax reference material, lodging your tax return through a registered tax agent or the TAXPACKEXPRESS service, obtaining tax advice from a recognised tax adviser or dealing with the ATO about your tax affairs
• the cost of travel to the extent that it is associated with obtaining tax advice—for example, the travel costs of attending a meeting with a recognised tax adviser
• appealing to the Administrative Appeals Tribunal or courts, and
• obtaining a valuation needed for a deductible gift or donation of property or for a deduction for entering into a conservation covenant.

Expenses relating to an FTB tax claim
The cost of advice from a recognised tax adviser in relation to an FTB tax claim lodged with the ATO can be claimed at this question.

Expenses incurred as a general interest charge (GIC) or as a penalty for underestimating a varied GST instalment (GST underestimation penalty)
The ATO imposes a GIC on late payments of taxes and penalties, and where an amendment to your assessment results in an increase in your tax liability. If you have to, or have had to, pay a GIC or a GST underestimation penalty to the ATO in 2002–03, you can claim the expense at this question.

Expenses for complying with your legal obligations relating to another person’s tax affairs include those relating to:
• complying with the pay as you go (PAYG) withholding obligations—for example, where you need to withhold tax from a payment to a supplier because the supplier did not quote an Australian business number, and
• providing information requested by the ATO about another taxpayer.

Completing this question

STEP 1  Add up the amounts of your expenses for managing your own tax affairs, expenses relating to an FTB claim lodged through the tax system, any GIC or GST underestimation penalty you have incurred and any expenses for complying with your legal obligations relating to another person’s tax affairs.

STEP 2  Write the total amount at M item D10 on your tax return. Do not show cents.

NOTE  If you are in business and have elected to enter the simplified tax system (STS), you can only claim for expenses (other than expenses for lodging an FTB tax claim) at this question when you have paid them.
Can you claim any of the following types of deductions?

- certain capital expenditure directly connected with a project
- Australian film industry incentives
- deductible amount of undeducted purchase price of a foreign pension or annuity
- deductible foreign exchange losses of a capital nature
- deductible expenses incurred but not claimed in full prior to ceasing a primary production business
- election expenses for political candidates
- interest incurred on money borrowed to invest under the land transport facilities tax offset scheme or infrastructure borrowings scheme
- insurance premiums paid for sickness and accident cover
- non-capital losses incurred upon the disposal or redemption of a traditional security
- non-employer sponsored superannuation contributions
- debt deductions incurred in earning certain foreign exempt income or in earning assessable income that have not been claimed elsewhere
- simplified tax system (STS) pool deductions which you can claim under the STS rules but you no longer carry on any business
- amounts deductible under the five-year write-off for certain business related capital expenditure under section 40-880 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, if you have ceased business or stopped carrying on your business as an individual.

NO Go to TOTAL DEDUCTIONS below.

YES You must complete the 2003 tax return for individuals (supplementary section). Read below.

Completing this item

STEP 1 Complete the details at the top of page 9 on your tax return (supplementary section)—if you haven’t already done so. Use TaxPack 2003 supplement to complete the Deductions section.

STEP 2 Transfer the amount you wrote at TOTAL SUPPLEMENT DEDUCTIONS on page 11 to D on page 3 of your tax return.

TOTAL DEDUCTIONS

STEP 1 Add up all the deduction amounts in the right-hand column of items D1 to D10 and D on your tax return.

STEP 2 Write the amount from step 1 at TOTAL DEDUCTIONS on your tax return. Do not show cents. Read on.

SUBTOTAL

TOTAL INCOME OR LOSS less TOTAL DEDUCTIONS

If you have an amount at TOTAL DEDUCTIONS on your tax return, take it away from the amount at TOTAL INCOME OR LOSS on page 2 of your tax return. Write the result at SUBTOTAL.

If the amount at SUBTOTAL is less than zero, print L in the LOSS box.

NOTE If the amount at TOTAL INCOME OR LOSS is a loss, work out SUBTOTAL by increasing the amount of this loss (that is, by adding the amount at TOTAL DEDUCTIONS to it). Make sure you print L in the LOSS box.
Do you have any tax losses of earlier income years that you can claim this year?

This question only applies to losses incurred in relation to earning income from Australian sources.

A tax loss occurs when the total of your allowable deductions for an income year—excluding tax losses of earlier income years—is greater than the total of your assessable income and your net exempt income. However, some deductions, such as gifts or donations (see question D8) and personal superannuation contributions (see question D13 in TaxPack 2003 supplement) are limited for this purpose and cannot be used either to create such a loss or to increase one.

You cannot claim a deduction for a tax loss of an earlier income year if your taxable income last year was greater than zero.

NO [ ] Go to TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS on page 65.

YES [ ] Read below.

WHAT YOU MAY NEED

• records of your tax losses of earlier income years
• your foreign source income statement.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

Primary production losses may have been made in any income year. Non-primary production losses can be deducted from income in 2002–03 only if they were made in 1989–90 or a later year. Non-primary production losses made in 1988–89 and earlier income years can no longer be deducted from income.

Where you have tax losses for more than one earlier income year you must, generally, fully deduct the loss from the earliest year before you deduct a loss, or part of a loss, from a later year. A tax loss can only be deducted to the extent that it has not already been deducted.

Before you can deduct tax losses of earlier income years you must reduce them by net exempt income for the current year. Then the balance of tax losses of earlier income years, up to the amount included at SUBTOTAL, must be taken away from your Australian source income included at SUBTOTAL.

Net exempt income

For this question, net exempt income includes all your exempt income—including any exempt foreign employment income—but does not include such things as income derived by way of certain employment fringe benefits. To work out your net exempt income, if you are an Australian resident, you can deduct any non-capital expenses you have incurred in earning your exempt income and any foreign tax paid on that income.

Effect of bankruptcy

If you have become bankrupt, or are released from any debts by the operation of an Act relating to bankruptcy, tax losses of earlier income years incurred before the day on which you became bankrupt or were released from the debts generally cannot be claimed as a deduction in any income year following the year you became bankrupt or you were released from debt. For further information, phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).
Australian losses and foreign source income

You can choose to use some or all of your tax losses of earlier income years incurred in earning Australian source income to reduce your net foreign source income, as shown in the example below. You may choose not to reduce your net foreign source income and instead return some or all of the net foreign source income as assessable income. A reason could be the availability of foreign tax credits on some or all of the net foreign source income (‘net foreign source income’ equals assessable foreign source income less those allowable expenses incurred in deriving the foreign source income).

Example

Peter owns a smallgoods business and has accumulated non-primary production tax losses of earlier income years of $6,000. All losses were made in 1989–90 and later years.

He has no exempt income but received $1,500 income from Germany. He has elected to use $500 of his tax losses of earlier income years to reduce this foreign income.

Peter’s total tax losses of earlier income years at the beginning of 2002–03 (a) $6,000

Peter’s net exempt income for 2002–03 (b) nil

Take (b) away from (a)—this is the amount of losses available to Peter for 2002–03 (c) $6,000

The amount of tax losses of earlier income years Peter used to reduce net foreign source income (d) $500

Peter will show the balance of the foreign source income of $1,000 at item 19.

Take (d) away from (c)—this is the total tax losses of earlier income years available to Peter to reduce net Australian source income at SUBTOTAL. (e) $5,500

If Peter has at least $5,500 of net Australian source income at SUBTOTAL which he can reduce, Peter will show $5,500 at item L1 on his tax return.

If you choose to use your tax losses of earlier income years in this way, you will need to provide additional information. Print SCHEDULE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION—QUESTION L1 on the top of a separate piece of paper and explain your situation. Include your name, address, tax file number and the amount of tax losses of earlier income years you have used to reduce your net foreign source income. Print X in the YES box at Taxpayer’s declaration question 2a on page 8 of your tax return. Sign and attach your schedule to page 3 of your tax return.

Completing this question

STEP 1 Use the worksheet in the next column to work out your total tax losses of earlier income years. You must show your losses separately—as a primary production loss and a non-primary production loss.

* If this includes a film loss, special deduction rules apply. Phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack for further information).

NOTE Do not include at (a) any non-primary production losses made in 1988–89 and earlier income years.

STEP 2 Write any tax losses of earlier income years from primary production from step 1 which you can deduct from your net Australian source income at SUBTOTAL at item L1 on your tax return. Do not show cents.

If your total tax losses of earlier income years from primary production from step 1 is greater than the amount you can deduct under step 2, you can carry forward the undeducted tax losses of earlier income years from primary production for deduction in future income years. Make sure you keep records of these amounts for future tax returns.

STEP 3 Write any tax losses of earlier income years from non-primary production from step 1 which you can deduct from the remainder of your net Australian source income at SUBTOTAL at item L1. Do not show cents.

If your total tax losses of earlier income years from non-primary production from step 1 is greater than the amount you can deduct under step 3, you can carry forward the undeducted tax losses of earlier income years from non-primary production for deduction in future income years.
The purpose of this section is to give you important information about dependants and separate net income. Various questions in TaxPack will refer you to this information when you need it.

→ Who is a dependant?

A dependant can be:
- your spouse—married or de facto
- a student who is under 25 years and is a full-time student at school, college or university
- a child—including your spouse’s child, adopted child, stepchild or exnuptial child who is under 16 years and is not a student
- a child-housekeeper—your child of any age who works full time keeping house for you
- an invalid relative—your child, brother or sister who is 16 years or over—who:
  - receives a disability support pension or a special needs disability support pension, or
  - receives a rehabilitation allowance and immediately before becoming eligible for this allowance was eligible to receive an invalid pension, or
  - has a certificate from a Commonwealth-approved doctor certifying a continuing inability to work
- your parents or spouse’s parents.

A dependant needs to be an Australian resident for tax purposes (see page 10). For a spouse, student or child only, they will be treated as a resident if you have always lived in Australia or you came to live in Australia permanently—unless they have set up a permanent home outside Australia.

→ Overseas dependants

Your spouse and dependent children who are waiting to migrate to Australia are considered to be your dependants for tax offset purposes but they must migrate within five years from when you came to live in Australia permanently. We may ask you to provide evidence.

→ What is maintaining a dependant?

This means:
- you and the dependant resided together
- you gave the dependant food, clothing and lodging, or
- you helped them to pay for their living, medical and educational costs.

If you had a spouse for the whole year and your spouse worked for part of the year, you are still considered to have maintained your spouse—as a dependant—for the whole year.

You are considered to have maintained a dependant even if you were temporarily separated—for example, due to holidays. You are still considered to have maintained dependants who were overseas if they were away from Australia only for a short time.

If you maintained a dependant for only part of the year, you may need to adjust your claim.

→ What is separate net income?

Separate net income (SNI) is income and other specified amounts earned or received in 2002–03 by your dependant while you maintained them. SNI includes some amounts which are not included in the recipient’s assessable income. SNI earned by your dependant may affect any claim you are entitled to. SNI includes:
- salary and wages
- pensions, including exempt pensions listed on page 12
- interest and dividend income—but not the imputation/franking credit attached to franked dividends
- business, trust and rental income

NOTE
You can claim a dependant tax offset only if you were an Australian resident for tax purposes.
Separate net income (SNI) does not include:

- certain Centrelink payments
  - child care benefit
  - family tax benefit
  - maternity allowance
  - maternity immunisation allowance
  - carer allowance (but note that carer payments ARE included in SNI)
- the Japanese internment compensation payments made under the Compensation (Japanese Internment) Act 2001 or the Veterans’ Entitlements Act 1986
- compensation payments received under the German Forced Labour Compensation Programme (GFLCP)
- the value or amount of any non-government scholarship received in connection with the education of a dependent child or student
- the value or amount of any Commonwealth or state assistance provided for school fees, the purchase of textbooks or travelling expenses
- lump sum severance or retirement payments of a capital nature or as compensation payments for losing a job
- maintenance paid to your spouse for support of their dependent children
- any baby bonus, or
- amounts received under the incentive payments scheme relating to certain private health insurance policies.

In calculating SNI your dependant’s income can be reduced by:

- any expenses which your dependant incurred in 2002–03 in earning their income and which they could claim as a deduction
- any amount your dependant could claim in 2002–03 for the deductible amount of undeducted purchase price of their pension or annuity at question D9, or question D12 in TaxPack 2003 supplement
- net child care expenses incurred in 2002–03 by your dependant because they were working—that is, the amount paid by the dependant less any cash rebates—for example, child care benefit and rebates provided by an employer or union
- their expenses for travel during 2002–03 to and from child care—because they were working
- their expenses for travel during 2002–03 to and from work, or
- expenses your dependant incurred in 2002–03 in conducting a business activity that resulted in a deferred non-commercial business loss, even if they did not lodge a tax return.

If your dependant used the cents per kilometre method—described on pages 40–1—to calculate work-related car expenses, the 5,000 kilometre limit does not apply for purposes of calculating the SNI of your dependant.

Your dependant does not need written evidence of expenses which reduce their SNI but they must be able to demonstrate that they actually incurred the relevant expenses.

Your dependant’s SNI cannot be reduced by amounts paid by them for gifts, donations, tax agent fees, tax withheld, superannuation contributions, or any losses brought forward from 2001–02 or earlier years.

How much SNI can your dependant earn?

For some claims, the amount you may be entitled to will be affected by the SNI of your dependants. For example, tax offsets are reduced by $1 for every $4 of SNI over $282 which your dependants earned in 2002–03. The amount of SNI your dependants can earn is explained at each question.

NOTE Tax offsets and your tax withheld

If your tax offset or family tax benefit entitlements have changed since you last filled in a Withholding declaration (NAT 3093—7.2003) authorising your payer to vary the amount of tax withheld, you may need to fill in a new declaration. If your family tax benefit entitlements have changed, you will also need to complete the Withholding declaration Family tax benefit (FTB) worksheet (NAT 7089—7.2003). Contact your payer for more information. Failure to fill in a new declaration may result in a tax debt. Pages 72–91 tell you about tax offsets. For more information about family tax benefit, see pages 68–71.
FAMILY TAX BENEFIT

Did you have care of a dependent child under 21 (or under 25 if studying full time) at any time between 1 July 2002 and 30 June 2003?

NOTE

Care means that you had responsibility for the day-to-day care, welfare and development of the child. Generally, day-to-day care includes physical care.

NO

You cannot claim family tax benefit (FTB), and do not need to continue reading this information section. Go to TAX OFFSETS on page 72.

YES

You do not need to lodge an FTB tax claim. You only need to read Part B to find out if you are eligible to claim a tax offset at question T1. Your FTB payments would have included Part B if you satisfy the Part B eligibility tests. If you or your spouse are required to lodge a tax return you must do so by 30 June 2004. If you lodge after this date your FTB will still be reconciled but you will not be entitled to a top-up payment. You may still have a debt arising from an overpayment (for more information on reconciliation of FTB see page 9 of the publication 2003 family tax benefit (FTB) tax claim instructions (NAT 4108—6.2003). Go to Part B on page 70.

NO

Read on.

Your 2003 FTB tax claim must be lodged with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) by 30 June 2004 in order for you to have any entitlement to FTB.

What is family tax benefit (FTB)?

FTB has two parts, Part A and Part B. Part A is designed to help with the cost of raising children. Part B is designed to give extra help to families with one main earner, including single parent families. You may be eligible for Part A or Part B or both.

Part A is paid for each dependent child you care for where the dependent child is aged under 21, and for those dependent children aged 21 to under 25 who are studying full time.

Part B is paid for one child until the youngest child turns 18, provided that the child is studying full time.

A child who dies shortly after birth can still be a dependent child. A bereavement payment may apply in this case and for more information visit the FAO or phone 13 61 50.

Are you eligible for FTB?

To be eligible to claim FTB you must:

- be an Australian resident for social security purposes or the holder of an approved visa for the purposes of FTB. If you are unsure about residency status visit the FAO or phone 13 61 50. Note: having a tax file number does not mean that you are an Australian resident for social security purposes
- not have resided outside Australia for the whole of the period 1 July 1999 to 30 June 2003 AND
- have provided care to a dependent child for a minimum of 10% of the assessment period—for example, if you share the care with an ex-spouse over the entire income year, you must have cared for the child for at least 37 days of that income year.

Do you have an eligible dependent child?

To be eligible, your dependent child must:

- be in your care and you must be responsible (whether alone or jointly with someone else) for their day-to-day care, welfare and development
- be an Australian resident or live with you
- not be your spouse
- not have resided outside Australia for the whole of the period 1 July 1999 to 30 June 2003
- not receive (or someone on their behalf) any of the payments listed at questions 5 and 6 on pages 22–4
- if aged 16 or older, not receive payments under an ABSTUDY schooling or tertiary scheme, the Student Financial Supplement Scheme, the Veterans’ Children Education Scheme, or the Post-graduate Awards Scheme AND
- have an adjusted taxable income of less than the income limit in the table below.

Do you satisfy the eligibility criteria AND does at least one dependent child or full-time student that you provide care for satisfy the dependent child eligibility criteria?

YES

Read on.

NO

You are not eligible to claim family tax benefit. Go to TAX OFFSETS on page 72.

Do you want to claim your FTB through the tax system?

There are two ways to claim FTB—from the ATO or from the FAO. Work through the following steps to find out which way is best for you.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Age of child</th>
<th>Income limits</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Under 5 years</td>
<td>No limit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5 to 15 years studying full time</td>
<td>No limit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5 to 15 years not studying full time</td>
<td>$8,347</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aged 16 to under 25 years</td>
<td>$8,347</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Do you satisfy the eligibility criteria AND does at least one dependent child or full-time student that you provide care for satisfy the dependent child eligibility criteria?
STEP 1 Did you receive an income support payment from Centrelink for the whole income year? (Income support payments are listed at question 5 and 6 on pages 22-4.)

YES Your family tax benefit (FTB) would have been paid in addition to your income support payment. You should not lodge an FTB tax claim. If you would like further information visit the Family Assistance Office (FAO) or phone 13 61 50. Go to TAX OFFSETS on page 72.

NO Go to step 2.

STEP 2 Are you entitled to rent assistance?

YES Rent assistance is not payable through the tax system. To receive your rent assistance you should claim your FTB directly from the FAO. You will need to contact the FAO on 13 61 50. Go to TAX OFFSETS on page 72.

NO Go to step 3.

STEP 3 Was your family adjusted taxable income for the 2002–03 year less than $30,807?

YES You may be entitled to a health care card. Health care cards are not available through the tax system. To receive your health care card you should claim your FTB directly from the FAO. You will need to contact the FAO on 13 61 50. Go to TAX OFFSETS on page 72.

NO You can choose how you would like to claim your FTB—from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) or from the FAO. If you reduced your withholdings in anticipation of your FTB entitlement, you should claim through the ATO or you will receive a tax debt.

If you would like to claim your FTB through the FAO—either as a lump sum or direct fortnightly payments—contact the FAO on 13 61 50 to get a direct payment claim form.

If you would like to claim your FTB through the ATO you will need to complete a separate form, the 2003 family tax benefit (FTB) tax claim (NAT 4117—6.2003) and then lodge it with your 2003 tax return for individuals.

You will need the 2003 family tax benefit (FTB) tax claim instructions (NAT 4108—6.2003) to help you complete your claim. These publications are available on the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack. An FTB tax claim for the 2002–03 financial year cannot be accepted after 30 June 2004.

How does your income affect your FTB entitlement?

Part A

The amount of Part A you receive depends on your family adjusted taxable income (ATI). Your family ATI is the total of you and your spouse’s ATI. Use the table below to determine if you are entitled to any Part A. When using the table, use the age of your dependent child or children at 30 June 2003. If your dependent child turned 25 during the income year count the child in the NUMBER OF DEPENDENT CHILDREN AGED 18 TO UNDER 25 row.

In the table below:

If all your children were aged under 18 years find the column that shows the number of your dependent children aged under 18 years. Your income limit is the amount shaded blue in your column.

If all your children were aged 18 to under 25 years, find the row that shows the number of your dependent children aged 18 to under 25 years. Your income limit is the amount shaded pink in your row.

If you have children in both age brackets, find the column that shows the number of your dependent children aged under 18 years and the row that shows the number of your dependent children aged 18 to under 25 years. Your income limit is the unshaded amount in both your column and your row.

If your family adjusted taxable income is equal to or more than the income limits in the table you are not entitled to Part A, but you may be entitled to Part B. Read on.

NOTE You may become or cease to be eligible for Part A during the income year where you gain the care of, or cease to care for, a dependent child or your marital status changes.

- If you had more than six children in an age group add $7,507 for each dependent child aged under 18 and add $8,724 for each other dependent child aged 18 to under 25 years.
- Your income limit may also be increased by the multiple birth allowance if you had full care of triplets or greater aged under six years: for triplets add $9,211 and for quadruplets or greater add $12,289.
Are you entitled to Part A?

NO You may still be entitled to Part B. Read on.

YES You will need to get the 2003 family tax benefit (FTB) tax claim instructions. This publication is available on the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack. You may also be entitled to Part B. Read on.

Unsure?—visit the Family Assistance Office (FAO) or phone 13 61 50.

Part B

If you were a single parent at any time during the claim period your income will not affect your Part B entitlement for that time.

If you were a member of a couple, only the lower earner’s adjusted taxable income (ATI) is taken into account when determining entitlement to Part B. Use the table below to work out if you are entitled to Part B.

<table>

</tbody>

*If your youngest child was aged 16 to 18 at any time during the claim period you can only be entitled to Part B for that child if they were studying full time. If the child was 18 you will be entitled to Part B until 31 December of the year they turned 18.

If you have a shared care arrangement for any of your children, Part B is calculated for each eligible child and payment is based on the child with the highest rate.

You can only claim a tax offset at question T1 if your entitlement to Part B was:

- for only part of the year—you may be able to claim a tax offset for the rest of the year, or
- at a rate based on a child you or your spouse shared the care of with someone else, for example, an ex-spouse—you may be able to claim a tax offset for the periods when the child was not in the care of you or your spouse.

Are you entitled to Part B?

NO Go to TAX OFFSETS on page 72.

YES You will need to get the 2003 family tax benefit (FTB) tax claim instructions. This publication is available on the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

Unsure?—visit the Family Assistance Office (FAO) or phone 13 61 50.

Explanation of terms

Below is an explanation of terms used in this information section. If you are still unsure about a term after reading the explanation, visit the FAO or phone 13 61 50.

Adjusted taxable income (ATI)

The components of adjusted taxable income are as follows:

- taxable income
- adjusted fringe benefits
- net rental property losses
- tax-free pensions or benefits
- target foreign income
- deductible child maintenance expenditure.

Each of these components is described in detail below.

Taxable income

This is the amount that you have written at TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS on your 2003 tax return for individuals. If you have a taxable loss the amount to be included in your calculation of adjusted taxable income is zero.

If you are completing your FTB tax claim separately from your tax return, taxable income is also shown on your income tax notice of assessment issued by the ATO.

Adjusted fringe benefits

This is the reportable fringe benefits amount grossed down. Any reportable fringe benefits will appear on your payment summary. Write the reportable amount on your FTB tax claim or on your tax return. The ATO will automatically reduce any amounts that appear on your payment summary to the adjusted amount.

To get your adjusted fringe benefits amount use the following formula:

\text{Adjusted fringe benefits} = \text{reportable fringe benefits amount} \times 51.5\%

Net rental property losses

Net rental property losses are shown at Net rent item 20 on your tax return. Only include this amount if you have shown a rental loss—you will have printed L in the Loss box at the right of Net rent. The value of any net property loss is counted as income for ATI purposes.

Tax-free pensions or benefits

These are listed under Pensions on page 12 of TaxPack. For FTB purposes double orphan pension is not included. Tax-free pensions or benefits do not include bereavement payment, pharmaceutical allowance, rent assistance or remote area allowance.
Target foreign income
Target foreign income is foreign income, in Australian dollars, from sources outside Australia. Do not include any amounts you have already included in your taxable income and any foreign income received in the form of a fringe benefit.

If you received amounts of target foreign income throughout the income year, use the exchange rate applicable on 1 July 2002 to convert foreign amounts to Australian dollars. You will find the applicable exchange rates on the website at www.familyassist.gov.au under ‘How to calculate income’ or you can visit the Family Assistance Office (FAO) or phone 13 61 50.

Deductible child maintenance expenditure
Deductible child maintenance expenditure is the amount of child maintenance (also known as child support) you pay to another person to maintain your natural or adopted child. In working out your adjusted taxable income (ATI) you deduct this amount from the total of all the other ATI amounts.

Assessment period
An assessment period is used to calculate your shared care percentage.

An assessment period BEGINS on the latest of:
- the day on which the care of the dependent child starts to be shared OR
- the day on which care arrangements for the dependent child change OR
- 1 July in the income year being claimed for.

An assessment period ENDS on the earlier of:
- 30 June of the income year in which the period begins OR
- the day on which the care arrangements of the dependent child change.

The assessment period is not affected if there are short term absences (four weeks or less) or minor variations to your shared care arrangements—for example, if a child who normally stays with your ex-spouse for a weekend does not do so because of illness.

Care
Care means that you had responsibility for the day-to-day care, welfare and development of the child. Generally, day-to-day care includes physical care.

You can still care for your dependent child if they are being educated away from your home, for example, at university.

Full care
You had full care of your children if you and/or your current spouse cared for your children for the whole assessment period and you are claiming on behalf of your family.

Shared care
Shared care is where you and/or your spouse care for a child for some of the time during the assessment period and someone else—for example, your ex-spouse—cares for the child for the rest of the time such as weekends or school holidays. You can work out your shared care percentage as follows:

\text{Number of nights you and/or your spouse cared for the child in an assessment period} \times 100

\text{Number of nights in the assessment period}

The percentage can be different for different periods in a year if your pattern of care changes. If you need help to work out your shared care percentage visit the FAO or phone 13 61 50.

Spouse
Your spouse is the person to whom you were married or with whom you lived in a de facto relationship at any time during the claim period, provided you were not living separately and apart on a permanent or indefinite basis. You may have had more than one spouse during the claim period.
Tax offsets provide you with tax relief. They are not deductions and most will not give you a refund. Deductions are taken off your income to work out your taxable income. We work out the tax on your taxable income. The amount of this tax is then reduced by your tax offsets.

If your tax offsets are greater than the tax on your taxable income, they can only reduce the amount of tax you pay this year to zero. There are three exceptions that are refundable tax offsets—that is, where any excess is refunded to you:

- the 30% private health insurance rebate (see question T4)
- the franking tax offset (see question 11)
- the baby bonus (see question T5).

Tax offsets, in general, do not reduce your Medicare levy. Where you have excess refundable tax offsets available, these can be applied to reduce your tax, including Medicare levy.

Generally, being able to claim a tax offset depends on things like maintaining a dependant or living in a remote area—or on how much taxable income you earned.

NOTE
You cannot claim a spouse tax offset for any period that you or your spouse (during any period they were your spouse) were entitled to family tax benefit (FTB) Part B at a rate based on having full care of a child (full care rate). This rule applies even if neither you nor your spouse claimed FTB Part B when eligible to do so. To find out if you or your spouse were eligible for FTB Part B, you will need to read the information on family tax benefit at pages 68–71. Then return to this page and work through the following:

DEPENDENT SPOUSE ELIGIBILITY CHECKLIST

You are eligible to claim a dependent spouse tax offset for any period in 2002–03 that you had a spouse and you met ALL these tests:

☐ you maintained your spouse—see What is maintaining a dependant? on page 66.
☐ your spouse was a resident—if you are unsure read Are you an Australian resident? on page 10.
☐ you were a resident at any time in 2002–03.
☐ you (or your spouse if they were your spouse during that period) were NOT entitled to FTB Part B or were only entitled to it at the shared care rate (for more information on FTB, read pages 68–71).

NOTE
Your spouse’s separate net income (SNI) may reduce your claim.

How much can you claim?
The maximum spouse tax offset you may be able to claim is $1,489. A partial tax offset may apply if you had a spouse for only part of the income year or if you met all of the eligibility tests for only part of the income year—for example, if your spouse ceased to be a resident during 2002–03 or you (or your spouse) were not entitled to FTB Part B for part of the year.
Are you eligible to claim a dependent spouse tax offset?

NO Go to part 2 on page 75.  YES Go to the table below. Follow steps 1–5—to work out your maximum available tax offset amount for the period(s) you are eligible to claim. Then follow steps 6–10—to work out your allowable tax offset claim after any reduction for your spouse’s separate net income (SNI). Then work through steps 11–14, if they apply to you, to complete this section.

How to claim your dependent spouse tax offset

STEP 1
If you had a dependent spouse for the whole year and neither you nor your spouse were entitled to family tax benefit (FTB) Part B at ANY time during the year:
1. Write $1,489 at (a).
2. Go to step 5.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>(a) $</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

STEP 2
If you had a dependent spouse for only part of the year and neither of you were entitled to FTB Part B during that period:
1. Work out the number of days you had a spouse and multiply this number by $4.08 (the daily rate). Write the amount at (b).
2. Go to step 5.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>(b) $</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

STEP 3
If you or your spouse were entitled to FTB Part B at any time during the year (see Example 1, page 75):
1. For the period you had a dependent spouse, work out the number of days that neither you nor your spouse were entitled to FTB Part B.
2. Multiply by $4.08 (the daily rate) the number of those days you worked out in 1. Write the amount at (c).
3. Go to step 5.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>(c) $</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

STEP 4
If you or your spouse were entitled to FTB Part B at the shared care rate at any time during the year (see Example 2, page 75):
1. For the period you had a dependent spouse, work out the number of days that you or your spouse were entitled to FTB Part B at the shared care rate.
2. Multiply the number of days worked out in 1. by $4.08 (the daily rate).
3. Work out your shared care percentage—see explanation on page 71 and Example 2 on page 75.
4. Deduct your shared care percentage from 100%
5. Multiply the amount you worked out in 2. by the percentage you worked out in 4. Write the amount at (d).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>(d) $</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

STEP 5
Add up any amounts at (a), (b), (c) and (d) and write the total at (e).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>(e) $</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

STEP 6
If your spouse’s separate net income (SNI) for the year (or for the period you are claiming a spouse tax offset if this is not for the whole year) was less than $286, write the amount from (e) at (j) and then go to step 12.
Otherwise, continue to step 7.

STEP 7
If your spouse’s SNI was $286 or more, write at (f) their SNI for the year (or for the period you are claiming a spouse tax offset if this is not for the whole year).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>(f) $</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

STEP 8
SNI at which the tax offset begins to reduce

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>(g) $282</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Take (g) away from (f) and write the amount at (h).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>(h) $</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

STEP 9
Divide (h) by 4 and write the amount at (i).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>(i) $</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

STEP 10
Take (i) away from (e) and write the amount at (j).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>(j) $</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

STEP 11
If the amount at (j) is equal to or less than $0, you cannot claim a dependent spouse tax offset—go to part 2 on page 75.
If the amount at (j) is more than $0, this is your allowable tax offset—go to step 12.

STEP 12
Write your allowable tax offset from (j) at P item T1 on your tax return, or on a piece of notepaper if you are going to claim a child-housekeeper or housekeeper tax offset for another part of the year. Do not show cents.

STEP 13
Leave blank the CLAIM TYPE box at the right of P item T1.

STEP 14
Complete Spouse details—married or de facto on pages 6–7 of your tax return. Provide relevant details including your spouse’s SNI at R. If your spouse did not have any SNI write ‘0’. You must also complete Your spouse’s name on page 1 of your tax return.

If you are going to claim a child-housekeeper or housekeeper tax offset, go to part 2 on page 75.
If not, go to CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . . on page 78.
Example 1—Eligible for family tax benefit (FTB) Part B at any time during the year (see step 3 from the table on page 74)
Sam re-partnered on 1 October 2002, so he had a spouse for 273 days during 2002–03.
From 1 October 2002 Sam had full care of Ella, his daughter from his previous relationship.
Ella left school at the end of the 2002 school year and she turned 16 on 30 April 2003.
Therefore, Sam was only entitled to FTB Part B for Ella from 1 October 2002 until 30 April 2003 (212 days).
Sam can claim a dependent spouse tax offset for 61 days (273 days he had a dependent spouse less the 212 days he was entitled to claim FTB Part B for Ella).

Sam
1. For the period you had a dependent spouse, work out the number of days that neither you nor your spouse were entitled to claim FTB Part B.
   61
2. Multiply the number of days you worked out in 1. by $4.08 (the daily rate). Transfer this amount to (c) in the table on page 74.
   $249

Example 2—Eligible for FTB Part B at the shared care rate (see step 4 from the table on page 74)
Koby had a dependent spouse for the whole year.
Koby and his former spouse shared the care of their son, Aiodan, for the whole year. Koby’s share of the care was 146 nights: Koby’s shared care percentage for the year is 40% (146 nights divided by 365, multiplied by 100).

Koby
1. For the period you had a dependent spouse, work out the number of days that you or your spouse were entitled to claim FTB Part B at the shared care rate.
   365
2. Multiply the number of days worked out in 1. by $4.08 (the daily rate).
   $1,489
3. Work out your shared care percentage—see above.
   40%
4. Deduct your shared care percentage from 100%.
   60%
5. Multiply the amount worked out in 2. by the percentage worked out in 4. Transfer this amount to (d) in the table on page 74.
   $893

NOTE If the shared care percentage changed during the year you will need to do this calculation for each period during the year that the percentage was different.

PART 2 Child-housekeeper
A child-housekeeper is your child, adopted child or stepchild who kept house for you full time. A child who is a full-time student or a full-time employee is not considered to keep house full time. Keeping house means more than just child minding or performing domestic duties. It includes having some responsibility for the general running of the household.

Did you have a child-housekeeper?

NO Go to part 3 on page 77.

YES Read on.

CHILD-HOUSEKEEPER ELIGIBILITY CHECKLIST
You are eligible to claim a child-housekeeper tax offset for any period in 2002–03 that you had a child-housekeeper and you met ALL these tests:

- you maintained your child-housekeeper—see What is maintaining a dependant? on page 66.
- your child-housekeeper was a resident—if you are unsure read Are you an Australian resident? on page 10.
- you were a resident at any time in 2002–03.
- you were NOT entitled for a dependent spouse tax offset under part 1 on page 73.
- you were NOT entitled to family tax benefit (FTB) Part B or were only entitled to it at the shared care rate—for more information on FTB, read pages 68–71.

NOTE Your child-housekeeper’s separate net income (SNI) for the period you are claiming reduces your claim by $1 for every $4 by which the SNI exceeds $282 (see steps 6–10 of the worksheet on pages 76–7). You cannot claim a child-housekeeper tax offset if you had a child-housekeeper for the whole year and your child-housekeeper’s SNI was over $6,237 (or $7,425 if you had an eligible dependent child or student). Read What is separate net income? at pages 66–7.

How much can you claim?
The maximum child-housekeeper tax offset you may be able to claim is $1,489 (or $1,786 if you had an eligible dependent child or student). A partial tax offset may apply if you had a child-housekeeper for only part of the year or if you met all the above eligibility tests for only part of the income year.
Are you eligible to claim a child-housekeeper tax offset?

NO Go to part 3

YES Go to the table below. Follow the steps to work out your allowable tax offset amount for the period(s) you are eligible to claim.

How to claim your child-housekeeper tax offset

Use COLUMN 1 if you had a child-housekeeper and did not have another dependent child under 16 or student under 25. Use COLUMN 2 if you had a child-housekeeper and another dependent child under 16 or student under 25 and the separate net income (SNI) of the dependent child or student was less than $1,786.

If the additional child or student was your dependant for only part of 2002–03, use the COLUMN 2 daily rate if their SNI was less than $282 plus $28.92 for each week you maintained them. Otherwise use the COLUMN 1 daily rate.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>COLUMN 1</th>
<th>COLUMN 2</th>

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>No other dependent child or student</td>
<td>$1,489 for the whole year (maximum) or $4.08 a day</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Another dependent child or student</td>
<td>$1,786 for the whole year (maximum) or $4.89 a day</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

STEP 1
If you had a child-housekeeper for the whole year and you were NOT entitled to family tax benefit (FTB) Part B at ANY time during the year:

1. Write at (a):
   - $1,489 in COLUMN 1 if you had no other dependent child or student, or
   - $1,786 in COLUMN 2 if you had another dependent child or student.
2. Go to step 5. (a)

STEP 2
If you had a child-housekeeper for only part of the year and you were NOT entitled to FTB Part B at ANY time during that period:

1. Work out how many days during the year you had a child-housekeeper.
2. Multiply the number of days that you worked out in 1. by the following daily rate:
   - $4.08 if you had no other dependent child or student (write the answer at (b) in COLUMN 1), or
   - $4.89 if you had another dependent child or student (write the answer at (b) in COLUMN 2).
3. Go to step 5. (b)

STEP 3
If you were entitled to FTB Part B at any time during the year:

1. Work out how many days during the year you had a child-housekeeper and you were NOT entitled to FTB Part B.
2. Multiply the number of days worked out in 1. by the following daily rate:
   - $4.08 if you had no other dependent child or student (write the answer at (c) in COLUMN 1), or
   - $4.89 if you had another dependent child or student (write the answer at (c) in COLUMN 2).
3. Go to step 5. (c)

STEP 4
If you were entitled to FTB Part B at the shared care rate at any time during the year:

1. Work out how many days during the year you had a child-housekeeper and you were entitled to FTB Part B at the shared care rate.
2. Multiply the number of days you worked out in 1. by the following daily rate:
   - $4.08 if you had no other dependent child or student, or
   - $4.89 if you had another dependent child or student.
3. Work out your shared care percentage—see explanation on page 71 and Example 2 on page 75.
4. Deduct your shared care percentage from 100%.
5. Multiply the amount you worked out in 2. by the percentage you worked out in 4.
6. Write the amount you worked out in 5. at (d) COLUMN 1 if you used $4.08 or (d) COLUMN 2 if you used $4.89. (d)

Note: If the shared care percentage changed during the year you will need to repeat this calculation for each of those periods, then add up these amounts.

STEP 5
Add up any amounts at (a), (b), (c) and (d) and write the total at (e). This is your maximum available tax offset. The amount cannot be more than $1,489 (if COLUMN 1) or $1,786 (if COLUMN 2). (e)

STEP 6
Write at item T1 on your tax return your child-housekeeper’s SNI for the year (or for the period you are claiming a child-housekeeper tax offset, if this is not for the whole year). Do not show cents. If your child-housekeeper did not have any SNI write ‘0’.

If your child-housekeeper’s SNI was less than $286, you will receive the full tax offset shown at (e) in your column. This is your allowable tax offset—go to step 11. Otherwise, go to step 7.
A housekeeper is a person who worked full time in keeping house for you and cared for:
• a child of yours under 16, irrespective of the child’s separate net income (SNI), or
• any other child under 16 (including a student under 16) who was your dependant and whose SNI was less than $1,786, or
• your invalid relative who is your dependant (see page 66) and for whom you can claim a dependant tax offset—if you are unsure you will need to read question T9 in TaxPack 2003 supplement, or
• your spouse who received a disability support pension. Keeping house means more than just child minding or performing domestic duties. It includes having some responsibility for the general running of the household.

Did you have a housekeeper?

NO If you are claiming a tax offset at part 1 or part 2, go to CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . . on page 78. If not, go to page 79.

YES Read on.

HOUSEKEEPER ELIGIBILITY CHECKLIST

If you were an Australian resident at any time in 2002–03, you are eligible to claim a housekeeper tax offset for any period in 2002–03 that you had a housekeeper and you met ALL the tests below for the category which applied to you:

YOU DID NOT HAVE A SPOUSE

- you were NOT entitled to claim a child-housekeeper tax offset under part 2 on page 75.
- you were NOT entitled to family tax benefit (FTB) Part B or were only entitled to it at the shared care rate—for more information on FTB read pages 68–71.

YOU HAD A SPOUSE WHO RECEIVED A DISABILITY SUPPORT PENSION

- you were not entitled to claim a child-housekeeper tax offset under part 2 on page 75.

YOU HAD A SPOUSE WHO DID NOT RECEIVE A DISABILITY SUPPORT PENSION

- you were NOT entitled to claim a dependent spouse tax offset under part 1 on page 73 or a child-housekeeper tax offset under part 2 on page 75.

- special circumstances apply—see Where special circumstances apply below.

Where special circumstances apply

Examples of special circumstances include:
• your spouse deserted you and your children—and you are not living in a de facto relationship
• you have a child with a severe mental disability who requires constant attention, or
• your spouse suffers from an extended mental illness and is medically certified as being unable to take part in the care of your children.

Where you consider that special circumstances apply, you will need to provide additional information. Print SCHEDULE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION—QUESTION T1 PART 3 on the top of a separate piece of paper and explain your situation. Include your name, address and tax file number. Print X in the YES box at Taxpayer’s declaration question 2a on page 8 of your return. Sign and attach your schedule to page 3 of your tax return.

How much can you claim?
The maximum housekeeper tax offset you can claim is:
• $1,489, or
• $1,786 if you had an eligible dependent child or student.

A partial tax offset may apply if you had a housekeeper for only part of the income year or if you met all of the eligibility tests (for the category which applied to you) for only part of the income year.

STEP 1
If you are eligible for a housekeeper tax offset for the whole year AND:
- neither you, nor your spouse during any period they were your spouse, were entitled to family tax benefit (FTB) Part B at ANY time during the year, or
- your spouse received a disability support pension for the whole year

1. Write the appropriate amount from COLUMN 1 ($1,489) or COLUMN 2 ($1,786) at (d) step 5, then follow the instructions in step 5.

1. Work out the number of days that:
   - neither you nor your spouse (during any period they were your spouse) were entitled to FTB Part B, or
   - either you or your spouse (during any period they were your spouse) were entitled to FTB Part B, but your spouse was receiving a disability support pension.

2. Multiply the number of days you worked out in 1. by the daily rate ($4.08 or $4.89). Write the amount you calculated at (a), then go to step 4. (a) $   $

STEP 3
If you are eligible for a housekeeper tax offset for only part of the year:

1. Work out the number of days during that part year that:
   - neither you nor your spouse (during any period they were your spouse) were entitled to FTB Part B, or

STEP 4
If—for any period during the year—you did NOT have a spouse receiving a disability support pension and you are eligible for a housekeeper tax offset:

1. Work out the number of days during that period that you, or your spouse during any period they were your spouse, were entitled to FTB Part B based on a shared care rate.

2. Multiply the number of days by the daily rate ($4.08 or $4.89)

3. Multiply the amount you worked out in 2. by 100% minus the shared care percentage (see Example 2 on page 75) and write the amount you calculated at (c).

   Note: If the shared care percentage changes during the year you will need to do this step for each period during the year that the percentage was different.

STEP 5
Add up any amounts at (a), (b) and (c) and write the total at (d). If you are also claiming a spouse or child-housekeeper tax offset, add the amount at (d) to the other amount on your notepaper. Print the letter C in the CLAIM TYPE box at the right of P item T1 on your tax return if you are also claiming a spouse tax offset. If not, print the letter H. (d) $   $

- written on your tax return your total tax offset
- printed on your tax return the correct code letter in the CLAIM TYPE box, if required
- completed Spouse details—married or de facto—including SNI, on pages 6–7 of your tax return and Your spouse’s name on page 1 of your tax return
- attached to page 3 of your tax return your signed SCHEDULE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION—QUESTION T1 PART 3, if you need to send us one.
Eligibility for the Senior Australians tax offset depends on certain conditions. These conditions relate to such factors as age, income and eligibility for Commonwealth of Australia government pensions and similar payments. You must meet conditions 1, 2, 3 AND 4.

CONDITION 1
On 30 June 2003 you were:
• a male aged 65 years or more or a female aged 62 years or more
OR
• a male veteran or war widower aged 60 years or more or a female veteran or war widow aged 57 years or more.

NOTE
To meet the veteran pension age you must be a person who served in the Australian Defence Force, or the defence force of a Commonwealth or allied country, or an Australian or allied mariner and who is eligible for a pension, allowance or benefit under the Veterans’ Entitlements Act 1986. This includes a disability pension, service pension, or a white or gold Repatriation Health Card for treatment entitlements.

CONDITION 2
You received a Commonwealth of Australia government age pension or a pension or allowance from DVA at any time during the 2002–03 income year

OR
you did not receive a Commonwealth of Australia government age pension because you did not make a claim, or because of the application of the income test or the assets test AND you satisfy one of the following:
• you have been an Australian resident for age pension purposes for either 10 continuous years, or more than 10 years, of which five years were continuous
• you have a qualifying residence exemption (arrived as refugee or under a special humanitarian program)
• you are a woman who was widowed in Australia (at a time when both you and your late partner were Australian residents) and you have 104 weeks residence immediately prior to the claim for age pension
• you received a widow B pension, widow allowance, mature age allowance or partner allowance immediately before turning age pension age, or
• you would qualify under an International Social Security Agreement.

CONDITION 3
You satisfy the income threshold that applies to you:
• You did not have a spouse—married or de facto—and your taxable income was less than $37,840.
• You did have a spouse—married or de facto—and the combined taxable income of you and your spouse was less than $58,244.
• You did have a spouse—married or de facto—and the combined taxable income of you and your spouse, where you ‘had to live apart due to illness’ or either of you was in a nursing home at any time in 2002–03, was less than $70,406.

NOTE
‘Had to live apart due to illness’ is a term used to describe a situation where the living expenses of you and your spouse—married or de facto—are increased because you are unable to live together in your home due to the indefinitely continuing illness or infirmity of either or both of you.

CONDITION 4
You were not in prison for the whole income year.

If you meet conditions 1, 2, 3 and 4 described above, you are eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset. Being ‘eligible’ does not mean you will be automatically entitled to get an amount of Senior Australians tax offset. Your own taxable income is used to work out the amount of your Senior Australians tax offset. The combined income amounts in Condition 3 are used for eligibility purposes and not for working out the amount of your entitlement.

• Do you have to lodge a tax return? See page 2.
• Do you have to complete question 6, step 3? See page 23.

You must also complete question T2 on pages 80–1.
Are you eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset?
If you are unsure, page 79 provides information on eligibility for this tax offset. If you have a spouse, you will also need to work out if your spouse is eligible.

NO  Go to question T3.  YES  Read below.

Completing this question
Find the tax offset code letter that applies to your circumstances from the Tax offset code letters table below. This code letter tells us the amount of tax offset your entitlement will be based on.

If more than one code letter applies to you, read on. Otherwise, go to step 2.
Select the letter that appears first in the following order: A, B, C, D, E. For example, if both B and D apply to you, select B.

Exceptions to this rule:
- If both A and B apply to you and your spouse’s taxable income was less than $16,883, select B as this gives you the correct tax offset. (Include in your spouse’s taxable income any net income of a trust estate to which your spouse is presently entitled and on which the trustee is assessed under section 98.)
- If both A and C apply to you, your spouse received a Commonwealth pension or allowance listed at question 6 and your spouse’s taxable income is less than $14,677, select C as this gives you the correct tax offset.
- If both A and D apply to you, and your spouse’s taxable income was less than $11,730, select D as this gives you the correct tax offset. (Include in your spouse’s taxable income any net income of a trust estate to which your spouse is presently entitled and on which the trustee is assessed under section 98.)
- If both A and E apply to you, your spouse received a Commonwealth pension or allowance as listed at question 6 and your spouse’s taxable income was less than $10,095, select E as this gives you the correct tax offset.

STEP 2  Print your code letter from the table above in the TAX OFFSET CODE box at the right of item T2 on page 4 of your tax return.

NOTE  If you do not print a code letter on your tax return or you print an incorrect code letter, you may not receive your correct entitlement.

STEP 3  If you or your spouse is a veteran, war widow or war widower (see NOTE for Definition on page 79), read on. Otherwise go to step 4.
From the following list select the veteran code that applies to your circumstances. If all of the codes apply, select X:

- you are a veteran, war widow or war widower

- your spouse is a veteran, war widow or war widower

- if both V and W apply to you

Print your veteran code in the VETERAN CODE box at Y item 6 on page 2 of your tax return.

NOTE You may have already printed a code in the VETERAN CODE box at item 6 on page 2 of your tax return if you are a veteran and you completed item 6.

STEP 4

Have you used tax offset code (not veteran code) B, C, D or E? If so, you must complete Spouse details—married or de facto on pages 6–7 of your tax return. Provide relevant details including:

- your spouse’s date of birth at K

- your spouse’s taxable income at O—if this amount is zero, write ‘0’

- your spouse’s share of trust income on which the trustee is assessed under section 98, if it is not already included in your spouse’s taxable income, at T—if this amount is zero, write ‘0’

- your spouse’s Commonwealth government pension income, at P—if this amount is zero, write ‘0’

- your spouse’s exempt pension income, at Q—if this amount is zero, write ‘0’.

Remember to complete Your spouse’s name on page 1 of your tax return.

If you are eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset and your spouse is eligible for the Senior Australians or pensioner tax offset, and if either of you do not fully use your tax offset, any unused tax offset may be available for transfer to the other person. By using the amounts you write on the spouse details section of your tax return we will work out if you are entitled to have the unused portion of your spouse’s tax offset transferred to you. If an unused amount is available, we will make sure it is taken into account in working out your tax offset.

Example

Sonya is married to Russell and they have lived together for the whole income year. Russell—who is a veteran—has received a service pension. Sonya and Russell are both over pension age and their combined taxable income is less than $58,244. They are both eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset. Sonya’s taxable income is $17,500 and Russell’s is $8,300.

Sonya writes tax offset code letter D at N item T2 on her tax return.

Sonya also writes veteran code letter W at Y item 6 on her tax return.

Sonya completes Spouse details—married or de facto on pages 6–7 of her tax return, so any tax offset that Russell does not use will be automatically transferred to Sonya to be taken into account when her tax offset is calculated. She also completes Your spouse’s name on page 1 of her tax return.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .

- written your tax offset code letter at N item T2

- if required, written your veteran code at Y item 6

- written the relevant amounts at O, T, P and Q Spouse details—married or de facto on page 7 of your tax return

- written your date of birth and your spouse’s name on page 1 of your tax return.

NOTE

A tax offset reduces the amount of tax you have to pay—see page 72.

DO YOU WANT TO WORK OUT YOUR TAX OFFSET?

You do not have to work out your tax offset. We will work it out for you from your taxable income details and your tax offset code letter. Make sure you print your code letter at the right of N item T2 on page 4 of your tax return.

If you do want to work out your tax offset, go to page 117.
Did you:
• make contributions to a complying superannuation fund or retirement savings account (RSA), or
• receive income—shown at item 7—from an Australian superannuation annuity or pension?

NO  Go to question T4.  YES  Read below.

There are two parts to this question:
Part A shows you how to record your personal undeducted superannuation contributions on your tax return and how to calculate the superannuation contributions tax offset.
Part B shows you how to calculate the superannuation annuity or pension tax offset.

PART A  Did you make personal contributions to a complying superannuation fund or RSA?
If you do not know whether your superannuation fund or RSA provider is a complying organisation, contact your fund or provider.

NO  Go to part B.  YES  Read below.

YOU NEED TO KNOW
The Parliament is presently considering changes to the law to increase the superannuation concessions provided to low income earners. These changes include measures to replace the existing superannuation contributions tax offset (claimed at this question) with a government co-contribution (refer to Information about the proposed government co-contribution below).

At the time of printing TaxPack the measures had not become law—you will still need to complete this question to claim the superannuation contributions tax offset.

If the co-contributions measure is passed into law with effect for 2002–03, then the government co-contribution will apply. You will not need to take any further action as the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) will work out your entitlement (if any) to the government co-contribution. If the superannuation contributions tax offset has been replaced for the 2002–03 year, any information you enter at item T3 will be ignored.

Information about the proposed government co-contribution
The proposed government co-contribution will match your personal undeducted superannuation contributions with up to $1,000 depending on your income and your personal superannuation contributions. It is proposed that the maximum government co-contribution of $1,000 will apply to eligible individuals if the sum of their assessable income and reportable fringe benefits is $20,000 or less in an income year. A lower amount of government co-contribution will apply for those on income levels between $20,000 and $32,500.

The ATO will automatically determine if you are eligible and, if you are, will go on to calculate your entitlement based on information provided by your superannuation fund or RSA. If you are eligible to receive the government co-contribution, the ATO will automatically pay the amount to your superannuation fund or RSA. If you have more than one superannuation account, the ATO will select the fund or RSA into which the government co-contribution will be deposited. Alternatively, you may complete a nomination form to direct the payment to a superannuation fund or RSA of your choice.

For more information or to obtain a nomination form, go to www.ato.gov.au/super or phone the Superannuation Infoline on 13 10 20.
Claiming the superannuation contributions tax offset

You can only claim the superannuation contributions tax offset if you are not eligible to claim a deduction for personal superannuation contributions (whether or not you make such a claim). You would be eligible to claim a deduction if:

- you made contributions to a complying fund or RSA AND
- you did not receive any superannuation support from another person—for example, an employer during the year of income OR
- your income from employment plus reportable fringe benefits was less than 10% of your total assessable income plus reportable fringe benefits.

Item D13 on your tax return (supplementary section) is where you would claim this deduction. This deduction is usually only available to self-employed people.

Your superannuation contributions that you are not eligible to claim as a deduction are called your personal undeducted superannuation contributions.

Personal undeducted superannuation contributions do not include contributions:

- made by your employer
- made as part of a salary sacrifice, or
- made on behalf of another person—for example, your spouse.

To continue with this question you need to know the sum of your assessable income and total reportable fringe benefits amounts.

Assessable income for the purposes of this question is the amount you wrote at TOTAL INCOME OR LOSS on page 2 of your tax return, unless:

- you have a distribution from a partnership or trust, income or losses from rent or business (including personal services income), a capital gain or foreign source income, or
- you claimed a deductible amount for a pension or annuity at item D9 on your tax return or D12 on your tax return (supplementary section).

If one or more of these applied to you, you must phone the Superannuation Infoline on 13 10 20 for help in working out your assessable income before you continue.

Your total reportable fringe benefits amounts is the amount you wrote at item 9 on page 2 of your tax return.

If the sum of your assessable income and total reportable fringe benefits amounts is below $31,000, go to step 1.

If the sum of your assessable income and total reportable fringe benefits amounts is $31,000 or more, and for 2002–03 you did not receive a superannuation annuity or pension, you cannot claim a tax offset at this question; go to question T4.

If the sum of your assessable income and total reportable fringe benefits amounts is $31,000 or more, and you did receive a superannuation annuity or pension, go to part B.

STEP 1 Write the amount of your personal undeducted superannuation contributions at T item T3 on your tax return. Do not show cents. If you do not know the amount, contact your superannuation fund or RSA provider.

NOTE If you have claimed, or are entitled to claim, a deduction for any personal superannuation contributions at item D13 on your tax return (supplementary section) you are not entitled to claim a tax offset here. Go to part B.

STEP 2 Complete WORKSHEET 1.

Your tax offset is whichever is the lesser of the amounts you worked out at (d) on WORKSHEET 1 or (k) on WORKSHEET 2.

STEP 4 Write your superannuation contributions tax offset on some notepaper together with the letter S. Read on.
PART B  Did you receive income from an Australian superannuation annuity or pension?

If you showed income from an Australian annuity or pension at item 7 on your tax return, you may be entitled to a tax offset equal to 15% of all or part of your taxable pension or annuity income.

[NO] Go to Completing this question.

[YES] Read below.

Before working out the tax offset, you will need to know the following about your pension or annuity:

- whether it qualifies for a tax offset; and how much of it is eligible for the tax offset. Contact your annuity or pension fund if you do not know either of these points
- the ‘rebatable proportion’—this is the part of your pension or annuity that may be eligible for the pension tax offset. It may be one, less than one, or zero and depends on the type and amount of your pension or annuity. The rebatable proportion is determined by the Australian Taxation Office by measuring your pension or annuity against your reasonable benefit limit (RBL). Your rebatable proportion will be one unless you are issued with an RBL determination stating otherwise. Phone the Superannuation Infoline on 13 10 20 if you need assistance
- any deductible amount from item D9.

How to work out your pension or annuity tax offset

(a) Work through steps 1 to 3 if:
- you were 55 years of age before 1 July 2002
- you turned 55 on or after 1 July 2002 and your pension started on or after your 55th birthday, or
- you are receiving a death or disability pension at any age.

(b) Work through steps 4 to 11 if:
- you turned 55 years of age on or after 1 July 2002 and your pension started before your 55th birthday.

STEP 1 Take away any deductible amount at item D9 from that part of your annuity or pension which is eligible for a tax offset.

STEP 2 Multiply the answer from step 1 by the rebatable proportion of your annuity or pension.

STEP 3 Work out 15% of the answer you got at step 2. This is your tax offset. Write your annuity or pension tax offset on your notepaper together with the letter A. Go to Completing this question.

STEP 4 Work out the amount of your annuity or pension that was paid to you on or after your 55th birthday.

STEP 5 Work out the number of days from your 55th birthday to 30 June 2003.

STEP 6 Work out the number of days from the day your annuity or pension started, to 30 June 2003. If it started before 1 July 2002, use 365 days.

STEP 7 Divide the number of days at step 5 by the number of days at step 6.

STEP 8 Multiply any deductible amount (at item D9) by the answer you got at step 7.

STEP 9 Take away the answer you got at step 8 from the answer at step 4.

STEP 10 Multiply the answer you got at step 9 by the rebatable proportion of your annuity or pension. Your rebatable proportion will be one unless you are issued with a reasonable benefit limit determination stating otherwise.

STEP 11 Work out 15% of the answer you got at step 10. This is your annuity or pension tax offset. Write your tax offset on your notepaper together with the letter A. Read on.

Completing this question

STEP 1 Add up any amounts on your notepaper that you are entitled to claim as a tax offset from part A and part B of this question. Write the total figure at S item T3 on your tax return. Do not show cents.

STEP 2 Print the appropriate code letter in the CLAIM TYPE box at the right of S item T3:
- S if you are claiming the part A superannuation contributions tax offset only
- A if you are claiming the annuity or pension tax offset only
- C if you are claiming both.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .

- written on your tax return the total of your 2002–03 contributions
- written on your tax return the total of the amounts that you are entitled to claim as a tax offset in parts A and B. Do not write the amount of pension you received
- printed on your tax return the correct code letter in the CLAIM TYPE box.
Did you pay the premium, or did your employer pay the premium for you, for an appropriate private health insurance policy?

NO Go to question T5.
YES Read below.

Did you receive your full entitlement to the 30% private health insurance rebate from your health fund or Medicare?

NO Read below.
YES Go to question T5.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

The private health insurance rebate is 30% of the premium paid to a registered health fund for appropriate private health insurance cover. The rebate is not affected by your level of income.

The rebate can be claimed as:

- a reduction in your private health insurance premium through the health fund
- a cash or cheque rebate from Medicare
- a refundable tax offset at the end of the income year through your tax return, or
- a combination of all options.

Are you eligible for the 30% private health insurance rebate?

You are eligible to claim the rebate if you have paid, or your employer has paid for you, the premium for an appropriate private health insurance policy. An ‘appropriate private health insurance policy’ is one provided by a registered health fund for hospital, ancillary—also known as ‘Extras’—or combined hospital and ancillary cover where every person covered by the policy is a person who is eligible to claim benefits under the Medicare system. Not all funds are registered. Check with your health fund if you are unsure.

NOTE To find out if your health fund is a registered health fund, visit the Private Health Insurance Administration Council website at www.phiac.gov.au

How the rebate works

The rebate is based on the premium you paid, or your employer has paid for you, for appropriate health insurance cover including payments made for cover for more than one income year—you work out your entitlement at 30% of the premium paid.

However, if the policy was one that was in existence during the 1998–99 income year and, before 1 January 1999, a person was eligible to apply for registration under the health insurance incentive scheme that operated until that date—the old incentive scheme—you may be able to claim more. You should compare the rebate that would have been available if the old incentive scheme was still operating, with that available under the present scheme, and claim the higher amount at this question.

The eligibility tests that applied for registration under the old incentive scheme are explained on pages 87–8.

Did you receive a private health insurance statement from your health fund?

Your health fund should have sent you a statement showing the premium you have paid. If you paid a premium for more than one policy, you should have received a statement for each policy.

If you did not receive a statement for one or more of your policies you should contact your health fund or, if you know the premium you paid and any premium reduction you received from your health fund, you can still work out your entitlement from the steps following.
Completing this question
If you have more than one policy you will need to work through the steps below for each policy.

WHAT YOU MAY NEED
• a private health insurance statement
• the amount of any cash or cheque rebate received from Medicare for your private health insurance.

If you did not receive a statement you need:
• the amount of the premiums
• the number of days covered by private health insurance
• the amount of premium reduction received from your health fund.

NOTE
If you have a statement from all of the health funds you paid a premium to and the amounts at G on your statement(s) are ‘0’ you have already received your full entitlement and you do not need to read any further in this question. Go to question T5.

STEP 1  Where you have a statement for your policy
If you do not have a statement for any of your policies, go to step 2.

If you have a statement and:
• no person was eligible to apply for registration under the old incentive scheme, you can claim the 30% amount shown at G on your statement less any cash or cheque rebate you have received from Medicare for your private health insurance premium. Go to WORKSHEET 1
• a person was eligible to apply for registration under the old incentive scheme, you may have two amounts—30% of premiums paid, and the rebate that would have been available under the old incentive scheme. You can claim the higher amount, less any cash or cheque rebate you have received from Medicare for your private health insurance. Go to WORKSHEET 1.

WORKSHEET 1
Amount shown at G on your statement (a) $
Amount of any cash or cheque rebate you have received from Medicare for your private health insurance premium (b) $
Take (b) away from (a). (c) $

If you have only one policy and:
• (c) is ‘0’ or a negative amount, you have already received your full entitlement. Go to question T5.
• you have an amount at (c), this is the tax offset that you are eligible to claim on your tax return. Do not include cents. Go to step 4.

If you have more than one policy and you have statements for all of them, add up the (c) amounts (ignoring any negative amounts). The total is the tax offset that you are eligible to claim. Do not include cents. Go to step 4.

If you also have a policy for which you do not have a statement, go to step 2.

STEP 2  Where you do not have a statement
If you do not have a statement you need to use WORKSHEET 2 to help you calculate your tax offset entitlement. You should also use WORKSHEET 3 if a person was eligible to apply for registration under the old incentive scheme.

The example on page 87 will help you with the worksheets.

WORKSHEET 2
Calculating the 30% amount
Total premiums paid during the year for the policy* (d) $
Multiply (d) by 30. (e) $
Divide (e) by 100. (f) $
Your premium reduction amount from your health fund—if any (g) $
Take (g) away from (f). (h) $
Amount of any cash or cheque rebate you have received from Medicare for your private health insurance premium (i) $
Take (i) away from (h). (j) $

* This is the total amount of premiums before any premium reduction or any cash or cheque rebate you have received from Medicare.

If you have only one policy and if no person was eligible to apply for registration under the old incentive scheme, the amount at (j) is what you are entitled to claim. If (j) is ‘0’ or a negative amount you have already received your full entitlement. Go to question T5. Otherwise go to step 4.

If a person was eligible to apply for registration under the old incentive scheme, complete WORKSHEET 3 to find out if the rebate that would have been available under the old incentive scheme would have resulted in a higher tax offset.

If you have more than one policy and have statements for all of them, add up the (c) amounts (ignoring any negative amounts). The total is the tax offset that you are eligible to claim. Do not include cents. Go to step 4.
WORKSHEET 3
Calculating the rebate under the old incentive scheme

Use the table below to work out the maximum annual rebate under the old incentive scheme.

MAXIMUM ANNUAL REBATE AMOUNT—OLD INCENTIVE SCHEME

Where you had only one type of cover during the year, write the maximum annual rebate for the type of cover under the old incentive scheme.

(k) $ ________

Multiply (k) by the number of days the premium provided this type of cover for.*

(l) $ ________

Divide (l) by 365.

(m) $ ________

If your type of cover changed during the year, repeat steps (k), (l) and (m) for each type of cover and add the answers together for a total figure at (m). Take away from the total at (m) any amount at (g) in WORKSHEET 2.

(n) $ ________

Take away from (n) any amount at (l) in WORKSHEET 2.

(o) $ ________

* The number of days you use here relates to the policy, not the calendar or income year.

The amount at (o) is the rebate that would have been available under the old incentive scheme. You are eligible to claim amount (j) in WORKSHEET 2 or amount (o) in WORKSHEET 3—whichever is higher.

If you have only one policy the higher amount is the tax offset you are eligible to claim on your tax return. Go to step 4.

If you have more than one policy without a statement, work out the higher of the (j) or (o) amount (if you have an (o) amount) for each policy. Add those amounts together. This is the amount of tax offset you are eligible to claim.

If you have only policies for which you do not have a statement, go to step 4.

If you have a combination of policies with and without a statement, go to step 3.

STEP 3 Where you have policies with and without a statement

Add the (c) amount(s) you have worked out at step 1 and the higher of the (j) or (o) amount(s) you have worked out from step 2 for each policy. This is the amount of tax offset that you are eligible to claim.

STEP 4 Write at item T4 on your tax return the amount of tax offset that you are eligible to claim. Do not show cents. You must also complete Private health insurance policy details—see page 92 in TaxPack 2003 for assistance.

You have now completed this question. Go to question T5.

Example of how to work out your tax offset entitlement

Scott has had a family policy for combined cover for himself, his wife Kylie, and their dependent child Carol since 1 July 1998. The annual premium was $1,200. On 1 July 2002, Scott paid a further premium to continue the policy for another year.

On 1 May 2003 Carol turned 25 and therefore no longer qualified as a dependent child.

Scott received a $100 refund when the policy changed from a family policy to a couple policy. Scott satisfied all of the eligibility tests for registration under the old incentive scheme—see below—and did not receive a reduced premium or any cash or cheque rebate from Medicare.

Scott used WORKSHEET 2 to work out his 30% amount—$330 (30% of $1,200 – $100). Because he was eligible to apply for registration under the old incentive scheme he also used WORKSHEET 3 to work out the rebate he would have got under the old incentive scheme.

Referring to the MAXIMUM ANNUAL REBATE AMOUNT OLD INCENTIVE SCHEME table Scott worked out his rebate amount for the time that Carol was a dependant (family policy)—1 July 2002 to 30 April 2003 (304 days)—and when she was not a dependant (couple policy)—1 May 2003 to 30 June 2003 (61 days).

During the time Carol was a dependant, Scott’s rebate entitlement under the old incentive scheme would have been $374.79. For the time Carol was not a dependant the rebate entitlement under the old incentive scheme would have been $41.78. This gives Scott a total of $416.57 under the old incentive scheme.

Scott’s rebate under the old incentive scheme is higher than his 30% amount.

Scott will write $416 at item T4 and complete Private health insurance policy details on his tax return.

The old incentive scheme

If the private health insurance policy is one that was in existence during 1998–99 and, before 1 January 1999, a person was registered or eligible to apply for registration under the Private Health Insurance Incentive Scheme (the old incentive scheme) that operated until that date, you may be entitled to a larger tax offset than one based on 30% of the premium you paid this income year. If the policy qualifies, you are entitled to compare the two amounts—the rebate that would have been available if the old incentive scheme was still operating, and the present tax offset based on 30% of the premium paid—and claim the higher amount.
Any person covered by the policy, other than a dependent child, could have registered, or been eligible to register, under the old incentive scheme. If the policy only covered dependent children, either one of their parents was eligible to register. However, the particular private health insurance policy had to be one:

- that was in existence before 1 January 1999 and provided appropriate private health insurance cover for 1998–99, and
- where the annual premium for 1998–99 was above the minimum premium threshold amount, and
- where certain income tests were satisfied for 1998–99.

A policy provided appropriate private health insurance cover if it provided hospital cover or ancillary cover or both and the health fund annual premium during 1998–99 was not less than the relevant amount shown in the following table.

Definitions

Single policy income test—A single policy covers one person only. If you had a single policy and you did not have a spouse at any time in 1998–99, the income test was satisfied if your 1998–99 taxable income was less than $35,000.

If you had a spouse at any time in 1998–99, the income test was satisfied if combined taxable income for 1998–99 was less than $70,000.

Couple policy income test—A couple policy covers two adults only. These adults may be related—for example, spouse or sibling—or unrelated. For a couple policy, the income test was satisfied if combined taxable income for 1998–99 was less than $70,000.

Family policy income test—A family policy can be:

- cover for one or more adults—related or unrelated—and at least one dependent child. This includes single parent families. The income test was satisfied if combined taxable income for 1998–99 was less than $70,000 plus $3,000 for each dependent child after the first dependent child
- cover for three or more adults. The income test was satisfied if combined taxable income for 1998–99 was less than $70,000, or
- cover for two or more dependent children only. The income test was satisfied if combined taxable income for 1998–99 was less than $70,000 plus $3,000 for each dependent child after the first dependent child.

Combined taxable income—used in the income tests above—means:

- the sum of the taxable income of each adult covered by the policy and their spouse—married or de facto—if they had a spouse on 30 June 1999
- for a policy that covered only a dependent child or children, the sum of the taxable income of each parent or guardian and their spouses—married or de facto—if they had a spouse on 30 June 1999. This applies only to a parent or guardian who contributed to the payment of the premiums, or arranged for a third party, such as an employer, to contribute.

Taxable income of a person includes any share of net income of a trust estate to which the person was entitled, and on which a trustee of the trust estate is assessed under section 98 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

If you had a child who was not a dependent child—for example, an adult child, such as an employed 19-year-old who lived with you—AND that child was covered by the policy, then their 1998–99 income must also be included in the combined taxable income amount.

Income derived by any dependent children is not included in the combined taxable income amount.

Spouse—includes a de facto spouse but does not include a person from whom you are permanently separated.

Dependent child

A child was regarded as a dependant for the old incentive scheme if all of the following applied:

- The child was under the age of 18 years or a full-time student under the age of 25 years.
- The child was covered by the policy and the health fund that issued the policy accepted the child as a dependent child for the purposes of the policy.
- The child did not have a spouse—married or de facto.
QUESTION T5
BABY BONUS

Have you had a baby or gained legal responsibility of a child aged under five after 30 June 2001?

NO  Go to TAX OFFSETS FROM THE SUPPLEMENTARY SECTION on page 91.
YES  Read below.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

The mother is the person who will usually claim the baby bonus. The baby bonus can be claimed each year until the child turns five. The baby bonus is paid whether or not you get any other family benefits and can be claimed even if you do not pay tax.

Go to PART A below if:
- this is the first year you will claim the baby bonus
- you were a transferee last year, or
- you are transferring your eligibility for the baby bonus to your spouse. You should only do this if your spouse was your spouse for the whole claim period and they would get a higher baby bonus amount than you. For more information visit the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website at www.ato.gov.au or phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).

Go to PART B on the next page if:
- you claimed the baby bonus last year and you are claiming for the same child this year
- the baby bonus was not transferred last year, and
- you are required to lodge a tax return this year.

If you do not meet all of these dot points go to PART A below.

PART A

You cannot claim the baby bonus at this question. How you claim the baby bonus this year depends on whether you are required to lodge a tax return this year.

If you are required to lodge a tax return for 2002–03, you need to get the 2003 baby bonus instructions and claim (NAT 6580—6.2003), complete the claim and lodge it with your tax return.

If you are not required to lodge a tax return for 2002–03, you can lodge your baby bonus claim on its own by one of the following methods:
- Use e-tax to complete and lodge your claim over the internet from the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au
- Get the 2003 baby bonus instructions and claim and complete and lodge your claim. To find out how to get this publication, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

Now go to TAX OFFSETS FROM THE SUPPLEMENTARY SECTION.
PART B

Work through the following steps to determine the number of days that you are eligible to claim the baby bonus this year.

STEP 1
Write in box A the number of days in 2002–03 that all of the following applied to you at the same time:
- you had legal responsibility for and care of the child, and
- the child was under the age of five, and
- you were an Australian resident (see page 10). Go to step 2.

If this was for the whole year write ‘365’.

Example
Danielle is an Australian resident for tax purposes. She had legal responsibility for and care of Mitchell for the full year. Mitchell’s fifth birthday was on 20 September 2002. Danielle would write 81 in box A, the number of days from 1 July to 19 September.

STEP 2
Did the legal responsibility for your child change—for example, through a court order during 2002–03?
This may affect the number of days you are eligible to claim and the steps you have to complete.

- NO Go to step 6.
- YES Go to step 3.

STEP 3
Was there another person (including your spouse) who had legal responsibility for and care of your child during any of the days you have written in box A?

- NO Do not complete steps 4 and 5. Go to step 6.
- YES Write in box B the total number of days that this applied. Go to step 4.

STEP 4
Has this person been eligible for the baby bonus for another child without being a transferee?

- NO Go to step 5.
- YES You cannot claim for a full year. Take B away from A. Write this number in box C. This is your number of eligible days. Go to step 6.

STEP 5
In the following list—birth mother, adoptive mother, any other woman, natural father, adoptive father, any other man—are you listed after the person referred to in step 4?

- NO Go to step 6.
- YES You cannot claim for a full year. Take B away from A. Write this number in box D. This is your number of eligible days. Go to step 6.

STEP 6
The number of days you are eligible to claim the baby bonus will be the lowest number of days that you have written in boxes A, C or D. If you have not completed boxes C or D your number of eligible days is in box A. Write the number of eligible days at H item T5 on your tax return.

If your child died during the year, print B in the CODE box ∑ at the right of H item T5. This will allow you to claim the baby bonus for another child in a later year.

Go to TAX OFFSETS FROM THE SUPPLEMENTARY SECTION.
Are you entitled to claim a tax offset for any of the following?

- heritage conservation work
- interest from government securities
- interest from the land transport facilities tax offset scheme or infrastructure borrowings scheme
- landcare and water facility
- living in a remote or isolated area of Australia
- maintenance of your parent, spouse’s parent or invalid relative
- net medical expenses over the threshold amount
- performing work or services in the Joint Petroleum Development Area (JPDA)
- serving overseas as a member of the Defence Force or a United Nations armed force
- superannuation contributions on behalf of your spouse

NO  Go to TOTAL TAX OFFSETS.
YES  You must complete the 2003 tax return for individuals (supplementary section). Read below.

Completing this item

STEP 1  Complete the details at the top of page 9 on your tax return (supplementary section)—if you haven’t already. Use TaxPack 2003 supplement to complete the tax offsets section.

STEP 2  Transfer the amount you wrote at TOTAL SUPPLEMENT TAX OFFSETS on page 12 to T on page 4 of your tax return.

NOTE

The supplementary section of the tax return is located in the back of TaxPack 2003 supplement. If you don’t already have a copy of TaxPack 2003 supplement, from 1 July to 31 October 2003 you can get a copy from most newsagencies. Copies are also available from our Publications Distribution Service (see the inside back cover of TaxPack) and all year from ATOaccess sites.

TOTAL TAX OFFSETS

STEP 1  Add up all the tax offset amounts at items T1 to T5 and T in the right-hand column on your tax return.

STEP 2  Write the total amount at TOTAL TAX OFFSETS on your tax return. Do not show cents. If you do not have any tax offsets, write ‘0’. Read on.

Tax offset for low income taxpayers

If you are an Australian resident for tax purposes and your taxable income is less than $24,450, you may get a tax offset.

The maximum tax offset of $150 applies if your taxable income is $20,700 or less. This amount is reduced by four cents for each dollar over $20,700.

We will work out your tax offset and make sure it comes off your tax. The tax offset will be shown on your notice of assessment. Do not write anything about this tax offset on your tax return.

CREDIT FOR INTEREST ON TAX PAID

Did you make a payment to the Australian Taxation Office more than 14 days before the due date for payment?

NO  Go to Private health insurance policy details on the next page.
YES  Read Credit for interest on tax paid on pages s62–3 in TaxPack 2003 supplement.
ADJUSTMENTS

QUESTION A1 UNDER 18 EXCEPTED NET INCOME

STOP

If you were under 18 years of age at 30 June 2003 you must complete this question or you may be taxed at a higher rate.

Were you under 18 years of age at 30 June 2003?

NO Go to question A2.

YES Read below.

There are different rates of tax for different types of income. To make sure you’re paying the right amount, complete this question.

Did any of the following apply to you at 30 June 2003?

• You were working full time, or had worked full time for three months or more during 2002–03 (ignore any period of full-time work that was followed by full-time study) AND you planned to work full time for most or all of 2003–04 instead of full-time study.

• You were entitled to a disability support pension or a rehabilitation allowance, or someone was entitled to a carer allowance to care for you.

• You were permanently blind.

• You were disabled and were likely to suffer from that disability permanently or for an extended period.

• You were entitled to a double orphan pension and you received little or no financial support from your relatives.

• You were unable to work full time because of permanent mental or physical disability and you received little or no financial support from your relatives.

NO Go to Calculating your excepted net income—step 1 below.

YES Read below.

If you were in any of the above categories on 30 June 2003, all of your income will be taxed at normal rates. Write ‘0’ at J item A1 on your tax return. Then print the code letter A in the TYPE box at the right of J item A1. You have now completed this question. Go to question A2.

Excepted net income is taxed at normal rates

‘Excepted net income’ is the sum of specified types of income after relevant deductions are taken into account. Excepted net income is taxed at normal rates.

Calculating your excepted net income

STEP 1 Add up the following excepted income that you have shown on your tax return. (Although you will be showing this income twice, you will not be taxed twice).

This income could include:

• employment income

• taxable pensions or payments from Centrelink or the Department of Veterans’ Affairs

• a compensation, superannuation or pension fund benefit

• income from a deceased person’s estate

• income from property transferred to you as a result of another’s death or family breakdown, or to satisfy a claim for damages for an injury you suffered

• income from your own business

• income from a partnership, in which you were an active partner

• net capital gains from the disposal of any of the property or investments referred to above

• income from investment of amounts referred to above.

STEP 2 Add up all your deductions that relate to the income from step 1. (See the Deductions section on pages 36–62.) Take away the total of those deductions from the total income from step 1.

Example

Joshua is a school student who works at a supermarket, earns $2,200 and is entitled to a deduction of $100 for protective clothing. The step 2 amount is $2,200 less $100 = $2,100. This amount goes at J item A1.

STEP 3 Write the amount from step 2 at J item A1 on your tax return. Do not show cents. This is your excepted net income. If you do not have any of the income listed in step 1 or the amount from step 2 is zero, write ‘0’ at J item A1 on your tax return.

STEP 4 If you are turning 18 years of age between 1 July 2003 and 30 June 2004, print N in the TYPE box at the right of J item A1. If not, print M in the TYPE box at the right of J item A1.

The amount you have shown at J item A1 will be taxed at normal rates. A higher rate of tax will apply for your other income. For more information phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).

NOTE

If you received a distribution from a trust, read question 12 Partnerships and trusts in TaxPack 2003 supplement, on pages s2–6.
QUESTION A2  PART-YEAR TAX-FREE THRESHOLD

In 2002–03 did you:
• stop full-time education for the first time
• become an Australian resident
• stop being an Australian resident?

See page 10 for information on residency for tax purposes.

NO  Go to question A3.  YES  Read below.

The Australian Taxation Office uses the following information to work out your tax-free threshold. If more than one part applies to you, phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).

PART A  Did you first stop full-time education in 2002–03?

NO  Go to part B.  YES  Read below.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

You stopped full-time education if:
• at any time during 2002–03 you were in a course of full-time education at a school, college, university or similar institution AND
• you were not in a course of full-time education on 30 June 2003 AND
• in the case where you stopped full-time education between 1 March 2003 and 30 June 2003, you did not begin another course of full-time education within four months of stopping the earlier one.

Your income is separated into these categories:
• salary or wages—which includes amounts you have shown at item 5
• non-salary and wage income—for example, dividends, interest and rent, and
• earnings from your own business, as a partner in a partnership or as a beneficiary of a trust.

STEP 1  Write the number of months from when you stopped full-time education to 30 June 2003—counting the month you stopped—at N item A2 on your tax return. For example, if you stopped full-time education on 19 November 2002, the number of months you would show on your tax return would be 8 (November 2002 to June 2003). If the number of months from when you stopped full-time education is 12, do not complete item A2. You are entitled to the full tax-free threshold.

STEP 2  Work out your net income earned while you were a full-time student. The example on the next page shows you how to work out this amount. The amount is made up of:
• your net salary and wage income earned while you were a full-time student AND
• the proportion of your net non-salary and wage income for the year earned while you were a full-time student.

Calculate net non-salary and wage income separately.

STEP 3  Write all of your net income earned while you were a full-time student at O item A2. Do not show cents.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .

For part A

☐ written the number of months from when you stopped being a full-time student ☐ written all of your net income earned while a full-time student in 2002–03.

Note: You do not need to complete the Date box at item A2 on your tax return.
PART A example
1 TAXPAYER WITH SALARY AND WAGE INCOME

Nicki was an Australian resident for all of 2002–03 and a full-time student for 95 days during 2002–03. During that period she also worked part time.

- Nicki's income from salary and wages during her period of full-time study: $750
- Deductions relating to this salary and wage income—do not include tax taken out of salary and wage income: $90
- Nicki's net salary and wage income—assessable income less deductions: $660

2 TAXPAYER WITH NON-SALARY AND WAGE INCOME

Nicki also received non-salary and wage income from interest.

- Non-salary and wage income Nicki earned during 2002–03: $120
- Deductions relating to this income: $20
- Nicki's net non-salary and wage income: $100

The number of days during Nicki's study period: 95

Multiply Nicki's net income by the number of days above—$100 × 95: $9,500

Number of days in 2002–03: 365

Divide by the number of days in 2002–03—divide $9,500 by 365: $26

The $26 is Nicki’s net non-salary and wage income for the period of full-time study.

Summary of example

AMOUNT TO BE SHOWN AT ITEM A2

- Net salary and wage income—see part 1 of example: $660
- Net non-salary and wage income—see part 2 of example: $26
- Amount Nicki needs to show at Item A2 on her tax return: $686

PART B  Did you become an Australian resident in 2002–03?

If you are unsure read Are you an Australian resident? on page 10.

NO Go to part C.
YES Read below.

STEP 1 Write the date you became an Australian resident for tax purposes in the Date box at item A2 on your tax return.

STEP 2 Write the number of months that you lived in Australia in 2002–03—counting the month you started to live here—at Item A2 on your tax return.

PART C  Did you stop being an Australian resident in 2002–03?

If you are unsure read Are you an Australian resident? on page 10.

NO Go to CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .
YES Read below.

STEP 1 Write the date you stopped being an Australian resident for tax purposes in the Date box at item A2 on your tax return.

STEP 2 Write the number of months from 1 July 2002 to when you left Australia—counting the month you left Australia—at Item A2 on your tax return.

CHECK THAT YOU HAVE . . .

For part B ☐ written in the Date box the date you became an Australian resident ☐ written the number of months that you lived in Australia in 2002–03.

For part C ☐ written in the Date box the date you left Australia
☐ written the number of months from 1 July 2002 to when you left Australia.
PRIVATE HEALTH INSURANCE POLICY DETAILS

YOU NEED TO KNOW

The information on this page will help you complete Private health insurance policy details on page 4 of your tax return. You will need to complete this item if you claimed a tax offset at item T4. Question M2 Medicare levy surcharge on pages 98–101 in TaxPack may also direct you to complete this item.

If you received a statement from your registered health fund, your private health insurance policy details will be shown on the statement. If you did not receive a statement from your health fund, contact your fund. If you do not have a statement because your employer paid the premium for you, contact your fund or speak to the person who paid the premium.

NOTE

To find out if your health fund is a registered health fund, visit the Private Health Insurance Administration Council website at www.phiac.gov.au

Completing this item

STEP 1
Print the identification (ID) code of your health fund at B Health fund ID on your tax return.

STEP 2
Print your private health insurance membership number at C Membership number.

STEP 3
In the Type of cover box print the code letter that describes the type of private health insurance cover you had.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Type of cover</th>
<th>Code letter</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ancillary cover—also known as ‘Extras’</td>
<td>A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hospital cover</td>
<td>H</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Combined hospital and ancillary cover</td>
<td>C</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If you changed your type of cover during the year, print the code letter for the type of cover that gave you the highest level of cover. For example, if you had hospital cover and added ancillary cover during the year, use code letter C—for combined hospital and ancillary cover.

Did you have more than one policy during the year?

If you had up to five policies during 2002–03 you will need to complete steps 1 to 3 for each policy. If you had more than five policies during 2002–03, complete steps 1 to 3 for the first five policies, then on a separate piece of paper print SCHEDULE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION—PRIVATE HEALTH INSURANCE POLICY DETAILS. Tell us your name, address and tax file number, and list the ID code, membership number and type of cover for each of the other policies you held. Print X in the YES box at Taxpayer’s declaration question 2a on page 8 of your tax return. Sign and attach your schedule to page 3 of your tax return.
Medicare is the scheme which gives Australian residents access to health care.

To help fund the scheme, resident taxpayers are subject to a Medicare levy. Normally, your Medicare levy is calculated at 1.5% of your taxable income. A variation to this calculation may occur in certain circumstances.

Generally, tax offsets do not reduce your Medicare levy. However, where you have excess refundable tax offsets available, these can be applied to reduce your tax, including Medicare levy. (For more information on refundable tax offsets—for example, the 30% private health insurance rebate—see page 72.)

In some cases you may be exempt from the levy or it may be reduced—this is the subject of question M1. You only need to complete this question if you belong to an exemption category or you are able to claim a reduction based on family income. Read pages 94–7 to work out if you are eligible for the exemption or the reduction based on family income.

Individuals and families on higher incomes who do not have private patient hospital cover may have to pay the Medicare levy surcharge—this is the subject of question M2.

This surcharge is in addition to the Medicare levy and is calculated at 1% of your taxable income (including your total reportable fringe benefits). You will need to read pages 98–101 to see if you have to pay the surcharge.

QUESTION M2 IS COMPULSORY FOR ALL TAXPAYERS. If you do not complete item M2 on your tax return you may be charged the full Medicare levy surcharge.
Were you a low income earner or in one of the Medicare levy reduction or exemption categories?

Information to help you decide whether you are eligible for a Medicare levy reduction or exemption is given below.

NO Go to question M2.

YES Read below.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

Most Australians are liable to pay the Medicare levy. The standard levy is 1.5% of your taxable income; however, this may vary according to your circumstances. Your taxable income is usually the amount you wrote at TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS on page 3 of your tax return.

- your 2002–03 taxable income
- the 2002–03 taxable income of your spouse—married or de facto—if you had a spouse on 30 June 2003. If your spouse died during 2002–03 and you did not have another spouse before the end of the year, you are considered to have had a spouse on 30 June 2003 for the purposes of calculating any Medicare levy reductions based on family income
- the number of your dependent children and students during 2002–03, and
- the number of days you, your spouse and dependent children and students were in an exemption category—see page 96.

PART A  Low income earner

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Relevant threshold amount</th>
<th>Phase-in limit</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>If you are eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset (see page 79)</td>
<td>$20,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If you are eligible for the pensioner tax offset (see pages 23–4)</td>
<td>$17,164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>All other taxpayers</td>
<td>$15,062</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

You do not need to complete this question if:

- your taxable income was at or below the relevant threshold amount. You do not have to pay the Medicare levy. Do not write anything at item M1 on your tax return. Go to question M2
- your taxable income was more than the relevant threshold amount but equal to or less than the phase-in limit and you were not in either a Medicare levy reduction category based on family income—see part B on this page—or in one of the exemption categories on page 96. Your levy is reduced—calculated at 20 cents for every dollar above the relevant threshold amount but at or below the phase-in limit. Do not write anything at item M1. We will work out how much Medicare levy you have to pay. Go to question M2.

If the above points do not apply to you, read on.

PART B  Medicare levy reductions based on family income

In part B, ‘dependent children and students’ means:

- any child under 16 you maintained who was not a full-time student and whose separate net income was less than $1,786 (for the first child) or $1,410 (for any additional child), and
- any full-time student under 25 you maintained whose separate net income was less than $1,786.

If you were not married on 30 June 2003, or were married but living separately and apart from your spouse, for any child or student to be included within the term ‘dependent children and students’, family tax benefit must have been payable to you in respect of that child or student for the whole or part of 2002–03 (see pages 68–71).
Part B categories
If your taxable income was above the relevant threshold amount in part A, you may still be eligible for a reduced levy based on your family income.

To be eligible for a reduced levy based on family income, you must have been in one of the following categories:
- You had a spouse—married or de facto—on 30 June 2003.
- Your spouse died during 2002–03 and you did not have another spouse before the end of the year.
- You are entitled to a child-housekeeper or housekeeper tax offset at item T1 on your tax return or would be entitled if you were not eligible for the family tax benefit—see pages 68–71.
- You were a sole parent at any time during 2002–03—that is, you had sole care of any dependent children or students. This includes any child for whom you had sole care, not just your own child.

Sole care means that you alone had full responsibility, on a day-to-day basis, for the upbringing, welfare and maintenance of a child or student. You are not considered to have sole care if you are living with a spouse—married or de facto—unless special circumstances exist. Generally, for special circumstances to exist, you must be financially responsible for the dependent child or student and have sole care, without the support a spouse normally provides.

Examples of situations where special circumstances may arise:
- You were married at any time during 2002–03, but during the year you separated from or were deserted by your spouse, and for that period you were not in a de facto relationship.
- Your spouse was in prison for a sentence of at least 12 months.
- Your spouse is medically certified as being permanently mentally incapable of taking part in caring for the child or student.

If you are unsure of whether special circumstances apply phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).

Your family income is the combined taxable income for Medicare levy purposes (see the first note on page 94) of you and your spouse—if you had a spouse on 30 June 2003 or your spouse died during the year. Otherwise, it is your taxable income.

If you were in one of the part B categories above and your family income was less than or equal to the relevant lower income limit in the family income table in the next column that applies to your circumstances, you do not pay the levy. However, you still need to complete steps 1 and 2. Go to step 1.

If your family income was greater than the relevant lower income limit but less than or equal to the relevant upper income limit, you pay a reduced levy. Go to step 1.

If your family income is above the relevant upper income limit you do not qualify for a reduced levy. Go to MEDICARE LEVY EXEMPTION CATEGORIES on page 96.

There are two family income tables shown below. Use FAMILY INCOME TABLE 1 if you are eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset. Use FAMILY INCOME TABLE 2 in all other circumstances.

FAMILY INCOME TABLE 1—for taxpayers who are eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset

If you have more than four dependent children or students, you can extend this table. The lower income limit increases by $2,334 for each additional child or student and the upper income limit increases by $2,523 for each additional child or student.

FAMILY INCOME TABLE 2—for all other taxpayers

</tbody>

If you have more than four dependent children or students, you can extend this table. The lower income limit increases by $2,334 for each additional child or student and the upper income limit increases by $2,523 for each additional child or student.

To claim your reduced levy:

STEP 1 If you had a spouse at 30 June 2003 or your spouse died during the year, you must complete Spouse details—married or de facto on pages 6–7 of your tax return. You must also complete Your spouse’s name on page 1 of your tax return. Where the taxable income of your spouse includes any post-June 1983 elements of an eligible termination payment where the maximum tax rate is zero, print SCHEDULE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION—QUESTION M1 SPOUSE’S TAXABLE INCOME on a separate piece of paper and write this amount. Include your name, address and tax file number. Print X in the YES box at Taxpayer’s declaration question 2a on page 8 of your tax return. Sign and attach your schedule to page 3 of your tax return.

STEP 2 Write the number of your dependent children and students at item M1 on your tax return.
If you had none, write ‘0’. We will work out your reduced levy based on this information. If you wish to calculate the levy yourself, see pages 118–9.

If you received any exempt foreign employment income a special formula is used to work out the amount of tax—including Medicare levy—you have to pay on your taxable income. You will not be able to work out your Medicare levy. We will work it out for you.

Read on to see if you are entitled to an exemption.

MEDICARE LEVY EXEMPTION CATEGORIES

You were in one of the exemption categories if:

1. you were a blind pensioner or you received the sickness allowance from Centrelink
2. you were entitled to full free medical treatment for all conditions under Defence Force arrangements or Veterans’ Affairs Repatriation Health Card (Gold Card) or repatriation arrangements
3. you were not an Australian resident for tax purposes
4. you were a resident of Norfolk Island
5. you were a member of a diplomatic mission or consular post in Australia—or a member of such a person’s family and you were living with them—and you were not an Australian citizen and you do not ordinarily live in Australia, or
6. you have a certificate from the Levy Exemption Certification Unit of the Health Insurance Commission showing that you are not entitled to Medicare benefits.

A letter from Medicare is not sufficient.

If you were not in one of these exemption categories, you are not entitled to an exemption. Go to question M2.

If you were in exemption category 3 or 4 for the whole income year you qualify for a full Medicare levy exemption regardless of whether or not you had dependants. Write ‘365’ at V item M1 on your tax return and go to question M2.

If you were in any other exemption category, or in exemption category 3 or 4 for only part of 2002–03, you will need to read part C and/or part D.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

For parts C and D, ‘dependant’ means an Australian resident you maintained who was:

• your spouse
• a child of yours aged less than 16 years, or
• a child of yours aged 16 years or over but less than 25 years who was receiving full-time education at a school, college or university and whose separate net income was less than $1,786.

See What is maintaining a dependant? and What is separate net income? on pages 66–7.

If the parents of a child lived separately or apart for all or part of the income year and the child was a dependant of each of them, the child is treated as a dependant of each parent based on the percentage of family tax benefit part A that was paid or is payable for that child in respect of that period.

Example

Leanne is a member of the Defence Forces for the whole income year. She shares the care of Daniel with her ex-spouse and receives 14% family tax benefit part A based on the shared care arrangement. This means that Daniel is considered to be Leanne’s dependant for Medicare levy exemption purposes for 51 days (14% of 365) during the year.

PART C  Full levy exemption for all or part of 2002–03

CATEGORY 1 OR 2
You will qualify for a full exemption from the Medicare levy for a period in 2002–03 if you were in exemption category 1 or 2 in the previous column and you satisfied any of the following conditions during the whole of that period:

• You had no dependants for the period.
• All your dependants (including your spouse if you had one) were either in one of the exemption categories also, or had to pay the Medicare levy. For example, your only dependant was your spouse who was not in an exemption category and has to pay the Medicare levy.
• You had dependent children who were not in an exemption category but they were also dependants of your spouse, who either:
  • has to pay the Medicare levy, or
  • was in exemption category 1 or 2 and you have completed a Family agreement on page 97, declaring that your spouse will pay the half levy for your joint dependants.

To be eligible to complete a Family agreement it is a condition that both you and your spouse would, apart from your exempt category status, have to pay the Medicare levy.

CATEGORY 3 OR 4 FOR PART OF THE INCOME YEAR, OR CATEGORY 5 OR 6
If you were in exemption category 3 or 4 in the previous column for only part of 2002–03 or exemption category 5 or 6 for any period of 2002–03, you will qualify for a full Medicare levy exemption for that period if one of the following conditions applied:

• you had no dependants for that period, or
• all your dependants were in an exemption category for that period.

If you meet any of the conditions for any exemption category you were in, go to step 1 on the next page.

If you do not meet any of the conditions for any exemption category you were in:

• go to part D if you were in exemption category 1 or 2 for a period in 2002–03, or
• go to question M2 if you were not in exemption category 1 or 2 for a period in 2002–03.
To get a full levy exemption for a period:

STEP 1 Write the total number of days that you and your dependants—if any—met the required conditions, at item M1 on your tax return.

If you were in more than one exemption category and the time you were in one exemption category overlaps with the time you were in another exemption category, only add up the number of days from the day you started in the first category to the last day you were in the last category.

Example: You were in category 1 for the period 1 August to 30 September and category 2 from 15 September to 1 November. The number of days from 1 August to 1 November is 93 days. You would show 93 days at item M1.

STEP 2 If you have completed and you are in exemption category 6 print the letter C in the CLAIM TYPE box at the right of item M1. Otherwise leave the box blank.

STEP 3 If you had a spouse at any time in 2002–03 you must complete Spouse details—married or de facto on pages 6–7 of your tax return. You must also complete Your spouse’s name on page 1 of your tax return.

STEP 4 If the number of days you wrote at is more than 365, you will not have to pay any Medicare levy. You must complete this question. Go to question M2.

If you were in exemption category 3, 4, 5 or 6, you have finished this question. Go to question M2.

If the number of days you wrote at is less than 365, and you were in exemption category 1 or 2, you may qualify for a half levy exemption. Read on.

PART D Half levy exemption for all or part of 2002–03

You will qualify for a half exemption from the Medicare levy for a period in 2002–03 if you were in exemption category 1 or 2 on page 96 and you satisfied any of the following conditions during the whole of that period:

- you had at least one dependant—for example, a spouse—who was not in one of the exemption categories and who did not have to pay the Medicare levy (for example, because they were a low income earner—see part A)
- your spouse was in exemption category 1 or 2 on page 96 and you had a child who was a dependant of both you and your spouse and the child was not in an exemption category. In this case, either you or your spouse can claim a full levy exemption at part C and the other can claim a half levy exemption at part D by completing a Family agreement in the next column.

If you do not meet one of these conditions, go to question M2.

To get a half levy exemption for a period:

STEP 1 Write the total number of days that you and your dependants met the required conditions, at item M1 on your tax return.

If you were in both exemption categories and the time you were in one exemption category overlaps with the time you were in the other exemption category, only add up the number of days from the day you started in the first category to the last day you were in the second category.

Example: You were in category 1 for the period 1 August to 30 September and category 2 from 15 September to 1 November. The number of days from 1 August to 1 November is 93 days. You would show 93 days at item M1.

STEP 2 If you had a spouse at any time during 2002–03 you must complete Spouse details—married or de facto on pages 6–7 of your tax return. You must also complete Your spouse’s name on page 1 of your tax return.

STEP 3 If you had a child who was a dependant of both you and your spouse and you are claiming a half levy exemption under part D, both you and your spouse will need to complete a Family agreement declaring that you will pay the half levy for your joint dependants.

Family agreement

NOTE If you are claiming a full exemption from the Medicare levy at part C, you will need to keep this Family agreement with your tax records:

- for five years from the date you lodge your tax return, or
- if you are subject to a shorter period of review (see pages 8–9)
  - for two years after the due date for payment if you had a taxable notice of assessment or
  - for two years from the 30th day after you received your notice advising you that no tax is payable.

We will work out your exemption based on the information on your tax return. If you wish to calculate the exemption yourself, see pages 118–9. Otherwise, go to question M2.
QUESTION M2  MEDICARE LEVY SURCHARGE

STOP

THIS QUESTION IS COMPULSORY FOR ALL TAXPAYERS

For the whole of 2002–03 did you and all of your dependants (including your spouse)—if you had any—have private patient hospital cover?

The definition of ‘private patient hospital cover’ is given below.

NO

Print X in the NO box to the right of item M2 on your tax return. Read below.

YES

Print X in the YES box to the right the of item M2 on your tax return. Make sure you have completed Private health insurance policy details—see page 92 in TaxPack 2003 for assistance. Go to question A1 on page 102.

For the whole of 2002–03 were you:

- a single person—without a dependent child or children—and your taxable income for Medicare levy surcharge (MLS) purposes was $50,000 or less
- OR
- a member of a family—which may consist of a couple (married or de facto) with or without a dependent child or children; or a sole parent with a dependent child or children—and the combined taxable income for MLS purposes of you and your spouse (if you had one) was $100,000 (plus $1,500 for each dependent child after the first, if you have children) or less?

NO

You may have to pay the surcharge. Print X in the relevant NO box at item M2 on your tax return. Read below.

YES

You do not have to pay the surcharge for any of the 365 days during the year. Print X in the relevant YES box at item M2 on your tax return. Go to Completing this question on page 101.

YOU NEED TO KNOW

Individuals and families on higher incomes who do not have private patient hospital cover pay a Medicare levy surcharge based on an extra 1% of their taxable income for any period during 2002–03 that they did not have this cover.

MLS is in addition to the 1.5% Medicare levy.

For MLS purposes you will need to understand the following terms:

- private patient hospital cover—generally is cover provided by an insurance policy issued by a registered fund for some or all hospital treatment provided in an Australian hospital or day hospital facility. However, if you take out an insurance policy for hospital cover after 24 May 2000 that contains an annual front-end deductible or excess of $501 or more in the case of a single contributor and $1,001 or more for all other contributors, you will not be considered to have private patient hospital cover. The same applies to insurance policies for hospital cover with those high front-end deductibles or excess taken out before 24 May 2000 that cease to provide continuous cover after that date. If you make a payment to cover a shortfall in the cost of hospital treatment, other than the excess agreed in your policy, this is not a front-end deductible or excess. Your health fund should include details of the level of front-end deductible or excess that applies to your policy in the private health insurance statement that it sends you.

- Travel insurance is not private patient hospital cover for MLS purposes. Private patient hospital cover does not include cover provided by an overseas or unregistered fund.

- ancillary cover—is commonly known as ‘Extras’. Ancillary cover is NOT private patient hospital cover. It covers items such as optical, dental, physiotherapy or chiropractic treatment.

- spouse—married or de facto. If your spouse died during the year and you did not have another spouse before the end of the year, you are considered to have had a spouse until the end of 2002–03. You retain the benefit of the family surcharge threshold. If you are living separately and apart from your spouse you are treated as not being married.
dependants—a dependant is an Australian resident, being:
- your spouse—even if they worked during 2002–03
- any of your children who were under 16 years of age
- any of your children aged 16 years and over but under 25 years of age who were full-time students.

For Medicare levy surcharge (MLS) purposes you need to have contributed to your dependant’s maintenance. See What is maintaining a dependant? on page 66.

family—you are considered to be a member of a family during any period of 2002–03 that you contributed to the maintenance of a dependant. Any parent (including a sole parent) who contributed to the maintenance of a dependent child or children is considered to be a member of a family.

taxable income for MLS purposes—is the total of:
- your taxable income AND
- your total reportable fringe benefits amounts at item 9 on your tax return AND
- the net amount on which family trust distribution tax has been paid (see question A3 on page 60 of TaxPack 2003 supplement)

LESS
- any post-June 1983 elements of an eligible termination payment (ETP) where the maximum tax rate is zero.
- if you are unsure of the tax rate, you can phone the Superannuation Infoline on 13 10 20 for assistance.

If you have any exempt foreign employment income and a taxable income of $1 or more, you need to complete this question as if the exempt income was added to your taxable income.

The taxable income of your spouse for MLS purposes is the total of:
- your spouse’s taxable income AND
- your spouse’s total reportable fringe benefits amounts AND
- any share in the net income of a trust estate to which your spouse is presently entitled and on which the trustee of the trust is assessed under section 98 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936—and which has not been included in your spouse’s taxable income AND
- the net amount on which family trust distribution tax has been paid which your spouse would have had to show as assessable income if that tax had not been paid

LESS
- any post-June 1983 elements of an ETP where the maximum tax rate is zero.

Will you have to pay the surcharge?
You will have to pay the surcharge for any period during 2002–03 that you or any of your dependants did NOT have private patient hospital cover AND you were:
- a single person with a taxable income for MLS purposes greater than $50,000, or
- a member of a family and the combined taxable income for MLS purposes of you and your spouse (if you had one for the whole of 2002–03) was above the relevant family surcharge threshold shown in the table in the next column.

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NOTE
If your spouse died during the year and you did not have another spouse before the end of the year, you are considered to have had a spouse until the end of the year and you retain the benefit of the family surcharge threshold.

NOTE
If you or any of your dependants were in a Medicare levy exemption category (see page 96) for any period during 2002–03, this may affect whether or not you have to pay the surcharge for that period. Read What if you are exempt from the Medicare levy? on page 100.

If the combined taxable income for MLS purposes of you and your spouse was above the family surcharge threshold but your own taxable income for MLS purposes was at or below $15,062 you are not liable for the surcharge. (This amount reflects a proposed change to the law for 2002–03 which, at the time of printing TaxPack had not become law—this amount should be used in working out whether you have to pay the surcharge.) However, your spouse may still be liable.

It is possible that both the single and family surcharge thresholds applied to you at different periods during 2002–03.

If only one of the surcharge thresholds—single or family—applied to you for the whole of 2002–03 and your taxable income or combined taxable income for MLS purposes did not exceed this threshold—you are not liable for the surcharge, for any of the 365 days during the year. Go to Completing this question on page 101. Otherwise, read on.

If:
- only one of the surcharge thresholds—single or family—applied to you for the whole of 2002–03 and your taxable income or combined taxable income for MLS purposes exceeded this threshold AND
- for the whole of 2002–03 you or any of your dependants:
  - did not have private patient hospital cover AND
  - were not in one of the Medicare levy exemption categories on page 96, you will have to pay the surcharge for the whole of 2002–03. Go to Completing this question on page 101. Otherwise, read on.

You will not be liable for the surcharge for any period during 2002–03 that you and all your dependants either had private patient hospital cover or were in a Medicare levy exemption category. Read on.
Which income threshold do you use if, during the year, you had a new spouse or separated from your spouse, or you became or ceased to be a sole parent?

To work out if you are liable for Medicare levy surcharge (MLS) for any period during 2002–03 that you were single—that is, you had no spouse and no dependent child or children—apply the single surcharge threshold of $50,000 to your own taxable income for MLS purposes.

To work out if you are liable for MLS for any period during 2002–03 that you had a spouse or a dependent child or children, apply the family surcharge threshold of $100,000 plus $1,500 for each dependent child after the first, to your own taxable income for MLS purposes. Example 2 may help you.

What if you are exempt from the Medicare levy?

Only read this section if you or any of your dependants were exempt or partially exempt from the Medicare levy at any time during 2002–03—for example, you were a Defence Force member. For more information on the exemption categories for the Medicare levy, read page 96 in TaxPack 2003.

If you were in an exemption category for the whole of 2002–03 and you did not have any dependants; or if you had dependants and they were also all in an exemption category and/or they all had private patient hospital cover for the whole of 2002–03, you do not have to pay the surcharge for the full year—365 days. Go to Completing this question on page 101.

If the taxable income for MLS purposes of you and your spouse—if you had one for the whole year—was above the relevant surcharge threshold, you are liable for the surcharge for any period during 2002–03 that:

- you were not in an exemption category and did not have private patient hospital cover, or
- one or more of your dependants were not in an exemption category and did not have private patient hospital cover.

What if you had private patient hospital cover for only part of the year?

Only read this section if you had private patient hospital cover for part of the year.

If you and your dependants—if any—were not in a Medicare levy exemption category at any time during 2002–03 and your taxable income or combined taxable income for MLS purposes was above the relevant threshold, you are liable for the surcharge for the number of days you or any of your dependants did not have private patient hospital cover during 2002–03. Examples 1 and 3 may help you work this out. Go to Completing this question on page 101.

Example 1

Part-year private patient hospital cover

Ashley is not married and in 2002–03 had a taxable income for MLS purposes of $59,000. He was not in a Medicare levy exemption category at any time during the year.

Ashley took out private patient hospital cover on 15 December 2002.

Because Ashley’s taxable income was above the single surcharge threshold of $50,000 and he did not have private patient hospital cover for the full year he will have to pay MLS for the part of the year that he did not have private patient hospital cover.

Ashley will NOT have to pay the surcharge for the number of days he had private patient hospital cover—15 December 2002 to 30 June 2003—198 days.

Ashley will write the number of days in 2002–03 that he is NOT liable for the surcharge—198—at A item M2 on his tax return and complete Private health insurance policy details.

Example 2

Spouse for part-year

Sally separated from Adrian on 12 October 2002 and stayed single. Neither Sally nor Adrian had any dependent children. Sally and Adrian were dependants of each other for MLS purposes only for the period they were together. For 2002–03, Adrian’s taxable income for MLS purposes was $45,000 and Sally’s taxable income for MLS purposes was $60,000. Sally and Adrian did not have private patient hospital cover at any time during 2002–03.

As they are considered to be a family for the period 1 July 2002 to 12 October 2002, they are each entitled to the family surcharge threshold of $100,000 for this period. For the period 1 July 2002 to 12 October 2002, Sally is not liable for the surcharge as her taxable income for MLS purposes of $60,000 was under the family surcharge threshold. Adrian is also not liable for the surcharge for this period as his taxable income for MLS purposes of $45,000 was also under the family surcharge threshold.

For the period 13 October 2002 to 30 June 2003—261 days—the single person surcharge threshold of $50,000 applies to both of them. For this period, Adrian is not liable for the surcharge because he had a taxable income for MLS purposes of $45,000.

Adrian will write 365 at A item M2 on his tax return. Sally is liable to pay the surcharge for the period 13 October 2002 to 30 June 2003—261 days—because her taxable income for MLS purposes was $60,000.

Sally will write the number of days in 2002–03 that she is NOT liable for the surcharge—104—at A item M2 on her tax return.
Example 3

Part-year liability
Kathy and Mark are married. They have three dependent children. Kathy, Mark and their children were not in a Medicare levy exemption category at any time during the year. Kathy and the children were covered by private patient hospital cover for the full income year. Mark had his name added to the policy on 10 December 2002.
Kathy and Mark had a combined taxable income for Medicare levy surcharge (MLS) purposes of $115,000. Because not everyone was covered for the full period 1 July 2002 to 9 December 2002, Kathy and Mark are both liable for the surcharge for this period—162 days. Kathy and Mark would both write the number of days in 2002–03 that they were NOT liable for the surcharge—203—at A item M2 on their tax returns and complete Private health insurance policy details.

Completing this question

WHAT YOU MAY NEED

• your taxable income for MLS purposes
• your spouse’s taxable income for MLS purposes, if you had a spouse for the whole of 2002–03 or your spouse died during the year
• the number of your dependent children during 2002–03
• the number of days you and all your dependants had private patient hospital cover during 2002–03
• your private health insurance policy details
• the number of days you do NOT have to pay the surcharge.

STEP 1 Write the number of days during 2002–03 that you do NOT have to pay the surcharge at A item M2 on your tax return:

• If you have to pay the surcharge for the whole period 1 July 2002 to 30 June 2003 write ‘0’ at A.
• If for the whole period 1 July 2002 to 30 June 2003 you do NOT have to pay the surcharge write ‘365’ at A.
• If you have to pay the surcharge for part of the period 1 July 2002 to 30 June 2003 write the number of days you do NOT have to pay the surcharge at A.

If you had a dependent child during 2002–03 go to step 2. Otherwise, go to step 3.

STEP 2 Write the number of your dependent children during 2002–03 at D item M2 on your tax return.

STEP 3 If you had a spouse during 2002–03 and you and all of your dependants were not covered by private patient hospital cover for the full year, complete Spouse details—married or de facto on pages 6–7 of your tax return.

If you had a spouse for all of 2002–03 include:

• your spouse’s taxable income, at O
• your spouse’s share of trust income on which the trustee is assessed under section 98 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 and which has not been included in your spouse’s taxable income, at T
• the net amount of any distributions to your spouse on which family trust distribution tax has been paid which your spouse would have had to show as assessable income if that tax had not been paid, at U
• your spouse’s total reportable fringe benefits amounts, at S

* If you cannot find out your spouse’s exact taxable income for MLS purposes, you may make a reasonable estimate.

You must also complete Your spouse’s name on page 1 of your tax return.

STEP 4 If you had private patient hospital cover during the year you must complete Private health insurance policy details—see page 92 in TaxPack 2003 for assistance.

You have now completed this question. Go to question A1.

DO YOU WANT TO WORK OUT YOUR SURCHARGE?

You do not have to work out your MLS. We will work it out based on the information you provide. If you would like to work it out for your records, see page 120.

NOTE

If you received any exempt foreign employment income, a special formula is used to work out the amount of tax—including MLS—you have to pay on your taxable income. You will not be able to calculate your MLS. We will do this calculation for you.
Use this checklist to make sure your tax return is complete before you lodge it with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). To avoid any delay in processing please use the pre-addressed envelope provided with your TaxPack. If you don’t have a pre-addressed envelope see page 106 for the address to use.

→ When can you expect your notice of assessment?

Our current standard for processing tax returns posted to the ATO is six weeks. If you lodged an e-tax tax return over the Internet or if you lodged your tax return through the TAXPACKEXPRESS service, our standard processing time is two weeks.

However, if you receive a family tax benefit payment from the Family Assistance Office, or claim it from the ATO, your e-tax or TAXPACKEXPRESS tax return may take longer than normal to process. This is necessary to make sure that family tax benefits are paid correctly.

If you sent your tax return by ordinary post please wait seven weeks before phoning to check on our progress with your tax return. If you lodged over the Internet or used the TAXPACKEXPRESS service, please wait three weeks (see table below):

After that time you can use the automated self-help service on 13 28 65 which is available 24 hours per day, every day, to check the progress of your tax return. Using your telephone keypad, you will need to key in your tax file number.

Write the date you lodged your tax return here:

Add the appropriate time (seven weeks or three weeks) to work out when to expect your notice of assessment:
To make sure your tax return is processed as quickly as possible, use the pre-addressed envelope enclosed with your copy of TaxPack. The address shown on the pre-addressed envelope is the official lodgment address. If you post your tax return to an address other than this, you may experience delays.

The envelope is only for lodgment of your tax return (and its attachments) and/or non-lodgment advice. You must send other correspondence to Australian Taxation Office (ATO) locations listed on page 123.

If you did not receive an envelope with your TaxPack or you have misplaced it, please post your tax return in a business size envelope to:

NOTE

The address must appear on your envelope as shown. Do not replace the words IN YOUR CAPITAL CITY with the name of your capital city. Because of a special agreement with Australia Post there is no need for you to include the name of your capital city or a postcode.

Lodging from overseas

If you are lodging from outside Australia, choose e-tax and lodge your tax return over the Internet—most tax returns lodged using e-tax are processed within 14 days. Visit the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au

Alternatively, to lodge a paper return from outside Australia use the pre-addressed envelope with the following alteration:

Cross out IN YOUR CAPITAL CITY and replace with

MELBOURNE VIC 3001

AUSTRALIA

It would also assist us if you would cross out the bar code above the address.

NOTE

Before you lodge your tax return, make sure you have read Self-assessment—it’s your responsibility on page 8.
If you realise that you did not include something on your tax return that you should have, or there is some other error on your tax return, you need to correct it as soon as possible by requesting an amendment.

To request an amendment write a letter to the Australian Taxation Office.

In your letter provide your name, address, telephone number, tax file number and information about what you want to amend. Include:

- the year shown on the tax return you want to amend—for example, 2000
- the tax return item number and description affected by the change
- the amount of income or deductions to be added or taken away
- the amount of tax offsets to be increased or decreased
- the relevant claim type code—if applicable to the item being changed
- an explanation of why you made the mistake, and
- a signed and dated declaration as follows: ‘I declare that all the information I have given in this letter, including any attachments, is true and correct.’

If, after lodging your tax return, you voluntarily tell us that you made a mistake and an amendment will result in your paying more tax, the amount of penalty that may otherwise have been imposed will, in most cases, be reduced.

However, if you have used TaxPack properly, as defined on the inside front cover, and have made an honest mistake, you will not be charged a penalty, although you may have to pay a general interest charge on any shortfall of tax. Our decision will be based on your particular circumstances that you explain in your letter.

If you made the mistake because something in TaxPack was misleading, you will not be charged any penalty or general interest charge on any shortfall of tax.

It is very important that your letter provides an explanation of why you made the mistake so that we can assess any penalties or general interest charge correctly.

Penalties will not be raised if the amendment reduces the tax assessed—for example, where you increase your deductions or tax offsets.

Make sure you sign and date the declaration in your letter, and attach any payment summaries or additional information if applicable to the item being changed. Post your letter and attachments to the tax office that sent your notice of assessment. Keep a copy of your letter for your records. Do not send in another tax return unless we ask you to.

Dear Deputy Commissioner of Taxation

Please amend my 2003 tax return. My employer sent me a letter advising me that my payment summary was incorrect. Please increase my income at question 1 by $1,450 and also increase my tax withheld by $368. A copy of the letter is attached.

I declare that all the information I have given in this letter, including any attachments, is true and correct.

Riley Finn
20 September 2003
How do you know how much you have to pay?

Your notice of assessment will tell you how much tax you have to pay, if any, and when you must pay to avoid being charged a general interest charge (GIC) for late payment.

When do you pay your tax debt?

You must lodge your income tax return by 31 October 2003, unless you have been given a deferral of time to lodge, or it is being prepared by a registered tax agent.

If you lodge your tax return on time, any tax payable will be due either:
- 21 days after you receive your notice of assessment, or
- 21 days after your tax return was due to be lodged whichever is the later.

- If you prepare your own tax return and it is lodged by 31 October 2003, any tax payable will be due no earlier than 21 November 2003.
- If you have contacted the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) and been given a deferral of time to lodge your tax return, any tax payable will be due no earlier than 21 days after the deferred date for lodgment.

If you do not lodge your tax return on time, the law treats your tax as being payable 21 days after your tax return was due for lodgment, irrespective of the date you are advised of the debt.

A GIC will accrue on any amount that is not paid by the due date for payment.

Where do you pay your tax debt?

The ATO cannot accept payments at any ATO office or at ATOAccess sites. The methods for payment are set out on the back of your notice of assessment. If you need more information, phone the payments hotline on FREECALL 1800 815 886.

Please note, the ATO does not accept payment by credit card.

What if you don’t agree with your assessment?

You must pay your tax debt on time even if you have lodged an objection or asked for an amendment. If the objection is decided in your favour, you will receive a refund of the amount you have overpaid plus interest.

What if you cannot pay your tax debt on time?

If you cannot pay your tax debt on time, you should phone the account management infoline on 13 11 42 and explain your reasons.

In some circumstances you will need to provide written details of your financial position, including a statement of your assets and liabilities and details of your income and expenditure.

The ATO will also want to know what steps you have taken to obtain funds to pay your debt and what steps you are taking to make sure you meet future tax debts on time. You may be given extra time to pay, depending on your particular circumstances.

If we allow you to pay your tax debt late, you are required by law to pay interest in the form of a GIC. The GIC is tax deductible in the income year that it was incurred. The law also provides for remission of the GIC in limited circumstances. This means that the Commissioner of Taxation may excuse you from all or part of the GIC. Phone the account management infoline on 13 11 42 for further information.

What if payment will cause you serious hardship?

Serious hardship exists when you are unable to provide food, accommodation, clothing, medical treatment, education or other necessities for you or your family or other people for whom you are responsible.

You can apply for a release from payment of your tax debt. The ATO can give you further information and an application—phone the account management infoline on 13 11 42.

NOTE

For all other general account enquiries phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).
What is your notice of assessment?

The notice of assessment that the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) sends to you is an itemised account of the amount of tax you owe on your taxable income, taking into account any tax offsets you are entitled to. Your notice also contains other details which are not part of the assessment such as the amount of credit for tax you have already paid through the year.

When you receive your notice of assessment check it to make sure that everything appears correct.

Unless you are using electronic funds transfer, the bottom section of your notice of assessment will be either your refund cheque or, if you owe tax, your payment advice.

Please note that if you have any other outstanding tax debts, child support or Centrelink debts or family tax benefit (FTB) debts, these may be deducted from any refund you are entitled to. Where this happens, we will provide you with details.

NOTE

Even though the ATO may not initially adjust the claims you make in your tax return, and issue you with a notice of assessment, your tax return may be subject to further review. Under the law, the ATO is allowed a period of four years (depending on your circumstances—see A shorter period of review on pages 8–9) where it can review a tax return and may increase or decrease the amount of tax payable. The period of review is extended to six years where tax avoidance is involved (see Self-assessment—it’s your responsibility on page 8).

Reserve Bank of Australia

If you receive a refund cheque with your notice of assessment, all details on the cheque are provided to the Reserve Bank of Australia to assist in clearing your refund.

Family tax benefit (FTB) and your notice of assessment

If you lodged an FTB tax claim with your tax return your notice of assessment will include information about your FTB entitlement or, if the Family Assistance Office (FAO) was unable to process your entitlement in time, it will contain advice to that effect.

If you received FTB directly from the FAO—for example, as a fortnightly payment—you will have to reconcile your FTB payment by the time the ATO issued your notice of assessment or, where that is not possible, the FAO will pay it to you directly.

Reconciliation

When your actual family income is known the FAO will make sure you have been paid the right amount of FTB. If you and your spouse are required to lodge a tax return the ATO will send your actual income details to the FAO for calculation of your correct entitlement. The FAO will compare the amount you received through the year based on your estimate of family income, with your final FTB entitlement.

If you were paid less FTB than you are entitled to, your FTB payment may be ‘topped up’. The top-up will be included in your assessment or, where that is not possible, the FAO will pay it to you directly.

If you have been paid too much FTB, the FAO will recover any amount you should not have received. A tax refund—yours or your spouse’s if they gave consent—can be used to recover these amounts directly.

Please note that your tax return, even with an extension to lodge, must be lodged by 30th June 2004, to receive a top-up payment.

If you received FTB directly from the FAO—for example, as a fortnightly payment—but your notice of assessment does not show an FTB reconciliation result, do not be alarmed. The reason may be that the FAO was unable to reconcile your FTB payment by the time the ATO issued your notice of assessment—for example, your spouse’s notice of assessment has not issued. If you have an FTB overpayment or are entitled to a ‘top up’ the FAO will contact you directly.

If you are unsure about an FTB amount or message that appears on your notice of assessment, visit the FAO or phone 13 61 50.

Child Support Agency

Your FTB entitlement may be affected by any outstanding liabilities to the Child Support Agency.

How long do you have to wait for your notice of assessment?

Our current standard for processing tax returns posted to the ATO is six weeks. If you lodged an e-tax tax return over the Internet or if you lodged your tax return through the TAXPACKEXPRESS service, our standard processing time is two weeks.

However, if you receive a family tax benefit payment from the Family Assistance Office, or claim it from the ATO, your e-tax or TAXPACKEXPRESS tax return may take longer than normal to process. This is necessary to make sure that family tax benefits are paid correctly.

If you sent your tax return by ordinary post please wait seven weeks before phoning to check on our progress with your tax return. If you lodged over the Internet or used the TAXPACKEXPRESS service, please wait three weeks (see table below):

After that time you can use the automated self-help service on 13 28 65 which is available 24 hours per day, every day, to check the progress of your tax return. Using your telephone keypad, you will need to key in your tax file number.
Asking about your assessment

It's quicker by phone

When you phone we will ask you to provide your tax file number (TFN) and other information to confirm your identity—for example, details from a recent notice of assessment.

If you want a representative to be able to phone on your behalf, you must provide written authorisation beforehand to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). Your representative will need to quote this authorisation and also provide information to prove their identity.

This requirement is to protect your privacy.

If you write

Quote your TFN, your full name and your address. Please provide your telephone number if it is convenient. Remember to sign the letter.

Can you get your refund before six weeks?

The ATO may be able to help you get a quicker refund if you are experiencing serious financial hardship. Serious hardship exists when you are unable to provide food, accommodation, clothing, medical treatment, education or other necessities for you or your family or other people for whom you are responsible.

Phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack) before you lodge your tax return, to find out if you are eligible for this faster service. Have on hand your tax return, TFN, pension or benefit statement, payment summaries, and other papers that show you are in severe financial hardship.

What if you think your assessment is wrong?

Check all the details from your notice of assessment with those in your tax return. If you still think there is a problem, phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack) for help. You will need your notice of assessment and, if possible, a copy of your tax return.

What if you still think your assessment is wrong?

You can write to the ATO and request an amendment—see If you made a mistake on your tax return on page 107—or you can object to your assessment.

If you object to your assessment, you have a formal right to appeal against our decision on your objection if you disagree with it. If you request an amendment, you do not have any formal right to appeal. If your objection or request for an amendment is successful you have a right to receive interest on any overpaid tax. You cannot use the TaxPackExpress service or e-tax 2003 to lodge your objection.

When writing to the ATO to object to your assessment, make sure you:

- include your TFN and the year of the assessment
- include your address and, if convenient, give your daytime telephone number so we can contact you to talk about your letter if necessary
- use the word object if you are objecting and give full details of what you think is wrong
- include a copy of your notice of assessment and copies of any relevant papers or documents such as receipts

- use the words ATO error in your letter—if you believe this is so
- include the following declaration in your objection letter:

  ‘I declare that all the information I have given in this letter, including any attachments, is true and correct.’
- sign and date the declaration
- keep a copy of your letter for your records

Post your letter to:
Deputy Commissioner of Taxation
Australian Taxation Office
PO Box 47
Albury NSW 2640

Do not send us another tax return for this income year unless we ask you to.

Is there any time limit for you to request an amendment or lodge an objection?

Your amendment request must be lodged within four years of the due day for payment (or two years if you meet the shorter period of review requirements).

For 2002–03, if a due date for payment is not specified on your notice of assessment and

- you lodge your tax return by 31 October 2003, the amendment request must be lodged within four years (or two years if you meet the shorter period of review requirements) of the later of 21 November 2003 or
- 21 days after you receive your notice of assessment

- you do not lodge your tax return by 31 October 2003, the amendment request must be lodged within four years of 21 November 2003 (or two years if you meet the shorter period of review requirements).

Your objection must be lodged within:

- four years of the date of service of your notice of assessment, or
- two years if you are subject to a shorter period of review (see page 9 in TaxPack)

If you wish to object to an assessment which has already been amended, you need to do so by:

- 60 days from the date of service of the notice of amended assessment, or
- four years (or two years if you meet the shorter period of review requirements) after the date of service of the notice of the original assessment which has been amended

—whichever is later.

If your objection is not lodged within the above time limits, you may request an extension of time to lodge your objection. You must request the extension in writing with your objection, giving the reasons why the objection is late. If your extension request is refused, you may apply to the Administrative Appeals Tribunal (AAT) for a review of the decision.

How will you know what the ATO decides?

The ATO will either write to you or send you a notice of amended assessment or both.

What can you do then?

If you are still not satisfied with the ATO’s decision on your objection, you have the right to appeal to the AAT, which includes the Small Taxation Claims Tribunal, or the Federal Court.

If we do not allow your objection in full, we will tell you what to do if you want to appeal when we send you our decision.
How does the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) protect your tax information?

Taxation Acts have secrecy provisions that prohibit any officer of the ATO or any other government department from accessing, recording or disclosing anyone’s tax information except in performing their duties. A person can be fined up to $10,000 and sentenced to two years in prison for breaking these provisions.

In addition, the Privacy Act 1988 protects personal information held by federal government agencies. It also protects tax file numbers, no matter who holds them.

Can the ATO give your information to anyone?

The ATO can give your information to some government agencies which are named in law. This is usually to check eligibility for government benefits, for law enforcement purposes or for collecting statistics. Any further use of your information by these agencies is also controlled by law. ATO officers can also disclose your information to these and other agencies in performing their duties.

Otherwise, the ATO can give personal information only to you or to someone who can show that they have your permission to act for you.

What about Child Support Agency (CSA) clients?

Information you give may be used by the CSA in assessing or collecting child support.

Who can ask you for your tax file number (TFN)?

Only certain people and organisations can ask you for your TFN. These include employers, some federal government agencies, trustees for superannuation funds, payers under the pay as you go (PAYG) system, higher education institutions, the CSA and investment bodies such as banks. You do not have to give your TFN but there may be consequences if you do not—for example, if you are applying for a pension and you do not give your TFN, you may not be paid the pension.

Do you need more information?

If you need more information about how the tax laws protect your personal information, or have any concerns about how the ATO has handled your personal information, phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).

If you are unable to resolve your concerns with the ATO about how the ATO has handled your personal information, you can contact the Privacy Commissioner’s Office by phoning the privacy hotline 1300 363 992 for the cost of a local call (calls from mobile phones are charged at mobile rates) or by visiting the Privacy Commissioner’s website at www.privacy.gov.au

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

The Freedom of Information (FOI) Act 1982 gives you the right to see your tax return and other documents—for example, public rulings and determinations, payment summaries and notices of assessment. In some circumstances this information may be provided free of charge, but usually there is a charge to cover the time and expense involved in getting the information for you. We suggest you make enquiries by phone before you ask for information under the FOI Act. Phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack).

Please keep copies of your tax returns, as a request for a copy from the ATO may involve a charge.
INFORMATION DEALING WITH THE AUSTRALIAN TAXATION OFFICE

It is important that you are aware of your rights and obligations when dealing with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

When we make a decision about your tax affairs, we will tell you about your rights and obligations in relation to that decision. We will also give you contact details in case you have any queries or need more information.

There is information under ‘Your rights’ on the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy of the Taxpayers’ Charter—what you need to know (NAT 2548), see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

INFORMATION YOUR RIGHT TO COMPLAIN

If you are dissatisfied with a particular decision, service or action of the Australian Taxation Office (ATO), you have the right to complain.

The ATO recommends that you:
- first, try to sort it out with the tax officer you have been dealing with (or phone the number you have been given)
- if you are not satisfied, talk to the tax officer’s manager, and
- if you are still not satisfied, phone the ATO’s complaints line 13 28 70.

You can also make a complaint by writing to Complaints, Australian Taxation Office, at Locked Bag 3120, Melbourne 3001 or send a FREEFAX on 1800 060 063.

The Commonwealth Ombudsman

If you are not satisfied with the ATO’s decisions or actions, you can raise the matter with the Commonwealth Ombudsman’s Special Tax Adviser. Before looking into a matter, the Special Tax Adviser may request that a complainant approach the ATO’s complaints area.

The Commonwealth Ombudsman’s office can investigate most complaints relating to tax administration and may recommend that the ATO provides a solution or remedy to your problem. Investigations are independent, private, informal and free of charge.

Phone the Commonwealth Ombudsman’s office on the National Complaints Line 1300 362 072 or visit your nearest Commonwealth Ombudsman’s office (located in all Australian capital cities). You can also visit the Commonwealth Ombudsman’s website at www.ombudsman.gov.au or write to:

The Special Tax Adviser
Commonwealth Ombudsman
GPO Box 442
Canberra ACT 2601

The Privacy Commissioner

The Privacy Commissioner receives complaints under the Privacy Act 1988 and tax file number guidelines. You can contact the Privacy Commissioner by phoning the privacy hotline on 1300 363 992, or by writing to the Privacy Commissioner, GPO Box 5218, Sydney 1042.
INCOME

You show this amount at TOTAL INCOME OR LOSS on your tax return.

ALLOWABLE DEDUCTIONS

You show this amount at TOTAL DEDUCTIONS on your tax return. You may also show an amount at L1.

TAXABLE INCOME

You show this amount at TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS on your tax return.

We use this total to work out TAX ON TAXABLE INCOME. If you want to work it out, see pages 114–16.

TAX ON TAXABLE INCOME

You show most tax offsets at TOTAL TAX OFFSETS on your tax return. If you are entitled to a low income, Senior Australians, beneficiary or pensioner tax offset, we work it out for you. If you want to work it out, see pages 116–17. Any refundable tax offsets are included in the amount for tax credits and refundable tax offsets below.

REFUND OR AMOUNT OWING

If you have a Higher Education Contribution Scheme (HECS) debt or Student Financial Supplement Scheme (SFSS) debt, we work out your repayment. If you want to work it out, see page 121.

We work these out from items M1 and M2 on your tax return. If you want to work them out see pages 118–20.

We work these out from any amounts of tax you paid during the year (which have not been credited or refunded) and any refundable tax offsets such as baby bonus, any amount shown at T4 and any imputation/franking credit from item 11 or 12.

We show this on your notice of assessment. Your entitlement to a refund may be affected by any outstanding liabilities to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) or Child Support Agency (CSA). These amounts will appear on your notice of assessment as ‘Other amounts payable’. An entitlement, top-up or overpayment relating to family tax benefit (FTB) from the Family Assistance Office (FAO) may also affect your refund or amount owing.
You do not have to work out your tax refund or tax debt. We will work it out from the information you provide in your tax return and advise you of the result in your notice of assessment.

If you do want to work out your tax refund or tax debt for your own purposes, we show you how on the following pages.

There are some situations where we cannot show you how to work out your tax refund or tax debt because the nature of the calculation is too complex to explain in TaxPack. These situations include where you:

- had income subject to capital gains tax
- had an eligible termination payment
- are entitled to use your spouse’s unused pensioner or Senior Australians tax offset
- had a lump sum payment in arrears
- had a lump sum payment because you retired or finished working in a job
- were under 18 years and earned more than $643 in interest, dividends or other investment income
- received credit for any tax paid by a trustee
- had a family tax benefit claim
- had exempt foreign employment income
- had income that was subject to averaging
- claimed the baby bonus. If you want to work out your baby bonus amount you can use the baby bonus calculator on the Australian Taxation Office website at www.ato.gov.au or phone the Personal Tax Infoline (see the inside back cover of TaxPack) for help.

Otherwise, work out if you have a part-year tax-free threshold. The following steps will help you to do this.

(i)—You stopped full-time education for the first time in 2002–03

STEP 1 Work out the number of months in 2002–03 that you were not in full-time education. Include the month that you stopped full-time education.

STEP 2 Multiply the number of months by $500.

STEP 3 Add the amount you wrote at O item A2 on your tax return to your step 2 amount.

STEP 4 If the amount you worked out at step 3 is less than $6,000, the amount you worked out is your part-year tax-free threshold. If the total is $6,000 or more your tax-free threshold is $6,000.

(ii) and (iii)—You became or stopped being an Australian resident during 2002–03

STEP 1 Work out the number of months in 2002–03 that you lived in Australia. Include the month that you started to live here or stopped living here.

STEP 2 Multiply the number of months by $500. The result is your part-year tax-free threshold.

If you were a non-resident for the full year you are not entitled to a tax-free threshold.

Tax on taxable income

To work out the tax on your taxable income follow the table on the next page that applies to you.

If you were a resident for the full year you are entitled to a $6,000 tax-free threshold; use TABLE 1.

If you were a non-resident for the full year you are not entitled to a tax-free threshold; use TABLE 2.

Total amount of allowance or payment you received—from item 5 on your tax return (a)$S$

Take $6,000 away from (a)—or, if your tax-free threshold is lower than $6,000, take that lower amount from (a) to work out (b). *(b)$S$

Multiply (b) by 17 and divide by 100. (c)$S$

This is your tax offset on income up to $20,000. If the amount you have shown at (a) is more than $20,000, you are entitled to an additional 13% tax offset on the excess.

Do not write your tax offset anywhere on your tax return.

* If (b) is ‘0’ or a negative amount, you are not entitled to a tax offset.

Low income tax offset

If your taxable income is $24,450 or more, you are not entitled to the tax offset.

If your taxable income is $20,700 or less, you are entitled to the maximum tax offset of $150. The tax offset reduces by four cents for each dollar of taxable income over $20,700.

Use the worksheet to work out your tax offset if your taxable income is more than $20,700 but less than $24,450.

Multiply (e) by 4. (f)$S$

Take (f) away from (a). (g)$S$

The amount at (g) is the tax offset you are entitled to. You can use the amount at (g) when you work out your tax refund or tax debt on page 122.

Do not write the amount at (g) anywhere on your tax return. We will work out your low income tax offset and make sure it reduces your tax.

Working out your tax

Copy taxable income from TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS on your tax return.

Amount in Taxable income column less than but nearest your taxable income

$S = $ (b) $S = $ (c)

Tax on (b) $ (d)

Take (b) away from (a). $ (e)

Tax rate applied to (d) $ (f)

Multiply (e) by (f) $ (g)

Tax on your taxable income Add (c), (d) and (g). $
Senior Australians or pensioner tax offset (from question T2 or 6)

If you want to work out your tax offset, you need to know your taxable income. This is the amount you showed at TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS on page 3 of your tax return.

There are two tax offset thresholds tables—table A applies to the Senior Australians tax offset, table B to the pensioner tax offset.

If you have a spouse who is eligible for the Senior Australians or pensioner tax offset, and your taxable income is more than the relevant amounts in COLUMN 2 of table A or table B—whichever applies to you—you may still get a tax offset because of a transfer of the unused portion of your spouse’s Senior Australians or pensioner tax offset.

If you are eligible for a pensioner tax offset you will not be able to work out your tax offset if:

- you used tax offset code letter S, Q, I or J and you received more than $11,195 pension income
- you used tax offset code letter P and you received more than $9,344 pension income.

Refer to note 2 in table B below for more information.

Do not write your tax offset amount anywhere on your tax return.

STEP 1 Find the tax offset code letter that applies to you in the relevant tax offset thresholds table (A or B) below. This is the code letter you showed at either item T2 or item 6.

STEP 2 You may get up to the full tax offset shown in COLUMN 3 if your taxable income is equal to or less than the amount in COLUMN 1 for your tax offset code letter. If your taxable income is more than the amount in COLUMN 1 and less than the amount in COLUMN 2, use the How to work out your tax offset table below.

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1 For the code letters with an asterisk (*) you may still get a tax offset because of a transfer of the unused portion of your spouse’s pensioner or Senior Australians tax offset. We will work it out for you.

2 If

- you used S, Q, I or J and your pension is more than $11,195, or
- you used P and your pension is more than $9,344

your maximum tax offset may be higher than the amount in COLUMN 3, and you may still get a tax offset if your taxable income is more than the amount in COLUMN 2. We will work it out for you.

How to work out your tax offset

1. Take (a) away from (b).
2. Divide (c) by 8.
3. Take (e) from (d).

This is your tax offset.

The tax offset you work out here will not include any unused portion of your spouse’s Senior Australians or pensioner tax offset that we may transfer to you.

Do not write your tax offset amount anywhere on your tax return.
Medicare levy (from question M1)

If you want to work out your Medicare levy before you receive your notice of assessment, you can follow the steps below.

For the purposes of working out your Medicare levy, including any reduction or exemption, the taxable income of you and your spouse excludes the amount of any post-June 1983 component of an eligible termination payment on which the maximum tax rate is zero.

Note: If you had exempt foreign employment income you will not be able to work out your Medicare levy. We will do this when working out the amount of tax (including Medicare levy) you have to pay on your other income.

STEP 1  Work out your basic levy

- If you are eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset—see page 79—and your taxable income is $20,001 or more but less than $21,622, your levy is 20 cents for every dollar above $20,000. If it is more than $21,621, your levy is 1.5% of your taxable income.
- If you are eligible for the pensioner tax offset—see page 23—and your taxable income is $17,165 or more but less than $18,556, your levy is 20 cents for every dollar above $17,164. If it is more than $18,555, your levy is 1.5% of your taxable income.
- In all other circumstances, if your taxable income is $15,063 or more but less than $16,284, your levy is 20 cents for every dollar above $15,062. If it is more than $16,283, your levy is 1.5% of your taxable income.

For example: If you are not eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset or the pensioner tax offset, the levy you pay on a taxable income of $16,000 is $187.60.

\( \frac{(16,000 - 15,062) \times 20}{100} = 187.60 \)

STEP 2  Did you claim for a reduction or exemption at question M1? If not, your Medicare levy is the amount you worked out at step 1. If you are claiming a reduction or exemption, read on.

STEP 3  If you only completed part B of question M1, go to step 4.

If you completed part B and either of or both parts C and D, go to step 4.

If you completed part C, part D or both, go to step 6.

STEP 4  Work out your family income

If you had a spouse on 30 June 2003 or your spouse died during 2002–03, your family income is the combined taxable income of you and your spouse.

If you did not have a spouse on 30 June 2003 but you were eligible for a reduced levy based on family income, your family income is your taxable income.

Refer to the following tables. Use FAMILY INCOME TABLE 1 if you are eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset and use FAMILY INCOME TABLE 2 in all other circumstances. If your family income is less than or equal to your relevant lower income limit for the number of dependent children and students you had, you do not pay a levy. If your family income is greater than your relevant lower income limit but less than or equal to your relevant upper income limit, you pay a reduced levy.

FAMILY INCOME TABLE 1—for taxpayers who are eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Number of dependent children and students during 2002–03</th>

<td>$38,731</td>
<td>$41,871</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>$41,065</td>
<td>$44,394</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If you have more than four dependent children or students, you can extend this table. The lower income limit increases by $2,334 for each additional child or student and the upper income limit increases by $2,523 for each additional child or student.

FAMILY INCOME TABLE 2—for all other taxpayers

<td>$32,419</td>
<td>$35,047</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>$34,753</td>
<td>$37,570</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If you have more than four dependent children or students, you can extend this table. The lower income limit increases by $2,334 for each additional child or student and the upper income limit increases by $2,523 for each additional child or student.

The tables on the next page show you how to work out the amount of Medicare levy you pay. An example is presented and there is space left for your own calculations.

Example: Trevor, who is not eligible for the Senior Australians tax offset, has two dependent children and had a spouse on 30 June 2003. His taxable income is $16,800 and his spouse’s taxable income is $15,200—a family income of $32,000. This is between his family income limits (see FAMILY INCOME TABLE 2).
STEP 5  Work out your family reduction amount. You need to do this in two parts.

Part 1

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Trevor</th>
<th>You</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Family income</td>
<td>(a) $32,000</td>
<td>(a) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lower limit from step 4</td>
<td>(b) $30,085</td>
<td>(b) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Take (b) away from (a).</td>
<td>(c) $1,915</td>
<td>(c) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Multiply (b) by 1.5 and divide by 100.</td>
<td>(d) $451.28</td>
<td>(d) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Multiply (c) by 18.5 and divide by 100.</td>
<td>(e) $354.28</td>
<td>(e) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Take (e) away from (d) to get your family reduction amount.</td>
<td>(f) $97.00</td>
<td>(f) $</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If your spouse’s taxable income is less than $15,063, go to step 6. If it is $15,063 or more, you will share the reduction amount as shown below.

Part 2

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Trevor</th>
<th>You</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Family reduction amount from (f)</td>
<td>(g) $97.00</td>
<td>(g) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Taxable income</td>
<td>(h) $16,800</td>
<td>(h) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Multiply (g) by (h).</td>
<td>(i) $1,629,600</td>
<td>(i) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Family income</td>
<td>(j) $32,000</td>
<td>(j) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Divide (i) by (j) to get your share of the family reduction amount.</td>
<td>(k) $50.93</td>
<td>(k) $</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Your family reduction amount is unlikely to be more than your basic levy. If it is, the difference is taken off the levy your spouse pays. Similarly, any excess family reduction amount your spouse has may be transferred to you.

Example: The basic levy Trevor’s spouse would pay is:

($15,200 – $15,062) × \frac{20}{100} = $27.60

As it is less than Trevor’s spouse’s share of the family reduction amount of $46.07 ($97.00 – $50.93), the balance of $18.47 ($46.07 – $27.60) can be transferred to Trevor.

Transfer of any excess from spouse

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Trevors spouse</th>
<th>You</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Excess family reduction amount transferred from Trevors spouse</td>
<td>(l) $18.47</td>
<td>(l) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Add (k) and (l) to get your share of the family reduction amount.</td>
<td>(m) $69.40</td>
<td>(m) $</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

STEP 6

Net basic levy

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Trevors</th>
<th>You</th>

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Basic levy from step 1</td>
<td>(n) $252</td>

<tr>
<td>Family reduction amount if applicable—from (f), (k) or (m)</td>
<td>(o) $69.40</td>
<td>(o) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Take (o) away from (n) to get net basic levy.</td>
<td>(p) $182.60</td>
<td>(p) $</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If you did not complete either part C or part D of question M1, the amount of levy you have to pay is (p). If you completed one or both of these parts, read on.

STEP 7

How much of your net basic levy (p) do you pay?

Full exemption

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>

<tbody>
<tr>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>Multiply (q) by (r).</td>
<td>(s) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Divide (s) by 365.</td>
<td>(t) $</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Half exemption

| | |
<table>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>Divide (w) by 365.</td>
<td>(x) $</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Divide (x) by 2.</td>
<td>(y) $</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Your exemption amount

Add (t) to (y) to get your exemption amount. | (z) $ |

The amount of Medicare levy you pay, if any, is your net basic levy at (p) less any exemption amount at (z).
Medicare levy surcharge (from question M2)

You do not have to work out the amount of Medicare levy surcharge you will pay. We will work it out from the information you provide on your tax return. We will tell you the result on your notice of assessment. If you do want to work it out before you receive your notice of assessment, follow the steps below.

Working out your Medicare levy surcharge

<td>Multiply (e) by (g)</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>(i)</td>
<td>Divide (h) by 365</td>
<td>$</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If you have to pay the surcharge for the WHOLE year, the amount you have to pay is (e). If you have to pay the surcharge for PART of the year, continue with the steps below.

The amount of the surcharge you have to pay is (i).
Higher Education Contribution Scheme (HECS) compulsory repayment

You do not have to repay any money towards your accumulated HECS debt if:
- you are entitled to a reduction of $1 or more from the Medicare levy due to low family income. Question M1 part B on pages 94–6 shows you how to work out if you qualify for a reduction, or
- your HECS repayment income is less than $24,365.

HECS repayment income is your taxable income plus total reportable fringe benefits amounts at item 9 on your tax return plus any net rental losses at item 20 on your tax return (supplementary section).

STEP 1 Read the following table to find out the rate that applies to you.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>HECS rates table</th>
<th>Repayment rate % of HECS repayment income</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Below $24,365</td>
<td>Nil</td>

<tr>
<td>$25,695–$27,688</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>$27,689–$32,118</td>
<td>4%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$32,119–$38,763</td>
<td>4.5%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$38,764–$40,801</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>$40,802–$43,858</td>
<td>5.5%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$43,859 and above</td>
<td>6%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

STEP 2 Multiply your HECS repayment income by the rate from step 1. The result is your compulsory HECS repayment which will be shown on your notice of assessment at X. If the balance of your accumulated HECS debt is less than the calculated amount, you only pay the balance.

Use this amount when working out your tax refund or tax debt on page 122. Do not write this amount anywhere on your tax return.

For more information about repaying your HECS debt, refer to the publication Repaying your HECS debt (NAT 3913—6.2002). This publication is available on the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.

*Your accumulated HECS debt may include HECS semester debts, Postgraduate Education Loans Scheme (PELS) semester debts, Bridging for Overseas-Trained Professionals Loan Scheme (BOTPLS) semester debts and Open Learning Deferred Payment Scheme (OLDPS) semester debts. Only one compulsory HECS repayment will be calculated in this assessment based on your accumulated HECS debt.

Student Financial Supplement Scheme (SFSS) compulsory repayment

Only Financial Supplement loans taken out in any of the years from 1993 to 1998 are subject to compulsory repayment through the taxation system in the 2002–03 income year.

You do not have to repay any money towards your accumulated Financial Supplement debt if your taxable income is less than $34,494.

Your taxable income is the amount you show at TAXABLE INCOME OR LOSS on page 3 of your tax return.

STEP 1 Read the following table to find out the rate that applies to you.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SFSS rates table</th>
<th>Repayment rate % of taxable income</th>

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Below $34,494</td>

<tr>
<td>$39,200–$54,881</td>
<td>3%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$54,882 and above</td>
<td>4%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

STEP 2 Multiply your taxable income by the rate from step 1. The result is your compulsory Financial Supplement repayment which will be shown on your notice of assessment at R. If the balance of your accumulated Financial Supplement debt is less than the calculated amount, you only pay the balance.

Use this amount when working out your tax refund or tax debt on page 122. Do not write this amount anywhere on your tax return.

For more information about repaying your Financial Supplement loans taken out in any of the years from 1993 to 1998, refer to the publication Repaying your Financial Supplement Loans (NAT 2789—10.2002). This publication is available on the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au Or to find out how to get a printed copy, see the inside back cover of TaxPack.
Items marked with * appear on the tax return (supplementary section) and do not apply if you did not need to complete that section.

Complete all the steps. If any of the amounts listed do not apply to you, write ‘0’ in the appropriate box.
